Mobs Shout Slogans Against Americans Shift To Mossadegh

By WILTON WYNN

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Mobs shouting anti-American slogans stoned United States cars and homes today as riots continued in Iran's capital. Supporters of Premier Mohammed appeared to be gaining the upper hand in the demonstrations which have alternately assailed and defended the nationalist leader. Crowds hurled rocks at American homes, at the U.S. embassy's administrative counsellor, Laurence C. Frank, and at cars driven by embassy employees, but no one was hurt.

One Iranian student was stabbed to death in a fight between Mossadegh supporters and members of the outlawed Communist Tudeh party trying to join a demonstration backing the premier.

The enraged mob carried the body of the student — a Mossadegh follower — to the Parliament Square and paraded it above the crowd, which swelled to an estimated 8,000 persons.

The crowd finally became so threatening that police dispersed it by shooting into the air and firing tear gas bursts.

At the anti-American outbreak, consular offices in the city were closed and embassy personnel ordered to keep off the streets.

Mossadegh, meanwhile, moved to re-establish his hold on the government's reins after the mob attack on his home Saturday which sent him dashing in pyjamas for the traditional sanctuary of the Parliament building.

ARREST ARMY OFFICERS

The government arrested 70 army officers — 65 retired and five on the active list — and accused them of inciting the demonstrators against the government.

Mossadegh also fired his army chief of staff, Gen. Mahmud Baharmast, accusing him of not acting promptly to check the anti-government rioters.

These continued today — an anti-Mossadegh mob raided the headquarters of the pro-Mossadegh Iran party and smashed furniture and windows — but generally today's demonstrations were in support of the premier.

Replacing the week-end cry of "Death or the shah," the mass outpouring of pro-Mossadegh demonstrators around the Parliament building today screamed "Death or Mossadegh"—the same battle cry which has helped avert previous threats to the premier's hold on the government reins.

The attack on Mossadegh's home and subsequent demonstrations erupted after an announcement that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, with whom the premier has been on the outs lately, was about to leave the country.

At the demonstration, the ruler said he had planned to go only for his health but was cancelling the trip.

U.S. Developing New Navy Corps Of Atom Experts

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy is developing a corps of atomic bombardiers: fliers and ordnance experts trained in the high-level and secret schools of nuclear weapon use.

Graduates of these courses already are with the fleet or at naval air stations.

Pentagon officials today would confirm only that such a program exists, but published reports and previous brief comments by other officials make it possible to say that:

The navy men receive their training in atomic warfare at the same joint armed forces schools used for air force crews.

They use precise duplicates of atomic bombs, complete in all details except the actual nuclear fission charge. They work together with air force crews and technicians, both in bombing technique practice and in conducting research and experiments for the scientists.

NOT DENIED

Reports that components for the atomic bomb are carried aboard some of the larger carriers, published last year, have gone without official denial.

Comments by officials during recent months that the navy now was able to conduct atomic operations were interpreted generally to mean that the weapons were the newly - developed, small-packaged A-bombs designed for tactical use by fighter-type aircraft.

However, the navy has at least one type of plane, operating from carriers, probably able to tote the same size A-bomb carried in the bays of the biggest land-based, long-range bombers.

The AJ-1 "Savage" is the heaviest of the operational carrier-based planes, with a gross weight of more than 55,000 pounds and powered by two piston engines and a jet. Its range is given as "more than 2,000 miles."

The capability for atomic warfare, the navy holds, is needed as one of the methods of carrying out its primary mission—gaining and keeping control of the sea in time of war.

Churchill Ready To Join Meeting

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today he would be "quite ready" to join President Eisenhower in a meeting with Premier Stalin.

However, the talks would have to be on the "basis outlined by President Eisenhower," he said.

Eisenhower told a press conference Feb. 25 he would be willing to meet Stalin at any reasonable place between Washington and Moscow anytime he thought it would reinforce world peace.

Eisenhower said that any such conference would have to take place with the full knowledge of U. S. allies.

Churchill, asked if there is any likelihood of such a meeting, replied:

"Speaking for myself and Her Majesty's government, I should be quite ready at any time to meet President Eisenhower and Marshal Stalin on the basis outlined by President Eisenhower if suitable arrangements could be made."

Four Army Units Head For Korea

OTTAWA (CP) — Four army units are en route to a Pacific coast port for an early March sailing in the third round of rotation leave for units of the 25th infantry brigade in Korea, army headquarters announced Saturday.

Brig. John Victor Allard, 39, Quebec, takes over command of the brigade this spring, relieving Brig. Pat Bogert, 44, London, Ont.

They are the 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, Camp Petawawa, which will relieve the 1st battalion, RCR; the No. 56 transport, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Camp Borden, to relieve the No. 23 transport, RCASC; 38th field ambulance, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, Camp Borden, to relieve the 37th field ambulance, RCAMC; and the 59th field squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, Camp Petawawa, to replace the 23rd field squadron RCE.

UN Infantry Smash Red Attack

Fight In Bunkers To Repel Assault By 750

SEOUL —(AP)— Allied infantry battling at times inside their own bunkers, Sunday night smashed a 750-man Chinese Communist assault against the main United Nations line on the western Korean front.

The 8th army reported the Reds were routed in a 3½-hour close-quarter fight. American, French and Thai infantry joined in the battle and were supported by British Commonwealth artillery

The Chinese penetrated United Nations defences at one point on a 5,500-yard front near Little Gibraltar hill west of Yonchon and partly overran an American platoon, but the Americans stood their ground and drove the Reds out.

The 8th army reported nearly 200 Chinese killed or wounded

It was the heaviest Communist attack in more than a month

Rain and wet snow fell on the battlefront today, after the Reds retreated to their own lines. The overcast grounded UN planes.

American soldiers who held a spur on Little Gibraltar were hit by 175 Reds. The Chinese got through the Allied barbed wire and into the American bunkers and foxholes.

HAND-TO-HAND

The Americans, fighting hand to hand, ejected the Reds after 90 minutes.

Thai soldiers hurled hundreds of grenades at 50 Chinese who hit their position. The division spokesman said they were involved in considerable hand-to-hand fighting.

The Thais estimated they killed five Reds and wounded 15.

French soldiers repulsed the Reds who attack them with rifle and machine-gun fire at longer range.

Only scattered small size engagements were reported elsewhere on the 155-mile battlefront.

HON. PAUL MARTIN, centre, Canada's Minister of National Health and Welfare, chats with Fernand Van Langenhove, left, of Belgium, and Sir Percy Spender, of Australia, before attending Friday's session of the United Nations political committee in New York. At the meeting Sir Percy bluntly told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky "the peoples of all the world are yearning for peace and peace is denied them by the ambitions and by the inhuman intransigence of Russia and China."

Burmese Sentry Wounds Two Russians

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—A Burmese Army sentry shot and severely wounded two members of the Russian embassy staff early today when they ignored his halt order at an army protected area.

The Russians were Constantin M. Anikine, 36, embassy first secretary, and a Dr. Barbizo, 33, also a member of the embassy staff.

Police said the Russians drove in an embassy automobile into the military area on the eastern side of the capital well after midnight. The sentry ordered them to stop three times. Then he fired a burst from an automatic gun.

Anikine was shot in the abdomen. Barbizo suffered multiple wounds on his face, neck and right arm and was reported in the more serious condition.

Both were taken to hospital. A stocky Russian embassy official stood guard in the corridor to their ward. He refused to let reporters speak to the injured men and declined to answer questions himself.

Burmese foreign office officials said no official word had been received yet from the Russians. The Burmese authorities were unable to give further details.

Four Men Sentenced To Total Of 91 Years

MONTREAL (CP)—Judge Gustave Marin today sentenced four men to a total of 91 years in penitentiary for a series of armed robberies.

Elzear Vallee, 27, and Leo Mimeault, 20, were sentenced to 30 years each on six convictions of armed robbery. Mimeault's 19 - year-old brother, Jean, was sentenced to 20 years on four charges of armed robbery and Gaetan Tremblay, 18, to 11 years on two charges of armed robbery and one of breaking and entering.

Indian Boy Feared Dead Of Exposure

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Children's Aid Society officials said today Patrick Sayers, 10-year-old Indian from the Michipicoten reservation 150 miles north of here, has been missing from the society's shelter here since Sunday afternoon.

Officials fear the lad, described as small for his age and timid, may have died of exposure. They said he was admitted to the shelter two weeks ago and is not familiar with the district.

Oshawa Man Killed As Car Rolls 300 Feet

MIDLAND (CP)—Lloyd Kissock, 25, of Oshawa died in hospital Sunday of injuries suffered when his car failed to make a turn and rolled nearly 300 feet.

His brother, Newton Kissock, 27, of Midland, escaped with minor cuts and bruises. Both men were thrown out of the car which rolled four or five times.

US Opens Borders To Import Cattle, Sheep From Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson today signed an order opening U.S. borders to imports of Canadian cattle, sheep and other domestic animals and their products, effective immediately. Imports had been barred for a year because of an outbreak of the dread foot-and-mouth disease in the province of Saskatchewan. Benson said the disease no longer exists in Canada.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today lifted import controls on meat and livestock.

A trade department spokesman said an order-in-council eliminating the trade restrictions became operative with the opening of the United States border to Canadian shipments. The order-in-council was passed Feb. 26.

Officials said the action means that import conditions and regulations in effect before Feb. 25, 1952, when the embargo was put into effect, go back into operation.

The ban had applied to animals as well as to chilled or frozen beef, veal, mutton, lamb or pork, and straw, hay and other materials that might possibly bring the infection into this country.

Lifting of the embargo reopens a $130,000,000-a-year market to Canadian cattlemen.

Since the embargo was imposed, Canadian meat, whether on the hoof or on a sandwich, has been barred at the border. Canadian cattle were not allowed across to compete at U.S. fairs and even U.S. hunters were prevented from bringing their kills back from Canada.

ALLOWED HAY

The only chink in the tight embargo came in December when Canadian hay was allowed into the U. S. to help drought - stricken cattlemen of the south and southwest. Both hay and straw had been barred because of fear they would carry the animal scourge and infect U.S. cattle. But in December shipments of hay originating east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., were allowed in.

The embargo was imposed to protect the U.S. meat industry against a possible epidemic which could cost American farmers $500,000,000 a year.

Similar precautions were taken six years ago when the disease broke out in Mexico. The Mexico-U.S. border was opened only last September after the U.S. had spent $125,000,000 helping Mexicans eradicate the disease.

7-Months-Old Pup Saves Couple In Fire

BURLINGTON (CP)—Missy, a seven-month-old pup, raised such a racket at 5 a.m. Sunday that she roused Mr. and Mrs. Brant Coleman in time to flee a $30,000 fire which gutted their three-apartment home.

"We got up to give her a slap on the snout for waking us like that," Mrs. Coleman said. "But it's a good thing Missy barked or we'd still be in there."

Mr. Coleman threw his wife and the dog, which is part boxer, on to the roof of an adjoining garage and then they jumped to the ground.

Mayor Disgusted By Refereeing

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal said Sunday night he was "disgusted" with the refereeing of the Montreal Canadiens-Detroit Red Wings game here Saturday.

"Never have I witnessed such a disgusting spectacle" in seeing the way penalties were given "at random" to the Canadiens, Mayor Houde said in an interview.

Detroit won the game 4-3. The encounter came to a halt five times when fans vented displeasure at referee Frank Udvari by throwing rubber shoes, programs, jelly beans and other assorted articles on the ice. The first period took 54 minutes to play.

"The conduct of the referee (Udvari) was shocking," said Mayor Houde. "Protests from the fans did not surprise me at all, since provocations were numerous.

"I do not understand why the National Hockey League does not employ more competent referees. The Canadiens were not treated right and again I want to protest personally. They were superior in this game and the final score should have been 3-2 in their favor."

Spark In Breaker Ignited Oil Spreads Quickly

FITZROY HARBOR (CP)—Fire in the huge Chats Falls powerhouse was brought under control today almost six hours after it broke out. Unofficial estimates of the damage ranged as high as $5,000,000. Four power generating units were in ruins, cutting off the 220,000 horsepower output of the plant which supplies Toronto and other Southern Ontario centres. Flames still were burning fiercely in several ruined sections of the quarter-mile-long dam in the Ottawa river about 30 miles west of Ottawa.

Flames still were burning fiercely in several ruined sections of the quarter-mile-long dam in the Ottawa river about 30 miles west of Ottawa.

Sections of the concrete walls and roof collapsed into the buildings housing millions of dollars worth of turbines and dynamos.

The blaze broke out before 7 a.m. EST, apparently following an explosion in an oil circuit-breaker or transformer. A spark is believed to have ignited oil in the breaker, spattering burning oil over the equipment.

SPREADS QUICKLY

Fire spread rapidly through a three-storey building on the power dam. The roof over three of the eight power units crashed into the lower part of the building about an hour after the fire started. Thick concrete walls also fell into the machinery. Other sections of the walls were in danger of falling.

Besides the three units buried under roof rubble, a fourth nearby was made useless by the flames.

The four affected units are at the east-end of the big station, beside the transformer which handles the power generated by the whole dam. For that reason the entire capacity of the station is cut off.

Hydro officials said it may be days before temporary cables can be installed to carry power from the four remaining generator units into a power pool supplying southern Ontario.

Firemen donned gas masks to penetrate the maze of twisted steel and concrete. Men from the power station were joined by volunteers from this village and the Ottawa fire department, the RCAF and National Research Council fire brigades at Arnprior, 12 miles west.

Smoke and flames were visible as far away as Arnprior.

UK Rejects Offer To Exchange Of Prisoners

LONDON (CP) — Britain today rejected Communist Hungary's offer for the immediate exchange of an imprisoned British business man and a woman guerrilla condemned to death in Malaya.

Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons:

"There can be no question of bartering a human life or deflecting the course of justice of mercy in Malaya for the sake of obtaining the release of a British subject unjustly imprisoned in Hungary."

However, he added that the offer might still be considered once the question of the death sentence has been settled.

Edgar Sanders is serving 13 years in a Hungarian prison on charges of spying and sabotage. Britain and the United States have branded the charges and conviction a travesty of justice.

HAD HAND GRENADE

The woman, Lee Meng, is under death sentence in Malaya for being caught with a hand grenade. Hungary, obviously acting on Kremlin orders, offered last week to swap them.

At present, however, the question of commuting the death sentence is being considered by the sultan of Perak.

Churchill said his rejection of the Communist offer "does not exclude further consideration once the question of the capital sentence has been resolved by the responsible authority."

"I do not wish to say any more at present."

Two British newspapers today urged Churchill to reject the Communist offer.

The papers, both supporters of the Conservative government, were The Daily Telegraph and The Daily Sketch.

Said The Telegraph:

"The real issue is this. Many worthy Britons still have to live behind the Iron Curtain. If we agreed to the Hungarian proposal, the precarious liberty of these people would be instantly forfeit.

"The Red authorities would see endless profit in imprisoning them and holding them until such time as they could be turned to account.

The Sketch commented:

"The charge against Sanders was concocted; the trial was rigged. If we stooped to this arrangement, we should be admitting an exchange of spy for spy.

"And Sanders was no spy. The case for his release rests on that fact."

Hikers Urged To Stop Sleeping In Barns

LONDON (Reuters) — British youth officials are opening a campaign to keep 'teen-age boy and girl hikers from going to bed in barns.

"They think it is tough and glamorous to sleep out in barns," Bernard Edwards of the Youth Hostels Association said Sunday.

The association is appealing to youthful hikers to use the association's hostels—where there is adult supervision.

Pighead Not Libel Merely Emphasis

STOURT (Reuters) — The court at Neuulm, near here, ruled that calling a woman "pighead" was not a ground for libel.

It dismissed a suit in which a woman charged that a man had made insulting remarks about her while she was looking out of her apartment window. He shouted: "Take your pighead out of the window."

The court decided that frequently the word "pig" is used in such cases "merely to emphasize a statement."

Stabbing Fatal Two Men Held

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Police said today they are holding two men in connection with the fatal stabbing late Saturday of Norman Cooper, 42-year-old Fort William painter.

Cooper, formerly of Winnipeg and a native of North Battleford, Sask., died aboard a Canadian National Railways passenger train about 80 miles west of here a few minutes after he suffered deep wounds in the throat and lungs. One of the knife thrusts is believed to have severed the jugular vein.

Police said a knife was found on the train between three men, who, witnesses said had been drinking heavily. Inspector Ralph Taylor of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario provincial police in Toronto has taken over the investigation.

Cooper, at the time of the accident, was returning to Fort William from Atikokan, police said. His daughter, Joan, lives in Fort William while his wife, mother and two sons have remained in Winnipeg since he left last December to look for work.

Turns 77 Today

Pope Observes Birthday Recovered From Illness

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope today quietly observed his 77th birthday and the 14th anniversary of his election to St. Peter's throne. The Vatican announced he has almost completely recovered from his recent illness.

Informants said the pontiff's improved health will allow him to resume audiences March 19. On that date, the feast day of St. Joseph, he will give an audience to a group of students.

There was no official observance of today's double anniversary.

Although the Vatican took no official note of the twin anniversary, many of the world's leaders and thousands of the church's faithful did. Thousands of congratulatory telegrams were pouring in from around the world.

The Pope, known as the "Pope of peace" although his 14-year-reign has been marked almost continuously by war, is the 261st head of the Roman Catholic Church and the spiritual leader of more than 400,000,000 Catholics.

He was born March 2, 1876, in Rome to the patrician Pacelli family and was elected Pope March 2, 1939.

Jan. 22, he took to bed with the first serious illness of his reign.

Despite his age, the Pope overcame the dual attack of influenza and pneumonia and has been recovering steadily. He has not yet resumed his audiences, however.

Vatican sources said today that a pontifical mass will be held March 12, anniversary of the Pope's coronation, and that he may attend this function.

Called Opponent Stupid Idiot

Japanese Prime Minister May Be Forced To Resign

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida threatened today to dissolve Parliament after the House agreed to consider a motion of censure against his pro-American administration.

A spokesman for his dominant Liberal party, Eiaku Sato, said Yoshida might be forced to invoke a law requesting Emperor Hirohito to dissolve the elective body. The emperor cannot deny the request.

The House threatened to overthrow Yoshida's shaky government earlier today by sending to a censure committee a motion to reprimand the 74-year-old Prime minister for calling a rival a "stupid idiot."

Yoshida's deputy, Taketora Ogata, to reporters "the passage of the motion on the committee illustrates the unstable political situation. But its passage will not make Yoshida resign."

Opposition spokesmen protested against the threat to dissolve the Diet (Parliament).

Yoshida called an emergency meeting of the cabinet today to study the situation.

If the Diet committee recommended a severe censure and Yoshida lost the ensuing vote in the House, he almost certainly would be forced to resign. Today's vote went against him 191 to 162.

In a heated exchange on the House floor Saturday, Yoshida blurted out "bakayaro" (stupid idiot) at Eiichi Nishimura, a right-wing Socialist. Yoshida apologized almost immediately.

But the touchy House jumped on the issue, forcing today's vote.

The result was a face-losing defeat for the man who charted Japan's course through the end of the Allied occupation and into its present independence.

Even some of his own Liberal party turned against him. Many members refused to vote, letting the minority opposition push the censure motion through.

The next move is up to the committee. It could recommend anything from a verbal spanking to expulsion from the Diet parliament.

Any recommendation will have to be voted on by the House.

Although the crisis erupted over a relatively minor issue, a political storm has been blowing up around Yoshida.

The three major opposition parties — Progressives, Rightist Socialists and Leftist Socialists—last week made one of their rare agreements: to combine forces and attempt to overthrow Yoshida's government.

They based their opposition on three controversial bills which Yoshida is backing. The sharp-tongued premier has nettled a substantial number of Liberals with his iron-handed rule. About 50 are in almost open revolt.

Saved 4 Children Father Dies In Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — A father led four of his children out of his blazing house early today, then perished along with his wife and infant baby while trying to rescue them from a second-floor bedroom.

Dead: Irvin A. Stricker, 41, his wife Angelea, 39, and five-months-old Candice.

Lake Freighter Sails Earliest In History

DETROIT (AP) — The freighter James Watt gave the Great Lakes shipping season its earliest opening in history Sunday when it sailed for Buffalo.

The Watt, of the Nicholson Transit Co., pulled away from its dock here at 9:45 a. m. empty on its eastward trip. The boat will bring back a load of pig iron for the Ford Motor Co.

The weather bureau and the U. S. Army corps of engineers said the Buffalo harbor, normally ice-locked at this time of year, is clear except for patches of "scum ice."

The earliest previous start of navigation was March 9.

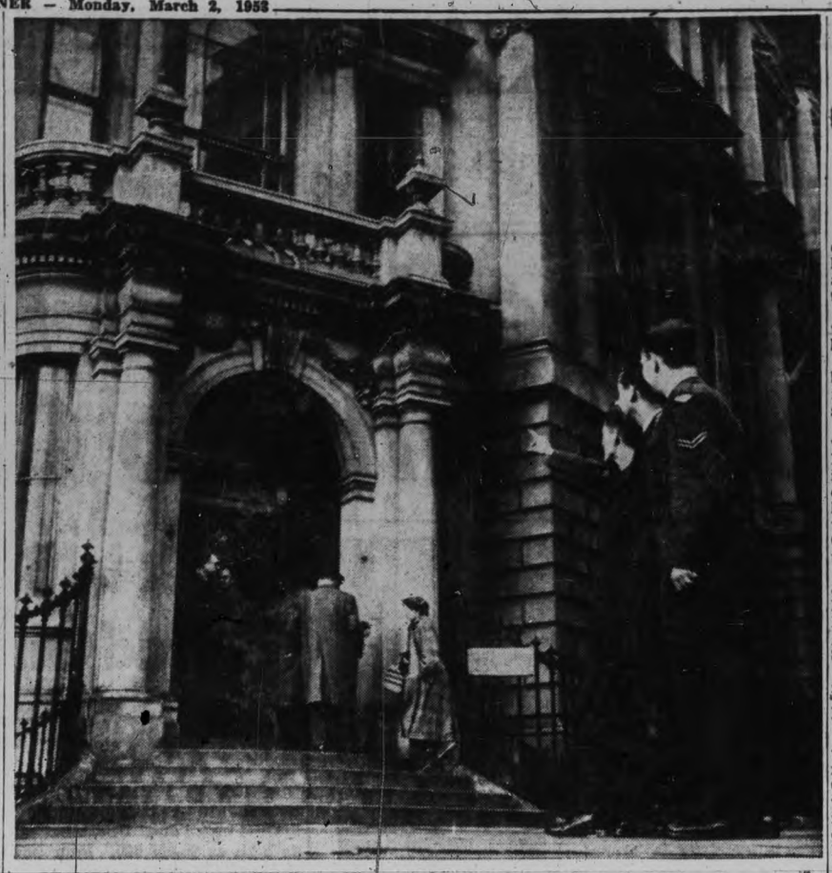
No Room In Sky

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Those gray skies kept coming closer and closer to earth. And a little cabin plane kept flying lower and lower, until finally it plopped right in the middle of a rice field near here yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. James Chesser weren't hurt but they were disgusted. They told Wendell Irish, 18, who came to lead them out of the rice field, to take the plane and keep it. They boarded a bus to continue their trip.

3 Sisters Burned In Fire; 11 Die During Weekend

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three young sisters died Sunday when fire gutted their home at Ripples, N. B. They were among the 11 persons reported to have died violently in Eastern Canada during the week-end.



A survey today showed that Ontario had the highest toll with six, three of them in traffic accidents. New Brunswick had five deaths, one of them traffic.

The fire victims were Louella Nash, 5, Nora, 2, and Debra, seven months. Their parents were away at the time. An oil lamp left burning in the kitchen is believed to have exploded.

WOUNDED

Norman Cooper, 42, died from a wound in the neck aboard a Canadian National Railways train 80 miles west of Port Arthur. Police, who have taken an unidentified man into custody, said Cooper had been drinking with two companions when a quarrel started.

Other Ontario deaths: Dennis McMullen, 43, of Thorold township, committed suicide with a .22-calibre rifle; Mrs. Margaret Thatcher, about 75, of Windsor, of asphyxiation after fire broke out in her room; Lloyd Kissock, 25, of Oshawa, of injuries suffered when his car failed to make a turn; John W. Smith, 30, of Windsor, when his truck crashed into a ditch; James McMillan, 86, of Point Edward, of injuries suffered when struck by a car.

Syngman Rhee Calls For End Of Stalemate

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea called on the United Nations Sunday to end "the stalemated war which helps no one but our enemies."

An estimated 20,000 South Koreans jammed around Seoul's burned-out Capital Building and cheered Rhee's clear call for a UN offensive in Korea. The president's speech was read by an aide over a battery of microphones.

It was the high point of the celebration observing the 34th anniversary of Korea's declaration of independence from Japan.

Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, new commander of the U.S. 8th army, told the crowd the UN has but one goal in Korea—"to bring peace and freedom."

Witnesses Say Live Bullet Found On Victim

KITCHENER (CP)—Defence witnesses testifying that a live .22-calibre bullet had been found on Marie Huras' person after she had been fatally shot Jan. 27, highlighted today's evidence at the murder trial of Kenneth Wiles.

Wiles was charged with shooting the 17-year-old Kitchener girl with a sawed-off .22-calibre rifle after she had broken their engagement. The trial is expected to go to the jury late today.

The hearing took a spectacular turn today when defence counsel A. W. Boos received permission to present the new evidence which he said came to his attention only during the week-end.

Three witnesses — two doctors and a nurse-in-training — told of seeing the live .22-calibre bullet among the girl's possessions at St. Mary's hospital, Jan. 27.

IN POCKET

Miss Peggy Rotharmel, the nurse said she discovered the bullet in the girl's pocket when she removed a small change purse.

Dr. Louis V. Lang and Dr. C. R. S. Davidson also described seeing the bullet among the girl's possessions, the day of the shooting.

The change purse and the bullet were introduced as evidence.

Deputy - chief of police Ewan Cameron, called by the Crown in reply, said he had no knowledge of the bullet until Sunday.

Detective John Zettell testified he first saw the change purse and the bullet when he was tagging articles in the case. He said both were among items turned over to the police by hospital authorities.

Court To Decide Customs Law For Indians

MONTREAL (CP)—An Exchequer Court test case will decide this spring whether Indians are subject to Canadian customs and immigration examinations at the border.

The Indians' case, based on a treaty signed between England and the United States in 1794 and 1796, comes up when Louis Francis of the Cote St. Regis reserve will claim duties, paid under protest, to Canadian officials at the border. The amount was not stated.

The treaty—the Jay Treaty — says in part: "No duty of entry shall be levied by either parties on parties brought by land or inland navigation into the said territories respectively; nor shall the Indians passing or repassing with their own proper goods and effects of whatever nature pay for the same any import or duty whatever, but goods in bales or other large packages unusual among Indians shall not be considered as goods belonging bonafide to Indians."

Meanwhile, collections are being taken in the Quebec border district to help fight the case.

Many "Spotters"

LONDON (CP)—Amateur "spotters" who study the movements of trains, airplanes and buses have become so numerous in Britain that a special publication, "Every Spotter's Weekly," has been launched. Besides news items it carries hints such as what pad and pen to use.

Bad Shepherd

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—A young African herd-boy was convicted of poisoning 11 sheep belonging to his employer. Sentence was postponed after he explained "I was tired of herding sheep and that was why I poisoned them."

Cats Gain Wide 'Prominence' As Cause Of Scratch Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Perhaps it is hardly correct to speak of a disease as "new" when it has been known for 20 years. Nevetheless, although this is the case, I should wager that very few readers of this column have ever paid any attention to a condition known as cat-scratch disease.

In the past 20 years several hundred cases have been described in Europe and the United States. Recently, a review of 60 cases of cat-scratch disease has been published in one of our medical journals. Of this number more than half the cases gave a history of having been scratched by a cat, and in only five was there no known contact with cats.

There appears to be a period of about three to seven days between the time of the scratch, or original injury, and inflammation at the place where it occurred. This is followed by a further delay of somewhere around two weeks before the appearance of the typical sign, which consists of enlargement of some of the lymph glands, draining the area originally injured.

Most commonly, it would appear that the glands in the armpit are involved, and this is not surprising since one would expect the hands or arms to be scratched more often than any other part of the body.

However, lymph glands in the neck or in the groin are also sometimes affected.

About two-thirds of the patients afflicted with cat-scratch disease have fever. Some of them have general symptoms, as well —such as headache, weakness, aching chilly sensations and the like.

The outlook for someone who has cat-scratch disease is good. In most, the illness is short and mild, though the lymph glands may be enlarged and possibly contain pus for months. The cause of this disease, however, has not been discovered, but does not seem to be a germ, parasite or fungus. It is possibly caused by a virus.

SKIN TEST IS USED

A skin test has been devised which seems to be rather accurate in making a diagnosis. This is important, since cat-scratch disease can be confused with many other conditions in which there is enlargement of the lymph glands.

The greater recognition which is being given to this disease now certainly does not mean that people who own cats should give up their pets. But since this is recognized as being a rather common, wide-spread and frequently undiagnosed condition, more care to avoid scratching by cats or other too-intimate contact with these animals, and watchfulness, particularly over children who might acquire this disease, is certainly in order.

All the signs point to the likelihood that we shall hear much more of cat-scratch disease over the next few years.

Prices Weaken On Market Keeps Active

TORONTO (CP)—Prices weakened in early afternoon stock market trading today as western oils and low-priced mining stocks continued to move actively.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 4,312,000 shares, slightly higher than Friday.

Uranium and New Brunswick base metals were mixed, leading issues generally lower and the rest showing penny gains.

Heaviest trader of the session was Red Poplar, a gold prospect. It moved more than 700,000 shares in the first three hours for a gain of 10 cents at 27. Homer Yellowknife traded 357,000 shares to gain three cents. Inspiration, a northern Ontario rare metal prospect, was up after early weakness.

Western oils showed a majority of gains ranging to 50 cents as Dome Exploration, New Superior, Federated, Royalite and Pacific gained. Central Leduc and Bailey Selburn slipped.

Industrials weakened as papers, foods, utilities and liquors slipped. Manufacturing companies and retail stores were strong.

Senior golds weakened in light trading but juniors showed a few moderate gains as Donalda and Campbell rose. Holding companies were firm. Higher - priced base metals were firm but others weakened. Silver Miller and Steep Rock slipped.

Charge 4 Men In Car Crash

TRENTON (ENS)—A wild car ride which started in Belleville, included a police chase, ended when a speeding auto failed to make a corner three and a half miles west of Trenton on Highway No. 2 early Sunday morning.

Four RCAF personnel are being held by Belleville police and face charges of car theft. Stationed at Trenton, they are Harold W. Kerr, 20, Christopher A. Christofferson, 21, Robert Stevenson, 21, and Edgar Gray, 20.

Gray was trapped under wreckage after the demolished auto turned over in a ditch. Police stopped passing motorists to help free the man who was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital. He was later moved to the RCAF station hospital, where his injuries were described as slight.

Owner of the car, Max Wodza, Trenton, said he left it outside a Belleville restaurant and when he returned, it was missing. Police were alerted and the wanted car was spotted by Constables H. R. Cook and L. H. Stinson of the Brighton Provincial Police detachment. They gave chase and were overtaking the auto, when the crash occurred.

Woman Lawyer Liberal Candidate

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Judy Lamarsh, this city's only woman lawyer, today announced she will seek the Liberal nomination if a provincial by-election is called in Niagara Falls constituency.

William Houck, the present provincial member, has announced he will seek the Niagara Falls federal nomination in the next general election. Mr. Houck is a Liberal.

Allan A. Lewis

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Rev. R. D. Duncanson, of Norwood, conducted the funeral service from the family residence on Saturday afternoon for the late Allan Adams Lewis, R.R. 2, Hastings, who died at his home Thursday in his 81st year.

Pallbearers were Fred Hendy, Alex MacDonald, George Fisher, Wilson MacDonald, Ward Archer and Reg. Chown. Flower bearers were Garnet Curle, Leonard McGee, Herbert Hendy, Lorne MacDonald, Jack Smith, Donald Clark, Joe Fisher and Pat Barry. Interment was in Trent Valley cemetery near Hastings.

Born in Percy township, he lived there all his life. His parents, William Lewis and Eliza Adams, predeceased him.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Hastings, but failing health prevented him from taking an active part in church activities during the past few years.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Minnie Bell Warren, are five daughters, Grace of Kingston, Mary of Sunderland, Mrs. J. Taylor (Ruby) of Toronto, Mrs. J. G. Lewis (Jean) of Claresholm, Alta., and Isobel, at home; four sons, William of Toronto, Donald and John of Peterborough, and Roy of Campbellford; one sister, Mrs. Norman Rusaw, of Hastings; one brother, William, of Hastings, and a half-sister, Mrs. John Jones, of Campbellford.

Receipts: 453 cattle, 264 calves, 32 sheep and lambs and 710 hogs.

Medium to good steers 20-22, common 16-20; good cows 15-16, medium 13-15, common 11-13; good bulls 15-17, common and medium 13-15.

Common and medium vealers 20-27.

Lambs 20, sheep 10-13.

Hog prices not established.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Moisture in the southwest and a drop in parity prices created quite heavy selling in grains at the opening today.

Wheat closed the most but other cereals also gave up a good deal of ground. After initial sales were out of the way, trading quieted down.

Wheat started 1½-2¾ cents lower March $2.25-2.24; corn was ½-1⅛ lower, March $1.54-$1.54⅛, and oats were 1⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, March 72-72¼. Soybeans were ½-1½ cents lower, March $2.94-2.93½.

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP)—Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices quoted here today were: beets $1.00-$1.25; cabbage, American $2.75-$3.; carrots, washed $1.50; cauliflower, imp. 3.35; lettuce, imp., two dozen 3.50; mushrooms 2.65-2.75; parsnips, washed 1.50-2.25; rhubarb, 10-lb. carton 1.40-1.50; spinach, imp. 2.75; squash, 2.00-2.25; turnips, waxed, 1.-1.25; cucumbers, hothouse, dozens 2.50-2.75.

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices quoted here today were: churning cream 64-67; butter prints 64-64½.

The egg market was steady and prices were unchanged. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 48½; A medium 47 A small 45 grade B 41 grade C 38. Wholesale to retail: A large 53½; A medium 52 A small 50 grade B 46 grade C 43.

Butter solids: first grade 62¼; second 61; no prices established on other grades.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Opening declines on U.S. markets were reflected by losses in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Selling on American markets was prompted by reports of heavy rains or snow in the winter wheat belt.

Fair buying by export interests appeared in the deferred months of Winnipeg barley. Other demand was mostly routine and light.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats: May ½ lower 75¼b: Jly ¼ lower 73⅜; Oct. ½ lower 73⅝.

Barley: May ⅜ lower 1.25⅝A; Jly ⅜ lower 1.19A; Oct. lower 1.17½.

Rye: May 1 lower 1.62B; Jly ¾ lower 1.64A; Oct. not open.

Spark In Breaker

Ontario hydro officials launched an investigation into the damage to the $20,000,000 power installation. James Robertson, security officer, said nothing indicates the fire was set deliberately.

Four people were working in the huge plant when the fire broke out. One man who declined to give his name said:

"All hell broke loose. Fortunately nobody was hurt. There wasn't a thing anybody could do about stopping the fire. A couple of the [illegible] equipment they could and it was too late to do anything about it. The flames were right out in the open—we couldn't cut them off at all."

Firefighting equipment, including a pumper from Ottawa, was loaded on a flat car and towed along a railway spur to the scene of the blaze.

Hydro officials said that costs of replacing the installation would be "staggering," far more than the original cost when the equipment was put in 20 years ago.

Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro, said the fire will prove "very costly." A plane with a special corps of engineers to assess damage and try to restore operations was being sent from Toronto.

$4,000 Damage Caused By Fire; Families Away

NORWOOD— (ENS) — Fire, believed to have started from overheated stovepipes, caused approximately $2,000 damage to a house owned by Stanley Johnston of Peterborough on Spring St., here, Sunday afternoon. Damage to furniture was also estimated at $2,000.

Two families who live in the two-storey brick house, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Chesher, downstairs, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rowe, upstairs, were away at the time of the fire.

Smoke was first spotted coming out around the roof by Ross Lane of Ivanhoe, who was visiting his sister, Mrs. Melvin Andrews, next door.

Mrs. Andrews phoned the Norwood fire brigade. She had a key to the house and let the firemen in when they arrived.

The fire started between the two floors and travelled up the partitions to the attic. A hole was burned through the downstairs ceiling and upstairs floor and partitions around a clothes closet were burned. One wall of the attic was also blackened.

STOPPED BY SMOKE

Firemen were able to get most of the furniture out of the downstairs but were stopped going upstairs by smoke. They extinguished the fire in an hour.

Fire Chief Earl Hamblin estimated damage to the house at $2,000 and to the Rowes' furniture at another $2,000. The furniture was damaged by heat, smoke and water.

The house and the Cheshers' furniture were covered by insurance but there was no insurance on the Rowes' furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Chesher were in Frankford and Mrs. and Mrs. Rowe were in Belleville at the time of the fire.

Flow Of Refugees Reaches New Peak

BERLIN (Reuters) — The flow of East German refugees into West Berlin reached an unprecedented level today.

Masses of men, women and children crowded round the refugee registration centres all day. They were estimated to number more than 5,000.

More than 40,000 East Germans sought asylum in West Berlin last month, the biggest number in any one month.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 23-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Friday's noon rate was 98 11-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.77 3-16, against $2.77¼.

Belleville Hawks Edge Lindsay 6-5 Lead Series

LINDSAY — (ENS) — The Belleville Hawks came to within one point of winning their OHA junior B group semi-final series with the Lindsay juniors as they pulled a 6-5 win out of the fire on Saturday night and set the stage for tonight's game in Belleville. Lindsay must win to remain in the running and force a sixth game this week.

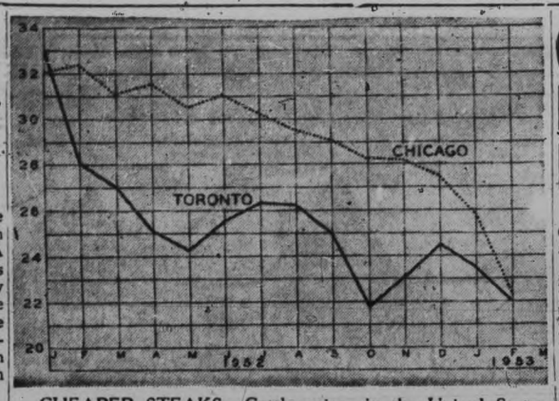
After a scoreless first period, in which the Lindsay team led the losers almost throughout giving Barclay in the Hawks nets many anxious moments, but failing to score on 18 shots to two for the visitors.

Belleville suddenly came alive in second. Therrien opened the scoring, assisted by Jones, and less than a miuute, after the two reversed the order to put the Hawks two up.

Midway through the period with Hutton sitting out a penalty, Hull put the visitors into what seemed to be a commanding lead. The Lindsay team began to fight back and Will Williams opened the home scoring, hitting Barclay with a shot from behind the net, the puck dropping over the line. Before the period ended, Hutton took Art Truax' pass and sank a short shot to make the count closer.

In the final frame, the locals pulled the unbelievable stunt of going ahead of the Hawks, with Graham from Hal Williams and O'Neil on a long shot from just inside the blue line, doing the honours.

Then the roof fell in. Fighting to stay in contention, the Hawks forced the play into the Lindsay end and who the goalie Reg Truax had held them out many times during the second period and through the third, he finally weakened and let a screen shot by Halstead find the few inches of open space between his leg and the post.



Then four mintues later Halstead broke out with Jacklin and came in on top of Truax. His shot from a sharp angle caught the outside corner and Truax fanned trying to get his glove on it. Fifteen seconds later, Jones scored the winning goal, assisted by Gilmour and Therrien, on a three-man ganging attack.

In the final minute of play, Hutton brought the season's largest junior crowd to its feet when he tallied from Packer and Truax to tighten things up again. Only a minute remained, however, and Lindsay failed to manage a good shot on goal before the end of the game.

Halstead: centering the flying line with Jacklin and Hall, Therrien and Jones led the winners in their fine effort, while Delbosco and Stocco were best on the defence. Barclay playing after a layoff of six weeks was outstanding in the nets, and was well beaten on all the Lindsay goals.

Hutton, Truax, Graham and Cochrane were best up front for the Lindsay team with Bill Williams and McGill playing standout hockey on the blue line. Truax played a strong close-in game in the nets.

Referee Herb Payne had a busy night, especially in the second period, when he crowded the penalty box during one rough session. Lindsay drew five minors throughout with the visitors having nine assessed them, as well as a misconduct to Green in the middle session.

CHEAPER STEAKS—Cattle prices in the United States and Canada took a beating during 1952. Guyle Fielder Tops Scorers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guyle Fielder of St. Louis Flyers was back at the head of the American Hockey League scoring marathon today, but his team lost an opportunity to pick up some valuable ground.

Fielder had a hand in all three Flyer goals last night—scoring one and assisting in two others—but St Louis still came out on the short end of a 4-3 count in a game with the Hershey Flyers.

He has 70 points to 69 for Eddie Olson of Cleveland Barons, idle last night.

Hershey had to come from behind three times to tie the score and didn't pull into the lead until Arnie Kullman hit the cords 35 seconds after the start of the third period.

Al Bacarri turned in the hat trick as Providence Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Hornets 5-1, thus costing the Hornets a chance to break their first-place tie with Cleveland.

Syracuse warriors were forced to go to the third period before breaking a tie with the last place Buffalo Bisons, and hanging up a 4-2 decision.

Firemen Save Farm Home

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Campbelford firemen were called to the farm home of Douglas Rutherford, about five miles northwest of town, just before noon on Saturday. The fire, a stubborn one to put out, had eaten its way up through a partition and firemen and neighbors had considerable difficulty dousing it. Floors in the upstairs rooms had to be ripped up to get at the blaze.

Only the prompt action of the Campbellford fire department and neighbors in responding to the alarm is credited with saving the home. Cause of the outbreak is believed to have been overheated furnace pipes and damage is estimated at several hundred dolars.

Timber Wolf Shot Front Paw Missing

COLDSPRINGS (ENS)—A large female timber wolf, weighing 65 pounds was shot in Nixon Timlin's woods at Coldsprings.

Four hunters with their hounds tracked it across country from Bewdley.

The wolf was minus a front paw.

Four Generations Baptized In Church

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Janice Nelda Gene, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith, Bailieboro, was baptized Sunday at the afternoon service at St. James' Anglican Church by the rector Rev. A. J. Patstone.

The godparents were Miss Nelda Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Richardson, aunts and uncle of the infant.

The infant's mother, nee Gene Brown, is a former organist of the church.

Four generations of the family have been baptized in this church, namely, Janice, her mother, her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Brown and her great-grandfather, the late John White. The family has worshipped in the church for upwards of 80 years.

Mark-Ye-Well Wins With Final Lunge

ARCADIA, Calif. (CP)—Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well, a lopsided favorite, gave the form bettors a scare Saturday before rallying to win the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap by a nose.

The four-year-old Kentucky colt cut thinner at the finish than was expected, and it took a last surge to hold off a belated rush to the wire by Mrs. Lea Warner's Trusting.

Alfred Vanderbilt's First Glance, pace-setter until the turn into the stretch, was third, four lengths back of Trusting.

Time for the 1¼-mile race was 2 01 1-5. The favorite went to the post at 3-to-5 odds—shortest price on a single horse in the history of the race.

The race was whittled down to a slender six horses when Correspondent and Blue Reading were scratched during the afternoon.

Grove Teams Win, Lose In Hockey Tilts

Lakefield's Grove School won and lost in exhibition games played Saturday. The Grove walloped the Dekes fraternity of the University of Toronto 10-0 but took a 7-0 trimming from the Hillfield School of Hamilton.

The fraternity sextet attempted time and time again to break the goose-egg which Grove held, but the Grove were too superior. Ryder paced the Grove with three, while Ramsay, Uren and Rashleigh had two each and Whittemore a single.

Meanwhile the tables were turned in the game with Hillfield. The Lakefield lads couldn't get organized while Hillfield skated well and had more polish around the goal.

Both games were clean as sportsmanship was emphasized. There were only four penalties, one in the Dekes-Grove game and three in the Hillfield-Grove tilt.

Ability To Think And Assess

This is Education Week, and we are always happy to say something about education. Indeed, we have been told in plain terms by people professionally engaged in education that we talk about it too much in these columns, that we know nothing about the subject, and that our ideas on education are contemptible; this, we suspect, is because we have been critical of the new educational priestcraft which puts the technique of teaching above a sound knowledge of the subject taught. So here we go, airing our ignorance again.

* * *

We have been much impressed by a speech which Dr. Mackintosh, the principal of Queen's, recently made in Ottawa; it was all first-rate, but we want to quote one passage in particular, thus:

> May I say that it is important that at the universities we should concentrate on fundamental knowledge and the development of the ability to think and assess. There are great dangers in the rapid progress of the physical and biological sciences that we should be led into mere training in technique, and it is surprising how far a limited intelligence can be taught to practise a complicated technique. It is surprising how easy it is to turn out a technically competent graduate lacking in the ability to read, lacking in perspective and lacking in the bases of judgement."

"The ability to think and assess"; undoubtedly it is one of the great needs of our day, for since education became general, everybody has opinions on a great number of important subjects, and unless those opinions are reached through some processes of thought and assessment they are worthless, and general education will be of infinite harm to the world. Better that people should remain in humble ignorance than be educated just enough to deal in pompous nonsense and mischievous half-truth.

* * *

Thought and assessment, however, are solitary processes, and the feeling of our time, in Canada, is against solitude. If we are to improve the quality of our national thinking and opinion, we shall have to recapture the taste for solitude —for being alone with our thoughts. How many of us are able to give so much as half-an-hour every day to thinking? We do not mean profound philosophical thought, but simply quiet reflection on our work, our politics, our relations with other people, on religion, on anything in which we are deeply interested. How many of us have that much time, each day, for thought and assessment?

* * *

If we are honest, we shall have to admit that few of us have, or make, this precious time. And why? Because so much of our day is taken up in working, in social relationships with our families and friends, and in what the jargon of our day calls "activities."

* * *

Many of these activities are admirable. It is characteristic of our time and our country that great numbers of people are engaged in spare-time work which is charitable and philanthropic. They achieve wonders through co-operation and unceasing effort. But it is possible to spend too much time in this way; one of the marks of a "good citizen" in our time is that he is a man who has a meeting every [illegible]

[illegible] to think about anything or assess its value? And as meetings and committees tend to spawn and increase like herring, the busy citizen grows busier and busier, and less and less thoughtful.

* * *

He needs to rediscover the pleasures and rewards of solitude. He needs to take stock of his opinions and his occupations. He needs the calming and enlightening experience of being by himself, so that he can clear his mind of second-hand opinions. Many a business man who would scorn to have a cluttered desk suffers from a permanently cluttered mind.

* * *

Not merely philanthropic activities prevent thought and assessment. Reading is a great producer of clutter, and many a man who has the reputation of being "a great reader" is unable to think for himself because his mind is gorged with the opinions of others. It is an admirable thing to read, but never to the point where there is no time to think about, and assess, what has been read. Original ideas never come to those who are mentally constipated with the ideas of others.

* * *

The universities, and the schools, do what they can to teach children and young people to think. Perhaps they should take more time to explain that thought is solitary work, and that some daily refuge in solitude is rewarding. It is not necessary to lock oneself up in a soundproof room in order to think, nor is it necessary to emerge from a solitary period with some gem of truth, like a diver who has brought up a pearl. Just to be alone, and quiet, is often reward enough; at least it gives a man a chance to hear what his spirit is saying to him.

* * *

The ability to think and assess cannot be entirely acquired in the classroom. Much of it must be done in solitary silence. Perspective and the bases of judgement cannot approach the man who is always in a hurry and always in a crowd.

Public Halls In Peterborough

Five years ago this city had only one public hall which was suitable for concerts or plays, and which could accommodate a lecture audience in reasonable comfort, and that was the PCVS auditorium. Since that time the beautiful little auditorium in Queen Mary School has been built, and more recently the large and handsome auditorium in St. Peter's High School. Although Peterborough lacks a hall which can comfortably seat a thousand people or more, we are very much better off than we were in this respect.

The new auditorium in St. Peter's has been designed with much thought for the comfort of the audience. The seats are excellent, and they are so placed that people with long legs are not obliged to sit in a constrained position. The ventilation is good. This has long been a source of dissatisfaction at the PCVS, where a large audience quickly makes the place oppressively stuffy. The decoration of the St. Peter's hall is modern and pleasing, it has the great advantage of giving access to the street without going through the school, and its exterior is impressive. The city as a whole is under obligation to the Catholic community which has added a fine building, with a fine auditorium, to the amenities of Peterborough.

A point which has been raised by many citizens, and which we think is deserving of serious consideration, is that it has long been the custom to sell tickets for public entertainments which are not reserved; this saves some trouble, certainly, but it also means that people who want good seats must go to the auditorium, whichever it may be, at least half an hour before the entertainment is scheduled to begin. To some people this is no hardship, but to others it is a great nuisance. It is certainly a contributory cause to the extreme stuffiness at PCVS. Perhaps ticket-selling groups should give some consideration to this matter of reserved seats.

Want To See A Flying Saucer?

Readers who do not see these lines before six o'clock this afternoon may pass on to the next item, but those who scan them before that time may go out and see a flying saucer if they wish. They may, that is, if an astronomical note we have just read is accurate. According to the note, a very fine flying saucer will appear in the western sky shortly after sunset today, and sunset is somewhere between ten minutes to six (Ottawa) and seven after (Toronto).

This flying saucer will be the planet Mercury, and our information is that its greatest eastern elongation will happen on Monday at the time stated. The planet will then reach its greatest apparent distance from the sun, and since it flips through the heavens at great speed, it will match other flying saucers in that respect. In addition, it is seldom seen by the unaided eye, it will be very bright, and the shape is characteristic. So if anyone wants to see it, there it will be, not far from the point at which the sun drops out of sight.

As far as we are concerned, we shall take the astronomer's word for it. There was a time when we turned out without [illegible] thing else ed twice, by Halley's comet and a total eclipse of the sun, but these are spectacles virtually guaranteed for the mildly myopic. No amount of excited and exasperated pointing revealed any of the others to our straining eyes, so we have given up stargazing altogether.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Odd how little we hear about those brave fellows who start a business on a shoestring and take a lacing.

The other day a woman gave birth to a baby in a telephone booth. What some people will do rather than end a conversation!

"You are a cousin, rather than a descendant, of the higher apes," writes an anthropologist. This simply confirms our suspicions about cousins.

"Girl Beats Off Attacker With Purse," says a heading. And a dreadful weapon one of those heavily-loaded carry-alls would be.

Dorothy Dix' column carries an account of a "schoolgirl crush" which is said to have lasted for eight years. Either that schoolgirl started too young, or she has been too long in one grade.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

I HAVE received a most interesting and well-written letter from one of my readers on the subject of opera on the screen, which I treated a fortnight ago. Perhaps I was hypercritical in my remarks. While agreeing in the main with what I said my reader makes the following point (I quote his own words): "I take my two children to these shows (aged 10 and 12) and find they are enjoying them and absorbing the music and stories. For quite a while now my lad's favourite music has been the overture to the Barber of Seville and he readily names excerpts he hears on the radio of the various operas he has seen and can accurately give the 'how, when and why' of the excerpt. I think therefore that these shows serve a purpose although I agree with you that something better is needed." Doubtless the experience of hearing these operas in their screen version will in this case, as in many others, serve as a sort of hors d'oeuvres to whet their appetites for the real thing. My only fear is that it might equally well in other cases serve to confirm certain widely held prejudices against opera and have a deterrent effect on the spectator. On the balance, however, I felt that these screen versions of opera, with all their imperfections, would probably do more good than harm to the cause of opera, and in any case live opera is heard only very rarely and under unsatisfactory conditions in our smaller urban centres: in view of this I trotted out the old cliche about half a loaf, etc., leaving it at that and half hoping to be snowed under with letters of protest from indignant readers.

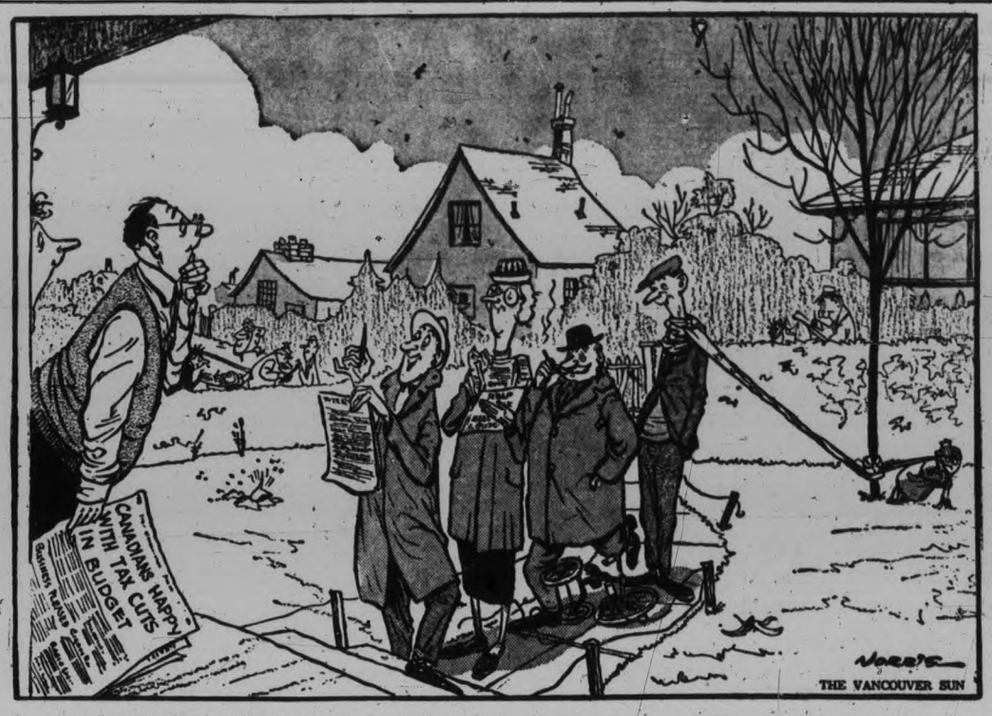
◇ ◇ ◇

MY CORRESPONDENT adds a footnote concerning the Conservatory Opera School's performance of 'Cosi fan Tutte', which was shown in Peterborough on Thursday and Friday of last week with an accompaniment of two pianos instead of the usual orchestra. It is certainly regrettable that this arrangement had to be made, presumably mainly because it was thought that local audiences would be unwilling to pay another dollar or so for admission. It is more regrettable that their fears are only too well grounded. While realizing the inadequacies of two pianos for reproducing all the subtleties of Mozart's orchestration I cannot go along with my reader's suggestion that a recorded orchestral accompaniment be used. I would like to ask him whether he has ever tried to "conduct" a gramophone record. When the music is in full swing and marching along at a steady pace it is not too difficult, and in fact one can gain the illusion that one is controlling the orchestra —until one arrives at some variation in the tempo, and then the would-be Toscanini finds that it is the orchestra conducting him. It is quite impossible to secure any ensemble at all for the first bar or so, before the music has settled down, and if the conductor had to bring in his chorus at the beginning of a new tempo (as in the repetition of "Bella vita militar" in "Cosi fan tutte") the effect would be extremely ragged, as the conductor would have to wait until he had actually heard the first chord of the accompaniment before bringing in the chorus a split second afterwards.

◇ ◇ ◇

PERHAPS IT might be as well to give screen versions of operas completely different titles from their originals, just as Verdi did, when he took Dumas' play "La Dame aux Camelias" and renamed it "La Traviata". Gounod would certainly have been well advised to have given his Faust another name. The Germans, to whom Goethe's Faust is as sacred as Shakespeare's Hamlet is to us, resented Gounod's use of the same title, and to this day his opera goes under the apter title of "Marguerite" in German-speaking countries.

◇ ◇ ◇



A NEW Canadian Recording Company has been organized by a group of young Canadians—the Hallmark Recordings, Limited. They plan, in my estimation wisely, to concentrate on the recording of works which may sometimes be off the beaten track. This is not only welcome news to the connoisseur but also good business, for who is going to buy a recording of a standard work by, say, the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, when recordings of the same work by the crack American and European orchestras are already available? The big recording companies have been too long in business and are too solidly entrenched to be fought on their own ground.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS NEW recording company intends to present the finest of Canadian talents, "not merely because they are Canadian, but because they are good". The first two releases would appear to fall in line with their announced plans. There is a recording by Lois Marshall of "Seven Popular Spanish Folk Songs" by Manuel de Falla and "Three Divine Hymns" by Purcell, arranged by Britten. The other disk features [illegible] is plenty of talen[illegible] in this country, and there is no reason why these records should not sell well outside Canada as well as within our borders. But they must be good. Not only must the artists be of first-rate quality but also the atcual recording must be as clear and lifelike as it is possible to make it nowadays. One outstanding reason for the success of the "London" recordings is the meticulous attention they have given to this most important aspect. It may well be that the English are temperamentally better equipped for this elusive chase after perfection than the Americans, less in a hurry; or it may be that the craftsman, who is supposed to have died off as a result of the industrial revolution, has cropped up again over there in the recording business. One thing is certain; they produce beautiful recordings. I had occasion to compare two recordings of the same work the other day. One was a London, the other a new brand selling at a lower price. In the full passages there was not very much difference, but in the softer sections the superior quality of the London was very striking. It will most surely pay the Hallmark company abundantly in the long run to spare no money or pains to make their recordings technically as perfect as possible, as a poor job lets down the reputation of a firm and diminishes the confidence of the public.

◇ ◇ ◇

I WAS heartened to read of the abolition of the iniquitous sales tax on books announced by Mr. Abbott in the budget and was under the impression that this would also apply to music. However, to make sure, I got in touch with the Customs officials, who told me that the remission of the tax applied only to bound volumes! This is a ridiculous anomaly. If the government is seriously interested in encouraging the arts it should realize that culture is not confined to cloth or calf-skin covers. It is particularly hard on Canadian music publishers, whose home market is so much smaller than British or American publishers and who must rely chiefly on their home market. Nearly all the music published nowadays [illegible] of binding, and thus the [illegible] average music student. The price of music in Canada is probably higher than anywhere else in the civilized world. What are you going to do about it, Mr. Abbott?

"... and on the basis of Miss Figsby's research we're petitioning for an election year every year ..."

The London Policeman

(BBC BULLETIN)

WHEN Tom Fallon left the Scotland Yard Training School many years ago the old Superintendent who gave the parting lecture concluded, "You are now about to be let loose upon the unsuspecting inhabitants of this great Metropolis — well, here's my final piece of advice to you. When you find yourselves alone, clothed in all the majesty of the Law, I advise you to stand your uniform on the corner of the street and remain very quietly within it. If you wish to do that, all will be well. And I wish you all every success in your new profession." Fallon, who rose to be a Superintendent at Scotland Yard and has also been in charge of the Thames River Police, quoted this advice in his BBC talk. A policeman's uniform could work wonders in the most difficult situations — if only the man inside did not talk too much. For thirty years he had stood in his uniform in places varying from the East End of London to the East African Bush, and the thing he valued most in his career was the opportunity it gave him to study ordinary men and women. He said, "I have found kindness and courage in the most unexpected places, and I have come to believe that it takes little more than a stroke of ill fortune and a moment of weakness to make crooks of most of us."

He chronicled the working day of the London policemen, directing travellers, assisting the very young and old across busy streets, dealing with accidents, lost children and injured people, giving advice on many subjects, watching for crooks on the prowl and thieves on the run. In between came the surprises and excitement and he well remembers one occasion when he turned a corner and found a large excited crowd looking up at the roof of a jeweller's shop. Someone suddenly shouted "There he is!" and he saw a crouching man, said to be a burglar, high among the chimney-pots. All the shops were locked and Fallon's only course was to pursue his man from outside the building by climbing to the roof and up a steep and narrow brick gable. He pulled himself up hand over hand and as he reached out for the final heave felt both mortar and brick giving way. He slipped and swayed backwards over an eighty foot drop to the street, saw the man coming towards him and somehow managed to recover his balance and throw himself flat on a narrow ledge. He waited, stiff with fright. The criminal came up and said, "It's all right guvnor, give me yer hand!", gave a strong pull and had him in safety. "As he did that I heard the people down in the street below cheer him. How the crowd loves a good loser," said Fallon. He thanked the rescuer, whom he reluctantly took prisoner, and next morning told the magistrate how the burglar had come to his assistance. This earned the man a considerably lighter sentence and when he came out of prison Fallon found him a job.

Another rooftop rendezvous took place some years later when he was a sergeant working in plain clothes. Just after midnight someone phoned the station to report thieves breaking into a flat on top of a five-storied building. Fallon went off with two police constables and was soon on his way to the roof where he found a large man with a big revolver who aimed his gun and said deliberately, "Put your hands up! This thing is loaded. Any funny business and I'll shoot." Fallon scrambled on to the roof, put his hands up and said that he was a police officer. The criminal was disbelieving until he saw Fallon's warrant card. The man started to apologise and said it was he who had phoned for the police and he had mistaken Fallon for another crook coming up to join the gang at work. Fallon later discovered that this large man was one of the wildest and most dangerous people in the district. "Whenever I read an account of a policeman finding himself at the business end of a bandit's gun I think of that night I faced one high up on a London rooftop and I assure you that all my sympathies are with the policeman," he said.

Wolf Stories

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

Many more reports of wolves being shot in the district will have people "down south" thinking we are up in the Sault district. In the past week or so there have been more wolf stories coming out of the district than even that great city of the northern wilds can boast.

Could it be that the great north country is getting too highly civilized and the wolves are moving down into our own carefully conserved natural beauty spots? First thing we know someone will report sighting a moose on the Bruce Peninsula!

Unconsidered Trifles

Belle: "No, just an ordinary one."

Thompson had asked Jenkins to dinner at his house, and Jenkins didn't turn up.

A few days later the men met and Thompson said: "Do you know I asked you to dinner the other night?"

"Oh, yes," said Jenkins.

"Then why didn't you come?"

"Let me think," replied Jenkins. "Oh, I remember, I wasn't hungry."

◇ ◇ ◇

Two men in a car went past the traffic lights when they were red and were stopped by a policeman. "I'm sorry, officer," said the driver, thinking quickly. "I happen to be a doctor and I'm taking a patient to the asylum in a hurry."

[illegible] passenger was just as quick. Looking up at the constable with a seraphic smile, he whispered: "Kiss me, darling!" And they got away with it!

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus walked in the temple in Solomon's porch.

Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly.

Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me. But ye believe not, because ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you.

My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me: and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand.

My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my father's hand. (John 10: 23-29.)

Kitchener's Taxes

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

A year ago the rate jumped from 59.5 mills to 68 which should be regarded as the ceiling. Stability appears to have come to many sections of the national economy. It is not too much to expect a levelling off in the tax levy. Even a slight reduction would be most welcome. Every effort should be ma[illegible] to start the [illegible] of the homes in [illegible] people who live in them. This is a very satisfactory set-up, tending to promote interest in the management of civic affairs.

Monroe Believes Own Publicity —Joan Crawford

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Joan Crawford says Marilyn Monroe should stop believing her publicity.

The curvaceous blonde has been the subject of a hot controversy the last two weeks. Women's clubs have protested about the nature of her publicity and the advertising photos for her pictures.

Adding fuel to the fire were reports that her latest picture, the first with which she could demonstrate her box office pull, was doing disappointing business. Then there was her much-publicized appearance at the Photoplay awards dinner

Miss Monroe showed up in a zipperless metallic gown into which she had to be sewn. When stepping up to get her award as the outstanding new personality on the screen, she put on a hip-swinging display that brought the house down.

"It was like a burlesque show," said the horrified Miss Crawford. "The audience yelled and shouted, and Jerry Lewis got up on the table and whistled. But those of us in the industry just shuddered.

TOO MUCH

"Certainly her picture isn't doing business, and I'll tell you why. Sex plays a tremendously important part in every person's life. People are interested in it, intrigued with it. But they don't like to see it flaunted in their faces."

Miss Crawford said the Monroe buildup was clever and well planned. It was the work of master exploiters, she remarked, but it got out of hand.

"The publicity has gone too far," she said. "and apparently Miss Monroe is making the mistake of believing her publicity. Some one should make her see the light. She should be told that the public likes provocative feminine personalities; but it also likes to know that underneath it all the actresses are ladies."

Discussing other glamor buildups, she remarked that Jane Russell had managed herself well. "Howard Hughes tried to make her out a sexy dish at first," she said, "but Jane managed to keep her feet on the ground."

Then there was Jean Harlow, who was first painted as a platinum blonde vamp. When that novelty wore off, she turned redhead and became a successful comedienne. Apparently 20th-Fox has the same thing in mind for Monroe. Although she wants to be a dramatic actress, the studio is grooming her for comedies like "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

TOGETHER AFTER 3,500 YEARS—The right fragment of the sculptured head of Tutmosis, of Egypt, has been part of the Munich, Germany, art collection for many years, and all hope was lost of ever finding the rest of the head. Recently an art dealer in the city gave the museum a sculptured fragment which he had no use for, and it was found to be the other half of the head. The sculpture is at least 3,500 years old.

Nationalist Ban Deals Blow To Anti-Semitism

By HARRY WHYTE

ISTANBUL (Reuters)—Anti-Jewish fanaticism has been dealt a crushing blow in Turkey by the government's decision to ban the Association of Nationalists, a right-wing society imbued with Hitlerite conceptions of the "master race"—which for them, of course, is the Turks.

Members and sympathizers of the nationalist association are awaiting trial on charges of conspiring to assassinate Ahmet Emin Yalman, editor of the Istanbul newspaper, "Vatan," at Malatya last November.

Originally, arrests numbered 12. But there have been others since following a country-wide police investigation which is still going on, and the exact number accused is not known.

Yalman belongs to the "Donme community"—Turks of Jewish race and Moslem faith—which dates back to the 17th century when a number of Jews here embraced Islam. Nationalists who call themselves "Osturk"—"Pure Turk"—suspect the "Donme" of practising Jewish religious rites in the secrecy of their homes, and the 'Donme" have always been among the victims of anti-Jewish persecution here.

ONLY MOSLEM VICTIMS

They were, for example, the only Moslem victims of a crushing capital levy exacted during the war.

But anti-Semitism is not the only important characteristic of Turkish nationalism as a factor in the political life of the country.

The nationalists would like to turn the clock back, to have Turkey ruled once more in accordance with mediaeval Islamic tradition.

The attempted assassination of Yalman was regarded as a danger signal by the leaders of both the government Democrat party and the main opposition, the Popular Republican party.

Personal relations between the opposing parties have often been bad and until quite recently they were getting worse. But the party leaders now are doing all they can to obtain inter-party co-operation to curb the nationalists.

Prime Minister Menderes, at a press conference, cited a manifesto issued by the Istanbul section of the nationalist association—which was probably the immediate cause of the decision to ban the association—as "an appeal to revolution."

The manifesto, he said, "divides the nation into two parts: Turks and non-Turks. That is a serious threat to the unity of the country."

ABBOTT ASSISTANT — John J. Deutsch, 41-year-old director of the finance department's international economics division, has been appointed one of Finance Minister Abbott's senior adviers. He has been elevated to the rank of assistant deputy minister. Born and raised on a Saskatchewan wheat farm, Mr. Deutsch becomes one of the finance department's three assistant deputies all advising on budget matters.

World Output Triple '32 Level

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The free world's industrial production has tripled since the dark depression years of 1932, the UN said Sunday, and now is more than twice as high as in the boom year of 1929.

The UN's statistical yearbook for 1952 offered no figures for the Soviet Union, which has never cooperated with the UN's technical services. It offered a few estimates but treated them with extreme caution.

The yearbook also reported that governments all over the world are spending money at an unprecedented rate.

It offered no reason for the spectacular growth in industrial production and other fields, except to remark in passing that prodigious climbs were registered during and immediately after the Second World War and again after the outbreak of the war in Korea.

Facts and figures covering the years from 1929 to 1951 were put forth in 177 tables taking up 554 pages.

Youngster 10, Saves Friend From Drowning

STRATFORD (CP)—Robert Boon 10, saved the life of a small playmate, Derry McKay, when his young friend plunged into the Avon River Saturday.

The McKay boy, heavily loaded with hockey equipment, sank at once and only his hockey stick remained above the surface of the water. Robert grasped the stick and pulled the smaller boy to the river's edge and out onto the bank.

Young Derry then set out alone for the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Duley. She said the boy was blue from head to foot when he arrived but recovered quickly in a hot bath.

Robert went on his way to play hockey with the Shakespeare School Brownies.

Lord Ismay World Leader History-Making Decade

By DON COOK
New York Herald Tribune News Service

PARIS — Next to Winston Churchill himself, probably no man in public office today has participated in as much first-hand history-making during the last turbulent decade as has Lord Ismay, the Secretary-General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization who is now making his first official NATO visit to the United States.

Nor is there a better raconteur on the subject. Next to his solid reputation as "the oil that makes the international wheels go round," Lord Ismay is famous for his story-telling.

He has a wealth of history-in-the-making anecdotes to draw upon. He was "Chief of Staff and devoted slave" to Mr. Churchill during the war years, then Chief of Staff officer to Lord Louis Mountbatten during the crucial British withdrawal from India, next a British Cabinet Minister and now NATO's permanent head. "Pug" Ismay has been a familiar, if not almost permanent figure on the recent historic scene.

A big, hearty English soldier, Lord Ismay's nickname derives from his mobile face, which always returns to an expression somewhere between that a Pekinese and a friendly bull-dog. All his friends, including President Eisenhower, call him "Pug," and he signs his personal letters "Pug."

He was born in India in 1887. Later, to the disappointment of his father, he chose a military career.

"I always told my father that I was not smart enough to do anything else, but enter the army," he sometimes relates, "and not only that but I chose the cavalry service. These is a story about a cavalry officer who was so dumb that even his fellow officers noticed it. I told that story once at the Cavalry Club in London, and, do you know, nobody laughed."

In the Frontier Force Cavalry on India's northwest frontier, he saw his first fighting. In the first World War he served in Somaliland with the King's African Rifles and later with the Camel Corps which defeated the "Mad Mullah" of Swat in India.

Between the wars, he served two other tours of duty in India, and by 1938 he was the Secretary of Britain's Imperial Defense Committee—the top government defense policy-making body. It was from this job that Winston Churchill elevated him to be his personal Chief of Staff. As such, he was the go-between between the British service chiefs and the War Cabinet.

"He knew exactly how my mind was working from day to day," Mr. Churchill wrote of Lord Ismay in his memoirs.

One of the Churchill stories about Lord Ismay concerned the dramatic flight which the two men made to France in 1940 to confer with Premier Paul Renaud, Gen. Maxime Weygand and Marshal Henri Petain.

SPOKE HINDUSTANI

Mr. Churchill arranged to have an officer who spoke Hindustani standing by at the War Office, and Lord Ismay, who also speaks the language fluently, thus kept Mr. Churchill in telephonic contact with London during the talks. The chances of the German Army's turning up a Hindustani-speaking citizen to tap the secret conversation were pretty slight.

Lord Ismay attended every one of the big wartime international conferences — from the Atlantic meeting between President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill down to Potsdam.

He retired from the army and received a peerage in 1946, but was recalled to public duty when the Labor government decided to get out of India. After the Indian negotiations, Lord Ismay was named to the chairmanship of the "Festival of Britain" council in charge of the planning work for the exhibition.

When the Conservatives came back into power in Britain in 1951, Mr. Churchill selected Lord Ismay for the Commonwealth relations office—partly as a reassurance to India that there would be no tampering with the Labor government's India policies, which Mr. Churchill had strongly opposed.

NATO SECRETARY

When the search for a NATO Secretary-General began in 1951, Mr. Churchill finally agreed to release Lord Ismay for the job.

"When it was all arranged, the Prime Minister put his hand on my shoulder and said, "Pug, you're going to be serving 12 nations now, and don't always put us at the bottom of the list," Lord Ismay relates.

Of Lord Ismay, Gen. Eisenhower wrote: "He was one of those men whose great ability condemned him throughout the war to a staff position. Consequently his name may be forgotten; but the contributions he made to winning the war were equal to those of many whose names became household words."

President Eisenhower would undoubtedly be one of the first to acknowledge that "Pug" Ismay's name has not been forgotten.

Adults Rebuked

VEREENIGING, South Africa (CP)—Adults who use bad language and tell off-color stories in front of children were rebuked by Rev. James Reed, opening a new high school here. To the pupils themselves, he said "keep your hearts clean and you will spend many profitable days at this school."

AVERAGING 251 for 10 games, Walter (Turk) Walton won the district bowling championship Saturday in a tournament shared by Duffus and Playfair bowling alleys. Walton just edged Playfair bowler Ray Bennett by four pins for the title and Molson trophy which Walton admires (above). Forty-five bowlers took part in the tourney and most of them averaged more than 200 for the games, five at each alley.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Walton Wins District Title Bowls 2510 For 10 Games

Walter (Turk) Walton, a last-minute replacement on the Duffus Bowling Alley team, won the district bowling championship Saturday when he rolled a total of 2510 for 10 games. Walton's total was just four points more than second-place Ray Bennett of the Playfair alleys. Walton will represent the district later this month at the Ontario championship tourney in Toronto.

Forty-five bowlers from Trenton, Port Hope, Cobourg, Brighton, Campbellford, Lindsay and Peterborough represented nine bowling alleys. All were finalists in competition at each alley and all had recorded better than 200 averages. Each bowler rolled five games at Duffus and five at Playfair alleys Saturday.

Walton was the sixth place bowler in the playdowns recently at Duffus. But Duffus bowler Vern Ferguson was late arriving, and according to the rules made Walton eligible to bowl in his place. Ferguson arrived at the third frame of the first game but was ruled ineligible by the officials.

Walton, a left-handed bowler, was after the Molson trophy from the start. In the afternoon he bowled games of 258, 300, 262, 228 and 222 at Duffus and then in the evening bowled games of 189, 296, 271, 217 and 267 at the Playfair. He was always out in front.

Runner-up Ray Bennett had three games under the 200 mark, but offset these with two games well over 300 and two near by that. But his final total just fell short of Walton's. Some other high totals were Port Hope's Bob Golding with 2,382, Campbellford's Don Holmes with 2,382, Lindsay's R. Hladki with 2,379, Playfair's Bill Harris with 2,367, and Playfair's Eugene Reynolds with 2,351.

The day's best game went to Gar Irwin, of Campbellford, who came within two balls of a perfect game. He rolled 10 straight strikes and by that time fellow bowlers gathered around urging him on. But his 11th ball took out the two-pin and the 12th ball the one, three and five pins for a 419 total.

Other high single games went to bowlers from the Playfair alley: Bill Harris rolled a high 387 and Bennett a 365. Many bowlers recorded games over the 300-mark during the 10 games, five at each alley.

To each of the high men in the nine alleys represented will go a pin, signifying their achievement Saturday. These pins will go to L. Furnia of Trenton with a 2,276, R. Haldki of Lindsay with 2,379, Don Holmes of Campbellford with 2,382, Ray Bennett of Playfair with 2,506, R. J. Golding of Port Hope with 2,413, Ted Rollings of Cobourg with 2,140, R. Keane of Brighton with 2,201, Bob Sager of Trenton with 2,195, and George Walton of Duffus with 2,510.

After the bowlers had played five games at both Duffus and Playfair alleys, the Molson trophy was presented to Walton at a buffet supper at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. Gordon Wilson, secretary-treasurer of Molson's, made the presentation, wishing Walton the best of luck in the Ontario tournament.

Straight Face Wins $100,000 At Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)—Greentree Stable's Straight Face, with Toronto-born Ted Atkinson riding, Saturday won the $100,000-added Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park—the richest race ever run for three-year-olds.

The 16 entries raced according to the script. Straight Face, 8-to-5 favcrite with running mate Powhatan, moved up in the stretch to win by 1½ lengths over Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem, second betting choice at 7 to 2.

Third, a neck back, was Mrs. Vera Bragg's Tribe. Fourth was Ada Rice's Cerise Reine, only filly in the race.

Time for the 1⅛ miles was 1:49 2-5.

Straight Face, bay gelded son of Count Fleet out of Expression, earned $116,400 to push his total winnings in two years of racing to $191,796.

Collegiate Teams Lose Final Games In COSSA Play

PCVS' senior and junior basketball teams were second-best in the COSSA championship tournaments in Toronto Saturday. Both reached the finals but Bev Goulding's seniors lost the title 68-28 to Niagara Falls CI while Zoltan Temesy's juniors were defeated by St. Catharines CI 52-37.

The Garnet and Grey seniors entered the finals with a 42-34 win over Barrie Collegiate, representing the Georgian Bay district. The ragged-playing Barrie quintette nearly upset PCVS after Goulding's cagers had taken 24-19 half time score.

Barrie whittled the PCVS lead away and then took a one-point lead in the third. But PCVS rallied to take a two-point, 33-31 score at three-quarters. In the fourth PCVS pulled away for the win.

On rebounds and working from the pivot, Dan Griffin paced the Garnet and Grey with 14 points. Barrie's Gleeson bettered that total by three, 14 of the 17 being scored in the first half.

The loss to Niagara in the final was expected. Even then the collegians did better than they expected. Considering that they had played in the afternoon and Niagara had not, the Garnet and Grey did well against the far superior Falls quintette.

The fast-breaking Falls cagers unsettled the hesitant Garnet and Grey time after time, adding to the lead. They went ahead 15-10 at the quarter, then 36-19 at the half and 52-24 at three-quarters.

Howie Triano, mostly on driving in, led the Falls quintette with 21 points, four ahead of teammate Sheppard, a hook shot artist from the bucket. Until fouled out in the fourth Murray Grafstein sparked the PCVS team. He intercepted passes, rebounded well, carried the ball up the floor well and led the scoring with nine points.

The day's disappointment was the junior's showing in the final game against St. Catharines who soundly trounced Belleville CI in the semi-finals.

Temesy's strong junior quintette easily romped to a 46-32 victory over Orillia CI in the semi-finals. They led 11-10 at the quarter, 29-21 at the half, 44-27 at three-quarters and then coasted in the fourth.

Doug Ash made the day's best showing for PCVS in that game with 21 points, mostly on drives in close and on set shots from 15 feet out. Terry Roberts, driving down centre with a semi-final jump shot scored 11. Orillia's best was Jim Saunders and Thompkins with nine each.

The first quarter ruined PCVS' chances for a title in the junior field. St. Kitts scored the first 12 points and that margin did the trick and gave them a 15-4 quarter score.

The Garnet and Grey performed the tournaments' best rally in the second as they came back quickly, narrowing the margin to six points, 21-15 at the half. PCVS three-man weave which was so successful in the second was completely stopped in the second half by St. Kitts' zone defence with the result St. Kitts' went further ahead 39-23 at three-quarters and kept the lead throughout the fourth.

The PCVS seniors by virtue of their win over Barrie will represent Central Ontario in the Ontario high school championship tournament starting Friday in Toronto. They will play either Etobicoke or Riverdale Collegiates in the first game.

Spring Training Said Too Long

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Rogers Hornsby thinks spring training is a little too long.

"Any big league club can get in shape in four weeks," said Hornsby, whose Ccincinnati Reds were the last team to report. "Get down here in time to spend a couple of weeks getting ready and then play your way home — 15 or 20 exhibition games. The club would make more money out of it, too."

"But you can't do it these days," he added hastily. "Not the way they schedule those exhibition games. We've got 53. Not that I'm against exhibitions. You get more out of playing games than all the practising in the world."

CALGARY COACH — R. A. (Bob) Snyder, 50, prominent as a player and coach with a number of United States' teams, has been signed as coach of the Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. As a player he was quarterback with Cleveland Rams and Chicago Bears. Later he was a coach with Cleveland, Los Angeles, Notre Dame, Green Bay Packers and Toledo University.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

We fat fellows like our food. The French and Danish pastries, the southern fried chicken, stuffed tenderloin, hot rolls, French fries, mashed potatoes and the like, the richer the better. They all find a place on our menus.

We consider ourselves sportsmen for eating is a game which includes many popular games.

Like in chess or checkers we patiently wait for one move after another. Then there's sprints to the table. When there, we elbow each other, chew at each other, and rap each other's knuckles when grabbing for a favorite dish. When the action's over we rest awhile as most sportsmen should do.

Unfortunately there comes a time when we know we're over the hill. In fact those hills are so large in some cases, we can't see the ground at our feet.

From comments about my physique, I've been thinking that perhaps my time's pretty close at hand. My bay window is so large, that people beyond the Even-Your-Best-Friend-Will-Tell-You stage are making "humorous" remarks.

Shortly after I crashed through a downtown weigh scales the other day, I began thinking of reducing. The idea of diets (they're comparable to match misconduct penalties) was discouraging. The only other alternative was exercising and weight-lifting to put the muscle back where it should be.

That Thought Soon Passed

But the weight-lifting thought soon passed. For while waddling through Little Lake cemetery, I came across a tombstone which read: Ye weak beware, here lies the strong, A victim of his strength, He lifted 1,600 pounds, And here he lies at length. I side-stepped Daniel Macdonald's grave carefully.

There laid Peterborough's strongest man. I visualized myself lifting 1,600 pounds. Ho! Hum! Even the thought's tiring.

But that gentleman wasn't beefy, he apparently was tall, well-built, with an overflow of muscles. He must have been, for lifting 1,600 pounds was quite a feat in those days.

BOB MERCER LIFTS A FEW

The George St. storekeeper was noted for his lifts such as hoisting up a 500-pound pig in the market square or picking up a 700-pound bell which smashed the floor when he let go. These lifts were for small wagers.

But a poster offering $500 for anyone who could outlift a Montreal heavyweight who had lifted 1,500 pounds with harness attracted his eye. Along with fellow storekeeper, Malcolm Morrison, Macdonald went to Montreal where he flipped up the 1,500 pounds and then 100 more to win the reward.

But then comes the discouraging part. Macdonald became ill, spitting blood, and within a few days after his return to Peterborough he died, presumably from a rupture.

Weight-Lifting Of Today

Which brings us around to weight-lifting in Peterborough today.

Activities have dwindled in the past two years at the YMCA gym as interest lacks despite an increasing number of Mr. Five-By-Fives. The club there deals most with body development.

Harry and Gerry O'Rourke, along with Ken Bailey are the main weight-hoisters, working in the lightweight, cleaning and jerking weights totalling 200 pounds. A few others, including Doug Ferguson and Harold Campbell also lift a few.

Weight-lifting reached its peak in 1948 when Stan McBride, Ab Blondin and others were carrying weights around like feathers. Blondin was about tops with a lift of 680 in the lightweight for the three lifts, press, snatch, clean and jerk.

It's too bad that the fellows haven't continued the same interest which inspired Cliff McInroy to form the club.

Referring back to Macdonald's act, Big Stan points out that lifting 1,600 pounds as a real feat in those times, especially with the make-shift harness which he used over his shoulders.

With harness, Big Stan claims that a half a dozen former Peterborough weight lifters could better that Macdonald mark with ease. Modern methods of training have helped, but the weight hasn't changed—it's still just as heavy.

Big Stan claims his weight-lifting has come in handy in his daily work, especially the leg-lifts. He hoists cars for changing oil and tires, but adds it's "awfully handy except when called to the phone."

All this weight-lifting talk has made me hungry—let's go for a dish of frogs' legs, southern fried chicken and some tasty pastries.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

The Peterborough Colts rink, skipped by R. Somerville, won district honors here on Saturday night in a one-sided contest against Oshawa's Colt rink, skipped by A. Webster. The local boys now advance to Toronto, March 12, to compete with seven other district winners; and if they continue with the brand of curling that they have shown in this series, they should just about win The Harvey Sims Trophy.

In our opinion the issue was settled in the first two ends. When the Peterborough skip went to play his last stane, on the first end, Oshawa were lying three shots or maybe four—if he had missed Oshawa would have counted a big end and that may have had a decided influence on the rest of the game—but he didn't miss. He played a perfect "chap and lay" shot to count one, and then on the second end, playing towards the glass, the local quartette counted a big five end that made the score read 6-0 for Peterborough with two ends played.

In all fairness to the Oshawa skip, there was just a little low luck attached to his last stane—he tried to raise an Oshawa stane in onto the rings, hoping to get the shot or at least cut the local count down, but he played a little too heavy and passed the Oshawa stane right through the house. It was tough luck for Oshawa, but nevertheless Peterborough counted five, and as we said before, that put the game in the well-known hand-bag. After that the local boys so completely dominated the play that Oshawa conceded the game after the ninth end had been played.

This is the second group playoff, within a couple of weeks, that has turned out to be a one-sided affair—but that's the way curling goes. Maybe next time it will be a dandy game—who knows?

FINALS

2,500 Snowshoers Cut Up In Hull

HULL, Que. (CP)—An army of some 2,500 snowshoers from Eastern Canada invaded Hull during the weekend in one of the most colorful sports events this city has witnessed in almost a half-century.

Attending the first annual convention of the Canadian National Union of Snowshoers in this city in 45 years, the "raquetteurs" from some 50 clubs paraded through city streets, wearing their gaily-colored capotes, toques, mitts and sashes.

Given the keys to the city by Mayor R. A. Gauthier, the snowlovers danced and sang their way to the Hull armories for festivities, led by bands and high-stepping majorettes. Snowshoe clubs represented included those from Montreal, Three Rivers and Cornwall.

Charlton, Elmsley Win Badminton Senior Doubles

The Peterborough Badminton Club salvaged only one Central Ontario championship Saturday in annual championships played in Trenton. R. Charlton and W. Elmsley defeated Bob Baker and E. Johnston two straight, 15-5 and 15-7, in an all-Peterborough final for the senior men's doubles title.

Ernie Neilson of Bowmanville retained his men's singles championship by defeating G. Kerr of Belleville 17-14 and 15-10. Esther Martin of Port Hope won the ladies' singles with a double triumph over Bowmanville's Ruth Thompson.

In the ladies' doubles another Peterborough couple, Mrs. R. Charlton and V. Rose lost out to D. Harvey and A. Armstrong in the finals. They lost 15-0 and 17-13, winning the first game 15-9. The men's doubles went to Burgess and G. Tighe of Bowmanville defeating R. Swindells and B. Gallagher, also of Bowmanville.

The mixed championship was also a Bowmanville final. B. Bettles and G. Tighe were forced to play the three-set, winning 15-4 and 15-10 and losing 15-12 against D. Reddock and B. Gallagher.

In the consolation finals E. Johnston and V. Rose won out in three thrilling games. Johnston also teamed with Bob Baker on Friday night to win the men's doubles consolation in two straight games.

Kingston Sweeps 5 Of 6 In Badminton

CORNWALL (CP)—Kingston Badminton Club, sweeping five of six main events, Saturday won the team championship at the annual St. Lawrence District Badminton Association tournament. Cornwall won the senior men's couples to deprive the Kingston players of a clean sweep.

Kingston's John Johnson retained his men's singles crown with a straight set win over Harold Markle of Brockville, 15-5, 15-5.

Evelyn Constantine of Kingston captured the ladies' singles title, defeating Mrs. Jean Woodman of Gananoque, 15-5, 15-6.

Canada Noncommittal About World Play

LONDON (CP)—Canadian plans for the 1954 world hockey championship will be decided at the general meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in May, president W. B. George of Kemptville, Ont., said Sunday.

Here en route to a congress of countries competing in the championships to be held in Zurich, Switzerland, in conjunction with the 1953 championships, George said he is not going to commit Canada to any definite action.

Canada and the United States dropped from world competition this year after being refused financial guarantees.

UP AND IN—That's the way Toronto Oakwood Belles star, Hannah (8), did the trick Saturday when she led the Belles to a 58-47 win over Phil Macks' Blacks. The Belles won the two-game series 98-91. Sue DeWarga (8) and Joan Dunk (7) try to check Hannah who went on a scoring spree in the second and fourth quarters to give the Belles the margin they needed.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Marines Defeat Grads 75-68 In Intermediate 'B' Series

Plagued by personal fouls, Doug MacPherson's Marines just managed to eke out a 75-68 win over Oshawa Grads Saturday night in the second round of the Ontario intermediate "B" playdowns. A lengthy first half lead managed to carry the Marines through the second half when they lost stars Hugh Dibben, Bill Edger and Ab Stewart through personal fouls. They'll carry the seven-point lead into the return game this week in Oshawa.

Earlier this year the Marines took decisive wins in exhibition games from the Grads, both in Peterborough and in Oshawa. They started out well Saturday night and it appeared they would win by at least 15 points, but losing their key players hurt.

The small YMCA cramped the style of both teams and caused referees Howard Hempstead and Dell to hand out personal foul after foul. Dibben, Edgar and Stewart were lost early in the third while Oshawa lost Mroczek in the third, then Booth and Gingerich in the fourth.

Bill Edgar was away to a possible city individual scoring record until benched. His one-hand shot and fast break spear-headed the Marines attack in the first half. As it was Edger topped the scorers with 27. His closest rival was Oshawa's Booth with 19.

Edger, Dibben and Gord Burns were the main scrorers as the Marines jumped ahead 22-8 in the first quarter. The Marines' fast break was too much for the Grads. Edger kept breaking quickly in the second and Ab Stewart started driving in as the Marines pushed the score up to 43-22 at the half.

But then the Marines were stalled, The personal fouls came thick and fast; the Grads capitalized on the foul shots for points. Gradually the Marines' stars left, but they held on, keeping out in front 65-51 at three-quarters.

With the three key men off, the Marines fought gamely to keep the lead large enough to take to Oshawa. They finally had to settle for a seven-point margin as the Grads outscored them 17-10 in that quarter.

The return game will be Wednesday night in Oshawa.

Lineups:

Marines—Edger 27, Northcott 8, Dibben 11, Burns 12, Stewart 12, Gillespie 4, MacPherson, Smith 2.

Grads — Mroczek 8, Riseborough 7, Booth 19, Sheehan 3, Reddoch 5, Wilson 3, Gingerich 7, Hill 3, Edwards 5, Perry 6.

LADIES' CAGE FINALS

HAMILTON (CP) — Toronto Benny's took the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Ontario ladies' basketball championship Saturday, edging Zion Lady Ramblers, 47-42. The series ends in Toronto this week.

Second Quarter Costs Blacks LOBA Round

Over - excited Phil Mack's Blacks threw away their chances for an Ontario chapmionship Saturday night in the second quarter of their return game with Toronto Oakwood Belles. The Belles took advantage of a shooting and passing lapse by Blacks in that quarter to take a lead large enough to win the game 58-47 and the round 98-91.

Blacks opened the game with a four-point lead on the round, thanks to a 44-40 win in Toronto in the first game. They quickly went ahead by 11 on the round in the first quarter, but in the second quarter the Belles wiped that lead away and took a strangle hold on the game and round.

The desperate Toronto cagers checked the Blacks to a standstill in that second quarter, stopping Blacks' attack under the basket. The Macks lasses became excited and started throwing passes wild, resulting in Toronto having possession most of the quarter.

Not until it was too late did the Blacks begin to rally. They started working the ball quickly up the floor in the third quarter, gradually bringing the score closer. At times in the fourth Toronto held only a three-point round margin, but foul shots ruined any chance of overcoming that lead in the final minutes.

The Belles' Hannah did the trick. With an odd one-hand shot from the corner she put the Belles ahead in the second quarter and helped stave off the Blacks' rally in the final minutes, scoring a total of 18 points.

At the same time Blacks' stars Joan Dunk and Pauline Stewart were ineffective. Only Wilma Byers managed to hit the hoop regularly but even she was guarded closely, especially in the corner.

Because Peterborough referees hadn't passed examinations, Toronto referees were used. At times they appeared dazed, especially in the fourth quarter when the Blacks' rally was on. They even allowed a Toronto player, Lance, to play twice after she was fouled out of the game.

Although they have played only one round, Oakwoods now enter the Ontario finals. They will meet the winner of the Western Ontario - Ontario Church League champion series, probably beginning final play in about two weeks' time.

Schmidt's Timely Scoring Gives Boston Needed Points; Leafs Split With New York

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

In their last four games Boston Bruins have scored four goals. And Milt Schmidt owns three of them. For an old gaffer who has only nine goals to show for the entire National Hockey League season, the elder statesman from Kitchener, Ont., produces when the Bruins need him. For in those long, lonely eight days on the road, Boston picked up just two points of a possible eight, both on ties that resulted from Schmidt tallies.

At 35, Schmidt has spent two-fifths of his life as a big-leaguer. Actually he broke in 17 years ago, but the Second World War cut three seasons from his playing career. The two goals that gave the Bruins a 2-2 against Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night raised his NHL total to 209.

Thanks to Sunday night's effort, the Bruins are just one point short of pay-off territory. They trail the fourth-place Hawks 57 points to 56. Toronto Maple Leafs, who split a weekend twin bill with New York Rangers, are another point ahead of Chicago.

PLAY DETROIT

The Bruins are back in action in Detroit tonight against the first-place Red Wings, who virtually ended Montreal Canadiens' hopes of catching them by edging the second-placers 4-3 at Montreal Saturday.

Schmidt's old Kitchener sidekick, 36-year-old Woody Dumart, set him up for the first goal in the first period at Chicago. Jim Peters, a former Bruin, wiped it out before the period ended.

Early in the third period Cal Gardner fed Jimmy McFadden a pass for the second Chicago goal. Then defenceman Clare Martin and rookie Real Chevrefils carried the puck in on a desperate sally at 14:42. Schmidt applied the finishing touch.

Marcel Bonin, a Detroit second-stringer, scored the first goal of his NHL career in the third period to give the Wings their victory after Montreal had rallied to overcome a two-goal deficit.

LINDSAY GOALS

Two beautiful goals by Ted Lindsay within less than half a minute had put the Wings in front. Bert Olmstead got one back, but Johnny Wilson countered for Detroit early in the second frame.

Dickie Moore connected for the Habitants four minutes later and Doug Harvey tied it up in the last minute of the period. Bonin poked home the winning goal in a scramble.

The 14,751 Montreal fans, gathered to honor veteran defenceman Butch Bouchard, also paid a tribute of sorts to referee Frank Udvari, pelting him with rubber shoes and other assorted missiles when his calls proved unpopular.

The Leafs, who have virtually owned the cellar-dwelling Rangers all season, losing only once in their first 10 meetings, racked up their seventh victory by a 3-0 score Saturday night.

The New Yorkers finally struck back Sunday night in one of their best games of the year. Bill Cook's charges slapped the Leafs down 4-2 on their home grounds.

SCORED ON EMPTY NET

Eddie Kullman, better known for his defensive ability, fired two goals for the winners, the second a gift tally shot into an empty Toronto net from behind his own blueline when the Leafs pulled Harry Lumley from the net in favor of an extra forward.

Wally Hergesheimer and Hy Buller were the other Rangers marksmen while Sid Smith and Ron Stewart scored for the Leafs.

Eric Nesterenko, Tim Horton and Tod Sloan provided the goals at Toronto, where the Rangers have gone scoreless in their last three games. The shutout was Lumley's ninth, tying him with Montreal's Gerry McNeil for league leadership in the white-washing department.

Indians Trying To Coach Way Into Pennant

By GAYLE TALBOT

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The most urgent and important job of coaching being done in any baseball camp this spring has been allotted to Tony Cuccinello of Cleveland Indians' staff. The American League pennant could well ride on the little coach's success or failure.

All Tony has been asked to do between now and the season's start is to teach Ray Boone how to play shortstop properly and in so doing provide the game's greatest pitching staff with the sort of support it needs to beat out the Yankees instead of finishing second.

Tony has thrown himself into the task with much enthusiasm.

"The strange thing is," he said, "that it has taken this long to discover the reason the boy has been erratic on ground balls and has failed to improve in starting the double play. We would have won the pennant the last two years with just a little better shortstopping.

"What we know now is that Boone has a strange little habit of fluttering his hands just before a ground ball reaches him, and at the same time lifting his head a trifle. The result has been that too many balls either have gone under his glove or have been bobbled just enough for us to miss an important double play."

WORKING HARD

"I never saw a player work harder. I believe he's going to master it, and if he does our biggest problem is over."

Although George Strickland did a fine job of shortstopping for the Indians in their thrilling stretch drive after the Yanks last autumn, manager Al Lopez would like to see Boone come back and take over the post on a regular basis because he potentially is a far better hitter than Strickland. Three seasons ago he hit for a .301 average, but the last two years has been as dismal at the plate as in the field.

Former Champion Mrs. C. Slatkin Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Constance Wilson Slatkin, a Toronto figure skater who achieved international prominence, died Saturday at Kansas City, Mo., where she lived for the last five years. Word of her death reached here Sunday.

She was North American singles champion in 1929, 1931 and 1933. She teamed with her brother, Montgomery (Bud) Wilson to win the North American pairs championship in the same years. She won the Canadian singles championship five times.

She was a member of the Canadian Olympic team in 1928 and 1932.

TORONTO SWIMMERS WIN

MONTREAL (CP)—A University of Toronto swimming team Saturday night defeated teams from McGill University and the University of Western Ontario to capture the intercollegiate swimming championship. Toronto compiled 60 points, McGill was second with 17 while Western had 16.

Intercounty League To Begin May 15

BRANTFORD (CP)—The eight teams in the Intercounty Baseball League decided Sunday to open their 1953 schedule Friday, May 15.

Opening day sends all eight clubs into action: Kitchener at Brantford; Guelph at Waterloo; Oshawa at Galt; London at St. Thomas. The schedule ends Aug. 29.

A vote decided on a four-team playoff although there was some demand that six clubs get into post-schedule play. In the playoffs, the first-place team will meet the fourth and the second-place club plays the third. Semi-final and final series will be best-of-nine affairs. Five per cent of receipts of playoff games will be distributed among the bottom four teams.

Queen's Dumps McGill Griffin Hits For 12

MONTREAL (CP)—Queen's University defeated McGill Redmen 63-52 Saturday night in a basketball game of McGill athletics night.

The Golden Gaels pulled ahead at the start of the game and were never headed. They led 35-20 at half-time.

Bob Purcell paced the Kingston attack with 13, followed by Don Griffin with 12.

FLYING — Something new was added to the Chicago International Sports and Outdoor Show with the introduction of a giant sulky-racing ostrich, imported from Africa and trained by Gene Holter, of Fullertown, Calif. When this bird loses, it can hide its head in the sand.

Max Bentley Believed On Way Home

DELISLE, Sask. (CP) — Max Bentley, the unassuming farmer's son who made a pile of money and ended with a lot of aches and pains in big-time hockey, is heading back to his farm. He's sick and fed up.

The 33-year-old centre, one of the most dazzling figures in the National Hockey League since he broke into professional ranks 13 years ago, hasn't been heard from since he played briefly with Toronto Maple Leafs in a Toronto game last Wednesday.

But there was little doubt that Maxie was on his way to Delisle, possibly to end the Bentley era in the game. Max's parents said he was due here some time today.

The little hawk-nosed dandy, plagued by injuries and illness during the present season, checked out of his hotel Thursday and vanished. He was believed to be travelling to Delisle in a big, black convertible with his wife and father-in-law.

Officials of the Leafs knew nothing of his whereabouts.

However, the first concrete indication of Max's destination came Saturday when it was learned that an automobile registered in his name entered the United States at Port Huron, Mich., Thursday. It apparently was heading through the U.S. to Delisle.

Max's father, William Bentley, said later that he had advised him to come home. "I told him he was just one more hockey player when he was trying to play in bad physical condition."

Bentley returned briefly to action Wednesday night against Montreal Canadiens after being laid up two weeks with a recurring back injury—the ailment that has bugged him for nearly two years. He was only a shadow of the Bentley who dipsy-doodled his way to hockey fame years ago. He retired to the dressing room before the game was finished.

Earlier in the season, Max was out for seven weeks with the same back injury and a virus infection.

In the 34 games he played this season, Bentley scored 12 goals and got 11 assists.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Max Schmeling, leading heavyweight contender by virtue of a knockout over Joe Louis, arrived at New York from Germany 16 years ago today to challenge Jim Braddock for the world title. The title chance however went to Louis, who knocked out Braddock. When Schmeling got his chance in June, 1938, he lasted only one round against Louis.

Kitchener, Mercs Both Win By 4-1 Score

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A semi-final series believe in doing things the same way.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and Owen Sound Mercurys won by identical 4-1 scores Saturday night against Stratford Indians and Brantford Redmen to take identical 3-1 leads in the two best-of-seven rounds.

But the Dutchmen had a tougher time than the Mercurys, who finished on top of the seven-team league in the 48-game schedule. Playing at home, the Kitchener-Waterloo club whacked in three overtime goals for their triumph over the Indians. The Mercurys, also at home, divided their four counters between the second and third periods.

After a scoreless first period at Kitchener Don Rope of the Dutchmen deflected a shot off a Stratford player to put his team ahead. Stratford tied it seven minutes after the start of the third on Bruce Burdette's goal.

OVERTIME

In overtime Charlie Brooker, Bobby Schnurr and Don Bauer wrapped it up for the Dutchmen.

The first period was scoreless in Owen Sound. Then Bill McComb and Buck Forslund gave the Mercurys a 2-0 second-period lead. Jack Wade scored Brantford's only goal at the 11-minute mark of the third but Ray McCallum and Bill Allum wrapped it up with two more Owen Sound goals.

Kitchener will try to finish the series in Stratford Tuesday and Brantford remain in Owen Sound for a date the same night.

Will Replay Game

CAYUGA TOPDOGS — The recommissioning of the Canadian destroyer Cayuga at Esquimalt, B.C., was an important event for both Lt.-Cmdr. William P. Hayes, of Swift Current, Sask., and Alice, the ship's mascot. Alice joined the Cayuga at Guam in 1950 during the ship's first operational tour with the United Nations forces in the Far East. Cmdr. Hayes is the Cayuga's new captain.

Political, Economic Agreement Sought By English Leaders

By JOSEPH NEWMAN
New York Herald Tribune News Service

LONDON — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler have drafted proposals for global political and economic arrangements which they will present to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles during their five-day Washington conference beginning next week.

Mr. Butler, who will handle the economic aspect of this dual mission to Washington, wants an over-all economic agreement with the United States to complement the over-all political military understanding which Mr. Eden will try to secure.

If he succeeds in securing arrangements to stabilize production and consumption of some principal goods of the non-Communist world, Mr. Butler believes they will prevent recurrence of two-year cycles of economic crises.

ACTION ON STERLING

As the first major step toward achieving this global economic aim, Mr. Butler will propose action on an economic plan for the sterling area which was drafted at the recent Commonwealth conference in London. It depends on American support for development of Commonwealth resources and expansion of world trade so that the sterling area will be able to remove its present economic restrictions and make its currency freely convertible into dollars or other currencies.

Since Mr. Butler claims to have originated the phrase "Trade, not aid," he feels free to repeat it as often as possible in his negotiations with American officials.

Together with more trade, by which he means great imports by the United States of British goods, Mr. Butler will sound out the new administration on the extent to which it may invest in the development of Commonwealth resources and the amount it may contribute to the international monetary fund to help sterling and other controlled currencies become freely convertible.

There is a certain amount of suspicion between Britain, France and Western Germany regarding convertibility of their respective currencies. Each suspects the other of trying to make private arrangements with the United States so that its currency might become more readily convertible than the other.

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer informed Mr. Butler recently that he plans to make the mark freely convertible. French Premier Rene Mayer on his recent visit to London told Mr. Butler he plans to free the franc.

However, Mr. Butler pointed out that sterling covers a far larger area than either the mark or the franc and, therefore, its convertibility is a much more complicated problem.

Mr. Eden, in taking up political and military subjects, would like to see the United States and Britain united on an agreed policy for the major troubled areas of the world—Europe, the Far East and the Middle East.

Entertainment Given By Bethany Firemen

BETHANY (ENS) — The Fire Fighters' Association sponsored an entertainment in the town hall Wednesday evening, the proceeds going to purchase further equipment.

Mr. A. H. Monk was chairman and thanked all those who had worked on fire protection for the village and particularly Mr. Orloe Wright and Mr. George Smith who arranged the program and have been in charge of the newly purchased portable pumper.

Two representatives from the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, Mr. G. Fawcett and Mr. A. Kirk showed colored moving pictures on the hazards of fire, prevention methods and proper equipment.

Leone Smith, Dianne Bigelow, and Sally Coburn in smart red and white costumes gave a tap dancing number. Mrs. H. Rayson and Mrs. E. Lamb sang "Keep It A Secret." Ingrid Rajski gave two accordion selections. Creighton and Marie Carr contributed four comic songs with their own piano and guitar accompaniment. Mrs. Earl Argue gave two readings, "The Parson at the Hockey Match" and "A Country Curate". Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Preston sang "You'll Never Get Away" and "Sweet Violets". Misses June Wright and Muriel Sheckleton gave a tap dancing number. Mrs. Harvey Fallis and Mrs. Wellington Fallis sang "The Blue Skirt Waltz". Reeve Allan Beer sang two numbers in Scotch costume.

Mr. Orloe Wright spoke briefly of the finances of the Association. The Women's Institute started the ball rolling with a donation of $150. Other contributions received from citizens, organizations and the township council had reached $869.32. To date $776 had been used to purchase a new portable pumper and several hundred feet of hose.

Cisterns are being built and repaired to supplement the water supply from the creek at the west end of the village and Ryley & Sons have donated two underground empty gasoline tanks located in the centre of the village to hold a further supply of water. The United Church trustees had donated a building to house the supplies.

With the proceeds of the evening it is expected to purchase additional hose and a trailer for transporting the fire fighting equipment. The unit had already answered six emergency calls and proved its worth.

Mr. Morgan Bigelow and Miss Evelyn Preston assisted in making the draw for the motor rug and Nelson Brown, RR 2, Bethany, was the winner.

The remander of the evening was spent in dancing to music by Robert Sisson, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bristow and Messrs. Levi and Morley McGill, with Ernest Youngman calling the square dances.

Poisonous Pulp Waste Kills Fish For Miles

TORONTO (CP)—Toxic materials from the Espanola pulp mill in 1950 killed fish in the Spanish river for at least 35 miles, R. G. Ferguson of the University of Toronto said Saturday.

Mr. Ferguson, addressing the advisory committee on fisheries and wildlife of the Research Council of Ontario, studied fish life in the Spanish river, above and below the pulp mill, from 1950 to 1951. He said the river was "swept clear" of fish.

Mr. Ferguson said the normal discharge from the mill had no direct effect on fish. Indirect effects he said, resulted from "the drastic affects of the mill effluent on the bottom organisms."

Drive In Mexican Taxi Always Provides Thrill

MEXICO CITY. — A Coney Island roller coaster provides no more excitement than a Mexico City tax ride. At dawn when the avenues are clear, the drivers delight in doing 50 m.p.h. But in rush hour traffic, when it moves at a snail's pace, is the real adventure.

* * * * *

Then the cabby, irritated, cuts in and out of lanes. He charges jaywalkers like a bull bearing down on a matador. He'd hurl the car ahead if he could. Traffic piles up and someone beats a staccato rat-tat-tat on his horn, a reflection on another driver's ancestry. Mexicans have learned to curse with their horns, an offence for which they may be fined.

* * * * *

Traffic in Mexico is mad. There are 10,000 taxi drivers and the remainder of the more than 3,000,000 population drive as if they were. Coming down Juarez avenue, you close your eyes and pray that you will arrive in one piece. So far I have.

* * * * *

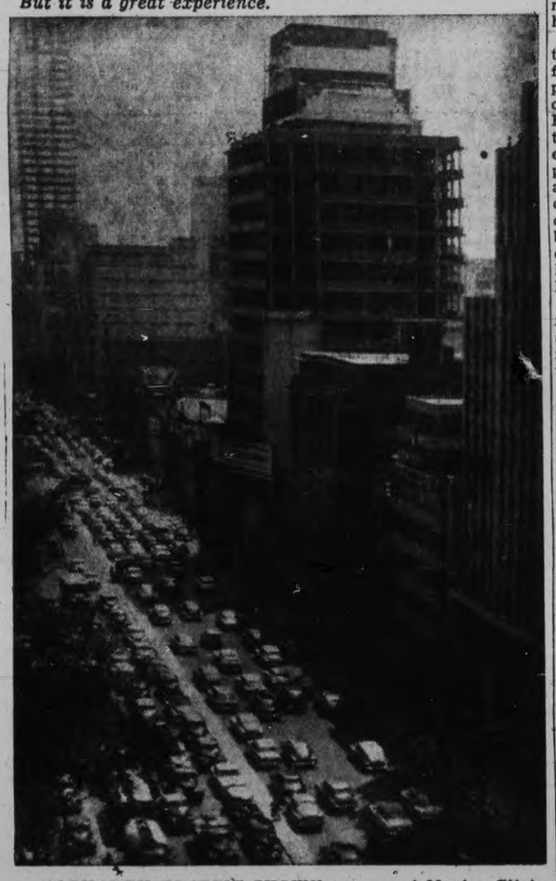
I have come to the conclusion that the ordinarily easy going Mexican suffers a feeling of repression and when he gets behind the wheel of a car he gives reign to to his feelings.

* * * * *

PEDESTRIANS TAKE A CHANCE

Even crossing the street as a pedestrian is an adventure. There are excellent traffic police who stand on little boxes and efficiently direct the thundering herd. When they whistle and wave their arms, the flood breaks. There are jaywalkers galore. I just dash when the crowd does. Buses and cars swarm along the narrow streets of the old section. Yet despite all this apparent confusion, I have yet to see an accident. There must be a special providence that guards Mexicans.

* * * * *



The day I was wandering through La Merced market I thought nemesis was going to catch up. The streets are very narrow and the sidewalk stands overflow on the road. One of the second class buses came hurtling along the street at a high speed and the driver with one hand on the wheel had his head turned talking to passengers in the back. Just as he swerved in toward a stand, a sixth sense must have warned him for he jerked quickly and the wheels swung away with inches to spare. Then he immediately renewed his conversation. It certainly adds to the spice of life.

* * * * *

For all that, however, Mexican cabbies are courteous and know their jobs. We have gone long distances in the city for only 2 or 3 pesos, roughly 25 or 35 cents. Here you do not phone for a taxi. You simply stand on the edge of the sidewalk looking expectant. In a matter of seconds a taxi with the sign "libre" (free) on the windshield pulls up with a flourish. They are metered and you do not tip them. The only time they are difficult to get is on a Saturday afternoon and after a bull fight or special theatre performance.

* * * * *

Paris taxi drivers have long had the reputation of driving their cabs as if they were planes. But for my money, Mexican drivers have the edge by a wide margin. But it is a great experience.

ALTHOUGH TRAFFIC SHOWN on one of Mexico City's main streets is comparatively light, at rush hours Juarez avenue is black with pedestrians and cars. Everyone seems to take a deep breath, and lets his car zoom ahead, hoping for the best. Surprisingly there appear to be few accidents. In the background is the modern skyscraper being erected by La Nacional Life Insurance Company.

Junior Farmers Competing Annual Bonspiel

Twenty-eight rinks of Junior Farmers of Ontario, comprising 112 rural curlers, began their third annual bonspiel at Charlotte St. rink this morning.

Hugh Imrie of Woodville, is credited with proposing this new interest of the Junior Farmers of the province two years ago. Their association took hold of it, and the response last winter boomed to 28 rinks, largely promoted by F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative here, and his assistant, Bob Bell, now of Woodstock.

Many of the visitors arrived in the city Sunday night for the first draw this morning at 8 o'clock.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS

David Pelleterio of Halton county, presient of the Junior Farmers of Ontario, was here just as a spectator. He said there was no curling rink in his neighborhood.

"The association is grateful to the Peterborough Curling Club for placing their rink at our disposal for the second year in succession," Mr. Pelleterio said to the Examiner. "We also appreciate the interest and support of Quaker Oats Co. in providing the first prize of four white sweater coats, and of Canada Packers for putting on the luncheon that winds up our day here. One advantage of Peterborough to our members is the central location of the rink, about half way between Bruce and Carleton counties."

Both ends of the province were represented by rinks from Bruce and Grey on the west, and Renfrew, Lanark and Carleton counties on the east.

The McMullen rink of Victoria county, winners of the Quaker sweaters last year, took their first game today from B. Carruthers of South Simcoe.

Two Durham and three Peterborough rinks in the bonspiel listed their members as follows:

Durham rinks were: Melville Somells, Ben Hooyer, Harvey Graham, Brian Hamilton, skip; Bill Ferguson, Keith Van Camp, Howard Black, Dalton Dorrell, skip Peterborough: Deb Coward, Harold Kempt, Jim Kempt, Bill Miller, skip; John Edmison, Percy Adamson, Harold Hope, Bill Nelson, skip; Reg. Ferguson, Don McFarlane, Keith McIntyre, Everett McFarlane, skip.

Results of the morning draw were:

Simcoe, Frank Kell, 7; Victoria, Carl Trebilco, 5.

Ontario, Ross McMillan, 10 plus 6; Victoria, Hugh Imrie, 2.

Peterborough, W. Nelson, 8; Lanark, R. Downey, 7.

Lanark, D. Humphries, 3; Simcoe, Faris Sinclair, 8.

Victoria, J. McMullen, 10 plus 5; Simcoe, B. Carruthers, 2.

Victoria, Cliff Lillico, 10 plus 1; Hastings, Bill Leeming, 4.

Simcoe, R. Clubine, 9; Northumberland, D. Carruthers, 4.

Bruce, Allister Campbell, 10 plus 7; Renfrew, Dick Wood, 2.

Peterborough, Wm. Miller, 9; Durham, Brian Hamilton, 5.

Bruce, Geo. McFadyen, 10 plus 5; Carleton, Wm. Anderson, 2.

Grey, Keith Brett, 4; Renfrew, Mac McLaren, 5.

Renfrew, Robt. Galbraith, 5; Peterborough, Ev McFarlane, 6.

Grey, Allan Lowe, 8; Durham, Dalton Dorrell, 7.

PCVS Drama Club Awarded Trophy For Best Play

The PCVS Drama Club was awarded the Milburn Trophy for the best play in the Eastern Ontario Secondary School Drama Festival in Kingston Saturday night for the presentation of Boatswain's Mate, by W. W. Jacobs. This is the first time in the festival's six-year history that the PCVS players have won the trophy. Plays were presented by 10 schools in the festival which was held Friday night and Saturday at Queen's University Convocation Hall.

The trophy was presented by Dr. William Angus, head of Queen's University Drama Department and festival organizer.

SOME SCENES BRILLIANT

Adjudicator Michael Meiklejohn of Ottawa highly complimented all three members of the Peterborough cast. He commended the excellent stylized acting and teamwork shown by the players and referred to some of the scenes as "brilliant."

Mr. Meiklejohn is drama advisor of Department of National Health and Welfare.

Miss Lenore Grose was Mrs. Waters, the mistress of the inn in the PCVS production. The part of the "bosun" was played by Eric Jackson and Jack King was Ned Travers, the old soldier.

The director was R. L. Hale, director of the PCVS Dramatic Club. Miss Jean Jolly was prompter and in charge of makeup.

Al three members of the cast received high honorable mention when the adjudicator announced the awards for the best actor and actress.

St. Edward's Continuation School, Westport, was runner-up in the competition for the best play for their performance of, Rising of the Moon, by Lady Gregory.

BEST ACTOR AWARD

The best actor award went to Jim Lawless of Brockville for his portrayal of the prisoner in The Valiant, by Holworthy Hall.

Miss Dianne MacMillan of Kingston won the best actress award for her interpretation of Mrs. Hale in, Trifles, by Susan Glaspell.

In his general remarks the adjudicator said that the standard of the work in the 1953 festival was very high and remarked that this was the first time he did not feel it necessary to criticize the plays selected for presentation.

In the festival's history PCVS has been runner-up twice and has won the best actress award three times.

SEASON'S EARLIEST FISHERMAN

Returning from church on Sunday morning contractor Charles Young of Young's Point, thought he was seeing things. Though the temperature stood at ten degrees above zero he watched a fisherman for half an hour casting like mad into the fast open water below the dam. The eager beaver was clad in a long overcoat, muffler and cap with ear flaps. Whether he became disgusted with his poor luck or got thoroughly frozen the fisherman finally gave up in disgust, dismantled his gear, got into his car and drove away.

2 Congregations Planning Build Churches

Prospects of church building in Peterborough this year have been amended in some respects during the winter, but it now appears likely that new Presbyterian and United Church developments will be undertaken as summer approaches.

Plans are advanced for the Presbyterian church project on Park St. on the property that was once occupied by the Scott Lumber Co. and, later, Canadian Ventilating Shades.

Temporary accommodation for this congregation organized in October is in Confederation School with an attendance that promises well for the church to be built in that neighborhood. Morning worship on Sundays has averaged 120 persons with 150 children at Sunday School.

Plans, not yet approved, call for a church to provide 250 seats on the ground floor, with a small gallery for others. Sunday school facilities will be in the basement. Services are being conducted by student ministers from Knox College, Toronto, and it is understood that the congregation will receive its first minister as stated supply in April. He is coming from Ireland.

UNITED CHURCH PLANS

Grace United Church congregation is looking forward to decision which may be reached before summer for the construction of the edifice they have been considering at Monaghan Road and Howden Ave.

"Nothing definite has been decided yet," the Rev. I. G. Pollock, minister of Grace United, told the Examiner today.

Several members of the congregation said they were expecting decision probably before the summer, and the Rev. Mr. Pollock said he would be very happy if he were in the position to make announcement that the building would be begun this summer. Presbytery's approval is one factor that remains to be decided.

The new United Church is generally regarded as a prospect for this year.

Plans for a Baptist church at Monaghan Road and McKellar St.

Workman's Chest Crushed Truck Passes Over Body Dies Sunday In Hospital

Dummer Township Man Slips Underneath Heavy Truck At Nepheline Mine Suffers Injuries to Chest and Lungs

Austin Stevenson, 26, of R.R. 1, Norwood (Centre Dummer), died in a Peterborough hospital on Sunday evening as a result of injuries suffered in an accident at the American Nepheline Mines on Friday. Stevenson was getting into an empty ore truck driven by Albert Bushy at the quarry when he slipped. The empty 15-ton vehicle passed over his chest and legs. First aid was administered by mine employee James Creighton. Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield accompanied an ambulance to the mine and took Stevenson to hospital. He died on Sunday at 7 p.m. as a result of injuries.

CAME FROM COBOURG

Mr. Stevenson had lived in Centre Dummer for the past two years coming there from Cobourg. His mother, Mrs. Wilfred Stevenson of Bagot St., had been receiving treatment at the same hospital he was taken to and was released to her home on Saturday.

Besides his mother and father he leaves two daughters, Linda, 6, and Annabelle, 8; two sisters, Mrs. Vera Greasley and Audrey Stevenson, and a brother, Ronald, all of Cobourg.

An autopsy was performed today by coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton who reported that Mr. Stevenson died as a result of a fractured chest, punctured lung and crushed left leg. An inquest will be held as soon as arrangements can be made by Dr. Carleton and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, QC.

SIDESWIPE COLLISION

A sideswipe collision on Highway 7, a mile west of Peterborough, caused about $50 damage early Sunday morning. A car being driven toward the city by William F. Murdock, 20, of Sophia St., was in sidesweep collision with a west-bound car driven by John Currie, 21, of Queen St., Lindsay. Nobody was injured but the left side of the Murdock vehicle was scraped and the left front fender of the Currie car was dented. The accident occurred on a straight stretch of the highway. OPP Constable Ernest Lunn investigated.

Seeking Nickel Copper In Marmora Twp.

The East Rim Nickle Mines of Sudbury have optioned 300 acres of copper-nickel showing in Marmora township. Owned by R. E. Botner of this town, the land lies on Lot 27 on the 5th Concesson and the east half of Lot 26 on the 4th Concession. Company engineer Sid Tear is running boundary lines at the present time preparatory to a geophysical survey and the diamond drill program. It is located ten miles north of the town.

Deposits were discovered about 45 years ago in the lifetime of the late William Botner, father of the present owner. In 1943 the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company acquired an option on the showing and did some exploration work. Drilling at that time showed a considerable copper-nickel body but the price of silver and nickel was low then and the option was abandoned.

SPRING CONFERENCE

William McFarlane, boys' work secretary for the Peterborough YMCA, is attending the annual spring conference of Boys' Work Secretaries at the YMCA camp, Norval, just outside Toronto.

Ensemble Work Big Feature In Presentation Of Iolanthe

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

An audience which filled the PCVS auditorium beyond its capacity greeted the production of Iolanthe by the Canada Packers Operatic Society on Saturday night. The venture was sponsored by the Married Couples Club of St. Paul's Church. The visit of this group has become an eagerly awaited annual fixture, and this year's production was somewhat above the accustomed excellent standard.

"Iolanthe" is one of the more difficult Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, both musically and dramatically. The satiric conception of the fairies (who open the piece by gently guying the customary stage notion of fairies); the Arcadian lovers, who must suggest Dresden porcelain without becoming sweetly sentimental; the male chorus of peers who must be ridiculous without suggesting a Marxist caricature; the Lord Chancellor, who must be at once funny and dignified; all these elements must be knit together into a coherent performance. The music is beautifully light, but by no means easy, and in the Saturday production it must be said that the professional orchestra showed up very badly in comparison with the amateur singers. The operetta, like so many things which are delicate and fragile in effect, is hard to do. The Canada Packers Operatic Society, without achieving the full D'Oyly Carte perfection in speech and song and dance, did very well indeed, and deserved the generous applause which the audience gave them.

The best acting performance was that of Arthur Sclater as the Earl of Mountararat; the best singing performance, that of Victor White as the Earl Tolloller. As the Lord Chancellor, James Green was very amusing, and his exhausted dancing in the peers' trio was a delight, but he fell a little short of the neatness of tongue demanded by the big Nightmare Song. Of the remainder of the cast it is not necessary to single out individuals for special praise; they all fitted well into the ensemble.

Ensemble was, in fact, the special feature of this production. There was a sense of enjoyment, and of working together, about the production which gave it a warmth and friendliness which captured the audience from the first moment. The Canada Packers Operatic Society presumably does these annual productions for fun, as well as to amuse others. They succeed admirably.

The performance was conducted with a firm hand by W. Richard Curry, whom we must also thank for a well-drilled production along those traditional lines laid down by Sir William Gilbert himself, which are by far the best treatment for these delightful operas in miniature.

Britain To Make Jet-Liner Faster Than Comet

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain, pioneer of the jet era of passenger flying, soon will be able to lengthen her lead over the rest of the world with ultra-high-speed airliners

Development plans will be helped by a recent government decision to give jetliner manufacturers super-priority for materials and other output requirements

In two years, the prototype of a huge new Atlantic jetcraft with a speed approaching 600 mile an hour will be in the air.

This aircraft will be about 100 miles an hour faster than the record-breaking Comet jetliners now in regular service with British overseas Airways Corporation on its world routes.

FOUR-ENGINE JOB

One of the most significant newcomers, of which only the sketchiest official details are available, is the 100-150 seat Vickers VC-7 liner, a four-engined jet type for which a prototype has been authorized.

The aircraft manufacturers say merely that the VC-7 will have a high sub-sonic cruising speed—from which experts assume a minimum of 550 miles an hour and more likely, nearly 600 miles an hour.

They predict that the Vickers transport may be available two years before the United States is ready with an 80-seater jetliner now being developed.

COMET'S RECORD

It is only nine months since a Comet jetliner, on May 2 1952, made the world's first civil jet flight with fare-paying passengers from London to Johannesburg, 5 950 miles, in just over 18 hours' flying time.

BOAC Comets now have flown over 10,000 hours, cruising at 490 miles an hour. What is more, they are making a profit.

Now the jetliner service is being extended to other countries' air fleets. France has received her first jetliner and two Comets are being sent to Australia this month to operate on the Sydney-Honolulu leg of the Canadian Pacific Airlines network. The RCAF also is due to receive two shortly.

While pure-jet aircraft like the Comet and the VC-7 are being developed as rapidly as possible, Britain is also going ahead with several propeller-jet airliners.

BOAC and operators in France and Canada have ordered the new 40-seater Vickers Viscount prop-jet aircraft, designed for shorter journeys than the Comet.

OPENS SHOW — B. K. Sandwell, veteran writer and editor, with "Sir Galahad" by the Ottawa sculptor Robert Norgate, one of three Canadian sculptors chosen to represent Canada at the international sculpture competition to be judged in London in March. "Sir Galahad" is one of the works on display at the 81st annual exhibition of the Ontario Society of Artists which Mr. Sandwell opened at the Art Gallery of Toronto February 27. The exhibition closes March 29.

Oldest Freighter Being Raised Sunk 2,200 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The oldest known cargo ship in the world is being raised from the spot where it sank in the Mediterranean sea off the southern coast of France some 2,200 years ago.

Included in the cargo: bottles of wine, some still intact after all these years.

The ship was found by the National Geographic Society-Calypso marine archeological expedition. Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic, announced the discovery Saturday.

The society's news release said of the ship:

"One of the rarest finds of archeological treasure in recent years."

And Grosvenor said of those on the expedition:

"Their startling discoveries promise to add much to mankind's knowledge of the ancient world."

Divers found that the ship carried almost 1,000 amphoras—pottery vessels for wine.

DINNERWARE

It also had 1,400 pieces of fine export dinnerware, probably from the Greek province of Latium. This now is Campania, Italy.

Scholars already have figured out who owned the 110-foot, 600-ton ship. He was a fellow named Marcus Sestius, a Roman naturalized as a Greek who lived on the Greek island of Delos.

The expedition was headed by Capt. Jacques-Yves Cousteau who said the ship will be cleared of cargo and mud by late spring and then will be raised to the surface.

Wide Scale Irrigation Projects Key To Israel's 5-Year Development Plan

By ARYE WALLENSTEIN

TEL AVIV (Reuters) — A key point in Israel's newly-launched five-year development plan is in the start of a vast irrigation network which is aimed at eventually increasing the country's irrigated acreage to 1,000,000 acres, eight times more than now irrigated.

It also embraces water supply systems which will enable the country to provide water for 4,000,000, more than double its present population, and supply industry and homeowners with much hydro-electric power.

The plans outlined by Pinhas Sapir, Israel's development director, include a completed blueprint for the irrigation network on the basis of investigations by experts over the last 10 years and show that greater emphasis is to be placed on developing the country's agricultural potentialities.

Work is already in progress, despite economic difficulties.

The bulk of the irrigated area will derive its supplies from the central irrigation system which will utilize the country's rivers and will be served by long distance pipelines and canals.

When complete, the system will draw on the sources of the Jordan river and carry its waters to a main reservoir, being formed by damming the Beth Natufa valley in Galilee. This reservoir will have a storage capacity of about 1,000,000,000 cubic yards of water.

SMALLER PROJECTS . . . .

From there, a canal will run across the Valley of Jezreel, traverse by tunnel the hills of Ephraim and continue south to a central point in the northern Negev desert, where water will be distributed by secondary pipelines.

The central system will also comprise subsidiary projects.

Typical of these, the Huleh project, will reclaim some 35,000 acres. After the diversion of the Jordan, this area will be irrigated mainly by a canal fed by the waters of the Dan river.

A chain of artificial lakes to collect rain and flood waters also is planned.

According to present plans the construction of the central irrigation system will be completed in about 15 years, but many sections of it should be in operation within five years.

In addition to irrigation projects, the plan provies for the eventual generation of hydro-electric power from a canal linking the Mediterranean near Haifa with the Dead Sea and utilizing the drop of about 1,178 feet between the two seas to drive the power turbines. This would ultimately generate 1,500,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a year.

School Authorities Advised Go Easy On Sex Education

"Physical and Health education has to be included in our educational programs, if we are going to have a liberal educational system," said Dr. J. P. Wells, Medical Health Officer for Peterborough at the workship luncheon sponsored by the Ontario Teacher's Federation Saturday at the Queen Mary school.

Dr. Wells went on to say that there should be more time spent on health education in the schools. There has been a tendency up to now by many teachers to resent the intrusion of health services in schools.

The schools should set an example as far as sanitation is concerned in the lower grades, for at home they will receive the fundamental concepts of living, he declared.

Sex education in the schools should be approached very carefully was the opinion of the MOH. Up until now there has been no qualified agency equipped to teach sex education to children." Only when we have accomplished in the home a healthy attitude towards sex, will we be able to teach it successfully in the classroom, without doing injury to our children. For there has been untold harm done in the last ten years in teaching sex education in the schools."

Dr. Wells was introduced by Mr. Wilson Craw, chairman of the finance committee for the Board of Education and was thanked by R. J. Bolton, principal of the Prince of Wales Public School. W. Leonard McNeil presided.

Canadians Lead In Travelling

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Canadians are way out front as world travellers, a UN report shows.

The UN statistical yearbook for 1952, published Sunday, says 2,548,190 of Canada's 14,009,429 citizens travelled abroad in 1950. That's about one in five compared with one in 30 Americans.

All but 100,000 of the Canadian travellers went to the U.S.

The figure for the U.S. was 5,012,906 out of 150,697,361.

Canada and the U.S. are each other's best tourist customers. Americans who went to Canada in 1950 totalled 3,631,579. Canadians who went to the U.S. totalled 2,468,039. 1950 is the last year for which the UN had figures.

The same chart showed that Italy is far and away the favorite country of the world's tourists with 4,839,276 persons visiting that land of art and history.

North Church Group Plans Coronation Tea

CAVAN —(ENS) —The North Group of St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook, met at the home of Mrs. Clendon Challice Wednesday evening with 14 members present.

Mrs. H. C. Argue presided and called on Mrs. Allen Wood to give the Scripture reading. The topic on prayer was given by Mrs. Clarence Ball. Mrs. Aubrey Fallis lead in prayer and Mrs. J. H. McKnight read a poem.

A two-minutes silence was observed in memory of two members, Mrs. B. Parker and Mrs. F. McInder, who passed away in February. Mrs. Edward Armstrong played the accompaniment for the hymns.

The secretary, Mrs. Elmer Hogg, read cards of appreciation from Mr. Parker and family and Mr. F. McIndoo.

After discussion of plans for a Coronation Tea, to be held in June at the home of Mrs. E. Hogg, the meeting closed with the singing of the theme song. The hostess and the committee in charge of the lunch, Mrs. D. Lang and Mrs. A. Sutton served refreshments.

Seasonable Slump

OSLO (CP)—The Norwegian Parliament voted about $500,000 to finance work projects for unemployed, mainly in north Norway. Seasonal unemployment in February affected some 24,000 workers, or about 1.8 per cent of the total labor force.

Unions Urge Apprenticeship

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Encouragement of apprenticeship training in Canadian industry was planned by delegates to the skilled trades council of the UAW-CIO unions meeting here Saturday and Sunday.

Delegates plan to approach major industry with a formula which would employ one apprentice for each eight journeymen in industries where facilities are available for their training. The plan would apply to boys with high school graduation standing or the equivalent.

Ernest Marion of Windsor, an executive of the UAW, said the organization would hold its next meeting in three months in Brantford.

George Burt, regional Canadian director of the UAW, welcomed delegates from London, Tilbury, Hamilton, Chatham, St. Catharines Windsor, Oshawa, Brantford, Welland and Merritton.

Fishing Season Opens In Lake Erie

PORT DOVER, Ont. (CP)—Special services to mark the opening of the fishing season were held Sunday in ports along Lake Erie's north shore.

A joint service was held at Port Stanley with ministers of three denominations taking part. Nets were blessed and prayers offered for good catches.

About 10 tugs set out from here early Sunday to set nets. Carl Kolbe, head of one of the largest companies on the lakes, said: "Everywhere they went they found the lake wide open."

Child Stoned, Dies In Vancouver Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP) — Little Glenda Bedford, whose guardians claimed she had been stoned by sadistic playmates, died Saturday in hospital here.

The 2½-year-old daughter of Mrs. Clara Bedford was taken to hospital unconscious and covered with bruises two days ago.

She had been boarding at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Person, who told police the child had been stoned by other children.

Mrs. Person also told police the child had fallen down some basement stairs and had fallen out of her crib.

Writing Class Hits Rate Of Novel-A-Year

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—One student out of eight in Hiram Haydn's novel-writing class gets his novel into print.

Besides this extraordinary average, Haydn students have won the Prix de Rome, for two years in succession.

Haydn's class, at the New School for Social Research here, was started five years ago.

A tall, personable Amherst graduate, Haydn is one of the busiest men in town. As a teacher, editor and writer, he's a three-letter man in letters.

Students like him, and naturally work hard to win his sympathy. But he has an explanation of his own:

"However much of a success you call it, the reasons are simple, I think. In the first place, the New School itself, which I believe is the best or one of the best, adult-education centres, pulls a lot of writing talent into its orbit and in the direction of my class. This city, more than any other, may be said to grow many writers of its own, and also it draws them from as far away as the west coast."

FIRST TIME

"Besides that," he goes on, "there hasn't been before, I think, this peculiar combination of intelligent, mature students and a teacher-who-publishes."

When he started this class, called the "Novel Workshop," he was editor of Crown Publishers. Now he is Bobbs-Merrill editor. If he likes what the students do, he can grab onto it. . . .it's as simple as that.

The class is limited to about 12, half of them repeaters. Students are admitted on the basis of the talent shown in submitted manuscripts.

One novel out of every semester class is published. "There have been two classes each semester for the last three years and one each the two years before, a total of 16 classes and 16 books."

Along with other working critics and men of letters, I've sat in on this class occasionaly, at Haydn's invitation. The students, or their teacher, read from their manuscripts in progress, and we visitors say what we, from the work-a-day professional world, really think. We may be brusker than Haydn, but hardly any severer.

That is the pattern for the usual class. Sessions, held around a long table, are informal. It's a workshop and you work.

Among authors out of this course are Louise Roedecker, "The Furious Winter;" George Mandel, "Flee the Angry Strangers," Thomas Gallgher, "The Gathering Darkness."

TO LIFT EMBARGO—A possible slight delay in signing of a formal order lifting the United States embargo on Canadian livestock and meats is not a "serious matter," a federal agricultural official said in Ottawa. The embargo, imposed by the U.S. February 25, 1952, originally was to be lifted March 1, but the U.S. agriculture department announced in Washington there may be a slight delay in raising the ban. The embargo followed the discovery of foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in a small area of south Saskatchewan. More than 1,300 head of cattle were slaughtered in Canada's five-month successful fight against the first foot-and-mouth outbreak in the country's history. Trucks gathered up infected animals, transporting them to special pits where they were shot and buried in lime.

Europen Army Still Long Way From Reality

PARIS (CP)—The proposed unified army of Western Europe is steeped in controversy—both inside and outside France.

Premier Rene Mayer said in an address Sunday at Setif, Algeria, that the European Defence Community is France's last chance to prevent the re-birth of German militarism.

But in Paris, Gen. Charles de Gaulle told his right-wing party the plan for a European Army is "entirely unacceptable," with or without amendments.

The amendments, which France wants to make in the treaty establishing a six-country army, are the reason for the controversy outside France.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany said the six-power meeting in Rome last week accepted the treaty as it stood. He insisted West Germany would stand for no revisions.

But Georges Bidault, French foreign minister who attended the Rome talks, said the European Army treaty would have to be changed before it would be acceptable to France.

For one thing, France wants the right to withdraw troops from the European Army for use in her overseas possessions without having first to consult other members of the pact.

None of the six countries—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—have yet given the treaty necessary parliamentary ratification.

In Bonn, Erich Ollenhauer, chief of West Germany's powerful opposition Socialists, said there is "the greatest likelihood" that the French Parliament will reject the treaty. The Socialists oppose German ratification of the treaty.

LIKELY SUCCESSOR — Arthur H. Brown, 54, assistant deputy minister of labor, is the likely successor to Arthur MacNamara, 68-year-old federal deputy minister, who is retiring in March. Mr. Brown has been solicitor to the department and for two years was acting chairman of the Canada Labor Relations Board.

Resistance To Red Regime Growing Behind Curtain

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP)—Intelligence reports say a mighty wave of loathing and revenge is building up among the people of Eastern Europe behind the Iron Curtain, waiting to be released.

There is a small amount of active, armed resistance. There is passive resistance that shows itself in industrial and political sabotage. And finally there is a great lederless, muttering dissatisfaction so elusive that the Communists cannot come to grips with it.

There are a few men with guns; maybe a few thousand hunted partisans hiding in the high woods, groups of five to 10 men without families.

ADMIT OPPOSITION

Occasionally, the Communist press admits their existence. Bulgaria's interior minister, Gen. Georgi Zankov, recently warned of armed "underground groups" and a report quoted by the Committee for a Free Europe says there may be as many as 17,000 armed guerrillas in Bulgaria's Balkan mountains.

In Poland and the Soviet Ukraine, there are the mysterious Benderovci fighters; in Czechoslovakia's high Tatras an armed group known as the "White Legion," in Romania scattered bands in the Transylvanian Alps.

A western diplomat visiting here from Albania reported recently: "Quite often at nights, you can hear the rifles of guerrillas on the outskirts of the capital at Tirana. The hillsmen attempt to raid the city and everybody closes up their shutters. Recently the Russians have been sending more guns to try to break up the partisans."

Actually, there is little the East European partisans can do, outnumbered as they are by Communist police. Occasionally, it is reported that they carry out attacks on trains headed for Russia. In Hungary last year, 200 Russian soldiers supposedly died in one such incident.

UNDERGROUND

Far more important in the anti-Communist fight is the activity of scattered underground groups and the deliberate sabotage by individuals. Underground groups mostly are cells of two, three or four men. Mostly, the cells have no connection with each other.

Communist courts, even in Russia, constantly bring to trial persons accused of espionage, terrorism, sabotage and plotting to overthrow the regimes. Most of the trials are staged to find scapegoats for Communist industrial failures. Western diplomats say however, that some may represent genuine resistance.

Re-Open U.S. Market To Canadian Meat May Cut Beef Prices To Consumers Here

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian consumers may get slightly cheaper beef with the reopening in the next few days of the long-closed United States market for Canadian meat and livestock, some federal experts say.

The border was scheduled to open Sunday, but the U.S. agriculture department said Friday that the formal signing of the order ending the embargo may not take place until Monday afternoon. The border will remain closed until the order is signed.

Washington officials said drafting of the order was delayed by a rush of official business due to the change in administration.

They indicated, however, that once U.S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson signs the order, movement of Canadian livestock and meat will be as free as before the embargo started Feb. 25, 1952.

Ending of a U. S. embargo based on Canada's 1952 foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in cattle—which would normally be regarded as tending to send up Canadian prices—was considered as possibly having the reverse effect because of special circumstances.

With Canada planning to reciprocate by eliminating—with some exceptions—import restrictions of her own, Canadian meat prices once again will be free to fluctuate with American prices.

U.S. MEAT CHEAPER

And U. S. prices have slipped to a few cents below Canadian. Even with a surplus here, Canadian packers could dip into the U. S. market for some beef unless Canadian producers trim their charges. A similar situation occurred in January, 1952, when Canadian packers imported about 3,000 cattle.

Apart from that possibility, the Canadian trade generally is happy about the reopening of the huge U. S. market. It was shut off abruptly by an embargo Feb. 25, 1952, with the announcement of the discovery of foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in a small area of south Saskatchewan.

This first Canadian outbreak of the feared disease—which destroys animals for market and spreads like wildfire—apparently had originated on a Saskatchewan farm Nov. 26, 1951.

Despite its contagiousness, the disease was contained in a tight area around Regina. It affected fewer than 2,000 animals

Animals and poultry in the area were slaughtered and buried. Farms were disinfected. By last Aug. 19, the government was able to declare Canada free of foot-and-mouth.

WAITED

It then stood back for the passage of a waiting period before the reopening of the U.S. border.

Normally, the U. S. market absorbs about 400,000 or 500,000 head of Canadian cattle a year, either alive or as meat. Sunday's move will free a $120,000,000-a-year meat and livestock trade covering about 20 per cent of Canda's meat production. The U. S. is the biggest market for Canadian cattle.

The short-lived outbreak brought chaos to Canada's meat-marketing business.

Shortly after the U. S. embargoed imports from Canada some provinces erected import barriers of their own.

The federal government dipped into its treasury for millions of dollars to prop up meat prices. It undertook an expensive pork canning program, buying about 150,000,000 pounds of pork, and canning about 100,000,000 pounds Warehouses still are filled with some 70,000,000 or 80,000,000 cans of surplus pork, in addition to millions of pounds of pork cuts.

In addition, the government purchased about 82,000,000 pounds of beef, shipping some 72,000,000 pounds to Britain, accepting payment in lower-priced frozen New Zealand beef. About 10,000,000 pounds is still in storage.

Canada, officials said, took a a heavy beating on the deal.

It added to the economic cost of the disease. The total cost probably never will be known. However, some economists have estimated it may range between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000.

COST $42 MILLION

The beef and pork price support programs have cost about $42,000,000 for 1952—more than four times the total of all federal support programs since legislation was enacted in 1944.

The beef price support was removed Feb. 23. But pork price support—at 23 cents a pound basis Toronto—still is continuing. Eventually, the beef and pork program may run to perhaps $50,000,000 or $60,000,000.

Now the big problem to the farmer is: what will he get for his beef in the U. S.?

The outlook is not too good. Good steers were selling in Chicago last week for about 20 cents a pound wholesale; they were about 22 cents a pound at Toronto.

Dressed commercial beef was selling at between 36 and 43 cents a pound in Canada; 33 cents in the U. S.

And the Canadian dollar was against the Canadian exporter—it was at a premium of about two cents.

MUST CUT PRICE

Federal authorities believe the Canadian exporter will have to come down a few cents a pound if he wants to compete with the American producer.

American prices may increase later. Canadian producers have been cautioned against heavy shipments when the border opens. Heavy shipments now may leave them short at a time when they could make more money.

While some Canadian housewives may end up eating American beef, they won't be eating American pork.

Canada still will maintain controls on imports of American live hogs and raw pork, through an embargo imposed last August.

Many American porkers have been hit by vesicular exanthema, a disease somewhat similar though not as damaging as foot-and-mouth disease. It affects only swine.

This embargo will remain until the American infection is cleaned up.

Percy Institute Does Hospital Sewing

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The Percy branch of the Women's Institute met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Diamond and her daughter, Mrs. D. Honey, with an attendance of 21 members and 14 visitors.

The president, Mrs. George Arkils, presided. The meeting was opened by singing the Institute Ode and repeating the Mary Stewart collect. The roll call was answered by current events on agriculture. The Sunshine convener, Mrs. C. Young, and the visiting committee, reported 20 cards, six letters and 14 calls.

Mrs. William Shaw was appointed sewing convener for plain sewing for the Campbellford Hospital.

Mrs. Randolph Potter, program convener, gave an interesting paper on the motto, "Kindness, like grain, increases with sowing." Mrs. James Black of Campbellford gave a talk on the special hand-picked ermine skins for Queen Elizabeth's robe to be worn on Coronation Day. Mrs. Black dealt with the Percy Women's Institute Tweedsmuir history book. Mrs. William Shaw and Mrs. George Arkils were winners of the contest.

Young Adults Donate $10 For Projector

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The St. John's Young Adults' Club met in the basement of the United Church on Thursday evening, with the president, Walter Elliott, in the chair.

With Bruce Barnum at the piano, Earle Nelson led a few songs. Marion Smith and Grace Paisley were in charge of the devotional period.

Marion Smith reported a net profit of $40 at the cooking sale at Lockwood Lane's.

The Rev. D. M. Smith said he intended the club to take charge of a fireside hour after the evening service in the near future. He also mentioned that the Sunday school would appreciate a donation for a miniature projector to show colored slides on Christian work. The club voted $10 for this purpose, in keeping with that voted by other church organizations.

The program was in charge of Marion Smith. A piano solo by Bruce Barnum was well received. Walter Elliott operated the motion picture projector for films. The first depicted tourist attractions on the Canadian side of Niagara Falls and the second was a CNR feature on Jasper Park and the Canadian Rockies. The final item on the program was a contest. A light lunch was served.

Slugged Guards Captured Later

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Stanley M. Kizul, 18, who slugged two guards to escape from Lincoln jail Sunday was recaptured a short time later in a shack two miles away.

Police acted on a telephone tip and found Kizul with Nick Petro, 63, occupant of the shack. Petro was charged with harboring a criminal.

Kizul was awaiting sentence for stealing a ton of brass from a plant here last April. After slugging the guards, he took their keys to open doors from the upstairs corridor, ran down through the living quarters of jailer John Dundas and jumped through the only unbarred window in the building.

Roy Roberts, one of the guards, had several teeth knocked out and suffered a black eye and a cut lip. The other guard, Ed Ryckman, was slugged unconscious and cut about the head

Alderville Man, 83, Breaks Leg In Fall

190 Clubs Are Campaigning In $475,000 Seal Drive

COBOURG, (ENS)—Miss Zelda Creeden of Toronto, supervisor of district nurses of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, addressed Cobourg Rotary Club luncheon on Friday to mark the opening of the 7th annual Easter Seal Campaign. The first Ontario campaign was held in 1947 with 55 service clubs participating and $139,000 was raised. This year there are 190 clubs in the campaign for funds and the objective has been set at $475,000.

During the past few years, the Easter Seal has been the source of income for crippled children's work throughtout the province of Ontario. "Timmy", this year Bruce McGregor of Vernonville, represents the thousands of crippled children in the province.

The best way to discover the three to four crippled children found per one hundred thousand of population, is by county surveys, Miss Creeden pointed out. Seventeen nurses are scattered throughout the province to provide a nursing service in connection with the work of the O.S.C.C. The district nurses give general supervision to all work within their district, which may cover from four to seven counties. They act as orthopaedic nursing consultants to public health nurses and keep in close touch with hospitals, clinics and all treatment facilities, as well as teaching preventative work to community groups.

Camps are held, of which three are in operation during the summer and two are pending. Last year 600 children enjoyed a camp holiday and this year increased accomodation will permit 900 children to attend. The speaker, in dealing with the value of vocational training for crippled children, spoke of the vocational training school financed by the Variety Club of Toronto and operated by the O.S.C.C. In order to assist in northern parts of the province which are remote from treatment centres, a clinic team is sent out at regular intervals to examine children who would not otherwise have this opportunity. However there is a pressing need for more orthopaedic brace shops, occupational training extension, more surveys, clinics and a vocational school for girls.

Home Destroyed In Second Fire

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A spectacular fire, which lit up the countryside for miles around, destroyed the small frame home of Maurice Palmer early Sunday morning. The house, situated on high ground on the northern outskirts of town, was unoccupied at the time, having been badly damaged by another fire last September. Since that time Mr. Palmer has been residing in Picton.

Firemen were notified of the blaze by a passing motorist, but the flames had gained considerable headway and the building was doomed by the time the alarm was received.

Cause of the fire has not as yet been determined.

Organize Company Of Girl Guides

MARMORA— (ENS) — A representative group of ladies met in the town hall Thursday evening to discuss the principles of the Girl Guide movement and to consider the possibility of a company being organized here.

Canon J. M. Brownlie presided and introduced Mrs. S. A. York, who had taken the initial steps to bring about the meeting; Mrs. R. D. Arnott of Belleville, District Commissioner; Mrs. C. F. Portlock Brown Owl, Guide Capt. Mrs. Samuels, both of Belleville.

Mrs. Arnott described the foundation of the movement. The first company was organized in St. Catharines in 1910. She said the uniform creates friendliness and a feeling of equality and that it teaches loyalty, service and obedience. A question period followed.

Mrs. R. H. Rennie, Regent of Marmora Chapter, IODE, turned over equipment and some money left with the IODE in trust as a company at Deloro disbanded a few years ago.

Mrs. S. A. York was appointed captain and Mrs. Clayton Bedore as lieutenant of a company which will shortly be organized. They will also attend a training day to be held in Belleville on March 14.

Mrs. Samuels and Mrs. York showed uniforms to the girls present numbering about 30.

Meetings will be held weekly on Thursday evenings. It is hoped to hold the next one on March 5. Following the meeting, Mrs. J. M. Brownlie entertained the Belleville ladies and Mrs. York to tea at the rectory.

Firemen Save Building

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A telephone call from an unidentified taxi driver early Sunday brought firemen in time to halt a fast-spreading fire in London Coat and Apron Supply, Carling street. Damage to structure, equipment and materials was estimated at $50,000 but firemen said that if the fire had gone unchecked much longer the whole building would have been destroyed.

Agricultural Society Appoints Committees

MARMORA (ENS)— Committees for the current year were appointed at a meeting of Marmora Agricultural Society at the home of the president, Carl E. Heath, Thursday evening. Despite inclement weather there was a fair attendance.

With the first name as chairman, committees are as follows: Grounds—Thomas J. Bateman, Harry Neal, Joseph Hulsmans; Entertainment— Howard W. Sabine George Fox, Leonard Begley, John McAvoy, Mrs. T. J. Bateman, Mrs. W. D. Lavender; Cattle—Gordon Jones, William McComb, Leo Hulsmans; Horses—Carl Heath, William Doyle, John Wilkes; Drawing Contests—John Doyle John Davidson, Joseph Hulsmans; Poultry—William Coe, Everett Barrons; Roots and Vegetables—Ed. O'Connor; Dairy — Charles Lajoie, John Finnegan; Donalr Cook; Finanance and Advertising—Howard W. Sabine, Vincent M. Lynch, William J. Cottrell; Ladies' Work—Mrs. T. J. Bateman; Baking—Mrs. Charles Cook Mrs. Gordon Jones, Mrs. Charles Leonard, Mrs. Michael Shannon, Mrs. Charles Lajoie; Flowers—Mrs. W. D. Lavender, Mrs. George Fox, Mrs. Maurice McFaul; Ticket Selling— George Fox, Louis Hulsmans; Racing — Ross Turley, Frankford; Everett Heatth, Hubert Andrews, Hogarth Sabine; Concessions—William D. Lavender, Fred R. Wells, Irwin McCoy.

A committee was named to study the possibility of holding a dance in the near future. Committees were asked to check over the 1952 prize list with a view to revision and bring the suggested list for 1953 to the meeting at the president's home, March 26.

Further discussion took place on the field crop competition. Irwin McCoy, reeve of Marmora and Lake township, is to be asked to ascertain the possibilities and to report at the next meeting. The president will try to form a calf club for another year.

He then presen Joseph Hulsmans, valued member of the society for several year, with the 1952 agricultural service diploma.

The secretary-treasurer, Thomas J Bateman, gave a report of the Ontario Fairs Association convention in Toronto. He observed taht the history of agricultural societies in Canada dates back to 1765, and the first fair was held in Marmora in 1890.

Mrs. T. J. Bateman spoke briefly on ladies' work with agricultural societies.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Carl Heath, assisted by other ladies.

It was felt that holding meetings monthly, if possible, in the homes of members, will be beneficial to the society.

More Than 100 Bid Farewell To Family

BAILIEBORO (ENS)—On Friday evening more than 100 friends and neighbors gathered in Centreville community hall to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis, Beverley and Carol Anne, who are moving to a farm near Campbellford in March.

Twenty-two tables were occupied for a series of eight games of progressive euchre. Prizes were won by Mrs. Karl Huggins, Mrs. Howard Friar, Messrs. Herb Dean and Jim Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and girls were invited to the platform where the honored couple were presented with two beautiful chairs and bed lamp by C. Barnard and R. Eagleson. Mrs. Ada Montgomery read the address.

Lunch was served and dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by Reg. Atcheson and Mrs. G. Muspratt.

Education Concerns Everyone–Dunlop

TORONTO (CP)—Education Minister Dunlop of Ontario said Sunday night that education vitally concerns every person in the country because everyone will have to live with the young people being taught in schools today.

Speaking at the opening of Education Week here, Dr. Dunlop said some people think good education means large and modern buildings. But "I believe the best in education may be obtained by having the best of teachers and the kind of self-disciplined young people who know why they are coming to school."

Ralph Kiner Holding Out For $76,500

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh Pirates' home run king, acknowledges he's a 1953 holdout.

And a little simple arithmetic indicates he and general manager Branch Rickey are about $9,000 apart in their dickering.

As his teammates reported Sunday for spring training at Havana, Kiner said he had airmailed an offer to Rickey a week ago to join them.

It was an acceptance, Ralph said, of terms offered by Rickey in a conference Feb. 13.

The reported sum involved was $76,500 — a cut from Kiner's reported $90,000 salary last year when his batting average slipped to .244.

In Havana Sunday, Rickey said he hadn't received Kiner's letter, and that new salary talks would have to start on the basis of a 25-per-cent salary slash. That figures out to $67,500.

Kiner responded: "Under those terms I'm going to have to be a holdout."

He said he accepted the Feb. 13 "substantial" cut because Rickey allowed him to report two weeks late for training.

"He made an offer to me which I accepted," Kiner said. "Now if he's going to back down and ask me to take a 25-per-cent cut we're going to have a little trouble getting together."

FIRST OFFER

In Havana, Rickey said: "The first offer was based on his reporting March 15, but I had to send him a telegram explaining a change in terms based on his arriving at camp March 1 instead of March 15. I advised him that he could advance salary terms if he wished to do so in the event he reported on the earlier date."

Kiner said he drew no conclusion from the letter and telegram that he could advance salary terms.

Expressing confidence he and Rickey could come to terms, Kiner said:

"No matter what happens, I know I'm going to be playing ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates this year —unless I'm traded."

Rickey said there were no deals pending to trade Kiner, and the slugger said he knew of none.

Middlecoff Misses Putt, $20,000 Win

HOUSTON (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff missed a three-foot, victory-tagged putt on the 18th green Sunday to throw the $20,000 Houston open golf tournament into a five-way tie for the $4,000 first prize.

The dramatic miss by the Memphis dentist gave him a 72-hole, five-under-par 283 that was matched by Bill Nary, Los Angeles, Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N.Y., and Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas, Tex.

The five enter an 18-hole playoff today over the par 72, 7,150-yard Memorial Park course.

Max Had Permission To Take Rest–Smythe

NEW YORK (CP)—Conn Smythe said here Sunday night that Max Bentley left Toronto without his knowledge but that the Maple Leafs centre had permission to take a breather from the tough National Hockey League schedule.

Bentley disappeared from Toronto Thursday and now is believed to be on his way to his Delisle, Sask., home. Smythe, managing director of the Leafs, was in New York after a Florida vacation.

"There is no use in Bentley playing until he is all right," Smythe said.

Tillsonburg 5 Triumph 84-61

TILLSONBURG (CP) — Tillsonburg Livingstons won their first game from Windsor Alumni Saturday night 84-61 in the second round in defence of their senior A basketball championship. The second game will be played in Windsor Saturday night.

Providing Tillsonburg gets by Windsor they will clash with Toronto Tri-Bells here March 14 with the second game in Toronto March 21 for the Southern Ontario crown.

In the preliminary game Leamington Falcons, defending intermediate C Ontario Amateur Basketball Association champions, eliminated Tillsonburg Trojans, winning the second straight play-off game 61-49. They won the first game in London 91-63.

Porcupine Wins Seventh Crown

TIMMINS (CP)—Porcupine Combines won their seventh straight Northern Ontario Hockey Association Junior A championship Saturday when they defeated Falconbridge Wolves 4-2 to sweep their best-of-five finals in straight games.

The Combines, who won 5-3 and 5-2 victories in the opening games at Sudbury, were never in trouble as they took a 2-0 lead in the first period, outscored the Wolves 2-1 in the middle period and held them to one marker in the final.

Cochrane and Dimarchi started the champions on their way late minutes in the opening period. Baleck scored what proved the winner in the second after Rannelli had notched the Wolves' first counter, and Albert provided the clincher before the period was over.

Desrosiers cut the Porcupine club's lead early in the third, but the Combines dominated the play for the remainder of the contest.

CAHA Forbids Playing Quebec Exhibitions

MIDLAND (CP)—George S Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Sunday night the CAHA will not permit Ontario hockey teams to play in an exhibition series with teams from the suspended Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

He was commenting on speculation from Montreal, where the CAHA imposed the suspension Saturday, that after it settles its own championship the QAHA might ask Ontario championship teams to participate in an "exhibition" series.

"We wouldn't permit Ontario to play with them," said Dudley. "If they did, they'd be suspended too."

Battle On Ice Starts Small Riot

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A riot involving nearly 100 spectators flared Saturday night in the closing seconds of a district hockey league game.

Three police officers, assisted by special constables, quelled the outbreak before police reinforcements arrived. Some players went into the stands to get after heckling spectators.

In the game Soo Falls Dorans defeated Sault Rapids 8-4 to move into further playoffs against the Garnier Residential School at Spanish.

The fuss started with a fight on the ice between Jimmy Pozzo of the Rapids and Joe Tucci of Soo Falls. Gordie Delabbio of the Rapids chased Ab Bertolo of Soo Falls to get a second battle going When Jerry Tomie of the Rapids moved in on the battle, swinging at anyone within reach, the spectators joined in.

James Crosby, president of the Sault Ste. Marie Hockey Association, said he was awaiting a full report from the referees before announcing any action. Delabbio received a match penalty.

Norwegian Wins Ski Crown

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP)—Gutturm Berge, Norwegian Olympic skier, captured the men's combined crown Sunday in the Canadian senior ski championships.

Berge, an exchange student at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt., was winner of the slalom and downhill events in the two-day competition.

Doug Burden, also from Middlebury, was second in the men's combined. He placed second to Berge in the slalom Saturday and fifth in Sunday's downhill.

Berge was timed at 70.7 and 74.6 seconds over the tricky Devil's River slalom run and dashed down the downhill course in two runs at 2.02.8 and 2.03.8 for a 4.06.6 total.

In the ladies' combined Lucille Wheeler of St. Jovite, Que., led the field. Rosemarie Schutz of Mont Gabriel, Que., was second.

Jim Georgas of Owen Sound placed seventh in the men's slalom and seventh in the downhill, finishing eighth in the combined event. William Georgas of Owen Sound was 18th in the slalom and 14th in the combined event.

Curling Spiel Takes Over All Sudbury

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — The ancient sport of curling has taken over this Northern Ontario mining city.

Everywhere signs shout: "Welcome Curler." Displays on the Scottish game fill store windows. A mention of the sport is a passport to this city's finest hospitality. Even clergymen mentioned the game in their sermons last night as an example of how men can get along together in a clean sport.

This is the week of the Canadian curling championships, being held this year in the Sudbury arena, a bright modern auditorium built for hockey which seats about 6,000 persons.

Although the 44 competitors and hundreds of the game's followers have been attending social functions for the last two days, the 'spiel starts today.

The official start will be the traditional parade from the hotel bonspiel headquarters to the arena with the first round scheduled for 3 p. m. Each province is represented. Ontario has two entries—one called Ontario, representing the southern portion of the province and another named Northern Ontario for the north.

ROUND ROBIN

Every team gets into action with one round of the round-robin event scheduled for this afternoon and another at night. Pete Gilbert's Chatham rink received a bye in Sunday's draw for the opening round while Barney Haines' veterans from Bridgewater, N.S., get one tonight.

No firm favorites have emerged from corridor talk in the bonspiel headquarters. But the seven repeaters, two of them championship victors, are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Grant Watson, skip of the Northern Ontario representatives from Port Arthur, has played on three championship rinks. They were skipped by his brother Ken, one of the country's best curlers, under Manitoba colors.

Others back again are Grant Stone of British Columbia, Ab Gowanlock, a former Canadian champion, from Dauphin, Man., Ken Weldon of Montreal St. Georges representing Quebec; Haines of Nova Scotia, Gilbert of Ontario and Frank Acorn of Prince Edward Island.

The rink considered the dark horse is Saskatchewan's quartet from Delisle, more famous as the home of the hockey-playing Bentleys. But the Bentley clan isn't left out of the rink. Jack, who also has played but never broke pro ranks, is third rock on the rink comprised of all farmers, and who play on a natural ice. Skip is Jimmy Hill with Hal Worth, already a veteran at 21, second, and Al MacNiven lead.

EASTERNERS

Newfoundland is represented by a St. John's four skipped by Rocky Rockwell; New Brunswick by Ralph Noble's Moncton crew and Alberta by a Calgary four piloted by Len Haw.

Manitoba has won the title the most times, 13. Alberta has taken the silverware four times, Ontario and Nova Scotia twice and British Columbia and Northern Ontario one each. Saskatchewan, Quebec, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland, which has been in the competition since 1951, have yet to break into the winners' circle.

Paid admissions to all types of movie theatres in Canada in 1951 numbered 252,159,125.

VARSITY GRADS REUNION — Members of one of Canada's greatest hockey teams, the Varsity Grads, exchange memories of the days when the Toronto team won the Allan Cup in 1927 and the Olympic title at St. Moritz the following year. Havelock Boys Win Title In Juvenile Hockey Series

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Havelock won the juvenile hockey championship (B series) of Eastern Ontario, on home ice, Saturday night by defeating Bowmanville 12 to 3. It was an easy win. The ice was in good shape and a good crowd of fans were in attendance. Havelock emerged from the play-off series with Bowmanville with a margin of 20 goals.

Bill Laing was the big gun for Havelock, giving his team an early start at the 33 second mark of the first period, which ended with a score of 5-0 for the locals. Laing scored six goals in the game, getting three in the third period after the 16.35 minute mark.

HIT GOAL POST

Masters, the captain of the Bowmanville team, was injured when he skated into a goal post about the middle of the third period and was unable to return to the ice. The referees were B. Flint, of Peterborough, and H. Hunter, of Havelock.

Havelock will now play Parry Sound in a home and home game series, total goals to count. The first game will be played at the Havelock arena on Tuesday night.

Junior Schedules End; Fate Of Quebec Unkown

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Junior A hockey in Ontario and Quebec was in a decisive stage at the week-end.

The Ontario Hockey Association's nine-team group wound up its schedule and settled the six-team playoff pattern. The Quebec Hockey Association's junior playoffs began although the eventual winner won't get into the Memorial Cup playoffs unless the CAHA lifts the suspension it imposed Saturday on the QAHA. The Northern Ontario Hockey Association declared its champion.

Timmins - Porcupine Combines won their seventh successive NOHA Junior A title Saturday by defeating Falconbridge Wolves 4-2 to sweep their best-of-five final 3-0.

Sunday Montreal Canadiens, Quebec junior champions, grabbed a 1-0 lead in a best-of-seven semi-final series, defeating Montreal Royals 4-1. Quebec Citadelles took the first game of a best-of-nine semi-final with Three Rivers Reds, coming from behind 4-2.

In the OHA junior A series three games Saturday and the same number Sunday rang down the curtain on the regular schedule. In Saturday's activity Galt Black Hawks whipped Windsor Spitfires 11-1, Oshawa Generals downed Toronto Marlboros 3-1 and St Catharines trounced Guelph Biltmores 8-2.

In Toronto Sunday, the Marlboros copped second place in the standings by beating Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts 5-2. St. Catharines came from behind to tie St. Michael's 2-2. In Windsor Sunday, Galt edged out the Spitfires 3-5 and helped teammate Jim McBurney win the individual scoring championship.

Galt's slaughter of the Spitfires Saturday was led by Ken Wharram and Minnie Menard who fired three goals each, Jim McBurney with two, John Muckler, Frank Bonello and Moe Mantha completed the rout. Ted Reid spoiled Les Binkley's shutout.

Captain Brian Cullen paced the Teepees with three goals against Guelph, Memorial Cup champions last year. Bill Haas, Alex Leslie, Hugh Barlow, Ken Schinkel and Ron Murphy added the rest. George Whyte and rookie W Graham tallied for Guelph.

TWO IN A MINUTE

Bob Attersley scored two in the space of one minute for Oshawa against the Marlboros. Roger Maisonneuve added an insurance goal in the third. Tom McCarthy got the Dukes' only counter.

McBurney scored one goal and picked up three assists against the Spitfires Sunday to win the OHA scoring title. He ended the schedule with 96 points, three more than Orv Tessier of Barrie. Hillary Menard fired three goals and Wharram and Bonello notched one each to complete Galt's scoring. Archie Burton blasted a pair for the Spitfires, the others going to Ross Graham, Bob Brown and Gaston Marcotte.

Parker MacDonald with two goals led the Marlboro attack Sunday. Gerry James, Tom McCarthy and Red Sanderson provided the rest. Jack Novak and Grieg Hicks scored for Kitchener.

Captain Bill Dineen and Mike Ratchford tallied for St. Michael's Sunday. Charlie Marshall and Ed Mateka counted for the Teepees.

The OHA playoffs start Wednesday. Marlboros play Barrie in the best-of-seven semi-finals. St. Catharines meets St. Michael's and Oshawa plays Galt in best-of-five quarter-finals.

All Small Hats Shown At YWCA Spring Hat Tea

Spring bonnets will be small and feminine this year but will range in color from delicate pastels to more provocative reds and yellows.

All hats modelled in fashion preview at the YWCA Spring Hat Tea Saturday afternoon were small and tight-fitting, but here the similarity ended. All colors and shades were represented with the highlight on trimmings and velvet bows, feathers, flowers, rhinestones and pearls were all featured in this parade of eye-catching millinery.

Mrs. W. J. Gilling was the commentator for this parade of hats which attracted about 350 viewers to three showings.

A special feature was a review of the latest in bonnet styles 50 years ago.

The fashion showings were presented in the recreation room which was appropriately decorated with spring flowers, murals and friezes.

The models were Mrs. Harry Cherney, Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Mrs. Dolson Walker, Miss Beatrise Pelsis, Miss Jean Algetti, Miss Flora Metcalfe, Miss Anne Lewis, Miss Patricia Collins.

The tea room was also decorted in the spring flower theme. Flower hat stands topped with more lovely spring hats were placed at points throughout the room. The tea table was centred with a colorful bouquet of spring flowers in a silver urn surrounded by sprays of snapdragons. White tapers were set in silver candelabra.

An interesting feature of the tea room was an exhibit of dolls from many lands.

The guests were received by Miss Jean Hammond, president of the Members' Council; Miss Annie William, vice-president of the Members' Council; Mrs. H. T. Rehill, chairman of the Y Board of Directors; and Miss Leta Brownscombe, executive director of the Y.

The tea and fashion show was convened by Mrs. Tom Cooke. She was assisted by the following conveners: Mrs. M. Banks, models; Miss Ruby Leach, music; Mrs. B. Servos, decorations; Miss Helen Edmison, tickets, Miss Hazel Wilson, publicity; Miss Pauline O'Brien, Miss Jean McIntyre, Miss Iva Pidgen and Miss Joyce Harris, servers.

Mrs. Clare Collins, Mrs. Donald Loucks, Miss Evelyn Morrow and Mrs. H. L. Bamforth poured tea. The servers were Mrs. R. M. Hardie, Mrs. F. C. Stevenson, Mrs. Roma Brindle, Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. Lionel Monk, Mrs. C. E. Porter, Mrs. D. H. Wood, Miss Ann Hatton, Miss Hazel Mutton, Mrs. S. Staples, Mrs. A. Milne.

The nursery was in charge of Miss Winnie Simpson, Mrs. M. Grant, Mrs. J. Mills, and Mrs. E. Smith, all members of the Overseas Club.

A table of home baking and candy was in charge of Mrs. F. Hele and Mrs. Stan McBride.

A new spring hat was won by Mrs. Thomas Smith, Reid St for guessing the number of peanuts in a jar.

Proceeds of the tea and fashion show will go towards the Peterborough Y's allocation to the World Service Fund to be used to establish YWCA's in Africa and islands in the Caribbean.

Angry British Housewives Could Roast Food Minister

LONDON (CP)—Norman Dodds, Socialist member of Parliament for Dartford, claims angry British housewives are in a receptive mood to stage a ceremonial roasting of the minister of food and his assistant, as a Coronation barbecue celebration.

The suggestion was made in the House of Commons after the minister, Major Gwilym Lloyd George, had rejected a plea by Mr. Dodds that special Coronation bonuses of margarine and sugar should be increased and extended to other rationed commodities. Dodds argued it would be of greater importance to the nation than the r t extended to some communit to hold ox-roasting parties

s a Coronation concession British housewives this summer will receive an extra ration of four ounces of margarine and one pound of sugar. The normal weekly allowance is four ounces of margarine and 10 ounces of sugar.

"Is the minister aware that ths miserable bonuses have made housewives very angry and have even galvanized members of the Housewives' League to say unkind things about the minister?" Mr. Dodds asked.

"In view of the blistering remarks by countless women, will he re-consider the ox-roasting ceremonies and substitute them by the more appropriate roasting of the minister of food and his parliamentary secretary?"

As the house rocked with laughter, the minister shot back: "As I issue the licences myself there is little likelihood of that happening."

Grove H & S Assoc. Holds Fun Night

The Grove Home and School Association "Fun Night" convened by Mrs. J. Mortimer and Mrs. G. Stewart on Friday evening last was a great success and while treasurer Mr. R. Page took tickets at the door, Mrs. C. R. Evans provided every guest with a name tag. The children were entertained by a puppet show operated by Mrs. J. R. Henderson and by films shown by the principal, Mr. J. Barnard. A further attraction for them was the comic book exchange run by Mrs. H. V. Franklin.

A number of prizes were awarded for bingo, which was organized by Mr. and Mrs. E. Johnston, and for weight guessing by Mr. W. Hargreaves.

Mrs. G. Beauchamp and Mrs. E. Partington convened the euchre room where prizes went to Mr. H. Doughty and Mrs. C. Gillbanks for high scores and to Mrs. R. McPhail and Mr. R. Johnston for low scores.

Mrs. J. Ainslie and Mrs. N. Foster were in charge of the dancing with Mr. H. McMahon, Mr. C. Campman calling for square dances.

An additional attraction was the reading of teacups by Mrs. H. McMahon, Mrs. J. Simmonds.

Mrs. G. Stewart organized the refreshment booth, which did a huge trade. She was helped by Mesdames J. Holt, G. Stuart, R. Latchford who served hot dogs, while Mrs. G. Whitfield, Mrs. W. Higgins and Mrs. G. Rutherford took care of the soft drinks and work in the kitchen.

H & S Women Attend Church

The annual church service of the Home and Schools Associations, marking the opening of Education Week, was at St. Paul's Church Sunday Evening. Sixty-seven ladies registered their attendance as representatives of the city and district associations. They were welcomed by the Rev. C. G. Boyd during the service. He expressed congratulations on the accomplishments in the homes, then urging the mothers to tnink more on the religious side of their children's education.

Mr. Boyd said there is a great fear of various "isms" invading the world today, but the one to fear most is the little realized secularism, or worldliness, which creeps into both homes and churches. "Only by return to the basic belief in Jesus Christ can we hope for salavation," said the minister.

Harrison-Johnston Union

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the St. Paul's Prebyterian Church Saturday with the Rev. C. G. Boyd officiating, when Lois Anna Edith, daughter of Mrs. Johnston and the late Mr. George H. Johnston, became the bride of Raymond Elwood Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harrison of Bridgenorth. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a gown of white French Chantilly lace and satin fashioned along Princess lines with a slight train. A matching cap held her fingertip veil of illusion and lace and she carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Miss Doris Johnston, sister of the bride, matron of honor, wore pink net over taffeta and June Care, bridesmaid, chose pale blue organdy embroidered with white. Both wore matching feather headdresses and carried nosegays of pink carnations and other blue and mauve flowers.

William Brown was groomsman and ushers were William Davis and Howard Johnston. A reception was held at the bride's home. For travelling to New York, the bride wore a navy dress, hat and coat trimmed with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will live in Peterborough.

St. Paul's Club Dines Opera Cast

Dinner was served the entire company of the Canada Packers Operatic Society of Toronto by the Married Couples Club at St. Paul's Church. The cast of 75 with their director, stage manager, and all other assistants were here to present the opera "Iolanthe" under sponsorship of the Club.

It was the seventh time this group of St. Paul's members had brought this outstanding amateur company to the city. A sell-out of tickets indicated the appreciation of music-loving citizens. The club will use its share of the proceeds in youth training work.

Ladies of the club prepared and served the delicious meal, with ham supplied by Canada Packers of Peterborough. Mrs. George Coleman and Mrs. J. Perry were in charge of arrangements and were assisted by Mrs. J. Morrow, Mrs. B. Whitton, Mrs. J. Bell, Mrs. D. Flett, Mrs. S. Freeman, Mrs. D. Wilson, Mrs. A. Ballantyne, Mrs. D. Armstrong, Mrs. E. Toller, Mrs. A. McQuarrie, Mrs. A. Lockington, Mrs. E. Fanjoy and Mrs. W. Dunford.

Favors and decorations for the tables were fashioned by Mrs. Christopher Gledhill and symbolized the opera story in fairies and fairy wands and models of Big Ben in London.

An expression of thanks to the ladies was made by Mr. Ed. Fanjoy. President Mr. Dennis Crowhurst spoke to the guests and a reply was made by Mr. W. Richard Curry, director of the opera. Mr. George Barns, representative of the local Canada Packers management at the dinner, also spoke.

Head table guests included Mrs. E. G. Boyd, members of the club who were in charge of the opera arrangements, and director and Mrs. W. R. Curry, stage manager Mr. Ted Jarvis and Mrs. Jarvis secretary Miss Bredda Millner, Mr. Bruce Taylor and Mr. Frank Macdonald of Toronto.

WOMEN VOTE

DALAT (Reuters)—Women voted for the first time in Indo-China's history Sunday in a local election in this city seat of Bao Dai, the head of state. They formed queues outside the polling booths after visiting the morning market or attending religious services.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD PALMER, the bride formerly Miss Lois Fredericks, were married Saturday at St. James' United Church. —(Choate Studio Photo)

Palmer-Fredericks Nuptials

A lovely wedding on Saturday afternoon was in St. James' United Church where Lois Anne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Fredericks of Peterborough, became the bride of Ronald Henry Charles Palmer, the younger son of Mrs. G. Palmer.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. S. Morwood. Organist Mrs. Charles Renaud played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Leslie McLaren who sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

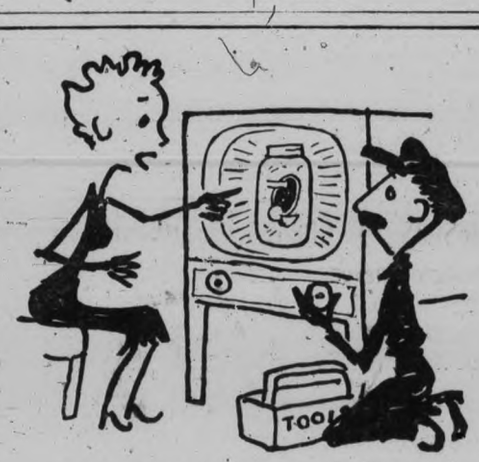
Snapdragon and daffodils provided the setting at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in ballerina length nylon lace, the dress fashioned with long sleeves coming to points over her hands. Her veil of nylon net was caught in a halo embroidered with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

As bridesmaid for her cousin, Miss Yvonne Mason was frocked in yellow net and wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of 'mums. Flower girl was Betty Warner who was in a blue net frock and headdress.

Groomsman was David Fredericks and ushers were Warren Rutter and Condell Palmer, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's mother wore for the occasion a cherry red velvet dress and white feather hat and her corsage was of white 'mums. Assisting to receive, the groom's mother wore royal blue and a hat of beige and also had a corsage of white 'mums.



The couple left afterward on a wedding trip to Ottawa and points east. Travelling the bride wore a navy suit and winter white topcoat and she wore navy accessories.

On return they will live at 287 Westcott St.

FROM PARIS IN SPRING, 1953, comes a silhouette that emphasizes sloping shoulders and waistline dipped back. But there is nothing exaggerated in the new silhouette, nothing radical, as these first pictures from the Paris spring collections show. Accent is on sheer femininity. Typical is Manguin's newest idea in ensembles (left), a sleeveless jacket worn over slim dress, both in palest honey tweed. White pique tie threads neckline, edges sleeves. Tweed suits for informal town wear are in pastel shades. Jacques Griffe does one (left centre) in pale green with unfitted line and paisley silk blouse for color contrast. From Germaine Lecomte comes gray cotton worsted afternoon dress (right centre). This two-piece dress has wide skirt built over taffeta foundation. Pierre Balmain signs the informal daytime ensemble (right) in soft beige tweed. Dress is made with kimono yoke of lighter beige wool jersey. Blue fox is used as lining for long, wide stole.

FIRST IN VALUES FOR THE HOME

DOROTHY DIX:

Invalid Mother Discovers Daughters Unappreciative

DEAR MISS DIX: If you can give me any help on my problem, I am sure you will also be giving assistance to many mothers in a similar position. I have three children; a boy in the Navy and two girls at home, one is 16 and the baby is 14. They are sweet girls. My husband has alway been a drinker, but I've held my home together for the sake of the children. When they were old enough to be left to themselves, I went to work to buy them things they needed. Now my health has necessitated giving up outside work, and the girls can't have the things they have been used to. I have waited on them hand and foot, yet now they don't even ask me how I feel or offer to help with little jobs around the house. If I talk to them about staying out too late, they get mad and walk out of the house. Their father doesn't help me in bringing them up the right way. They all say I'm pretending to be ill.

A WORRIED MOTHER.

CONSEQUENCES OF SPOILING CHILDREN

ANSWER: You're quite right in assuming that many other mothers share your difficulty, which is all brought on by a tragic form of self-delusion. You think that the continual sacrifices to satisfy the whims and wishes of your daughters prove you to be a good mother. Nothing could be further from the fact. Your real job was to bring them up with respect for you, and a sense of responsibility that would enable them to face the problems of maturity. Instead you have caused them to be dependent, and selfish. According to your letter, the Navy has accomplished for your son what you failed to do, and he is now a fine, understanding young man. What can accomplish the same miracle for your daughters? It isn't late; but time's a-flittin'! The fact that you still refer to a 14-year-old girl as a "baby" is one indication of the absurdity of the situation.

A father's co-operation certainly would be helpful, but since you can't count on it, you'll just have to face the fact that the reformation of your household must be a one-person job. Begin right now, and absolutely refuse to take impertinence from your children. Insist on their taking on household chores which you are unable to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young girl with a good job as a secretary, lots of nice friends, but I'm bored. I'd like a little glamour and excitement from life. The humdrum existence of working during the day and dating at night is making me miserable.

DEPRESSED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: With a well-balanced business and social life, I don't see what more you could ask for to keep boredom away. Perhaps what you lack is some thought for others. You have probably slipped into a self-centred sort of life that has variety, but very little purpose. Girls with extra time on their hands can be very useful as hospital aids, and I suggest that you contact a couple of hospitals in your city—especially children's hospitals—to see if you can't find a use for the time you find lagging.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a problem altogether too complex for self-solution. I am a widow in my late thirties with four lively children. I have become acquainted with a kind man of fine character who says he loves me and my family, and wants to marry me. I know this is a wonderful thing, but wonder if conditions will change after the honeymoon.

H. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It would indeed be a wonderful thing if you could find a man willing to assume the responsibilities of your family. It certainly isn't impossible; I know of many instances where such marriages have been successful. Only a person acquainted with you, your children and the man could really give an opinion as to the possible outcome of your romance. Talk the matter over with some person of experience, such as a clergyman or doctor, who knows all of you. Best of luck.

Mary Moore Tells How To Make Home-made Soap

By MARY MOORE.

Mary D. and Mrs. G. B. want a homemade soap recipe and I will give it to them, BUT I want to warn all soap makers to handle lye (which is one of the ingredients) with extreme caution.

It horrifies me to think that someone in this reading audience might not be familiar with lye and might be burned by it or that a child in the family, out of curiosity, might touch it and be burned.

Please, when making soap, do not let children in the room and do not burn yourselves with it. Follow the directions:

HOMEMADE SOAP

Slowly melt, then strain, 5 lbs. (2 Imperial quarts) grease or fat. Strain the fat into an earthenware vessel or stone crock or large enamel pan. Slowly add 1 quart of cold water to the contents of 1 can lye (1 lb.) in an earthenware or stone or enamel vessel, GENTLY STIRRING IT AT ARM'S LENGTH WITH A WOODEN SPOON OR STICK. PLACE DISH CONTAINING LYE HIGH AND FAR BACK ON A TABLE OR COUNTER UNTIL FUMING AND BOILING SUBSIDE, AND LYE MIXTURE COOLS, and is dissolved. Slowly pour lye solution into cooled but still liquid grease, stirring constantly until completely mixed. Add ½ cup ammonia and 2 tablespoons borax dissolved in ½ cup water. Stir until quite thick (about the consistency of rather thick honey). Pour into granite or earthenware mould. Let stand for about 6 hours, but before it is very hard deeply cut it into the shape of bars. Store in dry place to harden.

If you would like to use homemade soap as toilet soap, add oil of bergamot or pennyroyal to it when it is being stirred. These may be purchased at your drug store.

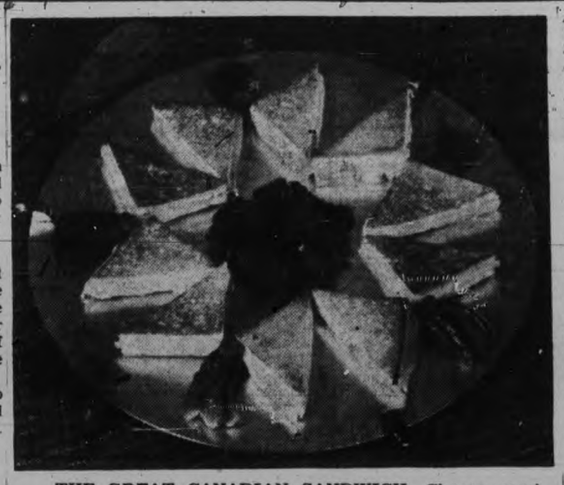
The following letter is from E. I., who wants the recipe for English "Faggots": Dear Mary Moore: Your recent write-up on meat suet puddin' really made me homesick. My Mum used to make them, and were they delicious. For quite a long time I have lived alone and naturally did not bother with much cooking....right now I am visiting my daughter. About two weeks ago you had a bread recipe in your column....my daughter gave it to me....a good hint to make some bread....I did make 2 loaves, and they turned out grand....later you gave another recipe with about twice as much flour....I was thrilled with the result ...your recipe said to let bread stand about 2 hours... my dough was double its size (or more) in 1¼ hours....I'd like to know why I had to punch my dough down quicker than your recipe said....but it certainly did not hurt the bread. Your recipes are within the purse of we people who have to watch every cent.... I believe you said you were of British stock....would you have a recipe for "faggots?" They are make like a meat ball, but much more savory. I believe mother rolled them in a piece of suet skin. Seems to me they were baked. I think liver and pork were used....keep on giving us the "within-the-pocket" recipes.—E. I.

ANSWER: There are so many reasons why dough rises fast; warmer than average kitchen, brand new yeast, etc., but if you want the dough to rise more slowly stand it in a slightly cooler place than you did. But I would advise proceeding as you did if your bread was such a success.

FAGGOTS

One and one-half lbs. of pork liver, ½ lb. fat pork, 2 eggs, 1 large onion, breadcrumbs, pork caul fat, nutmeg, sage, thyme, basil, salt and pepper. Chop liver and onion very fine and cut pork in small dice. Put together in a stewpan, add salt, pepper, to taste. Cover closely and cook very slowly ½ hour, but do not brown it. Drain off excess fat and let cool slightly. Add beaten eggs, the suggested spices to taste and enough breadcrumbs to make a fairly stiff paste. Mix well and form into squares. Wrap each in a square of caul fat, and place open side down, in baking tin. Pour over them a little rich gravy. Bake in moderate oven until golden brown. Serve with gravy. If preferred this may be pressed into loaf pan and covered with caul fat and baked for about 1½ hours. These amounts will serve 7 or 8.

Do You See Where



Pink heels are the prettiest ones to show your audience! Even if you're not luxuriating under the Southern sun, your television evenings in slacks and wisps of slippers will be rosier if you'll rouge your heels. A tapering "heel" of rouge, pretty as can be with sun-tanned legs or under a whisper of nylon.

Winter violets are blooming in fashion like your line-up of African violets in a south window. All the shades from sun-drenched pale pinks from a mauve overtone, to deep-in-the-shade violet. With them, a blue-cast lipstick that is young and fresh and indelible, such as pink promise — a tone mucho sympatico with violet and rosy blues.

Vitamized shampoos are getting the nod from wise heads in New York. They're salon-done, but you can get the same benefit from the egg-rich egg-creme shampoo that is on your drug store counters. Jonquil yellow color, it is, and best when it's finished off with its complimenting hyacinth pink creme rinse.

Italian tomboy haircuts are young, casual, and easy-to-keep Regarding this new carefree style of hair....it's not for everyone, but in modified form, it can be. All the way, or modified, it's hair with a new brightness and lustre that's the top knot today.

The paler mouth is also news. Try pink promise or petal pink as a change from your reds. And don't forget, with a pale mouth, the eyes must dominate. Feather on mascara, accent the arch of your brow, let eyeshadow emphasize the natural shadow that Nature gives you all to good purpose.

THE GREAT CANADIAN SANDWICH—Cheese sandwiches—plain, grilled, toasted or baked—the favorite from coast to coast.

Sandwich Gets Its Name From Man-About-Town

Conception of the great Canadian sandwich—the cheese sandwich—was scarcely in the embryo stage when the Fourth Earl of Sandwich promoted his favorite food combination. Back in the eighteenth century, this man-about-town—too busy to stop for real meals—munched on bread, butter and filling in every public place until this fare became known as the sandwich. Yet, from reading the history of sandwiches, there seems to be proof that the sandwich is as old as bread and cheese. And those two ingredients form the basis of what we in 1953 dub the great Canadian sandwich—the one made of bread and cheese.

There are countless variations on this pleasant theme—packed with eating appeal for any day—and a great boon during this Lenten season. Packed with precious protein that's cheaper than the protein in meat, this dairy food takes its place elegantly in meals as well as snacks.

GRILLED CHEESE SANDWICHES

Enriched bread, crusts trimmed; Canadian processed cheese slices; melted butter; pickle fans; pimiento dots; parsley.

For each sandwich, cover a slice of bread with slices of processed cheese and top with a second slice of bread. Brush sandwiches on both sides with melted butter. Brown on both sides in a frying pan or under low broiler heat. Cut in half diagonally and arrange on a chop plate or tray. Garnish with pickle fans, each topped with a pimiento dot, and with parlsley.

BAKED FRENCH TOAST CHEESE SANDWICHES

(Makes 4 sandwiches)

Eight slices buttered bread; 1 tin luncheon meat; 1 cup grated Canadian cheddar cheese; 2 eggs; ¼ cup milk; dash of salt.

Slice luncheon meat thinly. Place on 4 slices buttered bread and sprinkle with half the grated cheese. Top with remaining bread slices. Beat the eggs, add milk and salt. Dip sandwiches into egg mixture. Place on buttered cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (425 deg. Fahr.) until crisp and golden brown on bottom (about 10 minutes). Turn sandwiches and sprinkle remaining cheese on top. Return to oven till cheese is melted and slightly brown.

Note: Or sandwiches may be made using slices of processed cheese for the filling. Then dip in the egg-milk mixture and finish as above (omitting the sprinkle of grated cheddar).

TOMATO-CHEESE OPEN FACERS

(Makes six sandwiches). Six rounds of enriched bread, 6 thick tomato slices, salt, paprika, brown sugar (optional), minced onion, minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon butter, 6 tablespoons grated Canadian cheddar cheese.

Toast rounds of bread on one side. Place a tomato slice on untoasted side of each. Sprinkle with salt, paprika, brown sugar and minced onion and green pepper. Dot with butter and sprinkle each with grated cheese. Broil tomatoes are soft and cheese is melted. Serve piping hot.

Note: Sliced processed cheese may be used in place of grated cheddar. Bacon strips atop the sandwich are a nice addition (outside of Lent)—broiled along with the sandwich, till bacon is crisp.

EVER TRY?

Creamed Shrimp-Cheese Sandwiches for a family meal hit. Just add 1½ cups of cooked chopped shrimp to 2 cups of medium white sauce. Place a slice of Canadian processed cheese on each of 12 slices of buttered enriched toast. Toast on a cookie sheet under a pre-heated broiler until the cheese melts. Pour the creamed shrimp over six slices of toast and top each with a second slice of cheese toast. Scrummy is the word for 'em!

A Cheese-Olive Sandwich filling—great for evening snacks, or for variety in the lunch box. Soak ¼ teaspoon of horse radish in 2 teaspoons of water for five minutes. Add to it a half package of cream cheese, 2 table spoons of chopped stuffed olives and a tablespoon of mayonnaise. Mix wel and spread on buttered whole wheat bread—and lettuce for crunch appeal.

Combine cup of grated Canadian cheddar cheese with 3 tablespoons of ketchup, 2 teaspoons of prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons of cider vinegar and a dash of pepper. Mix this filling together well, put between bread and serve these devilled sandwiches to the angels in your house.

Cottage Cheese-Pineapple Delights. For a special at tea time, combine drained shredded pineapple with cottage cheese and chopped nuts. A delectable sandwich filling with raisin or date bread.

Dior Clothes Now Sold In London

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—For the first time since Christian Dior rocketed to fame with the post-war "new look," ready-made clothes bearing the coveted Dior label now can be obtained in London.

In a grey and silver London salon, miniature of its Paris counterpart in the Avenue Montaigne, Dior gave last-minute scrutiny, and the final master touch, to the first garments ever sold in London stores under a Dior label.

With prices ranging from 30 guineas for a day dress, 50 to 60 guineas for top coat and skirt, to £200 for a ball gown, costs are above average for off-the-peg clothes in London. Thus, only time will tell whether British women will pay that much to dress "the Dior way."

BOUGHT IN PARIS

Off-the-peg numbers are not so exclusive as a couture model, and for many years now, British women have worn Dior styles originating in the Paris salon. Manufacturers attending the Paris dress shows buy models later reproduced in quantity at prices acceptable to the working girl. These, however, do not carry the Dior label.

This slender French designer, with the business precision of a city stockbroker, insists that any garment carrying his label must conform to standards that make high prices imperative.

For instance, clothes are designed to flatter the figure, and each dress is so cut and backed with canvas where necessary, so perfectly boned, it does not wrinkle or alter shape. Coats, dresses and suits are completely lined.

In London, the ready-to-wear Dior models sell at about one-third of the price of those purchased in the Paris salon. They have the sculptured, exquisite simplicity beloved by the well-dressed Englishwoman—combined with the hallmark of Paris chic.

NOTABLE EXAMPLE

One lovely example is a coat in Dior red worsted, priced at 55 guineas. Cut in the trend of his new tulip line, unveiled this month at the Paris shows, it has an upward sweep emphasizing rounded shoulders and tapering to slim hips.

Snow and sunlight glitter in shining ball gowns such as a snowy net given an alpine look by horizontal zig-zag lines of gunmetal bugle beads, and a midriff of silver sequins. A golden sun pierced at the heart with silver glowed from the bodice of a strapless, snow-white satin gown sprinkled with gold embroidered leaves.

There is a great deal of black for evening wear. One figure-hugging dress in heavy ribbed black silk has a cross-over skirt pinned at the hip by a jewel flower spray. The top sweeps out low on the shoulders giving the frame effect of a portrait-type collar.

6—In Memoriam

CLEMENTS—In loving memory of Mrs. Harry Clements, who passed away February 27, 1948.
Her memory is as dear today
As in the hour she passed away.
—Always remembered by husband, son Fred and daughters.

LEHMAN—In fond and loving memory of a dear daughter, Marie Jane who passed away five years ago.
Her vacant place there is none can fill
Down here we mourn,
But not in vain
For God's promise is
We will meet again.
—Ever remembered by father, mother sisters and brothers.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all who sent flowers and cards, also to all who made enquiries or remembered me in any way during my recent stay in St. Joseph's Hospital.

have been cancelled, the Rev. Ivan Morgan, of Murray St. Church, informed the Examiner.

"With the likelihood of building by the Presbyterian and United Churches, our plans might assume the appearance of competition in that new area. That was something our people wished to avoid, and particularly as there are other growing sections of the city, such as the north end."

The new Roman Catholic church and rectory of St. John the Baptist are far advanced in their building. Its site is on Wilson Ave., between Park and Lock Streets. The Rev. Dr. Frank M. Grant is parish priest.

Toronto Typist Wins Painting Award

Hosker Freed Liquor Charge

"A borderline case but I'll give the accused the benefit of the doubt."

Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, heard the evidence in a driving-while-impaired charge brought to-day against Kenneth Hosker, 28, of RR 8, Peterborough. In dismissing the case Magistrate Philp agreed with Constable Ed Niziol that it was a "borderline case" and he told Hosker that he was fortunate.

The charge was laid as a result of a collision last Christmas Eve on the west side of Monaghan Road, just north of Lansdowne Street. Hosker was driving a truck south on Monaghan Road and he crashed into the rear of a car ahead that was slowing down for the intersection. The car in turn ran into the rear of a second car that was wating for the Lansdowne St. traffic to pass by.

Constable Niziol who investigated the accident gave this description of Hosker: unsteady on his feet, smelled strongly of liquor on his breath, red eyes and thick speech.

"I'd say he was drunk," said Constable Niziol.

Inspector of Detectives W. A. (Bud) Clarke agreed that Hosker "had been drinking," and Sgt. Leo Murphy said the accused man "in a drunken condition."

SAID NOT DRUNK

On the other hand four defence witnesses and a Crown witness (the latter a member of the RCAF who testified Feb. 2) said Hosker was not drunk and behaved in a normal manner.

Hosker said he had drunk only two pints of beer before the accident which was caused when he momentarily took his eyes off the road ahead to glance at eastbound traffic coming along Lansdowne St. In that instant the car ahead stopped and he hit the rear of it.

W. J. Fair, QC, was counsel for Hosker.

Mrs. A. P. Brown

The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Margaret Brown, 89, of 760 George St., Peterborough, husband of the late Albert Percy Brown, who died Wednesday in the Toronto Wellesley Hospital following a short illness, was held Saturday at the Comstock funeral home.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiated at the service, and the pallbearers were her four sons, Elmir G. Brown of Peterborough, Kenneth J. Brown of Toronto, Reginald W. Brown of Lancaster, Terrance Brown of Peterborough, Arthur Dixon of Peterborough, and Thomas Gilmore of Peterborough. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Clearer Thinking Required Save World Lost In Chaos

The world is lost in an Age of Chaos and the way out of the confusion is through the writings of the ages, Miss Grace Irwin, authoress and head of the classics department of Humberside Collegiate in Toronto, told an enthusiastic audience at Queen Mary auditorium Friday night.

The meeting was part of a series of cultural events sponsored by the Peterborough Teachers' Council, comprising all teaching groups in the city, public, separate, primary and secondary.

In the chaos of customs, ideas and standards, the written word may go far to restore order, said Miss Irwin, who made a strong appeal for more reading as an aid to clearer thinking and end of chaos.

GREAT INFLUENCE

"It is my personal experience and profound conviction that, apart from the personalities of a very few people, what we read is the greatest influence on our thoughts and hearts and consequent lives."

She deplored "the torrent of words that beats upon us from lecturers' platforms or over the radio in debate and discussion . . . the illustrated activities of the movie or television screen . . . even the trenchant utterances of the stage." The greatest influence, she said, came from the printed word, "starkly arresting, effecting a mysterious union of eye and ear and mind."

"For if 'reading maketh the full man' then the unread are empty men. If books are the storehouse of the mind then the minds of those who don't read are bankrupt."

Miss Irwin criticized digests and reviews of books as merely a "pre-chewed diet," fed to people by others according to their whims and bias.

WAY TO ACQUIRE KNOWLEDGE

Reading, said Miss Irwin, was the best way to acquire knowledge because it was the method which produced the most lasting impression. Reading enables a person to take time to weigh the pros and cons of a discussion and to separate the false from the true. The reader was not persuaded as a listener can be by the personality of the speaker and his tricks of delivery. What is written down can be compared with conflicting arguments and the reader can find his own conclusions from the comparison.

Miss Irwin said that children should not be restricted in their reading, but left alone to find their way among the books of the world. Those people who had spent hours of their childhood reading books such as Alice in Wonderland, The Water Babies, Pilgrim's Progress, Tom Sawyer, and Gulliver's Travels need never envy the modern child his television set.

The modern child was growing up in an age of chaos. "Has there ever been," asked Miss Irwin, "such a paradox as we see in the gross sentimentality of 98 per cent of the torch songs and the hard-boiled and cynical attitudes of those who listen to them and applaud?" Has there ever been in history "such emphasis on the necessity and validity of sexual expression combined with such immaturity of emotional control, so little idea of responsibility and loyalty and endurance in love?"

It is an age, said Miss Irwin, which people have dubbed, among other names, the Atomic Age. The effect of the name is that it "imparts a peculiar and unfounded sense alike of superhuman pride and subhuman terror — even to people like me who know so little of nuclear physics . . .

People are generally only too happy to avoid the difficult. The Atomic Age becomes an alibi in which people think of themselves as caught in a maelstrom bearing them inevitably towards catastrophe. They can shelve the disagreeable task of shouldering responsibility, a task which requires independent, even unpleasant thought.

All people of other ages faced their problems too. There were plagues that swept unchecked through a nation or continent and decimated the population. Nameless uncured diseases made life expectancy 20 or 30 years in many places and in many periods of history.

"The scriptural phrase, 'All those who through fear of death were subject to lifelong bondage,' was not written of modern man, though it included them."

The basic needs of the human race have remained unchanged through all ages. Miss Irwin listed them as: the bodily requirements of air and food and warmth and exercise plus the subtler needs of aesthetic delight and expression; the mental requirements of security and repose; the vocational requirements of regular work; the emotional requirement of love and approbation in social contact, notably satisfied in family and intimate circles; and the overall need, the frustrations of which underlies all lesser frustrations and in which all other needs find fulfillment.

In the final analysis, said Miss Irwin, it God "who brought order into the universe so that it is a universe and not a multiverse and in whom all things stand together.

"He is a Person who makes himself totally known and brings order and peace into our chaotic restless, desolate spirits."

Miss Irwin was introduced by William Graff, chief librarian of the Public Library, who knew Miss Irwin personally when he was a pupil in Humberside Collegiate and later.

At the beginning, pupils of the St. Cecelia School of Music gave a short recital. Teresa McColl sang two selections, accompanied by Evelyn Hajnik and Barbara Craig played a piano selection.

Mexicans Threaten To Retaliate For Arrest

MEXICO CITY (CP)—The National Association of Mexican Actors has threatened to retaliate against Hollywood film stars unless Mexican movie actress Rosaura Revueltas is freed at once.

Miss Revueltas was arrested in the United States last week and taken to Texas for possible deportation. She had been taking part in production of a film described by some persons as pro-Communist.

Saturday the Mexican association sent a telegram to film officials in Hollywood saying that privileges given U. S. stars working in Mexico might be withdrawn unless Miss Revueltas were freed immediately.

Among U. S. stars now working in Mexico on Mexican-made films are Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck.

Christopher G. Quinn

A former resident of Peterborough and a member of one of Smith Township's pioneer families Christopher George Quinn, was buried in Mountview Cemetery Vancouver, last week. He died on February 22 after a long illness, at the age of 84.

Born in Smith Township, son of Christopher Quinn and Janet Shearer, both deceased, Mr. Quinn was a contractor and built many houses near the CGE before joining the armature division of the CGE.

He worked with the CGE until 1912. That year he was sent out to Vancouver by the company to work on a project. He liked the coast so well that he stayed there and joined the B.C. Electric Company.

He was a member of the Vancouver IOOF lodge and a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers for 35 years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Scott, and two sons, Carlyle of California and Earl of Stave Falls, BC; and a sister, Mrs. E. M. Kerlin (Jennie). A third son, Percy, predeceased him. Four nieces and nephews live in Peterborough.

The funeral service was held Tuesday at the McBride funeral chapel. His great-nephew, the Rev. R. M. Warne officiated assisted by the Rev. H. R. Vessey.

Chances of War Increase

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.) said SUNDAY THE / OF A THIRD WRLDO Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.) said Sunday the chances of a third world war have increased since the Eisenhower administration took office. Morse, who bolted the Republican party last fall to support Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, said the reason for the increased chances of a world conflict is the administration's foreign policy in Asia.

Mercury Drops To The Zero Mark

A sudden cold snap which sent the temperature down to zero in Peterborough Sunday night generally affected central and eastern Canada, with White River reporting the lowest thermometer reading—37 degrees below zero.

Although the readings were generally higher throughout Southern Ontario than in Peterborough, Ottawa reported a low of one degree below zero while Windsor reported temperatures varying from 18 to 27 above. Temperatures hovered around the zero mark on the prairies although Edmonton did not get any colder than 12 degrees above, while in Victoria the weather remained fairly balmy with a low of 34 and a high of 47.

General Believes Reds Will Tire Of Korea

SEOUL (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today he believed the Communists will "sooner or later" tire of the Korean war and that the Allies "will win no matter how long it takes."

He said that a major offensive by Chinese Nationalists against the Red China mainland would ease the pressure on his 8th army forces in Korea.

However, Nationalist authorities on Formosa have said such an offensive could not be launched without U.S. or Allied naval and air suport.

Taylor said he is confident his forces could withstand any Communist offensive in Korea.

Pat Walsh Brands Association As Red

QUEBEC (CP) — Pat Walsh, 37-year-old Quebec labor organizer who announced Friday his resignation from nine Communist front organizations, listed among them the "Association des Electeurs de St. Sauveur."

The group was formed in the working-class district of St. Sauveur, one of the city's Lower Town parishes.

The association has no connection with the "Union des Electeurs," an educational organization of the Social Credit movement in Quebec which has branches in many parts of the province.

Indian Relics

EDMONTON (CP)—J. D. McGregor, president of the Alberta Historical Society, says ancient Indian arrowheads are still abundant in the Edmonton district. They are found near streams or lakes, and often picked up in sand quarries.

Assault Count Reduced Plea Of Guilty

Raymond Cote, a French-Canadian resident of Ottawa, was today convicted of common assault n Mrs. Dorothy Henderson, of Stewart St. He was fined a total of $25.50.

As Cote cannot understand English an interpreter, Constable Louis Rodreque, was required.

After listening to the evidence, Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, reuced the original charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm to a charge of just common assault. Cote pleaded guilty.

DETAILS LACKING

There fere few details of the incident given in court.

Mrs. Henderson, all parties agreed, was hit accidentally. She stepped in between her husband and Cote when the two men came to blows. She said she didn't know what caused the ruckus but when she came downstairs she found her husband and Cote had stopped drinking beer and were squaring off.

Mr. Henderson had a cut on his face and Cote had the neck of a broken beer bottle in his hand.

Mrs. Henderson jumped in between the pair and stopped a punch on the forehead that was thrown by Cote. She was taken to hospital with a big bruise and slight concussion.

Cote was a guest of the Hendersons and said that Mr. Henderson cut himself when he tried to jerk a door open and the door came back and struck him.

Magistrate Philp listened to Cote's explanation translated by Constable Rodreque, and reduced the charge to common assault.

Triple Trio Placed Second

PCVS singers won two more awards on the final day of the Toronto Kiwanis Festival Saturday.

The Triple Trio, with 84 marks, placed second in their class and the Double Trio placed fourth with 83 marks. Both groups are under the direction of M. J. Curtis.

The Queen Anne Singers of Woodbridge placed first in both these classes.

John Russell, who will be one of the adjudicators at the Peterborough Kiwanis Festival, adjudicated both these classes. He commended the high standard of all the entries in the classes.

The PCVS Choral Club under the direction of Mr. Curtis won two awards earlier in the festival. They placed first in the open class and placed second in the class for High School Girls' Choirs.

Princess Margaret Catches Second Cold

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret has caught her second cold in two weeks, and is remaining indoors at Buckingham Palace, it was learned today. The illness was described as light.

BAILEIBORO (ENS)— Robert Dawson, Rick Robinson and Arthur Beebe were re-elected commissioners at the annual meeting of the South Monaghan Telephone System held Friday afternoon in the Centreville Community Hall. Reginald Perrin is secretary - treasurer and Max Perrin the lineman.

Support Chiang

MACAO (Reuters)—Chinese in this Portuguese territory Sunday pledged support for Chiang Kai-shek in any counter-attack against the Chinese Communist mainland. They sent a telegram to Chiang which read: "The people of Macao, in common with their Chinese compatriots, are eager to see the recovery of the mainland. We pledge ourselves to back up a counter-attack on this third anniversary of your resumption of power as president."

KOREA CHAPLAIN — Maj. James Joseph Vallely, 47-year-old Roman Catholic chaplain, is returning to Korea where he went first in 1950 with the first group of Canadian troops. Appointed senior RC chaplain of the 1st Commonwealth Division, Maj. Vallely is a native of Ireland, a former missionary to China and speaks Korean dialects.

Union President Says Walsh Betrays Workers

QUEBEC (CP)—Gerard Fortin, president of the Canadian Woodworkers' Union, said Sunday "the attitude and the statesments of Pat Walsh constitute an act of treason tcwards the working class and particularly to the woodworkers whose confidence he has betrayed."

In a press release, Mr. Fortin said that "in his statement, Walsh claims that through Bruce Magnuson the woodworkers union will receive orders from Moscow to set our forests afire in case of war. This statement is all the more ridiculous and untruthful because no officer of our union has had any contact whatsoever with Mr. Magnuson since his return from Europe."

Pat Walsh resigned from a number of Communist-front organizations Friday and told of Kremlin-direct orders for wartime sabotage in Canada. Walsh said Magnuson, of Port Arthur, former head of the lumber and sawmill workers' section of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (AFL-TLC), had received direct orders from Moscow for sabotage of Canada's forests in time of war Magnuson visited Russia last year.

Three Claim Rich Copper Find

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C. (CP) — Three mining men returning from a helicopter expedition into the mountains of northern British Columbia said Saturday they and a rival group have staked claims on a fabulously rich copper deposit.

The trio reported they have staked 72 claims on an ice-covered 7,000-foot peak known as Leduc glacier for Frobisher Ltd. and "an amalgamation of other large eastern mining interests."

And they told of what they described as a claim-staking race with Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Co. Ltd., Granby taking out claims on the remaining quarter of the Leduc deposit.

The mining men, en route to Victoria for talks with the provincial government after spending 10 days on the wind-swept ice, are Bill Richardson, Wendel Dawson and Howard Fowler, a former Alaska government mining engineer.

Brazilians Get Aid

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—President Getulio Vargas Sunday ordered immediate government aid for drought-stricken areas in northeastern Brazil. The decision was taken after the president had conferred with five of his cabinet ministers.

Arsenal Wins

LONDON (Reuters)—Arsenal defeated Sheffield Wednesday 4-1 today in a English League division I soccer match. The game had been postponed from Saturday when Arsenal was playing in the Football Association Cup quarter-finals.

Cubs Sponsor Play By Bethel-Zion YPU

WARKWORTH — (ENS) — The Young People of Bethel-Zion (near Plainfield) presented the play, "Raggedy Nan," in the Warkworth town hall Friday evening, sponsored by Warkworth cubs.

George Bound, leader of the cubs was master of ceremonies. He welcomed the guest artists and introduced the Rev. E. J. Kersey, pastor of Plainfield United church, director of the play.

Mr. Kersey introduced the cast as follows: Nancy (Raggedy Nan), an orphan, Marilyn Hodgen; Gramp Withers, an elderly farmer, Ted Ray; Agatha, his daughter-in-law, Donna Ray; Florence, her young daughter, Shirley Kerr; Tilly, maid at the Withers' home, Beverley Gow; Phineas Scroggs, richest man in the village, Bob Sullivan; William Scroggs, his young son; Mrs. Finnegan, the village gossip, Betty Ray; Tommy Wyatt, a young farmer, Dayle Cranston; Constable Crothers, the village police force, Franklyn Ray.

Nancy Edwards, known to the townspeople as "Raggedy Nan," was orphaned when her father was killed in an accident. Phineas Scroggs, the richest and most powerful man in the town held a mortgage on the Edwards' farm and when he foreclosed it he sent Nancy to an orphanage.

Nancy ran away due to poor treatment and came to the home of Gramp Withers, a sympthetic old farmer who had always felt sorry for the little urchin.

When the constable and Scroggs came looking for her, he hid her in a closet. Later Nancy changed into a pair of overalls and an old hat and Gramp introduced her as his hired man.

Scroggs president of the farmer's co-op, planned to have his son elected ot succeed him but Gramp campaigned for Tommy Wyatt, a young farmer. Nancy outwitted the Scroggs family and won the election for Tommy with whom she fell in love. Tommy unearthed the fact that old man Scroggs had foreclosed on the Edwards' farm for a mere $50, after collecting a large sum from the insurance co. for Nancy's father's accident, the money which rightly belonged to Nancy.

Between acts 1 and 2 the duet "Turn Back the Hand of Time" was sung by Beverley and Wayne Gow, accompanied by Miss Shirley Kerr.

Between acts 2 and 3 Lynda McCreadie of Myersberg gave a tap dance number and returned with an encore. She was accompanied by Miss Donna Sharpe, Campbellford.

Tito's Visit To England Stirs Controversy

BARNSLEY, England (AP) — A new Roman Catholic - Protestant controversy stirred in Britain today because the archbishop of York, Church of England's second-ranking prelate, has urged Britons to welcome Communist Yugoslavia's President Tito on his visit this month.

Dr. George Dwyer, superior of the Roman Catholic Missionary Society, told his congregation Sunday: "We must be pardoned if we find it grotesque that Dr. Garbett (the archbishop of York), a minister of the Christian religion, should offer not merely silence but a 'cordial welcome' to a man whose avowed intention is to declare Christ an impostor and the worship of God an antiquated superstition."

Dr. Cyril F. Garbett had said in a diocesan letter last week:

"Our welcome to Marshal Tito will not imply approval of his religious, social, or economic views and policies, but it will be a tribute of goodwill and honor, both to a brave man and to the sturdy and hardworking peasant community of which he is the head."

Several Roman Catholic leaders have voiced objections to Tito's visit March 23.

Roman Catholic officials in Glasgow have called a meeting next Sunday to protest the visit. A notice for the meeting urged Catholics to "do all that can be done to stop the persecution of religion in Yugoslavia."

OBITUARIES

VICTOR JOHN THOMAS COLON

Victor John Thomas Colon, 56, Con. 6, Lot 3, North Monaghan, died suddenly in Peterborough, Sunday, as the result of a heart attack.

Mr. Colon was born in Parrytown, Clarke township, son of the late John Colon and Derinda Little and has lived in North Monaghan for the past 27 years. Formerly he resided at Kendal and Newtonville.

He was an employee of the County of Peterborough, a member of Fraserville United church, and the Fraserville Orange Lodge, LOL 46. He was a veteran of the First World War serving overseas with the infantry.

He leaves his wife, the former Ida Ward; two daughters, Viola and Mary, both at home; two sisters, Mrs. N. Kerr (Mabel), St. Catherines; Mrs. F. Lippet (Sybil), Downsview; and two brothers, Percy, Nova Scotia, and Albert, Hamilton.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 1.30 p.m. from the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. H. Yarr of Fraserville United church, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Welcome cemetery.

SISTER ST. CATHERINE

After a lingering illness of some years, Sister M. St. Catherine (Ellen O'Connell), died at St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday, in the 55th year of her religious life as a member of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph.

Sister St. Catherine has for the last thirty-five years been stationed at the House of Providence, Peterborough, where her warm charity and cheerfulness have endeared her to the aged and to her Sisters. She has acted as Sacristan in several of the city churches and the community chapels of her order in Peterborough and Lindsay, as well as in other mission houses.

Sister St. Catherine is the oldest member of a family who have contributed many members to the teaching profession. She was predeceased by her sisters Elizabeth, Catherine and Mary Ann (Polly), and a brother J. T. O'Connell. Surviving members of the family are Miss Marguerite of Toronto and Peterborough, and Mr. James O'Connell of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday, 9:30 a.m. at Mount St. Joseph Chapel.

WALTER REGINALD SHARPE

Walter Reginald Sharpe, 85, of Nestleton, died at his residence Sunday night after a prolonged illness. He was born and raised in Cavan, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Sharpe, and farmed in Cavan township a lifetime, up until eight years ago, when he moved to Nestleton to retire. He was a member of the Ebenezer United Church.

He leaves one brother, Bruce Sharpe of Ida, one sister, Mrs. R. S. Staples of Cavan. His wife, the former Etta Stewart, predeceased him.

The body is at the A. L. McDermott funeral home in Port Perry, for a short service Thursday at 1 p.m., and a further service at the St. John's Anglican Church, Ida, at 3 p.m. Burial will be in the St. John's cemetery.

Family Of Four Injured In Crash

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (CP)—Four members of a family from St. Catharines, Ont., were injured Saturday when their car collided head-on with another three miles west of here.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Abram Froese, their daughter Madeline, about 4, and an older son, Peter.

Thomas M. Jacobsen, 63, of Tacoma, was killed in the accident, which police said apparently was caused by icy road conditions. Jacobsen's wife was injured.

Woman Dies Of Wound Evidence Of Suicide

SUDBURY (CP) — Police today investigated the fatal shooting of Mrs. Joyce Lowell, 23, of nearby Sudbury. Investigators said there is evidence of suicide.

She died in hospital of a bullet wound a few hours after she ran into the police station and told officers she had been abducted.

Farm Machinery Releases Men To Industry

MILLBROOK— (ENS) —Professor L. G. Heimpel of Whitby was the guest speaker at the Chamber of Commerce banquet held in the Legion hall on Thursday evening. Prof. Heimpel, a graduate of Ontario Agricultural College, and for a number of years a department head on the staff of McDonald College, Montreal, took as his subject, "The Inter-relationship of Industry and Agriculture." He traced the progress of agriculture since 1840 when grain was reaped by cradles and when a man could cut only about ¾ of an acre in a day. Following the period when work was done mostly by man, came the horsepower era, followed by the machine age. With the coming of machinery more and more men were released to industry. This led to the development of mines, the building of good roads and the industrialization of the country. At one time 80 per cent of the population was engaged in agriculture.

In India, the great majority of the people are still engaged in growing food, and yet because of their primitive methods they are not adequately nourished. With the use of machinery much larger areas of land were able to be brought under cultivation. A man with a modern combine could thresh and harvest from 40 to 50 acres a day.

Prof. Heimpel believes it is a mistake to urge people to go back to the land. More farm machinery will release men to industry and this is called progress.

Prof. Heimpel was introduced by Frank North.

Alex. Gilbert, the president, was in the chair. He reviewed briefly what the Chamber had accomplished since the annual meeting held in November. Among the projects for the future was a housing survey of the village to determine what accommodation was available for the personnel of the reformatory to be built on the edge of Millbrook in the near future. This survey is authorized by the town council and undertaken by the Chamber.

He told also of a cooking school to be held in the town hall in May, sponsored by the Chamber. He thanked the ladies of the auxiliary to the Legion for the excellent turkey dinner served and also the entertainers, Herbert Mullen, violinist and Henry Jackson accordionist, of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. James Metcalfe of Nesbitt, Manitoba, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Belch and other friends in the district.

ARREST TORONTO DOCTOR — Dr. Joseph S. Chaikoff (left), 56-year-old Toronto doctor, has been remanded to March 5 on a charge of making a false statement in connection with the birth of a baby boy February 20. Shown with his lawyer, Harry Mendelson, Dr. Chaikoff's arrest follows that of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shinder, of Brooklyn, N.Y. The couple are charged with fraudulently obtaining a birth certificate for the illegitimate child police say the Shinders tried to take with them on a plane bound for New York. Dr. Chaikoff, who police say delivered the baby February 20 and registered it, was released on bail of $2,000.

Car Rolls Down Bank 5 Escape Serious Hurt

BRANTFORD (CP)—Five Woodstock residents were lucky Sunday when a car driven by Rupert Poetz skidded off No. 2 Highway down an embankment at the east end of the Ava road bridge to land beside the Canadian National Railways mainline right-of-way.

Poetz told police he put on his brakes to make the turn but skidded and his car rolled over, down the 35-foot embankment.

Poetz was treated at Brantford General Hospital for a minor cut to the forehead and his three-year-old daughter, Trudy, was treated for cuts to the face.

Mrs. Poetz and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Heintzel escaped with a shaking-up.

Torch Saves Fireman

VANCOUVER (CP)—A feeble glimmer from a worn-out flashlight brought rescue Saturday to a fisherman who spent four hours in icy Pacific waters. Brian M. Walker clung to a stuffed settee cushion after his fishboat struck a submerged log and sank off Darcy Island, near Victoria. The dull beam of his flashlight was finally spotted by crew members of the CNR Victoria-New Westminster car ferry Canora.

Owners Claim Water Damage

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—George T. McGowan, district director of the internal revenue bureau, said Saturday he had been asked for a ruling on whether Lake Ontario property owners might deduct losses resulting from high water. He said he hopes to announce a decision this week.

McGowan said that so far no one has submitted such a deduction. He said a lawyer asked for the ruling.

Property owners have claimed losses running into the millions due to high water. Some have instituted suit against the government of Canada, claiming that the Gut Dam in the St. Lawrence river caused the high water. The dam was removed recently.

Logan Estate To Family

TORONTO (CP)—The $1,258,183 estate of Sydney H. Logan, former office boy who rose to be chairman of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been left to his widow, Mrs. Logan, and their three children, Mrs. Frances Smart and Beatty and Anne Logan. The estate has been entered for probate and the executor, the National Trust Company, Ltd., estimated $385,000 will be taken for succession duties.

Bridge Builder Dies

FORT ERIE (CP)—R. R. McGlashan, 62, construction superintendent for the Buffalo and Fort Erie Peace Bridge and the Windsor-Detroit tunnel, died Saturday. Born in Boston, Mass., Mr. McGlashan was in charge of rehabilitation work after the Halifax explosion of 1917.

Bishop Keevil Dies

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Rev. Archibald R. L. Keevil, 77, Bishop primus of the Reformed Episcopal Church of Canada, died in hospital Friday. He was elected bishop in 1944, and was consecrated at Belleville.

Indians Asking For Preachers More Teachers

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A strong missionary challenge was presented by David Umpherville, a Cree Indian from Northern Saskatchewan, guest speaker at St. John's Anglican Church, Havelock, on Sunday morning, for more preachers and teachers among his people in Western Canada.

Mr. Umpherville based his message on Christ's last command to His disciples before His ascension into heaven—"Go ye therefore and teach all nations," and which ended with the comforting words "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world," a promise which ensures success and reaches down from the time it was made to the present.

WANT PREACHERS

The cry of the Indians on the plains, Mr. Umpherville said, is "When are we to get a preacher?" Teachers are also badly needed for the day schools. He told about three Indian missions he had visited in Saskatchewan last May with Archdeacon W. E. J. Paul, where the need for the services of a missioner was urgent. The first was Thundercloud which was built in 1940, in memory of a great missionary, Mrs. Brown; the second was Ministickwan which means a large body of water; and the third was Stanley, one of the oldest centres of Christianity in Saskatchewan and where for the past four summers Mr. Umpherville taught school and carried on missionary work. Here the Church of England in Canada began work on the shores of Lac la Ronge in 1847 and the beautiful church is nearly a hundred years old.

In closing, Mr. Umpherville asked the congregation to think seriously about this challenge and to pray that God would send workers into this field; encourage young people to hear the call and support the missionary efforts of the church.

Mr. Umpherville was born on John Smith's Reserve, Davis, Saskatchewan, 25 years ago. His mother died when he was two years old and his father a few years later. He was educated at Elkhorn Indian Residential School and Prince Albert High School. In 1948 he entered Wycliffe College, Toronto, to study divinity and expects to graduate this year. He hopes to enter the Normal School in Saskatchewan next autumn. He is to be ordained deacon in the spring on the reserve where he was born, and of which his brother-in-law, David Knight, is now a lay-reader and chief. Following his Normal School studies, Mr. Umpherville will be a qualified teacher, and so be able to combine teaching with the preaching of the gospel to his own people. The work will be difficult for so many of the Indian reserves are isolated.

ASSISTING STUDENT

Last year the WA of St. John's Anglican Church here decided to assist a student going into the work of the Western Canadian missions of their church and Mr. Umpherville was the student selected. Mr. Umpherville was very appreciative for what the WA had done for him and was very anxious to meet the members of the organization. His visit to Havelock on Sunday was arranged through the efforts of the rector of St. John's Church, the Rev. H. A. Peasgood.

The choir anthem was "Praise Ye the Lord" by Fuller, with Mrs. D. Kirk at the organ.

Barbara Gratton New Champ In Figure Skating Upset

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Toronto teen-agers skated off with the Canadian singles figure skating crowns Saturday night at the close of a three-day championship meet.

Barbara Gratton, 16-year-old from the Toronto Skating Club, gave a sparkling display in four minutes of free skating to take the senior women's title. It was an upset victory, since she had placed second in the compulsory figures section of the contest, which counted for two-thirds of the marks.

Peter Firstbrook, 19-year-old clubmate of Miss Gratton, won both the compulsory figures and free skating sections to retain the senior men's title he won last year.

Frances Dafoe, 23, and Norris Bowden, 26, of the Toronto Skating Club won three championships—the senior pairs, waltz and ten step. Last year they won those three and also the senior dance title, but Saturday they withdrew from that event.

Frances Abbott and David Ross of Winnipeg went on to win the senior dance title vacated by Miss Dafoe and Bowden, who recently placed second in the world championships at Davos, Switzerland.

A 17-year-old from Oshawa, Ont., Dawn Steckley, had taken an early lead in the women's senior competition by winning the difficult compulsory "school" figures. But Miss Gratton outshone the field of 12 with her effortless free-skating performance to overcome that lead.

Miss Steckley placed second and Yarmila Pachl, 15-year-old native of Prague, Czechoslovakia, was third.

Firstbrook was well ahead of the three other competitors in the senior men's event. Charles Snelling, 15, of Toronto, placed second and Peter Dunfield, 20, of Toronto, was third.

Miss Steckley and David Lowery, also of Oshawa, who won the junior pairs championship Friday night, entered the senior pairs competition against Miss Dafoe and Bowden. The two 18-year-olds fell during their five-minute performance but finished out their routine to place second.

Legion Honors Man For Service

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario command of the Canadian Legion paid special tribute Saturday night to Leo Cunningham of St. Catharines. He received a meritorious service medal in recognition of 24 years service to the organization.

At business meetings, the command's executive was told that membership in Ontario is at its highest peak with substantial increases in all areas. Preliminary plans were made for the Ontario convention in Sudbury starting Aug. 2 and it was announced that the Dominion convention will be held in Toronto in 1954, probably in May.

The executive approved plans for a $175,000 headquarters in Toronto, subject to approval at the Ontario convention.

Empty House Burned

CAMPBELLFORD (CP)—A fire that could be seen for miles around Saturday destroyed the house owned by Maurice Palmer, an ex-serviceman, who lives at Picton. The alarm was turned in by a passing motorist but the flames had gained such headway that firemen were unable to save the structure, which was unoccupied.

Three Win $1,000 For Capturing Robber

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A short chase and a flying tackle, which last November brought a bandit to justice, paid off Saturday for three men. They each received a $1,000 cheque from the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Charles McAuliffe, 23, London; Bruce Grant, Granton, both of the Fred Hall Paper Company, Ltd., and Tommy Nunns, London Free Press employee, received the money in payment for their participation in the capture of 28-year-old Alfred Barr, who held up the main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada and escaped with more than $7,000.

Bahr was convicted and was sentenced to five years in Kingston penitentiary.

Tussle Over Gun Caused Death Says Defendant

KITCHENER (CP)—Testimony in the trial for murder of Kenneth Wiles ended Saturday.

The 21-year-old carpenter is charged with the slaying of his girl friend, Marie Huras, 17, on Jan. 27. Mr. Justice Wishart Spence is to deliver his charge to the jury today after Crown attorney Harold Daufman and defence counsel A. W. Boon complete their submissions.

Wiles was on the stand for 6½ hours Saturday facing a barrage of questions from Mr. Daufman. On Friday Wiles testified that the girl found a sawed-off .22-calibre rifle on the front seat of his car the morning of Jan. 27. He said a friendly tussle over the weapon caused it to discharge, wounding her fatally. She died in a Toronto hospital.

Saturday Mr. Daufman charged that Wiles became angry when Miss Huras returned his engagement ring Jan. 25 and went out with another man. He charged also that Wiles made the sawed-off weapon the morning of the shooting and not several weeks before as Wiles claimed.

Priest Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Rt. Rev. William A. Egan, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Roman Catholic Church for the last 22 years, died Sunday. Born in Simcoe county, Msgr. Egan was ordained in 1908 and served at Collingwood, Barrie, Orangeville and Dixie before taking charge of the Toronto church.

13 Die In Bus Crash

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Thirteen persons were killed Saturday when a speeding bus went out of control, hurtled over a sharp ravine and burst into flames on the outskirts of the city. Seventeen were injured. Eyewitnesses said the bus driver was racing another bus and lost control of his vehicle when brakes failed to hold.

Rescue Downed Fliers

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. (AP)—Three U.S. Navy fliers were rescued from a life raft Saturday about two hours after their TBM torpedo plane plunged into icy Lake Michigan. Coast guardsmen picked up the trio off the raft and headed into port here in a rescue boat.

YOUR NERVES

are not made of STEEL

. . . and sometimes you wonder how much your body can stand

MOTHER! Look at the strain and noise you put up with on an average day. From early 'till late, your children are on the go—playing, shouting, sometimes fighting and crying. Nothing wrong with that, but it does get on your nerves because YOUR NERVES ARE NOT MADE OF STEEL!

The telephone jars you, the door-bell rings; meals to get and dishes to wash; laundry to do and a house to clean. You're a busy woman. No wonder you get tense, tired, run-down and irritable. You're human! YOUR NERVES ARE NOT MADE OF STEEL!

DAD! Look at the turmoil and confusion facing YOU on an average day. People to see, or rush work to do. The office is noisy or a machine breaks down. And personal things—the kitchen tap's leaking; the coal bin's low; the youngster needs glasses and the car needs repairs.

And money! There's more going out than there is coming in. No wonder your head feels like a riveting machine and the nervous strain is almost too much. You come home with your stomach in knots and your appetite gone. You're human! YOUR NERVES ARE NOT MADE OF STEEL!

When NERVES Get You Down, Don't Just Long for Relief,

HERE'S WHAT TO DO

You can get real benefit through the 6-week Plan with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This is not a medicinal fad; you are not experimenting. Thousands of Canadian men and women before you, have used this 6-Week Plan to win the new vim and fresh outlook on life which they needed so badly. Why not you?

What This Plan Can Mean to You

It can mean new Force, new Vigor . . . the quiet, steady nerves that go with good health. It may mean the new feeling of energy you have always needed to excel at your work, and to get full enjoyment and companionship from your family life. Yes, that's what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can do for you!

Here's What Can Happen to YOU in ONLY 6 WEEKS

Follow the directions faithfully. It may not be long before you see and feel the big difference that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can make in your life. You may start to look better, feel better in just a few days. Your appetite starts to pick up, your body feels more rested, your nerves more relaxed and at ease.

Don't Put It Off

Don't say: "I must do that someday." Start right now, because you can't lose. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food contains all the body-building elements found in Vitamin B, Iron and other health-giving Minerals. They work together to build you up and strengthen your Nerves—improve your general, all-round health. Help you to get your natural rest and forget that you were ever tired, run-down and with "nerves" keeping you on edge and making you feel miserable.

RESULTS IN JUST 6 WEEKS OR IT COSTS YOU NOTHING

The 6-Week Plan of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food requires 6 small boxes ($4.74) or 2 large boxes ($3.96). Take as directed. At the end of 6 weeks, you must be able to say to yourself: "I feel like a new person" . . . or we'll refund every penny you paid for the entire Plan. If you are not delighted with the way you feel, just send us the 6 direction sheets from the small boxes or the two top carton flaps from the large boxes, and back comes your money to you. YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF TO START THE DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD 6-WEEK PLAN. So phone your druggist right now—and get started today.

Gives Paper On Hybrid Vegetables

OMEMEE (ENS)—The meeting of Omemee and District Horticultural Society in the council chamber Thursday night was well attended. Mr. Wesley Wilson was in the chair.

Mrs. S. H. Moyer was secretary, having consented to carry on for 1953, if she could, retiring after that. Mrs. Carl Atwell has been appointed to assist this year, with a view to taking it over next year.

Chrysanthemums of an early variety, named and marked for color, were chosen as a premium for the year. The March door rize will be petunias. The decision on a flower emblem for the society was left over for the March meeting.

Mrs. V. Lang read a paper on hybrid vegetables, prepared by Mr. Keith of Toronto. To get hybrid vegetables, it said, cross two inbred strains, whose characteristics are fixed and uniform. Seed must be produced each year by crossing parent strains. That makes the seed expensive, especially so in the case of tomatoes where polination has to be done by hand. Cucumbers and onions are quite adaptable to hybridization but the soil must be good and have good culture.

Experiences with hybrid varieties were discussed by the members. A favorite was golden cross bantam corn.

It was agreed to visit Midhurst and Holland Marsh on the summer bus trip on a Saturday.

Beefsteak tomato seeds were distributed to the members.

Dies At 103

DETROIT (CP) — Mrs. Salome Chiera, 103, who credited her longevity to good food and the occasional glass of beer with a raw egg in it, died Saturday. Interviewed on the occasion of her 100th birthday, she told reporters she also thought the "stimulus of travel" helped keep her active in earlier years. She and her late husband crossed the Atlantic 28 times and traveled around the world twice.

BABY, IT'S COLD UP THERE—This will show you why experts conducting icing tests on Navy and Air Force jet engines atop Mt. Washington, N.H., are also experts in shivering. The buildings, as seen above, are always heavily sheathed in ice from ridge-pole to foundation. They are literally chained to the ground against the fierce winds that make the summit stormier than the polar ice-cap. Winter winds of 75 to 100 miles an hour are common and sometimes roar at the rate of 230 miles an hour. Temperatures have plunged to a low of minus 46 degrees. Patrol Warfare In Korea Eyes, Ears Of UN

By PETER ROBINSON

IN KOREA (Reuters) — The throwback to the First World War type of static warfare in Korea has made patrolling the eyes and ears of the United Nations forces, and their most dangerous task.

Casualties on patrol probes against the entrenched Chinese Reds are often as high as 50 per cent. But the Communists are so well dug in that air reconnaissance alone has proved inadequate and unreliable.

Both sides now rely heavily on information brought back by small reconnaissance patrols or larger fighting patrols and raiding parties. High patrol casualties are risked to prevent the Communists from springing surprise attacks.

TYPICAL PATROL

A typical Commonwealth fighting patrol was one of 15 men and a reconnaissance element of one sergeant and three men which left their front-line positions early one morning.

They slipped out between the minefields at 3 a.m. "to gain information on enemy positions and, if possible, to capture a prisoner."

Half way up the ridge toward the Communist positions, the ground levelled off, and the fighting patrol decided to prepare an ambush here, while the reconnaissance element pushed further forward.

NEAR CHINESE

Its leader got five yards up the ridge when a single shot shattered the frosty air, and a Chinese concussion grenade rolled down the hill.

The patrol had been preparing their ambush within 15 yards of a heavily manned Chinese position.

As the Chinese opened up with light machine-guns, burp guns, rifles and grenades, the Australians, crouched on the hillside, returned the Chinese fire until the patrol commander decided to withdraw.

The Chinese could be heard talking on all sides, and mortar bombs began falling along the patrol's line of retreat. About 500 yards from the Australian lines, a burst of Chinese machine-gun fire wounded the patrol commander.

When the patrol finally assembled behind its own lines, four men were missing and four wounded.

High patrol casualties have to be risked to prevnt th Communists from springing surpris attacks.

Secret Hormone Factories In Humans Baffle Doctors

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Many people seem to have extra, secret factories of sex and some other hormones.

Two findings made in cancer research point to these extra supply sources of hormones. Whether the secret factories work all the time, or perhaps only under certain conditions, isn't yet known.

One finding is that apparently lots of people have extra adrenal glands, or adrenal gland tissue.

The adrenals are a pair of small glands, shaped like hazel nuts, that sit over the kidneys. They turn out cortisone and some other hormones, including both male and female sex hormones.

If an animal's sex glands are removed, the adrenals get larger and more active, producing more sex hormones to make up for the lost sex hormone factories. Presumably the same thing happens in humans.

Now it is found that many people apparently are born with extra adrenal glands which might be able to produce sex hormones and some other adrenal hormones.

The extra or accessory glands were found in 32 out of 100 persons studied at autopsy by Dr. L.S. Graham at Memorial hospital, New York. They were found near the normal adrenal glands, Dr. Graham says in Cancer, a journal of the American Cancer Society.

There is no evidence, he said, that these extra glands were big enough to keep a person alive if his own adrenal glands were removed. But there were signs that the extra glands could produce hormones.

These extra glands may help explain a puzzle met in a new operation designed to help men with advanced prostate gland cancer, or women with advanced breast cancer.

Such patients often benefit temporarily if their sex glands are removed.

They benefit still more if their adrenal glands also are removed, Dr. Charles B. Huggins and associates of the University of Chicago, find. The adrenal removal has been done now on more than 80 patients.

About half of the patients aren't helped much or at all by removal of their adrenal glands. It was found that the women who don't get better are still producing sex hormones—though their sex glands (ovaries) and adrenal glands have been removed. Where this extra supply of sex hormone comes from is a mystery. One guess is that it may be from the extra adrenal glands.

Study Stresses Right Start For Child At Nursery School

By JOAN COOK.

Whether or not nursery school is a full, happy experience for a child depends largely on his getting the right start. How best to steer a child safely through the first shy uncertain days in this new, bigger world has been the subject of a three-year study by the Nursery Consultation Unit of the Council for Child Development Centre in New York.

The results, published under the title, "The Child Entering Nursery School," by Dr. Joseph Steinert, Mrs. Edith Atkins, and Mrs. Theresa Jackson, reveal that the success or failure depends on the ability of parents and teachers to work together. Through their mutual efofrts the way can be paved so as to require the minimum adjustment on the child's part.

Taking into consideration such factors as when a youngster is ready to go to nursery school and how his family feels about his going, the report traces his progress from the first important day. The manual notes that entering nursery school for the first time confronts a child with "many challenges at a time when his capacity to deal with them is still rather nebulous."

NEW MATERIALS, STRANGE ADULTS

The youngster is expected to get along with his playmates, adjust quickly to group living and follow routines that may be at odds with those he is used to at home. He must learn to handle and work with new materials and get used to strange adults. And there is the all-important first separation from mother for an extended period which is likely to worry both mother and child.

Through talks with parents and a pre-entrance introductory visit by the child (in some cases a home visit by the teacher or school director is deemed advisable), vital information may be gathered as to how a child may best be handled at the beginning of his nursery school life, the report states.

Particular attention is paid to children who attend nursery school out of economic necessity. Characterizing this situation as "doubly hazardous," the manual notes that parents, once the decision is made, will tend to overdo assurance that their youngsters will "love" the nursery, "adjust quickly" and give "no trouble."

OUTGROWTH OF CENTRE'S WORK

The study is an outgrowth of the centre's consultation work with nursery schools, according to each child. Dr. Neubauer explained the main task being the treatment of selected emotionally-disturbed preschool children.

The centre, a non-profit organization, set up its nursery school consultation service a few years ago considering it an essential part of the child's environment. While there is no pat formula applicable to each child. Dr. Neubauer explained that the report represents the distillation of the nursery Consultation Unit's experiences during this three-year study period and the way they handled "one critical phase of nursery school experience—the beginning."

Women To Sew Coronation Quilt

HAVELOCK — (ENS) — The Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch 389, Havelock, Belmont Legion, met in the Legion Hall on Wednesday night when two applications were received for membership with a third name being proposed. Seventeen members were present.

A donation of five dollars was made to the provincial command for the Legion scholarship fund.

As a project for Coronation Year, it was decided to make a Coronation quilt in the royal color scheme of blue and gold with the Queen's crown in the centre and a rose, shamrock, thistle and maple leaf in each corner of the centre block.

Comrades Hill and White were appointed conveners for the weekly card parties for March.

Comrade Greenley, newly-elected president, conducted the meeting.

Young Italian Actress Bound For Stardom In U.S. Movies

By ALLEN JACKS

ROME (AP)—A shapely Italian brunette with an improbable name seems to be making the long leap toward U. S. film stardom with success.

The meteoric rise of Gina Lollobrigida (accent on the "bridge") as a European star has left even the bosomy Italian girl somewhat incredulous.

Miss Lollobrigida — that's her real name—is a five-foot, four-inch bundle of ambition with an hour-glass figure who has packed European movie houses with almost every picture she has made. She just won a poll as Europe's top feminine draw.

There are differences of opinion about the reasons for Gina's tremendous popularity, but most experts on the subject credit her looks, especially her 36-inch bust and a trim 22-inch waist.

Gina currently is making her first American film, teamed with Errol Flynn. When she finishes she will start immediately on another, directed by John Huston, with Humphrey Bogart and Jennifer Jones as co-stars.

Flynn himself is putting up 50 per cent of the capital for his film with the 24-year-old Italian beauty which will be released this fall.

Gina makes no effort to hide the delight with which she would receive a good Hollywood offer but in the absence of same she is doing quite well right here.

She will receive 30,000,000 lire for her eight weeks work with Flynn. That's $48,000. She will do four or five other pictures this year for a total of $250,000 to $300,000.

On this side of the Atlantic, where the tax collectors don't take their work too seriously, that's a bigger fortune than even Hollywood can offer.

Miss Lollobrigida literally fell into the gold mine.

Italian director Mario Costa saw her at school in Rome one day and offered her a small part in a picture. That was in 1946, when Gina was 18.

MOVED TO FRANCE

With her Italian reputation established, she was teamed with French star Gerard Philippe and went after the franc. Their picture, "Fanfan la Tulipe," took France by storm.

The European version of a western, in an 18th centurey French setting, the film was full of action and Lollobrigida in low-necked gowns.

Now comes the assault on the dollar in an 15th century costume piece with castles, sword play, horses and lots of Lollobrigida in low-necked gowns.

Gina learned French passages well for "Fanfan la Tulipe." She is doing the same with English for her American debut.

Not only is Gina's income tremendous by European standards, but she has a very practical method of keeping it in the family. Her husband, Miko Skofic, a Yugoslav who escaped a German concentration camp to become a doctor in Italy, manages her affairs.

WILL KEEP AIR CLEAR—Latest in U.S. Army Ordnance defences against enemy aircraft and even capable of inflicting damage on ground targets, is this new "Skysweeper." Units of the gun include radar, computing gun sights and power units. The instruments can search out enemy targets, compute factors such as target speed, altitude of target and wind velocity as well as aim and fire the gun.

Few VC Winners Could Afford Coronation Trip

TORONTO (CP)—A First World War hero said Friday seats have been reserved at the Coronation for Canada's 22 living Victoria Cross holders, but most can't go unless the government pays.

H. H. Robson of Toronto, secretary of the 10-member Ontario Victoria Cross Association, said the government once before sent VC holders to Britain. He hoped it would be done again.

"Those seats are right outside Buckingham Palace," he said. "But the boys won't be in them unless the province sends us."

Sgt. Robson is an information guide at the provincial parliament buildings. He won the British Empire's highest military decoration in 1914 while serving with the Royal Scots Regiment.

His remarks followed a suggestion in the Legislature Thursday by Albert Wren (Lib-Lab — Kenora) that VC winners be sent to the Coronation at government expense.

Moslem Head Bids Followers Boycott Parliament

TEHRAN, Iran—(AP)—New tensions built up in riot-plagued Tehran today as fanatic Moslem leader Ayatullah Seyed Abolghassem Kashani ordered his followers to boycott a Parliament meeting at which Premier Mohammed Mossadegh had been expected to demand a vote of confidence. The capital appeared relatively calm after the weekend of street fighting, with only scattered Communist demonstrations but the Red-front "National Organization to Combat Imperialism" called a mass rally in the Majlis parliament square this afternoon.

Kashani, Parliament Speaker and in recent months on the outs with the premier, issued his boycott order after the new Mossadegh-appointed army chief of staff installed a new chief of the guard at the Majlis building. Kashani contended this left the deputies without proper protection.

RINGED BY GUARDS

Though heavily-armed guards today ringed the building—in which a bloc of 28 Mossadegh supporters have been camping since Saturday night—Kashani's order prevented a quorum and by noon no meeting had been held.

The premier had been expected to demand the confidence vote to re-establish his position after the week - end demonstrations. These broke out after it appeared that Mossadegh might force 33-year-old Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi to leave the country. The Shah cancelled his trip after the rioting started.

The pro-Shah demonstrators were largely replaced Monday by crowds cheering for the premier. In a broadcast Monday night, Mossadegh urged the Iranians to call off their "general holiday" and get back to work. "If the need comes, I shall report to you and ask your assistance," he added.

REDS STAGE TROUBLE

The Communist Tudeh party, however, still was trying to whip up trouble. Slogan - shouting Tudeh members staged "spot demonstrations" through the city but each time scattered before police arrived on the scene.

Communists marched through the main streets shouting "Yankee go home" and "Down with the American advisers."

(Reuters reported that Premier Mossadegh was pressing a roundup of his political opponents. Many Red leaders were among those gathered into Mossadegh's police net. Authorities also rounded up opposition politicians and army men including three generals who revealed anti-Mossadegh sentiments in the last three days of rioting and demonstrations.)

Jetliner Crashes At Karachi, Kills 11 In Crew

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP)—Canada's first Comet jet airliner crashed and burned on a takeoff from Karachi airport early today, killing its crew of five Canadians and six aircraft technicians. There were no survivors.

Remains of the 11 bodies, burned beyond recognition, were extricated from the wreckage and were later buried in a common grave at Karachi's Christian cemetery.

The sleek, new Comet, powered engines, had left London Monday on its way to Honolulu for delivery to Canadian Pacific Airlines.

It had aboard five top technicians of the de Havilland Aircraft Company—British builders of the Comet—an instrument expert from Australia and a veteran CPA crew.

The silvery airliner stopped at Karachi at 3:25 p.m. to refuel after a flight from Beirut, Syria, and was heading on to its next stop at Singapore when it smashed up.

From the tire marks on the runway it appeared that the plane had not left the ground on its ill-fated takeoff. At the end of the runway it sliced through a barbed wire fence around the airfield, hit a culvert and crashed into a ditch, bursting into flames. The wreckage was still burning 4½ hours after the crash. Only one body had been extricated from the smoldering wreckage by 8 a.m.

The dead Canadians were: Capt. Charles N. Pentland, the pilot, Cloverdale, B.C.; capt. C. North Sawle, co-pilot, Vancouver; R. J. Cook, radio navigator, Vancouver; James A. Smith, chief mechanic, Vancouver, and P. D. Roy, Vancouver.

TOP PILOTS

Capt. Pentland, a veteran flier, headed CPA's division of overseas flights and Capt. Sawle was chief CPA overseas pilot.

Sawle, one of Alberta's first bush pilots, was born in Athabaska and educated in Edmonton. He joined CPA in 1942.

The Britons working for de Havilland were: D. H. Edwards, chief liaison engineer; H. Waters, senior service engineer; B. Reese, flight engineer, D. Morgan-Tipp, field service, and John Wilson, engine company field service.

The Australian was N. H. Gardner, representing Smiths instruments.

Dunlop Urges School Austerity

TORONTO (CP)—Education Minister Dunlop told a delegation of school trustees and representatives of school boards Monday that an austerity program in school building is necessary because of the number of schools which must be built in Ontario within the next few years.

Accommodation will be needed for 54,000 additional students this year, he said, 51,000 next year and another 50,000 in 1955.

The delegation consisted of Charles Hulse of Ottawa, president of the Ontario Trustees' Council, Harold Wagner of Waterloo, vice-president, and P. M. Muir of suburban York, secretary, as well as representatives of school boards in Hamilton, London, Ottawa and Toronto.

The delegation, in a statement after the meeting, said it is impressed with the seriousness of the situation "and would urge trustee boards throughout the province to co-operate with the department."

Province Would Plug Adoption Law Faults

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario committee now studying the province's legislation governing adoption of children may recommend changes to remove loopholes which permit a black market in babies, it was reported Monday night.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow said his department is watching closely the Toronto situation in which police are trying to run down operators of a baby-selling ring. He declined further comment.

However, it was reported that a committee headed by W. A. Goff, secretary of the Children's Aid Association of Ontario, is studying the Unmarried Parents Act, the Adoption Act and the Children's Protection Act. It is said to have also considered the black market reports and may make specific recommendations to tighten up the three acts.

Queen Mary Ill For Past Week

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mary has been ill for a week, it was announced Monday night.

This news came as Britons were busily engaged in preparations for the Coronation June 2. Because of her age, Queen Mary does not plan to attend the ceremony at Westminster Abbey. She is 85.

Marlborough House, Queen Mary's residence, said she had been confined to bed for the last week by recurrence of a gastric trouble.

She had not taken her usual motor car drives about London for two weeks. No other details of her illness were given.

Doctors are seeing her every day and a night nurse is on call near her bedside if needed.

Sir John Weir, one of her doctors, called shortly before 9:30 a. m. today and left a half-hour later. Household officials at Marlborough House said it was a routine call.

An informant in close touch with the household said:

"The announcement has been made to dispel any rumors that she is seriously ill. But at the same time it must be remembered that because of her age, her condition is liable to vary from day to day."

Observers noted, however, that a week elapsed before any announcement of her illness was made. Usually Royal Family ailments, even minor ones, are disclosed promptly.

UN Jets Strike Close To Yalu

SEOUL (AP) —Allied fighter-bombers roared almost to the Yalu river today and dropped their bomb loads right on the door-step of Manchuria.

The 5th air force said its planes laid waste to a Red communications centre just south of the Yalu and flattened 17 buildings of a training centre.

Sabre jets damaged three Communist MiGs in air battles.

The battleship Missouri steamed 140 miles north of the 38th parallel on the east coast and plastered Red coastal targets with its 16-inch guns.

There was only a brief flurry of ground action along the front. UN troops threw back three small Red probes before dawn and killed an estimated 20 Reds.

TLC Scores Ottawa Tax Policies

Easy Home Financing, National Health Plan Urged In Brief

OTTAWA — (CP)—Federal tax policies were criticized today by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in its annual legislative submission to the cabinet.

The 525,000-member congress also renewed a series of requests for such moves as an immediate national health insurance program, easier financing for home construction, renewal of price controls and various measures dealing specifically with labor.

The 6,000-word brief was delivered by Congress president Percy Bengough and other members of the TLC executive to a cabinet group headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

On taxation, the congress expressed dissatisfaction with some aspects of Finance Minister Abbott's recent budget and asked for a "considerable reorientation" in tax policy.

MORE EXEMPTIONS

It said personal income tax exemptions should be lifted to $3,000 from $2,000 for married persons and to $1,500 from $1,000 for single persons; that family allowance payments be tax-exempt, and that an exemption of $400 be allowed for each child.

The congress expressed opposition to all forms of sales tax and asked that workers' costs for tools and out-of-town expenses of construction trades workers be tax-exempt.

It was critical of a budget provision doubling — to 20 per cent a tax credit granted on dividends received by taxpayers from Canadian corporations. This was described as 'discriminatory' against workers.

EVEN SPREAD

While congress members were ready to shoulder their share of the cost of defence and national services, the TLC said, they "feel very strongly that the time has come for a considerable reorientation in taxation policy so that the load will be spread more evenly over the whole population."

Dealing with social security the congress said a national health insurance scheme is of "urgent importance" and should be adopted at the present session of Parliament.

Three Western Rinks Stay Unbeaten In Third Round

SUDBURY—(CP)—Three teams—all from the West—remained undefeated after this morning's third round in the Canadian curling championships. One Western rink—Saskatchewan — dropped its first game in championship play and its first in 34 games. The rink from Delisle had 31 straight victories before coming to this top bonspiel.

Neighboring Alberta handed the Saskatchewan rink its loss by a 10-5 score. It was a fairly close game until the second half when Alberta piled up half its points. Saskatchewan scored one in the second, another in the seventh, two in the 10th and one in the 12th with the game's last rock after the curlers had practiced knockout shots in the last end.

CAREFUL PLAY

Until the last end both rinks played carefully and conferred on most shots. The Saskatchewan rink in particular among the 11 rinks in the 'spiel plays a slow, thoughtful game.

Manitoba kept its winning record intact by easily handing Prince Edward Island its third defeat 14-9, while British Columbia also won its third, downing Northern Ontario 14-11. It was Northern Ontario's second loss against one win.

Ontario's representatives from Chatham won its first game downing Newfoundland 15-6. Ontario, which had a bye in the first round, now has a 1-1 record while Newfoundland has yet to break into the winning column.

Fear Seven Dead In N.Y. Plant Fire

NEW YORK (AP)—At least six persons—five of them women—perished in a lightning-quick fire that swept through a Bronx furniture factory today. Firemen said "there may be more loss of life."

The six bodies were brought out by gas - masked firemen, who braved flames and dense smoke enter the two-storey structure at River avenue and 150th street.

They carried out one man, unconscious and seriously injured.

Others were slightly hurt in their dash to the street.

The furniture company, the Utility Airlite Manufacturing Company, was situated on the ground floor, and employed 120 men and women.

Scores of panicky workers fled from the building when the blaze broke out.

Charge Children Taught Communism

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says today that more than 200 Toronto school children are being taught Communist doctrine at afternoon and evening classes conducted by three pro - Communist foreign language groups.

The newspage story says the curriculum "is said to be similar to that of schools behind the Iron Curtain." It quotes "well-informed sources" as saying the teachers are experts in Communist propaganda methods and one Ukrainian source as saying text books are imported from Russia.

Children attending are of Polish, Ukrainian and Finnish descent and between six and 14 years old. They also attend public school, the story says. Their parents are mostly foreign-born. The course deals with fundamentals of communism, the history of Russia and the lives of Stalin and Lenin.

(Reports from Winnipeg Saturday said 70 children there attend classes two nights a week using Soviet textbooks. In statements Monday both the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians and the Federation of Russian-Canadians, sponsors of the schools, said the report was false. They added the schools were to teach children the culture of their forefathers.)

Fire Destroys Orono Plant, Damage $20,000

ORONO (Staff)—Fire that at its peak threatened nearby homes in the village Monday night destroyed the Orono Wood Products plant causing damage estimated at $20,000. It was the largest industry in this village seven miles north of Newcastle.

Edward H. Samuel, manager of the firm which manufactures furniture parts, said the fire started from an overheated wood stove in the basement of the three-storey building. The damper on the stove was left open and the red-hot pipes started a fire in the basement ceiling.

"I saw the blaze and turned in the alarm," said Mr. Samuel, "but we didn't have much effect in our firefighting attempts. There was fire at two points—in the basement ceiling and in the floor of the first storey after flames had broken through."

60-FOOT FLAMES

A pumper from the Orono fire brigade drew water from a nearby creek to play on the flames but they couldn't stop the old wooden building—a former flax mill—from burning to the ground. At one time flames were shooting 60 feet into the air.

Warns Of Danger In Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said today the "Middle East could explode any day" and unbalance the world situation.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, said in a speech prepared for the American Association for the United Nations that this country must not assume Korea is the only battle front with communism.

"The Soviet Union would like nothing better than for the United States to become so preoccupied with Korea that we take our eyes off, for example, the critical situation in the Middle East," he said.

Wiley urged American allies to tighten the UN embargo against shipment of war supplies of any kind to Red China. He said the embargo isn't being observed.

He also called on U.S. allies to "do their share" in the fighting in Korea. He said the American people feel the U.S. has been bearing the burden there nearly alone.

Revenue Increase, 1952 Surplus Keys To Reduction

City council accomplished a reduction of one-quarter of a mill from last year in putting the finishing touches of authority on its budget and tax rate Monday night. For public school supporters the 1953 levy is 64.5 mills as compared with 64.75 mills in 1952, and for separate school supporters the rate is 67 mills, as against 67.25 mills last year. Total of all civic spending this year is estimated at $3,121,162.61, covering the general administration, debenture charges, garbage collection, schools and relief.

Credited against that amount is $399,327.52, the estimated receipts from all sources other than taxes.

That leaves $2,721,835.09 to be collected from the municipal taxpayers.

EXPLANATIONS

In presenting his third budget bylaw was chairman of the finance committee, Ald. T. D. Miller presented a comparative statement of the major outlets of expenditure for 1952 and 1953, with a summarized explanation of causes of departmental increases wherever they had to be provided.

Ald. Miller's review of the financial facts and figures, with which the council has been deeply engaged for the last three weeks or more, includes only a brief introduction. As it was prepared for the information of the public, it is published herewith in complete text.

"It is with a certain amount of satisfaction that council presents its 1953 budget to the ratepayers. In spite of the fact that the estimates of almost every department have risen over 1952, it has been found possible to present a slight reduction in the 1953 mill rate. While the reduction is not great, nevertheless it is a step in the right direction.

"The surplus of $86,000 from 1952, plus an increase in assessment of $2,323,963 which amounts to approximately $148,000, have made this possible.

"After last year's experience of finding it necessary to increase our mill rate by 9.25 mills to public school supporters and 10.25 to separate school supporters, it is indeed gratifying to see even a slight reduction rather than an increase. Many municipalities this year are faced with substantial increases over 1952. Our total expenditures for 1952 were $3,071,436.37. Estimated expenditure for 1953 is $3,121,162.61, showing an increase of $49,726.24.

Magnuson Denies Walsh's Charge

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Bruce Magnuson Monday described as "false and libellous" an accusation that he has been acting as a courier for sabotage plans from Russia.

The Labor-Progressive party organizer for Northwestern Ontario recently returned from a trip to Moscow.

Patrick Walsh, former organizer of the independent Canadian Woodworkers Union, said in Quebec last week that Magnuson brought back with him orders to prepare plans for sabotaging forests and hydro plants.

Magnuson said in a statement he deplored "the eagerness by which the bourgeois press of this country seized on the false and libellous statements of a self-confessed enemy of the working class movement in order to slander and attempt to discredit the LPP and myself personally."

Tariff Quotas Restored On Stock Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—In a double-barrelled move, the United States Monday reopened her markets to Canadian meat and livestock and then restored tariff quotas on Canadian cattle.

The first action, ending a year-long embargo, restored a trade which had amounted to $120,000,000 a year.

The second action is expected to have no practical effect on the export cattle trade. It means that after April 1, the United States will charge an extra one cent a pound tariff duty above the present duty of 1½ cents a pound if exports exceed certain limits.

The limits are 200,000 calves of less than 200 pounds and 400,000 heavyweight cattle of 700 pounds or more. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the Commons the quotas are well above any "cattle we will have in Canada, at least for some time."

SEEM MINOR

But the tariff quotas, a revival of limitations suspended in 1941, seemed minor compared to the ending of the embargo, reopening markets closed after the announcement of the presence of foot-and-mouth disease in south Saskatchewan Feb. 25, 1952.

Before the disease outbreak disrupted Canada's $2,000,000,000 livestock industry, Canada counted on selling nearly all of her meat surplus—about 20 per cent of production—to the United States.

She shipped annually between 400,000 and 500,000 head of cattle including carcasses and live animals—a $120,000,000 business.

That trade will apparently be slow in starting again. Slaughter cattle prices in Canada are slightly higher than in the U.S. and reports from border points, such as Morrisburg, Ont., were that sellers must cut prices slightly to attract American buyers.

BACK TO NORMAL

However, some U. S. buyers purchased some Canadian purebred

$93,000 Fire Guts Kingston Store

KINGSTON (CP)—Fire caused a total estimated damage of $93,000 today to the downtown hardware warehouse of W. B. Dalton and Sons.

Damage to the building was estimated at $18,000 and to the contents at $75,000.

Firemen battled the blaze, which threatened the downtown business section, for three hours before bringing it under control. The warehouse contained thousands of gallons of paint and turpentine and a room full of ammunition. Firemen were able to control the fire before it reached the paint or ammunition.

The fire is believed to have started on the second storey

For Hero's Accolade

Van Fleet Brings Views To U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet returns to the capital from Korea's frozen battlefront today to receive a hero's accolade and perhaps to become the centre of another stormy debate over the conduct of the Korean war.

The 60-year-old general, who retires March 31, brings with him an expressed conviction that a United Nations offensive in Korea could "certainly" be successful. He contends the stalemate is one of the UN's choosing, and not the enemy's.

But he has remained silent on what his recommendations will be to Congress and to his Second World War comrade-in-arms, President Eisenhower.

In advance of his scheduled arrival two Democratic senators today quoted Gen. Omar N. Bradley as having said that under present conditions neither side can launch a successful offensive in Korea. They were Senators Guy Gillette of Iowa and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Gillette said in an interview that Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, testified before the Senate foreign relations committee in a recent closed-door session that there is "no chance" for a successful UN offensive in Korea at this point.

In a separate interview, Humphrey agreed Bradley had said this and had added that the build-up necessary for such an offensive would be costly in manpower and materials.

"The general said that launching an offensive would necessitate the diversion of materials and manpower from other areas of the world," Humphrey said. "He said an offensive would cost more in manpower, with greater casualties and greater consumption of goods and materials than are now programmed."

Plans called for Van Fleet to be whisked to the White House for a 30-minute talk with Eisenhower. Then were to follow lunches, dinners, and meetings with members of Congress who are eager to hear what Van Fleet has to say about winning the war in Korea.

He is known to be bitterly disappointed that the Korean truce talks resulted in a virtual cease-fire at a time when he felt he had the Communists on the run, and that he had to leave Korea before a victory was achieved.

Saves 3-Month-Old Baby From Jaws Of 14-Ft. Python

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters)—A farmer battled a 14-foot python, reptile king of the North Australian jungles, with a piece of fire wood as it slithered away with the man's infant daughter gripped in its fangs.

A government farm inspector reached here with word of the battle today.

He said the farmer, Alex Scott, beat the giant snake into retreat and it dropped the child, three-month-old Kathleen. The child is recovering.

Inspector J. A. Quirk said he was camping with Scott, his wife and baby recently 300 miles out in the bushland. Mrs. Scott was asleep in the back of their truck with baby Kathleen in her arms. It was dusk.

The snake moved noiselessly from the fringe of the jungle skirted the campfire and raised its head above the tailboard of the back of the truck.

With a lightning dart, it flicked the infant from its mother's arms and coiled rapidly toward the underbrush. Mrs. Scott's screams awakened her husband.

He snatched a flaming branch from the campfire and attacked the python. It dropped the child and swivelled on Scott but was apparently dazed by the flames. It turned and darted into the bush.

Pythons are common through most of Asia. Fourteen feet is a good size though they have been reported as large as 40 feet. It operates in the same way as the boa constrictor, crushing the victims in coils of its powerful body then swallowing it whole.

Russ Blast Ends Hope For New Action On Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP)—World diplomats today ruled out chances for any new action on Korea in the current UN session after hearing the uncompromising stands pronounced by both the Soviet Union and the United States. Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia fired a broadside at the new Republican administration Monday. He told the general assembly's political committee once again that the only way to stop the fighting in Korea was to accept his own formula for peace—a formula already rejected by an overwhelming majority in the UN.

Aside from Vishinsky's blasts at the Eisenhower administration, which he accused of merely "borrowing from the Truman-Acheson book," weary delegates found nothing new in the Russian's speech for which they had waited tensely after suspending three consecutive meetings.

ADAMANT STANDS

This adamant stand—and the announcement earlier by chief U.S. delegate John Cabot Lodge, that the UN Allies would not budge from their demands for an "honorable settlement" in Korea—indicated a continuing deadlock on the question during the rest of this seventh assembly session.

No delegate has shown any intention of introducing any new proposal for ending the deadlock either here or at the stalled Panmunjom truce talks.

Vishinsky hinted he may reintroduce as a fresh resolution his old proposal—rejected during the first half of this assembly session last fall—calling for an immediate cease-fire and an international conference on the question of prisoners of war, reunification of Korea and other Far Eastern problems.

Other delegations still showed reluctance to take the floor after they heard Vishinsky's uncompromising stand. None asked to speak this morning, and committee president Joao Carlos Muniz put off resumption of the debate until the afternoon.

REVERSES CHARGE

In his sweeping attack on the new U.S. administration's foreign policies, Vishinsky charged that the Americans—and not the Russians as Lodge had said—sought to prolong and expand the war in the Far East and were planning to use Asians as "cannon fodder."

Trading Picks Up, Prices Grow Weaker

TORONTO (CP) — Trading picked up slightly after noon today but stock market prices weakened.

Western oils, uraniums and New Brunswick base metals combined to boost the volume for the first three hours to 3,744,00 shares—about 500,000 shares below Monday's third hour.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area issues held firm but industrials, base metals and western oils dropped about half a point each on the exchange indexes. Golds lost a small amount.

Heaviest trader of the session was Eastern Metals, moving more than 215,000 shares to gain 18 cents. Inspiration, a Northern Ontario rare metals prospect, spurted ahead $1.05 to $4.20 in a turnover of 175,000 shares.

Uraniums held firm as Gunnar added a small fraction and Graham Bousquet gained pennies. Chimo dropped 25 cents. Among the Bathurst, N. B., issues, New Larder U was unchanged while Brunswick slipped and Brunhurst gained.

Constructions gained. Chemical Research, a sharp gainer Monday, dropped 11 cents in active trading.

Plant May Give Partial Power Within Two Days

FITZROY HARBOR (CP)—Partial power from the 220,000-horsepower Chats Falls hydro-electric plant here may be restored by Wednesday or Thursday, despite the spectacular and crippling fire which raged for five hours Monday.

Engineers and repair crews worked through the night to clear debris and A. M. Peterson, eastern region operations engineer for the Ontario hydro electric commission, said as much as 55,000 horsepower may be available from Chats Falls by the end of the week.

It was still impossible to say when full output could be restored.

Late Monday night, crews had hooked up one of the undamaged turbo-generators to furnish power to the station itself to aid in the cleaning-up operation. In addition to the station's regular staff, 50 men were brought in to help remove the tons of debris which buried expensive machinery beneath crumbled roof and walls.

Three of the $20,000,000 plant's eight turbo-generators lay smashed beneath twisted girders and fallen walls and roof. Another generator was believed damaged and the others were shut down before fire burned through the main cable carrying power to the hydro lines.

In Toronto Monday night, the Ontario hydro-electric commission chairman, Robert Saunders, estimated the loss at $1,500,000—or $2,000,000 at the most.

VISITS SCENE

Mr. Saunders said he will visit the fire scene today with top officials to map out reconstruction. He expected partial repairs would be made within two or three weeks.

No one was injured in the blaze, which officials blamed on an explosion caused by a technical fault in the oil circuit-breaker. They said sabotage is not suspected.

Loss of the plant's 220,000 horsepower, which is fed from this Ottawa river point 30 miles west of Ottawa into the southern Ontario "power pool," won't mean a power shortage.

Steam generators at Toronto and Windsor were pressed into full production Monday to take up the slack. They normally operate at 25-per-cent capacity, since steam generation of power costs about three times as much as hydro power.

TO TAKE MONTHS

O. S. Luney, Ottawa area manager for the Ontario hydro commission, said it would be many months before the whole plant could be put back into service.

The five-hour fire caused havoc in a large section of the 500-foot-long three-storey power plant The plant was built in 1931 on a quarter-mile Ottawa river dam—the first major power development on the river. It is jointly owned by the Ontario hydro commission and the Ottawa Valley Power Company.

Two plant employees, Tom Tripp 42, and Jack Ross, moved to save the valuable equipment as soon as they saw burning oil splatter from the circuit-breaker. They threw switches to cut off all eight turbo-generators.

Because of the danger of short circuits from a water pump, employees waited for outside chemical firefighting equipment to be brought in. A chemical pumper from the national research council station at Arnprior, 12 miles away, was brought in along a one-mile railway spur—the only entry—on a relay of planks laid along the track. A pumper from Ottawa was brought in on a flatcar.

Greater Extremes Of Temperature In '53

February in 1952 was colder on the average than the same month this year, but the month just past had both colder and warmer days than the year before.

In February last year, it was 40 degrees on the fourth and five below on the 13th, but this year it was 47 on the 20th and six below on the fourth. The average last year was 22.2 and was 24.3 this year.

There was a little more precipitation this year as well. In February, 1952, there was .41 inches of grain and seven inches of snow making a total of precipitation of 1.11 inches. (Ten inches of snow equal one inch of rain.)

In the month just ended there was only .1 inches of rain. but 12 and three quarters inches of of snow, making a total precipitation of 1.375.

Revenue Increase

"I am sure that a word of explanation would be arppeciated by our citizens regarding certain changes and increases in our 1953 budget. I will not comment on several estimates because of very slight changes over last year."

Asessment Office — 1952, $22,866.17; 1953, $31,224.00.

Increase of $8,358.00 due to reassessment and annexation plus cost of re-assessing industrial and commercial properties by Chas. Warnock & Co.

Board of Works—1952, $259.814.98; 1953, 292,200.00.

Increase of $32,386.00 due to normal growth of city.

Charity—1952, $57,417.99; 1953, $64,545.00. Increase of $7,127.00.

Charity is not classed as welfare. Payments are made to various hospitals for indigent patients, Children's Aid Societies, and various other social services according to the provincial statutes. The increase is normal, consistent with the growth of the city.

Fire Department — 1952, $162,827.69; 1953, $185,915.59. Increase of $23,087.00.

This year council appointed a new fire chief (Chief Ralph Leonard). One of Chief Leonard's first recommendations to council was that in order to man the equipment satisfactorily, eight additional firemen should be engaged; this matter has been taken care of. Another item to increase cost is the operation of the Smith township volunteer fire department which has been taken over by the city due to annexation.

Department of Health — 1952, $48,872.99; 1953, $54,000.00. Increase of $5,127.00.

The Board of Health have included $10,000.00 in their estimates to provide for the possible amalgamation of health services between the Department of Health and the Board of Education. This amalgamation of services will prevent a certain amount of duplication and will result in an overall saving to the taxpayers. Amalgamation of health services is something that has been needed for a long time and which certain individuals have persistently advocated.

STREET LIGHTING

1952—$48,946.96; 1953—$68,150.54. Increase of $19,204.00.

In 1952 the deficit for street lighting was $11,225.00; this has been included in the estimates for 1953, plus an additional $8,000.00 to offset an increase in lighting which will not be definitely known until the latter part of the year.

MANUFACTURERS

1952—$4,209.63; 1953—$6,845.00. Increase of $2,636.00.

After nine months of effort by our industrial commissioner we are unable to report any concrete results, but as this effort has to be taken with the long term view. Council is not in any was discouraged. Our industrial commissioner intends this year to increase his activity with the hope of some real progress in 1953.

PARKS DEPARTMENT

1952—$69,727.63; 1953—$65,000.00. Decrease of $4,727.00.

After considerable discussion by Council it was decided that parks estimates should be controlled somewhat by setting a maximum of approximately one and a half mills for parks purposes.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

1952—$161,696.81; 1953—$187,000.00. Increase of $25,303.19.

Increase caused by additional staff plus items of new equipment.

GARBAGE COLLECTION

1952—$95,890.00; 1953—$93,312.85. Decrease of $2,578.00.

Because of the growth of the city the incinerator is being worked beyond capacity, thereby causing abnormal maintenance costs. After careful study of garbage disposal methods in various communities it was found that the method of land fill was more economical and also made it possible to reclaim unusable land. It was therefore decided by council to proceed with the method of land fill. This method of garbage disposal will be in operation by May or June. It is quite possibly that the saving would be much greater for a full year.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

1952—$711,938.00; 1953—$762,090.00. Increase of $50,152.00.

The increase is mostly due to automatic salary adjustments.

CIVIC HOSPITAL

1952—$259,060.00; 1953—$225,600.00. Decrease of $33,460.00.

The budget in 1952 included the sum of $40,000.00 which was required to offset the deficit in 1951. Compared to the 1952 estimate the increase for 1953 is $6,573.00. This amount is negligible on a yearly budget of almost one million dollars.

PROVINCIAL LABORATORY

The estimate for provincial laboratory purposes is not necesary this year. After much negotiating by council with the provincial department of health, it was decided to re-organize the provincial laboratory under the provincial department of health and to be financed entirely by the province with the exceptions of quarters which are provided by the city. The saving to the city amounts to approximately $10,000.00 per year.

REVENUES

The actual total of all revenues except property and business tax for 1952 was $327,218.10 while the estimated revenue for 1953 is $399,327.52 showing an increase of $72,109.42.

In presenting my third budget, Mr. Mayor, I would like to express my sincere appreciation for the wholehearted support of every member of council, and all the various boards and committees. This is the first year that council has set a date for estimates to be presented and it would appear to me that this policy should be adopted in the future. This system makes it possible for the tax department to prepare and mail all tax bills on schedule without the necessity of working overtime or hiring of as much additional help.

It is anticipated that certain changes will be made in assesments our mill rate. Increase provincial in 1954, which will no doubt affect grants on a per capital basis to police and fire departments will be helpful.

The mill rate for 1953 is: Public School supporters, 64.5 mills; Separate School supporters, 67 mills."

Walsh Lists Three As Leading Canadian Reds

QUEBEC (CP) — Pat Walsh, Quebec union organizer who resigned last week from a number of Communist-front organizations, said Monday Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party, "is only a figurehead."

The "real" leaders of the LPP, Walsh said, are Joseph B. Salsberg LPP member of the Ontario legislature for Toronto St. Andrew, Stanley B. Ryerson, Toronto, and Harvey Murphy, Vancouver

Walsh, 37, was replying to a statement by Buck who described as a "fabrication" the Quebecer's charge that the Kremlin had ordered Canadian Communists to blow up hydro-electric plants and burn forests in the event of war with Soviet Russia.

NEVER IN LPP

Buck said Walsh never was a member of the LPP because "he claimed that he was a member of the Irish Republican Army and that the condemnation of terrorism in the program of the LPP conflicted with the aim of the IRA. . ."

Walsh denied he was a member of the IRA.

Walsh said Salsberg's position was trades union commission director of the LPP, while Ryerson, formerly of Montreal, is national organizational secretary of the LPP. Murphy is head of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, (Ind), he added.

TLC Scores

Recalling that the prime minister last year told the congress it was up to labor to educate the public to a willingness to pay for health insurance, the TLC said it feels this education now has been completed. The growth and variety of health plans in Canada indicated wide demand and acceptance of the idea.

FINANCING PLAN

The congress said a national plan should be financed by individual prepayment and government subsidy.

On housing, it asked federal action to reduce the down payment on new homes to not more than 10 per cent of the cost, lower interest rates and longer terms for mortgages.

It was "greatly disturbed over current housing conditions and the failure of our government to provide due encouragement to homebuilding."

On prices, the TLC said it wants controls "not as an expedient but as a continuing national policy" because when prices rise, wages and salaries do not catch up with them until too late.

THREE POINTS

It asked specifically:

1. Appointment of a prices and trade board with full powers to control prices.
2. Subsidies on basic food products.
3. Resumption of the 100-percent excess profits tax, which would be used to defray subsidies.

Federal aid for primary and secondary education was urged. The fact of provincial jurisdiction was "not a valid reason for withholding federal assistance in this field."

Dealing with old age security, the congress asked that the age for the payment of universal pensions be lowered from 70 to 65 for men and 60 for women and that the payment be increased to $65 from $40 a month. The congress also asked that the federal government take on greater responsibility for widows and their children.

It asked for a number of changes in unemployment insurance provision, including coverage of all workers, higher benefit payments and extension of coverage to include sickness as well as layoffs by employers.

Widening of the provisions of the federal labor code also was sought. The congress wanted it to cover all government employees — giving them full collective bargaining rights—and to make it mandatory for employers to check off union dues at the request of employees.

For government employees, the congress also asked the five-day 40-hour week the year around.

Discussing amendments to the Criminal Code now before Parliament, the TLC said it favors strengthening the law to protect Canada against persons trying to undermine the security of the state. Their activities were "very much akin to treason."

The congress said that provisions in the code setting out penalties for property damage resulting from work cessations should specify that they apply only to criminals and criminal negligence, and not to persons engaged in lawful industrial disputes.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 21-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Monday's noon rate was 98 9-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.77 3-16, unchanged.

OWNER MOVES IN SOON

Harry B. McGinnis, purchaser of the Ian MacRae home, Hunter St. W., plans to move into it within three or four weeks. Decorators are at present working on the interior. The purchase price was said to be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Water For Fire Protection From City Hydrants $45,000

The Peterborough Utilities Commission is asking city council for $45,000 for water for fire protection from city fire hydrants this year.

The amount obtained from the city for the same purpose last year was $40,000.

In a letter to city council earlier this year, the PUC requested $50,000 but Mayor Waddell and Ald. Norman Miller appeared at Monday's PUC meeting seeking to have the amount lowered.

The suggestion put forward by Ald. Miller, chairman of city council's finance committee, was that the amount should be one mill on the tax rate. This would amount to about $42,000 on the basis of this year's assessment. He suggested that excess over this figure in the actual cost of maintaining the system should be paid by consumers.

"The way you're doing it now, it's a charge on the property owners," he told the commissioners. "With the scheme we are proposing, while the property owners would be paying the bulk of the charge, the rest would be spread out among the tenants.

He pointed out that, while the assesment had not doubled since 1929, the $50,000 the commission was asking was almost three times the $20,000 it received that year.

"Since I've been on the commission, we've never felt we were getting enough from the city for the service," PUC Chairman Fred Hills commented.

Ald. Miller said that a survey had shown that the amount the PUC was asking was "a lot higher than in other municipalities."

"We would like a pre-established rate," he declared, "We feel that water rates to consumers could stand a general increase."

Mr. Hills said that the union agreement would expire in June and that a request for an increase in wages could be expected.

"In other words, like you we're scraping the bottom of the barrel for money now," he said.

"I notice that the PUC showed a surplus last year," said the mayor.

"I've known years when we sent a cheque back to the city for a surplus in the waterworks," Mr. Hills said.

Fire Destroys

Paint on a house, located on a slight rise to the south of the plant, was scorched and for a brief period it was feared that other buildings in the village would catch fire.

The factory, 40 feet by 30 feet, was completely destroyed. It was owned by R. R. Waddell of Orono. Also destroyed was $4,000 in inventory, three presses for shaping laminated plywood, glue spreaders and all office records.

Loss of the building and contents is estimated at $20,000.

BOILER HOUSE SAVED

A boiler house, near the main plant, was saved and in it were some "hot presses" which can be used for moulding plywood seats and backs for stack chairs. This was one of the main lines of the firm and Mr. Samuels, with his salvaged equipment, hopes to resume production in a week or 10 days.

Meanwhile the 10 production employees will be out of work.

The alarm was turned in at 5:15 p.m. and the blaze reached its peak 40 minutes later. Orono firemen were on duty all night and the ruins are still smouldering.

four until the 10th end when the Northern Ontario curlers scored four. They added two in the 11th and one more in the 12th but couldn't lay in enough stones to make up the difference. Watson tossed the last two rocks down the sheet when they had no chance.

The Chatham rink made up of Pete Gilbert, his two sons and Jim Harrington, had little difficulty with the St. John's four. The Ontario crew led 5-1 at the end of four ends and 7-3 after eight. A two end in the ninth, and two threes in the 10th and 11th piled up an insurmountable score for Newfoundland to overcome.

In the battle between the two Atlantic provinces, the Bridgewater curlers piled up a 5-3 edge at the quarter mark and extended it to 8-4 by the end of the eighth end. New Brunswick's best ends were in the third and 11th when they scored two in both.

Quebec, with a 1-1 record, had a bye in the morning round.

dairy cattle last week, waiting for the border to be opened, and this export business is expected to return quickly to normal.

The U. S. embargo was ended when U. S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson signed a formal order in Washington. Canada had declared herself free of foot-and-mouth disease Aug. 19, 1952.

Canada reciprocated by lifting import restrictions protecting its own, smaller market, but maintained bans against American live hogs and raw pork because of vesicular exanthema, a disease which has hit some U. S. swine.

A few hours after those actions were taken, President Eisenhower issued a proclamation reimposing the tariff quotas negotiated at Geneva in 1947.

The Chats Falls power dam and buildings in which Hydro-Electric Power Commission installed 220,000 h.p. equipment, all seriously damaged and partly destroyed by fire Monday, was built by Morrow & Beatty, contractors, of Peterborough, 1929-1931. Estimate of the damage is in excess of $2,000,000.

Urge Support For Bill Barring Oils

Liberals May Oppose On Grounds Act Falls Short Of Need

TORONTO—(CP) —Use of edible oils as substitutes for dairy products came under fire in the Ontario Legislature Monday. C. G. MacOdrum, a lawyer who is Progressive Conservative member for the farming constituency of Leeds, urged support for a government measure which would give the cabinet power to ban by order-in-council manufacture and sale of all edible oil products except margarine.

The measure was introduced last week by Agriculture Minister Thomas as an amendment to the Edible Oils Act passed at the 1952 session of the legislature and never proclaimed as law. The 1952 measure required edible oil manufacturers to indicate clearly on labels and in advertising that their products were dairy substitutes.

There are indications that the Liberal opposition will oppose the Progressive Conservative government's amendment, but only on the grounds that it doesn't go far enough. The opposition, led by farmer Farquhar Oliver, is expected to demand that the ban on edible oils be set out specifically in the legislation itself and not left to the discretion of the cabinet.

Mr. MacOdrum, speaking in the throne speech debate, said any threat to the dairy industry is a threat to the welfare of the entire province.

He foresaw "great dust bowls" in the farming areas if the dairy industry is forced out of existence. He said healthy soil cannot exist without the fertilizing effect of herds of cattle.

Mr. MacOdrum said about 260,000 people in the province are actively engaged in or indirectly dependent on the dairy industry for their livelihood.

Jetliner Crashes

Pakistan's civil aviation authority ordered an inquiry into the crash and invited Canadian high commissioner Kenneth P. Kirkwood to send a representative.

The Comet, known as the Mark 1A model—a slightly-improved version of the world's first all jet passenger airliner—was scheduled to inaugurate a Sydney, Australia-to-Honolulu service for CPA April 28, sharply cutting the time of the company's service between Sydney

CPA planned to use the Comet on the 5,128-mile route from Sydney to Honolulu but with stops at Auckland, N. Z., the Fiji Islands and Canton Island. Propeller-driven airliners would continue to fly the Honolulu-Vancouver leg.

The airline had planned a gala christening for the plane in Honolulu March 14, with 50 members of the Vancouver Board of Trade attending. The Comet was to have been named the Empress of Hawaii.

CPA scheduled twice weekly Comet flights. It was estimated that a passenger taking off from Sydney at 3 p. m. would arrive in Vancouver at 9 p. m. the same day, allowing for the day gained in crossing the international dateline on the Vancouver-bound flight.

Council Starts Right In Paying Out Money For '53

City council arranged Monday night for monthly payments of $18,800.05 to Civic Hospital, amounting for current needs to $225,600.56 a year.

To Public Library Board, $6,000 a month for April, May and June; $3,500 July-November; $1,200 December. Total $48,700.

Board of Education, total $762,090 in monthly instalments of $30,000 increasing to $95,000, down to $30,000, back to $55,000 and ending in December on the low note of $17,090.

As to health services in the Public Schools, council adopted this recommendation from its whole committee: "That since the Board of Education has informed the council that the board intends to amalgamate its health services other than dental services, with those of the Board of Health, commencing on September 1, 1953, the sum of $10,355, which is estimated as being required to finance the health services in the schools, after September 1, 1953, be included in the budget of the local Board of Health for this year, bringing the total budget of the Board of Health to $54,000.

That points plainly to agreement between the board and the council on a subject that was once ardently advocated by James Dutton when he was a member of the council.

Here is authority to buy a Burroughs Sensimatic machine at $3,702.40, f.o.b. Peterborough, "this machine being required to do payroll and budgetary accounting work in the treasurer's department."

Council approved the report of the sanitation committee by Ald. Beggs that "we adopt the land fill method of disposal of refuse this year." That is going to be at least in part a departure from the city's policy of incineration. It will probably mean soil cover for only surplus part of the garbage collections.

Used car lot licences were granted to Kawartha Motor Sales, 52 Hunter St., Victor Homewood, 724 Lansdowne St., and Blaby and Seabrooke, 615½ Reid St.

Reports were received from City Engineer Chalmers and Fire Chief Leonard on the application of Burtol Cleaners per R. C. Galloway, for a building permit to alter an existing building as a dry cleaning plant at 420 Chambers St.

Included in the report of the board of works, read by Ald. P. J. Anglesey, chairman, was this: "That W. C. Neck, representative of Zone 18, Electrical Contractors Association of Ontario, be informed that this council is not convinced of the necessity of the Legislature of Ontario passing the bill for the licensing of electricians at this time, and therefore cannot support the application."

Permission was given to the Reunion Committee of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders for street parade and memorial services during their visit here June 6-7.

Appointed, Mayor Waddell and City Clerk Outram to arrange for acceptance of the offer of CHEX for broadcasting information about city government, problems, projects.

Council accepted the tender of Williamson Brothers at a net $1,588.14 for 1½-ton pickup truck at a gross price of $1,868.14, with a turn-in allowance of $280 on the truck bought in 1938.

Bought from J. K. Hughes a platform dump truck, gross price $3,139.75, less allowance of $339.75 for the turn-in dump truck, leaving a net of $2,800.

Deferred for the present Peterborough Industrial Exhibition request for a grant.

Authorized sanitation committee to negotiate for the necessary purchase of equipment required for land-fill method of disposal of garbage.

Overheated Pipes Cause $1,500 Fire

LINDSAY (ENS)—Fire caused damage of $1,500 to the frame house owned by John Smith in north end of town on Monday night. The blaze was caused by overheated stove pipes in the kitchen at the rear of the home. According to firemen the flames had a good start into the attic above the kitchen when they arrived. The regular force and nearly all the volunteer department were called to the scene. Mr. Smith, the father of four children, had just recovered from a severe injury to his back, sustained in a fall while doing some painting on a town building. His family and furniture were moved out during the fire, and neighbors accommodated the family for the night. Damage was mainly confined to the attic above the kitchen, but the rest of the living quarters were extensively damaged by water and smoke.

Optimists Hear Address On Wills

P. D. (Pat) Scollard, well known local lawyer, addressed the regular meeting of the Optimist Club on Monday evening at Club Aragon. Choosing as his subject, "Wills," Mr. Scollard explained some of the intricacies of the law in regard to the distribution of benefits under a will. He stated that "intent" was one of the most important factors taken into consideration should a will be disputed, and cited as an example the much publicized Millar "Stork erby" will, which in spite of its eccentric bequests, was upheld by the courts as being the intent of the deceased lawyer.

Mr. Scollard said it is advisable to have a properly drawn-up will as much grief can be caused by one which is not clear in content. He advised legal advice, although it is usually more profitable for a lawyer to represent a case where there is no will. He concluded with a few remarks and explanations about succession duties.

Doug. Blue introduced the speaker, and he was thanked by Don Irving. The chair was taken by President Gerry Royds.

Peacemaker Role Fatal For Man

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Police said Monday a quarrel, reported over hockey, resulted in the death late Saturday of Norman Cooper, 42-year-old Fort William painter.

They said Cooper, a passenger aboard a Canadian National Railways train from Atikokan to Fort William, attempted to quell a row between two of his friends when he was stabbed in the neck, just above the collarbone. Cooper staggered from the day coach to a baggage car where he died minutes later of internal bleeding. A nurse and the train crew administered first aid.

Two Fort William men, George Parke and Joseph Lenaghan, each 52, are being held on vagrancy charges in the case. Inspector R.L. Taylor of the Ontario provincial police said manslaughter charges are likely to be laid today.

Albert E. Tivey Given Veteran's Jewel

A veteran's jewel was presented Monday night to Albert E. Tivey, 581 Rogers St., by the Lansdowne Lodge of the Sons of England.

Mr. Tivey has been a member of the lodge since February 4, 1901.

The presentation was made at Mr. Tivey's home after the lodge's regular meeting. The brief ceremony was conducted by Worthy District Deputy Supreme President Brother George Benton, assisted by Brother Robert Starr, president of the Lansdowne lodge.

A social hour was spent and Mr. Tivey served refreshments.

James Edgar Wood

Funeral service for James Edgar Wood, a former resident of South Monaghan, who lived lately and died in Vancouver February 24, was held Monday at the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. E. W. Rowland of George St. United Church, officiated and burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were Frank Morrison, Ross, William and George Moncrief, Joseph Finnie and James Wood.

Durham Growers Continue 500-Bushel Club

BETHANY (ENS)—The annual meeting of the Durham county potato growers held in the Bethany town hall was well attended. Fenton Fallis acted as chairman. Mr E. A. Summers of Bowmanville, Durham county agricultural representative gave the financial report.

Dr. D. L. Patterson of Guelph, director Farm Economics Branch, discussed the financial problems of potato growing. In his work. Dr. Patterson had made an extensive study of potato cost accounts and gave the results of his findings.

R. E. Goodin of Toronto, representative of the Provincial Crops and Seeds Branch also discussed the problems of potato growing in an address titled "Ontario Quality Potatoes, Please."

It was decided to continue with the Durham County Five Hundred Bushel Club for another term. This club was originated in 1944 in an effort to promote a higher quality and yield of potatoes in Durham County and each year the winner is awarded a gold watch. Last year's winner was the chairman of the meeting, Fenton Fallis of RR 1 Pontypool, with a yield of 580 bushels to the acre, growing the Chippewa variety. Out of a possible 200 points his score was 180. Other winners of this award have been Alfred Johnston, Ernest Cavano, Henry Blakely, Delbert Olan, Melville Strong, Thomas Ward, Milton Weatherilt and Albert Olan.

Ald. Wm. Beggs To Head 2 Negotiating Committees

Ald. Wm. J. Beggs has accepted two negotiating committee chairmanships for the council and city. In his union affairs he has had considerable experience in such deliberations and conversations, so naturally he fell into a special job as alderman. And, he didn't dodge it, either

This clause tells that story briefly. It is from the committee of the whole report which was adopted Monday night: "That Ald. Beggs be chairman of the Union Agreement Negotiating Committee, and the committee as named by Ald. Beggs be as follows: For the firemen—Aldermen Beggs, Rehill, Farquharson, Mayor Waddell and City Clerk Outram—for the city's outdoor workers—Aldermen Beggs, Longhurst, Anglesey, Mayor Waddell and City Clerk Outram.

As to the Fire Fighters Union and their working agreement for 1953, they have had one session at the City Hall, but have heard nothing more since then.

Similarly, the Police Commission's requisition was accepted by the council last night at $187,000 "without salary adjustment." In other words, the Commission on the one hand and the council on the other have not concluded agreements with their respective groups.

One of the firemen remarked later: "You live in expectation that maybe it might be more than you expect; that's the way we went all last year, and the net result was $50 across the board by arbitration."

NAME COMMITTEE

Council adopted the policy, as recommended by the committee of the whole, "in respect to bargaining with its various unions, to appoint a small committee to do such bargaining and to make counter-proposals on behalf of the city to those proposals raised by the unions."

Ald. Beggs starts out with broad familiarity with the phraseology of union negotiation.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1953

Metropolitan Toronto

The Frost-Porter Bill which is now before the Ontario Legislature to solve some of the problems of Toronto and its suburbs seems well designed for its purpose, so far as we can judge. It is a compromise measure, under which the municipalities which are included in the metropolitan area will retain a great deal of their individuality, but which will lower their taxes by co-operative and integrated services for roads, water, justice, education, transportation and kindred matters. The door has not been shut on amalgamations with Toronto proper, and in the course of time there will undoubtedly be some large moves in this direction. As Mr. Frost has pointed out, the present problem has arisen chiefly because Toronto has not been keeping up with necessary annexations during the past thirty-five years.

* * *

The new metropolitan area will have a metropolitan Council and a metropolitan Board of Education, but each municipality will keep its own council and eleven of the existing school boards will remain in existence. Power will be allocated between the local and metropolitan authorities, which inevitably means that the former will lose some of their influence. However, they will gain in better services for lower taxes. The advantage of keeping the local authorities is that it saves the individual municipalities from being completely swallowed in a huge city, in which great numbers of people do not know and may never have seen their local representatives on important governing bodies. Some powers are best exercised locally; others benefit when they are applied in a more general and widespread fashion. The plan proposed under the Frost-Porter Bill is modelled upon the excellent and successful one which governs the London County Council and its metropolitan boroughs.

* * *

The rest of Ontario will be proud of this Toronto move, we think. It is a sign that our capital is now a very large city, and is meeting its problems in a big-city way.

No Sex In Salmon Arm?

Quite a fuss is being made in British Columbia by a Mr. J. A. Reid, who is member of the B.C. Legislature for Salmon Arm. Mr. Reid is a Social Crediter, and he does not like socialism; he thinks that the B.C. teachers are socialistic, because sex instruction is being given in B.C. schools, and as socialism and sex are both evil things, and should be kept from children, the whole thing is obviously a socialist plot. The children of B.C., he fears, are being turned into degenerates and hoodlums by this combination of socialism and sex.

There is no socialism in Salmon Arm, but our spies tell us that there is a small amount of undercover sex.

Our advice to Mr. Reid is, in the teenage phrase, Simmer Down. The sooner children know the facts of life, the better for them, and if they know these facts before adolescence, they may be saved a lot of trouble. Children become curious about sex very early in life, but their curiosity is limited. If their questions are answered as they ask them, their attitude toward sex will be a lot healthier than that of—well, for instance, that of Mr. Reid. And neither sex nor socialism will hurt the children of British Columbia if they have full and accurate information about both.

The Death of Clifford M. Sifton

It was with deep regret that we recorded the death at the age of 34 of Clifford M. Sifton, editor of the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix. He was a member of the third generation of a family which has an honoured name in the newspaper world of Canada, and we can ill spare him. The publication of newspapers is a business with its own difficulties, and every newspaper bears the mark of its publisher's personality upon it; as with other kinds of work, experience and family tradition, the wisdom and ideals of forebears who have worked in the same craft, are invaluable to a young man engaged in it. Such a heritage was that of Clifford Sifton the younger.

It is not a good thing for a country if too many of its newspapers are directed by men well advanced in life, and of strongly conservative outlook. Because he was young, vigorous and liberal in his opinions, Clifford M. Sifton was a bright star in Canadian journalism. For such a star to be eclipsed so soon is a cause of genuine sorrow among the newspaper fraternity.

Toward Private Enterprise in U.S.?

Influential elders of the United States Republican Party, some of them active legislators and others respected advisers, and one prominent Democrat, have long advocated and fought for return to private enterprise in certain directions. They want a number of Government corporations liquidated, as part of their program, but little headway had been made in gaining Federal support, despite the unusual power of the Republican-Southern Democrat coalition in the last Congress. Nevertheless, the leaders of this campaign, ex-President Herbert Hoover and Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, continued to criticize the Government corporations, and it now appears that the course they have long advocated may be followed by the present Administration and Congress.

The chief target has been the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the huge lending agency first established by Mr. Hoover in the depression of the early 'thirties. RFC, as most of our readers know, was much in the news in 1951, when the mink coat and other scandals were exposed, and subsequent investigation revealed that there was considerable doubt about the necessity for the agency's continued existence. This feeling apparently has grown and spread until there is reason to believe that a new bill to wind up the agency, introduced by Senator Byrd, will be approved.

Some political observers have expressed the opinion that this will be only part of a general program of liquidation. There are twenty-one additional Government corporations in the United States, and several have been named as desirable objects for the auction block. Among these are the Inland Waterways Corporation, which operates barge lines on four large rivers; the Export-Import Bank, which has about two and a half billion outstanding in loans; and the Federal National Mortgage Association, with another two billion in mortgages. Liquidation of all those mentioned, it is believed by some, would add several billion dollars to the Treasury and help to reduce Federal expenditures.

If this program of liquidation is carried out by the present U.S. Administration and Congress, it will reverse a trend which began under another Republican Administration and was fostered and expanded by successive Democratic Administrations. The reversal would be somewhat similar to that which the Churchill Government seeks to bring about in Great Britain, but the task of denationalization would probably be easier in the United States, since there is no major party there committed to renationalization, as there is in Britain.

F. D. McDowell Retires

Newspaper men meet all the public relations representatives of great industries, and of these none was held in warmer regard than Franklin D. McDowell, who has just retired after thirty years with the Canadian National Railways. He had been a newspaperman himself, and he knew what news was, and how to give it to the press. He is a man of genial personality, quiet and even-tempered; it was always a pleasure for reporters and publishers to meet him.

His retirement is illusory, we are sure, for he is an historian and a novelist, and he will now have time for the work which he has been doing in his few leisure hours. He is particularly learned in matters relating to the exploration of Eastern Canada, and in The Champlain Road he gave much of his knowledge to the world in the attractive form of an historical novel. We hope that his retirement will be long and happy, and we hope also that it will enable him to write more books.

Canada Trains Overseas Airmen

During the war Canada was the air training base of the British Commonwealth. When the war ended many of the fields, messes and schools were closed, but NATO, the Cold War and the Korean war have re-opened Canada as a great air training base, with a scope almost as extensive as the Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

In the Maritimes, in the Prairies, and in our cities, young airmen of many nations are receiving training. Last year, for instance, more than a thousand men of the Royal Air Force were trained in Canada as pilots and navigators. This training is financed by Canada under her North Atlantic Treaty Organization obligations. It is one of the many elements which make Canada's national defence bill heavy, but one which merits and has the unqualified approval of most taxpayers.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A student of marine life says that the octopus is a very timid creature. Yes, and in his fright he is apt to give you a terrible squeeze!

Saving is admittedly not what it used to be, but almost anybody can make a dollar stretch from where they are to Ottawa.

The Sheriff chased an Examiner reporter out of the Court House yesterday, because he was carrying a camera. In future we shall disguise him as a soft-drink vendor, thereby ensuring him of a royal welcome in the local justice-mill.

Human Flood From Eastern Germany

By O. M. GREEN

SINCE New Year's Day, in round figures, fifty thousand German refugees have fled from East to West Germany. In the last few days two thousand or more have been coming every day. On one occasion the police at the boundary, unable to cope with the multitude, turned back some five hundred people telling them to come next morning.

◇ ◇ ◇

A FURTHER sixty-thousand from Eastern Germany had arrived between early September and the end of last year. And already there was a mass of about two hundred thousand refugees in Western Germany, including many of other nationalities besides Germans.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS is the emergency as described recently by Dr. G. J. van Heuven Goedhart, United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, on his passage through London, which brought him hastening to Germany to devise, with the authorities in Berlin and Bonn, immediate relief measures.

◇ ◇ ◇

A MORE extended plan has been drawn up and sent to the Governments of the free countries. But Dr. Goedhart says that the minimum sum necessary to meet the worst needs— those of the old and invalid persons— is three million dollars (approximately £1,070,000) and at present he has barely a third of that. Meanwhile, reception centres at railway stations have been contrived (Norwegians and Swiss have helped greatly in this and Great Britain has given £100,00) and camps; blankets, clothing, medicines and toilet necessaries are distributed through the German Red Cross, the Evangeliches Hilfswerk (Evangelical relief organisation) and other organisations.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE refugees arrive with nothing but the clothes they stand in. Even to carry a small suitcase, said Dr. Goedhart, causes the Russians to stop them. And any money they bring is virtually worthless in Western Germany. In respect of the ultimate settlement of the refugees, Dr. Goedhart said that at one time the United Nations put rather too much emphasis on repatriation to their own countries. But it was realised that this might leave them as destitute as before, and that it was impossible to repatriate a man against his will as the Russians desired. Repatriation was accordingly dropped, unless a refugee desired it. Incidently, in caring for the refugees, no distinction is being made between Germans and others. For the like reason emigration is only used when there is employment awaiting the wanderers at the other end; or someone who will guarantee to look after them.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE grand design is (in the stately officialese) "to integrate the refugees in the economy of the country where they are," or, more simply, to enable them to settle down there permanently. Dr. Goedhart says that Western Germany now has plenty of employment to offer, but unfortunately few houses where the employment exists. Houses for the refugees are to be built as far as possible out of a grant given by the Ford Foundation. No doubt more money will come from foreign Governments and Western Germany has promised to double whatever is subscribed from abroad.

◇ ◇ ◇

APART from this it is intended to help refugees to settle in new, self-supporting estates— in fact, to create new towns. For a start, prefabricated houses manufactured in Norway and Sweden are to be put up— the first lot will be ready by the end of March —and vocational training, with sudent hostels, is to be undertaken entirely by four or five German Christian organisations.

◇ ◇ ◇

AT one time the West German Government wished to admit from the Russian zone only those who could show that their lives were in danger, "which" Dr. Goedhart said, "is very, very hard to prove". Latterly, however, it is clear from the numbers of refugees flowing in, that these restrictions have been relaxed. "It is not fear for their lives that brings the fugitives from Eastern Germany," said Dr. Goedhart, "but the longing to save their children from being corrupted by Communist teaching."

◇ ◇ ◇

TO those who are inclined to criticize the United Nations (as the League of Nations was criticised), the work it has done in saving tens of thousand of "displaced persons" from misery and death, not only in Europe, but in Pakistan, the Middle East, Hong Kong, Shanghai, even in Siam where a refugee agency has just been opened, and in giving them the hope of a new life, may well be commended. No other imaginable agency could have undertaken a work of such magnitude and with so much success.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE only shadow is that, by its constitution, the United Nations Refugee Organisation is due to be wound up at the end of this year. But Dr. Goedhart is not seriously worried about that. It is impossible that such fine work as it is doing should be broken off while still incomplete.

Two Views

(La Patrie, Montreal)

What should be particularly noted in the different attitudes of London and Washington is that the United Kingdom is a European power, geographically far away from the Orient and inclined before all else to seek a modus vivendi which will be tolerably acceptable. It is not the same thing for the United States, one whose coast of which is bathed in the waters of the Pacific and which considers that what happens in the Orient to be problems of direct concern. In spite of this difference of viewpoint, it is not to be expected that these two countries should show mutual ill-will. Washington is for daring, London rather inclined to prudence. That is all.

RAISING THE DRAWBRIDGE

Letters To The Editor

ARENA A BARN

Sir: Note with interest the letter written by Mr. Russelle in Wednesday night's paper. I agree with Mr. Russelle in all his statements with the exception of his allusion to our Civic Arena as a barn. No proprietors of any barn would have the nerve to charge such a high admission. When I was younger my parents made a donation to the Memorial Centre and also to the "the barn", thinking when their children got older there would be decent recreation centres for them. Years have passed and instead of recreation centres we have only "a barn."

"DISGUSTED."

A VILLAGE ARENA

Sir: We were grateful to Mr. Russelle for so well expressing the opinions of most of us hockey fans regarding our "barn."

Mainly because the team needed extra support this season, we have visited most of the other places in the grouping and the trips have been worth while, regardless of the fortunes of our team.

Peterborough is a prosperous town (or city) of nearly 40,000 but our arena is much the same as that of the little village of Stouffville. Hardly as good, in fact.

How about it, Mr. Jebson— some of our money too was hopefully contributed to the Memorial Centre. We are still hoping.

And, since we are hoping to get into print, we will take the opportunity to say thanks for trying to the Petes, especially the gallant few who worked so hard as in the dark days, with the odds against them from the start.

We are looking forward to watching you play in the new arena.

THREE HOCKEY FANS.

THE COMMUNITY CENTRE

Sir: May I express my sincere thanks to the Timber Structures of Canada Limited for offering their sketch of a Memorial Community Centre which I believe would very capably suit the needs of our city.

Their building and a breakdown of its layout for hockey games, concerts, speeches, basketball, lacrosse, etc., left this writer with the impression that the aforementioned firm has a most worthy building to offer our community.

In the year 1944 A.D., (or was it 1944 B. C.), I like hundreds of my fellow workers donated the sum of ten dollars as our little share in this Memorial to the men and women who had left our community and would soon be returning. Well, they have returned and some have left again and are now in Korea and still there is nothing to show them.

So how about it? When will the Building Committee and the City Council settle down and do an honest day's work on the erection of this Centre.

I would gladly donate five dollars to see the members of committees connected with the building of this Centre attend as many games at that so-called Civic Arena or better know as the Park Street Cold Storage Plant in the cold winter months as I have, the only hitch is I would probably have a great array of doctors bills to pay for having them treated for frost-bite or pnuemonia.

So come on, fellows, spring will soon be here, the ground will be soft enough to dig, lets give our veterans the Memorial they can be proud of, and also give local and outside talent a suitable place in which they can display their wares to a contented audience and not to a few half-frozen supporters.

A LOCAL FAN.

HAS FAITH IN DOWSER'S ROD

Sir: Whether Interested Reader is really "interested" or just out looking for an argument for arguments sake, I wouldn't know, but if for either I think you should not long suffer for an opponent amongst either farmers or professional well drillers, since among the latter I believe you will find that they almost invariably use the "rod" or else visit the employment office.

In a small village about one hour's drive from our city, a driller who did not consult the rod drilled one hundred feet for water unsuccessfully, a few months ago. Another driller who did use the rod, last week finished drilling and found lots of water at fourteen feet, just two doors south of the former searcher. This is just one of many cases I know.

Consider the corporation of Trenton, quite a few years ago which got water on top of the high hill at sixty some feet after trying or giving up drilling on the level of the town at several hundred feet.

You said:— "I say the gad will turn downward at any spot the holder wishes when the right degree of pressure is applied. "I say in reply — the operator who pushes the "rod" downward at any spot is a very close kin of the kind of men who push rubber cheques. I am not a well driller but I have many times had the "rod" break in my hands not from pushing it downward at a spot I chose but rather in strenuously trying to keep it from pointing downward, and I say that in the hands of one in whom it will work, it will work, and you cannot prevent it from pointing. I will agree that it is not quite one hundred per cent certain, but that, for anyone digging or drilling for water, he will be at least ninety times more likely to be successful, and if so, will get water at one hundredth the cost, he would employ if he did not use the rod.

Sure, water may be found without it if one is super-observant, and digs up a green spot in a parched area, water would quite likely be found.

A BELIEVER.

'Beguile Us With Errors'

(Montreal Gazette)

Daily newspapers are "the most perishable of commodities", Gerard Filion, editor of Le Devoir told the Chambre de Commerce de Montreal.

"Science has discovered various ways of conserving food, but not the daily newspaper. It is hardly born but it is old. Editions are like generations, the young driving the old to the grave."

He described the daily as the triumph of improvisation and the crowning achievement of speed.

Pressure on newspapers comes, he went on, not from advertisers but from readers who ask editors, as the Israelites asked Isaiah, "to beguile us with pleasant errors. "It is rarely the people criticize errors; it's only the truth that they ask us to retract."

Bible Message

(From the Atuhorized Version)

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. (Gen. 1: 26, 27.)

Demonstration

(Fort William Times-Journal)

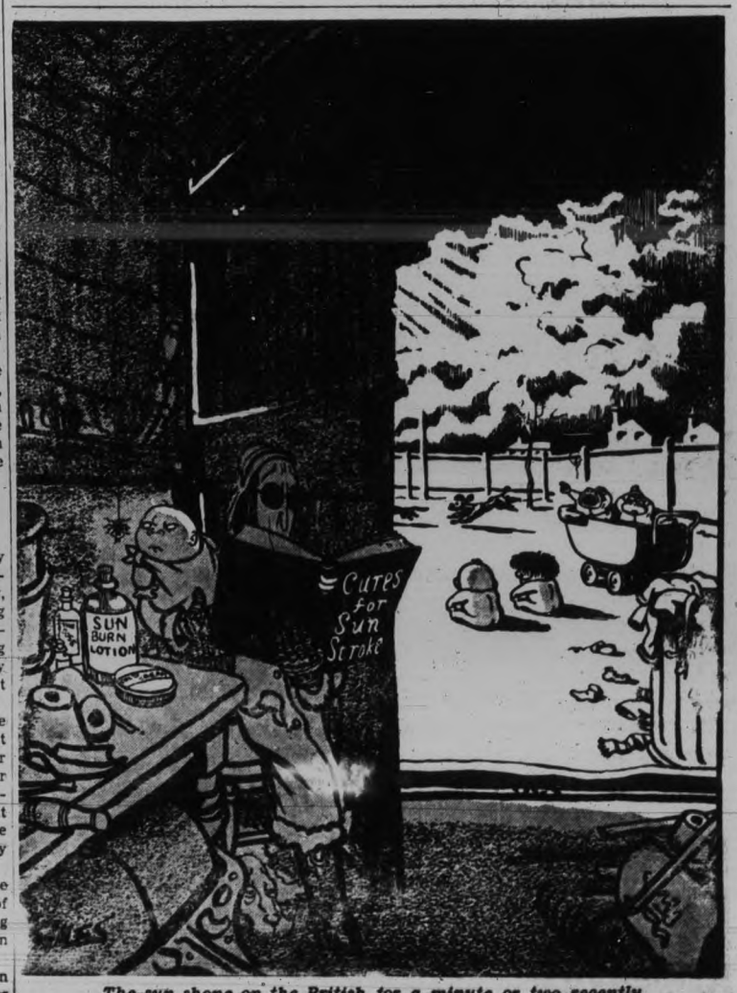
Johnny was being looked after by grandfather, while the boy's father was away.

Came the afternoon when there was a sound of breaking glass at the back of the house. The grandfather hurried out to investigate. He found a gaping hole in the basement window, and Johnny standing in the middle of the yard, wearing a guilty look.

Sternly, the grandfather asked:

"How did you do it, Johnny?"

The boy stood silent, uncomfortable.



"Come now!" the man insisted, his voice more commanding. "How did you do it?"

Whereupon, Johnny picked up the hammer he had thrown aside and give a demonstration—on another basement window.

Show Animals Bite 5 Persons

DETROIT (CP)—Well-bred dogs and cats, appearing in competition here Sunday, showed their true colors and left five persons bathing their wounds.

My-Beau Dilier, a silver Persian cat owned by Mrs. Alfred Smith of Buffalo commanded the attention of all spectators twice during a cat show in the auditorium of a downtown hotel.

First she was named "all breed best of show." Then she took a curtain call by escaping while posing for a picture and scratched and bit four persons before being captured.

Returned to her cage, she quickly resumed the role of the dignified champion.

Meanwhile, So Merry Boy, a Scottish terrier exhibited at the Detroit Kennel Club show by Princess Anna Toussoun of Washington was a virtual prisoner after being accused of biting a boy on the nose.

Health officers, fearing rabies, were all set to send So Merry Boy off to the pound for 10 days observation before allowing him to leave the city. However, the princess and police intervened and saved him from the fate of a common mutt. He will be allowed to stay at the State Fair Coliseum where the show was held.

Bob Hope Too Costly For CNE Grandstand

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition won't have comedian Bob Hope as star of the grandstand show this summer. It was announced Monday that his price is too high.

Officials, who also tried to get George Formby to headline the show, said the English comedian won't be available.

The 1953 exhibition will have a skating show, Holiday on Ice, as a new attraction.

Western Ont. Farmers Jailed For Rustling

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two Middlesex farmers were each sentenced Monday to nine months definite and six months indeterminate in reformatory for cattle theft.

Lester Henry Desjardins, 35, of Kirkton pleaded guilty and James Cameron Dorman, 32, of RR 2, Ailsa Craig, pleaded innocent but was convicted of theft of four head of cattle from the farm of Osbert McKenzie in McGillivray township Feb. 13.

BEEF ON MOVE — The lifting of the United States embargo on Canadian meat exports to that country has stepped up activities in stockyards and meat packing plants throughout the country. These cows and steers being unloaded at the CNR's stockyard in Montreal, top, will end up "on the hook," bottom, and shipped as dressed beef. During 1951 Canada exported 272,850 head of cattle and other livestock to the United States and 107,735,416 pounds of dressed meat. The U.S. embargo was imposed a year ago because of a serious outbreak of hoof-and-mouth disease in western Canada. It was lifted Monday.

Principal Of Kenner Collegiate Discusses Trends In Education

Trends In Education, was the topic of an address given by Dr. Eldon Ray, principal of Kenner Collegiate, at the Rotary luncheon, Monday.

The speaker pointed to the dictionary definition of the word educate—to give intellectual and moral training—as a challenge to anyone in the teaching profession and/or having anything to do with education.

"Education should not only sharpen the intellect, but should also seek to establish strength of character," Dr. Ray said. "We only have to remember what happened in Germany to realize the evils of developing intellect without developing moral character."

TWO MAIN CAMPS

The speaker divided writers on education into two main camps under the headings Progressives and Traditionalists.

The Progressives, he explained, believe the pupil should come first. He pointed to the United States as the leader in this type of educational thinking.

"There have been outstanding gains made by the Progressives in the past few years. We see the results in the more illustrious text books, the development of guidance programs and of art, music and student groups in the schools and the abolition of Secondary School entrance examinations.

The Traditionalists believe that the standard comes first—that it must be maintained at all costs. They also believe in a curriculum with no frills and want this curriculum followed so that every class will be at the same place at the same time.

"These people contend that the most unkind thing you can do is to persuade a dumb child that he is not dumb," Dr. Ray quipped.

Bringing this discussion nearer home, the speaker said that a middle course between these two extremes is being followed in Peterborough.

One of the major changes in the past few years has been the transferring of the 'big hurdle' from Grade 8 to Grade 10. In a few years the hurdle may have to be moved on to Grade 11 if standards are to be maintained.

Dr. Ray explained that one of the biggest problems in secondary schools is being confronted by a group of students coming into the school with various levels of instruction.

"If the students come from city schools the level is good, but the ones coming from the rural schools range from excellent to bad," he said.

Dr. Ray explained that a special program has been set up in Kenner Collegiate to try to remedy this situation. Grade 9 students are given achievement tests based on the work done in public schools. Extra instruction is provided for those who are working under handicaps.

The time table has also been arranged at this school so that students will have few teachers and as a result make possible closer relationship between teachers and students.

An activity period in school hours is another innovation that has been introduced at Kenner. This period, which takes place at the end of the school day, was adopted to give rural students an opportunity to take part in student groups ranging from drama to chess.

"Each student is encouraged to take part in a group because we feel that this is an excellent way for them to learn about relationships with others and how to get along with others."

Inter-form games are also stressed to develop the desirable characteristics of fair play and courtesy.

"There is a good school spirit at Kenner Collegiate," Dr. Ray concluded. "And the relationship between teachers and students generally is such that I am confident we will have groups of students leaving our school who will not merely be good students but also excellent citizens."

Dr. Ray was introduced by K. S. Wightman and thanked by Burritt Smetheram.

Gunnery Tests Source Of Blasts

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Headquarters of the 31st U.S. air division, Fort Snelling, Minn., said Monday in an announcement that air-to-air and air-to-ground gunnery tests are being conducted in the Upper Red Lake region of Minnesota.

It was reported recently that pocket-size atomic bombs were being exploded in the area but the report was denied by the U.S. government.

Monday's announcement said there are some explosions but none to exceed the power of the common TNT bomb used in the Second World War. It said no atomic tests are being conducted in the area.

Multi-Million Plant Plan For Sarnia Sewage

SARNIA (CP) — Details of a multi-million dollar plan for construction of a sewage disposal plant and expansion and extension of Sarnia's existing sewage system were placed before city council Monday night.

The 150-page report, compiled by James F. McClaren Associates, consulting engineers, was referred by council to city manager E. Royden Salter for exhaustive study.

TELLS RED PLANS — Pat Walsh, 37, of Quebec, has resigned from a number of Communist-front organizations and told of Kremlin-directed sabtotage orders in Canada in the event of war. Walsh, former secretary-treasurer of the independent Canadian Woodworkers Union, is the third labor official to resign from Communist-led unions in recent years. The others are J. A. (Pat) Sullivan and T. G. (Gerry) McManus, both connected with the Canadian Seamen's Union.

Natives Of Eire Heaviest Eaters

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) A new United Nations report says the Irish — those that live in the Republic of Ireland — are the world's heaviest eaters.

The UN statistical yearbook for 1952, published today, said that each Irishman averaged 3,500 calories a day in 1951.

India had the lowest per capita intake — 1,570 calories, with Burma next lowest at 1,990.

Countries whose inhabitants averaged over 3,000 calories daily were:

New Zealand 3,450, Australia 3,280, Switzerland 3,250, Canada 3,240, Sweden 3,240, Iceland 3,210, Finland 3,210, the United States 3,210 Argentina 3,190, Norway 3,180, Denmark 3,130, Britain 3,100, and The Netherlands 3,090.

Steel Executive Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Alexander MacKenzie, 65, division sales manager for General Steel Wares, died Monday. Born at Hyde Park, near London, Ont., Mr. MacKenzie lived in Kingston for a time before coming to Toronto in 1928. He was a past president of the Canadian Gas Association and of the Canadian Stove Manufacturers' Association.

Windsor Hospital Plans Patients' Histories

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Medical histories of each patient in East Windsor Hospital, an institution for the chronically ill, are being prepared, it was announced at a board meeting Monday night.

The board of directors authorized the survey two weeks ago when it was discovered complete case histories were not on file.

Present at the meeting was Rohno M. Beamish, superintendent of Sarnia General Hospital, who attended for the first time since she was named to represent the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario on the board.

The medical committee also announced that a doctor will be on duty at the hospital each day and two doctors will be on call during night hours.

These are among the first of a number of steps taken by the board to reorganize the privately-owned hospital which was subject of a months-long probe last summer.

Turn Down Fluorine

TORONTO (CP)—A proposal that Toronto's drinking water be fluoridated as a means of checking tooth decay was turned down Monday by city council. The board of health recommendation can be discussed again later in budget debate.

Skipped By G. McFadyen Bruce County Rink Wins Junior Farmers' Bonspiel

Winning three games with ease and running up a score of 27 plus seven, George McFayden's Bruce County rink won the Ontario Junior Farmers' bonspiel Monday at the Peterborough Curling Club. In winning the third annual 'spiel the Bruce County rink broke the hold that Victoria County junior farmers have held on the trophy for the past two years. It was won last yea by Jack McMullen's Victoria County rink.

Twenty-eight rinks, comprising 112 junior farmers, competed for the trophy, coming from as far as Walkerton in Bruce County in the west to Carlton County, actually six miles east of Ottawa, on the east.

In some cases the farmers had to be shown how to curl before they started their first games. This held true particularly in the Hastings and Northumberland rinks. But most of the junior farmers had considerable curling experience.

With the exception of Nora Todd, the winning rink was thoroughly experienced. McFadyen comes from a curling family and therefore has seen many bonspiels, some in schoolboy play. His other rink mates, Willis Dickson and Allan Kirkconnell, had both curled before.

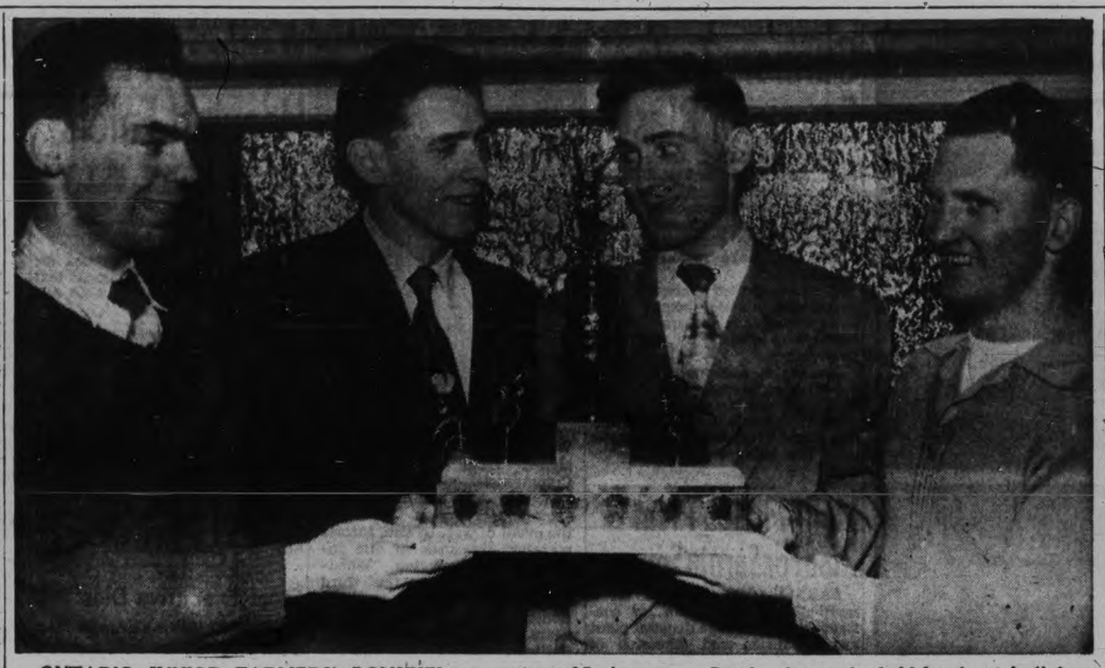
In order to have the bonspiel over in one day, the curlers started at 8 a.m. and the games were shortened to eight ends. The bonspiel trophy was won on the point system rather than elimination by games, 10 points being the minimum rather than the usual 12.

Peterborough county made its strongest bid for the trophy in its three-year history. Ev McFarlane's rink recorded three wins, but scored only 24 points. Other three-game winners included Cliff Lillico's Victoria rink with a score of 23 plus one and Faris Sinclair's Simcoe rink with a score of 22.

District agricultural representative Frank Patterson said he was "delighted to see that interest in curling was widespread and more developed among the junior farmers." He also pointed out that the calibre of curling was better this year.

After the curlers had finished the day's 24 ends, the Canada Packers treated them to supper in the club's third floor. There the donated food was prepared and tables set for the hungry curlers by the Ladies' Curling Club.

Later, the Ontario Trophy was presented to the McFadyen rink by Don Carruthers, Central Ontario representative on the junior farmers' executive, in the absence of president David Pelleterio. The rink was also presented with white curling sweaters by Dick Levick on behalf of the Quaker Oats Company.



Other presentations were: shirts to the second place McFarlane rink by Frank Patterson; sweaters to the third-place Lillico rink by Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative; shirts to the fourth-place Sinclair rink by John Edmison, county junior farmers' director; curling tams to the two game winners, R. McMillan's Ontario rinks by Ev McFarlane; ties to the one-game winners, Dalton Dorrell's Durham rink, by Carl Trebilco, of Victoria County.

ONTARIO JUNIOR FARMERS' BONSPIEL was won Monday by George McFadyen's Bruce County rink at the Peterborough Curling Club. It was the first time in the three-year bonspiel history that a Victoria county hasn't won the trophy. McFadyen's rink won three straight games, scoring 27 plus seven. Besides the trophy held by the rink (left to right, above), Allan Kirkconnell, George McFadyen, Willis Dickson and Norm Todd, they were presented with white curling sweaters by the Quaker Oats Company.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Orfuns To Elect New Executive, Maybe Coach

Peterborough Orfuns executive for 1953 will be appointed Wednesday night at the club's annual meeting. Among the other topics under discusion will be the possible appointment of a new coach, the past ORFU meeting in February and the annual banquet to be held later this month.

The club's successes last fall in the intermediate, winning the Eastern Canada and becoming Dominion finalists, has prompted the Orfuns to enlarge their executive. They believe football is gaining ground in Peterborough sports and so want to expand their executive accordingly.

The club was directed last year by Dr. Donald Aitken, with executive members Dr. Rog Chenoweth, Dr. Wilf Preston, Wally Farr, Bud LaBranche, Dr. Les Calvert, Gord Beatty, Stan McBride, and Denny Fitzgerald.

The executive members are expected to bring one or two other interested parties to the annual meeting and from them the new 1953 executive will be chosen.

The second topic, the selection of a coach, will not likely be acted upon, but will be discussed further. Since Tony Kotowski may play this year for some Big Four team or WIFU entry, the club is considering several new faces, such as former coach Frank Gnup, Wally Masters, or perhaps another American coach.

Plans for the annual banquet will also be discussed. More than 150 Orfuns and helpers will attend the dinner on March 12 at Club Aragon. A speaker may be chosen at Wednesday's meeting.

Aces, Shamrocks Open Round Two

OMHA executive member Al Watkins, of Peterborough, announces that the Peterborough bantam Shamrocks will enter their second "A" provincial playdown round tonight in Belleville, with the return game of the goals-to-count series here against the Quinte club at seven p.m. Thursday. The local midget Aces begin their second "A" round in Kingston tomorrow with the return tilt at 8.30 p.m. here on Thursday. Both teams erased Oshawa opponents in the first round.

Pat Doherty coaches the Shamrocks, and Joe Rochetta handles the Aces. Another local team, Bert Hill's juvenile Marines, lost out by one goal on the round to their Oshawa first-round rivals last week. Aces and Shamrocks, if they keep winning, will have possibly two or three more series before they reach Ontario semi-finals.

Mr. Watkins also stated that Havelock, after ousting Bowmanville, would play in Parry Sound tonight and at 8.30 p.m. Thursday in Havelock in their next juvenile "B" playdown round.

CAHA Would Woo Teams From Quebec

MIDLAND (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will seek to woo teams from its suspended Quebec branch with newspaper advertisements, secretary-manager George S. Dudley said Monday night.

Dudley said that the CAHA is publishing advertisements in six Quebec newspapers today inviting Quebec teams to leave the QAHA and come into the CAHA. The Quebec association was suspended Saturday for defying the parent body in the case of player Ron Attwell of the junior Montreal Canadiens.

"If any Quebec teams wish to break with Quebec and join us we feel they should have the opportunity," said Dudley. "All the leagues have stated they're sticking by their branch."

Marmora Falls To The C's In 6-5 TVL Tilt

MARMORA (ENS) —Campbellford took the Marmora TVL squad into camp on Monday evening on the latter's arena in the first of the play-off series by the narrow margin of 6-5 receiving one of their goals from the stick of a homester. At the end of the second, due to Marmora showing superiority in the first, Marmora led by 3-2. Campbellford set the pact in the third tieing the score twice and then getting a two-goal lead which Marmora lowered in the last minute of play.

Best scorers were Craig for Campbellford and Doran for Marmora, each obtaining a brace of goals. The game drew a crowd of 900, and excitement ran high throughout the encounter. The next game is in Campbellford on Wednesday evening.

Is baseball dying in Peterborough?

That question may be a little rough but it should be asked. For the past several years baseball from the minors to the seniors has been suffering a slow death. Now's the time to do something about it.

Here it is March and Peterborough is just beginning to THINK about ball. Meanwhile, other centres have been working on their systems since the playoffs last season.

The senior ball picture is not too clear. It probably will be later this week when the club holds an organization meeting. They'll be faced with many problems.

The first problem will be what league will they play in. With Oshawa in the Inter-County and Kingston attempting to enter an Eastern Ontario League, only Belleville and the Petes are left.

Even if Kingston doesn't enter the eastern league and enters the COBL again I don't think another three-team league would be popular again with baseball fans. It didn't work too well last year, ending up in a disheartening manner.

The Petes and Belleville could enter the lakeshore intermediate league, playing the schedule out there and then entering the Ontario senior playdowns. But that setup wouldn't have the same interest as a senior schedule and the clubs would likely only wind up further in the red.

The next problem is players. Many of the Petes are rumored to be thinking of retirement. These include Joe Lowry, Joe Stewart, Bill Edger and Fred Garvey, according to president Max Swanston. These are key players.

Just where would the senior players come from? It costs money to bring senior calibre players into the city. The junior players aren't ready for senior and won't be probably until next year.

DR. CLIFF McKEE AND SHOCKEY MEIN DISCUSS BASEBALL

It might be just as well to forget senior baseball this year and concentrate on a building program in the junior and minor organizations. If the players still are interested in ball, they could help out as coaches and managers. These are badly needed.

If the seniors do not operate, the juniors might plan an all-out campaign to bring an Ontario title here this year. That could start baseball living again.

Shockey Mein pointed out that juniors' plans depend largely upon what the seniors do. If there's no senior baseball, they figure there'll be a chance to revive junior baseball.

Last year with assistance from Mrs. Eric Frizzelle, Dr. Cliff McKee and Mein, the kids did well in the lakeshore league and fairly well in the Ontario playdowns.

This year they lose only two players, Bus Jensen and Mac McMartin. That leaves a good foundation to build on.

To last year's players which include Don Bigford, Jerry Frizzelle, Lawrence Foley, Phil Elmhirst, Rog Wilson and Ken Pammett to mention a few, the club plans to add imports again if the seniors drop out.

Already Mein has contacted players in Port Hope, Cobourg and Carelton Place. Some are highly rated as junior ballsters. If Oshawa doesn't operate a junior club, there'll be another field open for players and good ones too.

This year the juniors are again in the lakeshore league, playing against the intermediate clubs from Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Whitby, Colborne and Lindsay. They'll again jump into junior finals in the fall.

The juniors could be the basis for a strong senior club in a year or two if given the opportunity.

But the real work should be done in the minors, training the younger kids from eight years up. The minors have been floundering mostly because they need more coaches and managers, more financial help and fan support.

Now's the time to really get working on the whole system. It's not too late but it is later than you think.

Deny Milwaukee New Browns' Home

CHICAGO (AP — A report that Bill Veeck's St. Louis Browns might be moved to Milwaukee cropped up again Monday night and was hastily denied by persons concerned.

The Chicago Tribune's Edward Prell said the newspaper had learned from "authoritative sources" that "negotiations which would move the St. Louis Browns to Milwaukee for the 1953 season are nearing a decisive stage."

The story said that Milwaukee frequently has been mentioned as a possible major league franchise city. Veeck, Browns president, began his career as head of Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association.

Veeck himself said there was nothing to the report. He was en route to Miami to see Will Harridge, American League president, but said the visit "has nothing to do with any projected transfer of the ball club."

The Brown's general manager, Rudie Schaffer, said: "There is nothing to it. We're staying here

Keene Victors Over Point To Gain Finals

LAKEFIELD—(ENS) — In a tight EPL semi-final last night in Lakefield, Keene yanked out a 6-4 victory over Young's Point to eliminate the northerners and move into best-of-five finals in Keene tonight against Hiawatha, who rubbed out Apsley. The game in Lakefield was played on good ice before a hefty crowd, and was clean and close all the way, Keene drawing two of the three penalties.

Evans put the Point up with the only tally of the initial stanza. Keene flew in the second period to score four off the sticks of Locke, Kimball, Kempt and Burns, an assist going to Brown. Barcroft and McIsaacs scored to keep it close, an assist each going to D. Heard, J. Northey and R. Freeburn. Despite a goal by J. Northey from Darling in the third, Keene clinched it with tallies by Whalen and Locke, as Colby assisted on one. Some fine goaltending was seen on both sides. Teams:

Keene: Goal, Mackness; defence, Houle, Kimball; centre, Whalen; wings, Colby, Kempt; alternates, Locke, Bethune, McCarthy, MacFarlane, Burns, Brown, Steenburgh.

Young's Point: Goal, Spencely; defence, Evans, Shearer; centre, D. Heard; wings, McIsaacs, Russelle; alternates, Darling, J. Northey, D. Northey, Barcroft, P. Heard, R. Freeburn, Tedford, C. Freeburn.

Aces Win, Lose In Floor Hockey

Aces whipped Friday Night Club 10-3 but lost a close 6-5 to Trojans in the YMCA floor hockey league doubleheader Monday night.

On goals by R. Seabrooke and L. Longo the Aces took an early 4-0 first period lead and after that the decision was never in doubt. M. Mongraw, F. Pierceson and Seabrooke added four more for the Aces in the second while D. Hughes scored once for the clubbers. The teams battled on even terms 2-all in the third.

Longo and Seabrooke each performed the hat trick for the Aces.

The other game between the Aces and Trojans was much closer as the 6-5 final score indicates. The Trojans went up 2-1 in the first period on goals by A. Sheenan and kept ahead 6-4 in the second when paced by Red Hill with two goals. Although the Aces held the Trojans scoreless in the third, they couldn't overcome the two-goal deficit.

P. Belsy of the Aces and A. Sheenan of the Trojans led the scoring with three goals each.

Petes Play Lakefield

The Petes will play an exhibition game with Lakefield in the Lakefield arena Wednesday night at 8.30 p.m. The Lakefield TVL team will be strengthened by the addition of other former players such as Keith Montgomery, Doug Hunter, Dean Wasson and others. The Petes will meet at the arena before leaving.

High Schools Propose Ban Summer Football Practice At COSSA Annual Meeting

St. Peter's High and PCVS football teams may not be holding their summer practices this year. A group of lakeshore district high schools proposed Saturday at the annual COSSA meeting that football practices prior to school opening in September should be banned. Although no action was taken by the COSSA district, the same proposal will be discussed at the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Association annual Meeting at Easter.

PCVS Coach Bev Goulding said today that he expects some ruling will be made at the Ontario meeting and thinks a September 1 date will be set for opening practices.

He pointed out that for the past four or five years the Garnet and Grey seniors have started workouts on the last Monday in August. The St. Peter's High Saints have opened practices about the same time.

These extra days are used by both schools to condition their players (only about 50 per cent attend), to issue them equipment and to teach the new players game fundamentals, not already taught thoroughly in junior teams.

At the same time, the OFSAA will likely re-grade the high schools according to school enrolment. This year the high schools are divided into A section for large schools and B section for small.

The new grading will place all schools over 600 in "A" bracket, all schools between 200-600 in "B" bracket, and under 200 in a new "C" bracket.

This new system will not affect schools in the lakeshore district for Oshawa Central, Oshawa CVI, Lindsay and Peterborough will be "A". Kenner, St. Peter's and Port Hope will be in "B". Cobourg and Pickering are doubtful.

But it will help the smaller schools such as Lakefield and Norwood. Their teams have dropped out in the past when they couldn't compete with the large collegiates. Their teams may be reorganized now to play schools their own size.

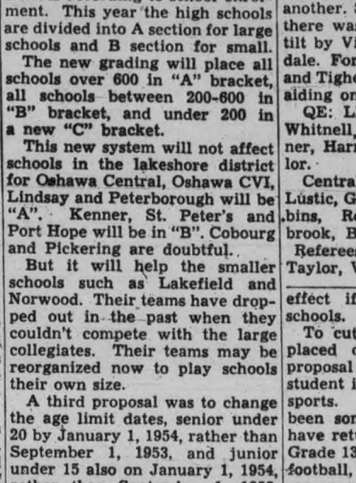
A third proposal was to change the age limit dates, senior under 20 by January 1, 1954, rather than September 1, 1953, and junior under 15 also on January 1, 1954, rather than September 1, 1953. These changes will have little effect if any on Peterborough schools.

To cut down on the emphasis placed on winning, the fourth proposal prohibits a three-year student in Grade 13 from playing sports. In the past there have been some cases where students have returned for a third year in Grade 13 to play sports, especially football, then quit after the season ended. Again, this will not affect Peterborough teams.

Central Wins Playoff Over QE Boys

Central defeated Queen Elizabeth 6-2 Monday at Civic Arena to open the senior public school hockey semi-finals. Central finished first in the group with QE boys third. The second and fourth teams, Confederation and Prince of Wales, play Wednesday, and Central meets the winner for the school championship.

Play Monday was clean and fast, being close till the halfway mark. Tighe, R. Whitnell and Welsh in goal looked best for the north-enders; while Lustic, Robbins and Simpson shone among others for the winners.



Lustic and Robbins each had two goals and an assist, as Armstrong got a marker and aided on another. Simpson scored one, and there was an assist apiece in the tilt by Vilneff, Tetlock and Dinsdale. For the losers, Lmyburner and Tighe scored, with R. Whitnell aiding on one. Teams:

QE: Lloyd, Tighe, Lyons, R. Whitnell, Hicks, Welsh, Lymburner, Harrison, W. Whitnell, Taylor.

Central: Dinsdale, Armstrong, Lustic, Gray, Tetlock, Biggs, Robbins, Robinson, McInroy, Aulbrook, Barclay, Sorrie, Simpson.

Referees: E. Drury and J. Weir. Taylor, Vilneff, Knox.

Primo Carnera, Former Champion To Appear Wednesday At Brock

PRIMO CARNERA

It should be the meeting of a pair of mountains when the former heavyweight boxing king Primo Carnera, tackles Sky-Hi Lee in the main event of Wednesday's wrestling show at the Brock Arena.

Carnera, the Italian giant, stands six-feet-nine and weighs 268 pounds. Lee, the Ozark giant, is equally as tall and weighs an amazing 298 pounds.

A topnotch supporting card has been lined up, with Steve 'Mr. America' Stanlee meeting Larry Moquin of Montreal in the semi-final. This will be a fast, action-packed go.

A pair of newcomers, Hardy Kruskamp and Firpo Szbysko are in the first match.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

There are those sports followers who believe that, in matters of sport, the Canadian colleges have withdrawn too much within themselves, by limiting, mainly, their athletic competition to inter-college play. Some critics even go so far as to intimate that there should be, in Canadian college football, a "bowl" game between east and west, played annually.

This writer is not in agreement with such theories. We believe Canadian colleges have struck a very sound perspective in their survey of sports, by making study the paramount thing. We think it will be a sorry day indeed when the only standard we have for collegiate superiority is the ability to win at football, hockey, or other games. Sports can be justified as sport in our educational system only when played primarily for the student body and by the boys who are enrolled through normal channels. These boys should desire to play as a normal phase of their collegiate life.

We don't believe the day will ever come in Canada when, even in ratio, collegiate sport will reach the highly commercialized status achieved by the American football teams in the myriad "bowl" games played on New Year's Day. There were at least 12 of these in the United States, ranging from the Peanut Bowl in Georgia to the gigantic Rose Bowl show in Pasadena. Over two million dollars was netted, and turned over to the competing schools and Conferences and associated institutions that shared in the cuts.

That's all very nice. But if you happen to reflect on the situation, and get beneath the money, the roses, and the glamour, and the printer's ink so profusely spilled, it may suddenly dawn on you that these things have no educational value, that it may be an insult to the educational process to turn college boys into a trained act to be trotted out before the clamoring throng. But the golden ladle is there and the appeal is apparently hard to resist.

So credit is due to those American schools which rejected this last act of mass entertainment and told their players to go back to their studies. This year's bowl extravaganzas were bigger and louder than ever, but each year the available cast grows more limited, as one smaller school after another, and some of the larger schools, too, abandon an enterprise which places the emphasis on physical power.

So we should be a little proud of the fact that Canadian colleges permit no such commercialization of the students. Studies are the paramount thing, sport a pleasant side-line, relegated to its proper place.

Lindsay's Four-Goal Spree Leads Red Wings To 10-2 Win Over Boston

MONTREAL—(CP)—The awful thing that happened to Boston Bruins Monday night when Ted Lindsay's four-goal outburst led Detroit Red Wings to a 10-2 runaway victory may be just the fillip needed for a couple of Red Wing record-seekers. Lindsay's achievement was sensational. Little Wally Hergesheimer of New York Rangers is the only other player to score four goals in one National Hockey League game this season. But in the scoring deluge, Gordie Howe also helped himself to one goal and three assists. This lifted his point-total to 85-one short of the NHL record for a season. Howe holds that himself, 86 points in each of the last two campaigns.

With his goal-count now at 43, he is seven short of the record 50 set by Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens in the 50-game schedule of 1944-45. Howe still has 10 games in the present 70-game schedule in which to equal or break Richard's record.

Defenceman Red Kelly of the Wings scored his 17th goal Monday night and now is only two away from a record for goals by a defenceman that has stood for 31 seasons. Harry Cameron of the old Toronto St. Pats scofed 19 goals in the 1921-22 season when the schedule was only 24 games.

FIFTH TITLE?

The Red Wings, far in front in the team standings with 77 points, are within sight of another record—the fifth straight NHL title for any team.

In the individual scoring race, Howe is far in front of the pack. Lindsay's four goals and one assist Monday night lifted his point-total to 65—still 20 behind Howe.

Richard picked up two assists in three games and displaced Hergesheimer for third place with 54 points to Hergie's 53.

TERRY TOPS

Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk, with an even 2.00 goals-against average, was still top netminder.

Another accomplishment of Lindsay Monday night was his acquisition of one minor penalty, breaking the tie of 102 minutes for the season he had shared with fern Flaman of Toronto.

Hildebrand 4th In AHL Scoring

NEW YORK (CP)—The American Hockey League seemed destined to have its first United States-born scoring leader this season. Both the leader and the runner-up after last week's games were born south of the Canadian border.

Guyle Fielder, St. Louis' rookie from Potlach, Idaho, led with 70 points and close behind him with 69 points was Cleveland's Eddie Olson of Hancock, Mich.

Kelly Burnett of Syracuse was third in scoring with 67 points, followed by Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland with 65.

Hildebrand was goal-scoring leader with 33 and Fielder was leading playmaker with 49 assists.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh retained his goaltender supremacy with an average of 2.33 on 128 goals permitted in 55 games. Mayer, Gordie Bell of Syracuse and Johnny Bower of Cleveland each had five shut-outs.

Last Night's Stars

Ted Lindsay, who scored four goals and helped get another as Detroit Red Wings walloped Boston Bruins 10 in the only scheduled National Hockey League game Monday night.

Boucher Claims Red Kelly Hockey's Greatest Player

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers says hockey's greatest player is not Gordie Howe of Detroit's Red Wings—almost everybody's choice—but Howe's teammate, defenceman Leonard (Red) Kelly.

Boucher believes Kelly is a shade more valuable to the champion Red Wings than Howe despite assertions in other hockey quarters that Gordie ranks with the best of all time.

"It would surprise me," Boucher said, "if Kelly wasn't a unanimous selection as an all-star defenceman for the third straight year. That's a pretty fair recommendation. But more than that, you've got to go all the way back to Eddie Shore's prime to find one in his class. In other words, about 20 years ago.

"Shore was more spectacular than Kelly because of the way he skated. He was a weaver—something like a broken field runner in football—and he was a showman. But I doubt if he was any more effective."

Boucher said he would pick Kelly over Howe if he were starting to build a hockey team and had his choice of any player in the National Hockey League.

"Remember," he said, "this is the fifth year in a row that the Red Wings figure to take the pennant, and in that space of time they traded away two outstanding defencemen in Bill Quackenbush to Boston and Leo Reise to us. Yet as long as they've got Kelly they don't seem to be weakening their defence.

This is the 25-year-old Kelly's sixth season with the Red Wings. He was passed up by Toronto Maple Leafs because they couldn't decide when he played for the St. Mike's junior amateurs of the Ontario Hockey Association whether he was a forward or defenceman. Carson Cooper, then Detroit's chief scout, grabbed him up.

"The red head," says Boucher, "attacks like a great forward, and defends like an even greater defenceman. There's nobody like him for taking the pressure off his own team and in a few seconds applying it to the other guys."

Noted Preacher To Pole Vault In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver sports officials are leaving no sod unturned—literally — in preparations for an early summer appearance of Rev. Bob Richards, the world's best active pole-vaulter.

American champion Richards has accepted an invitation to appear at the fifth annual Vancouver relays May 2 at the University Stadium.

The sponsoring Vancouver Olympic Club wrote Richards asking what length and type of runway he will need so that a new runway may be built specially for him.

The letter said:

"To schedule our events properly we would like to know your starting height and the length of time you are normally in competition in the pole-vault.

"We shall be improving our facilities. . . and would like your advice on the length and type of runway you prefer. At one of our pits we have an all-grass runway and at the other a cinder runway."

The club also asked if Richards would like to compete in any other events in their track and field program.

Richards will leave Vancouver the night of the event to preach at a service in Los Angeles the following morning.

Convicted Of Manslaughter In Kitchener Girl's Slaying

KITCHENER (CP) — Kenneth Wiles, 21-year-old carpenter, was convicted Monday night of manslaughter in the slaying of Marie Huras, his 17-year-old sweetheart, fatally shot in his auto Jan. 27. He will be sentenced Friday.

An Ontario Supreme Court jury deliberated only 40 minutes before returning its verdict. It reduced to manslaughter, for which the maximum sentence is life imprisonment, the charge of murder on which he was tried.

Wiles listened intently but showed no emotion when William Melville, foreman, announced the jury's findings. Some of the key witnesses in the trial were missing when the jury returned. They and others who had followed the course of the hearing which began a week ago had gone out to eat after Mr. Justice Wishart Spence delivered his 2½-hour charge to the jury, not expecting so quick a verdict.

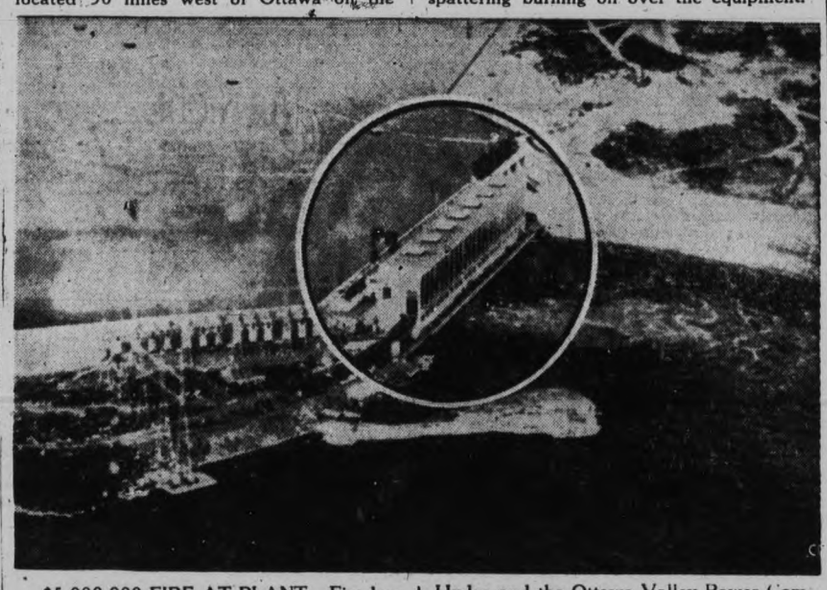
COURT FILLED

However, the courtroom was filled at the time, with many teen-aged girls among the spectators.

In his charge, Mr. Justice Spence emphasized that the "benefit of any reasonable doubt strongly rests with the accused." He defined manslaughter as "blameworthy slaying without the element of intent to kill."

The Crown contended that Wiles, who can neither read nor write, shot the girl with a sawed-off .22-calibre rifle because she broke off their engagement. Crown Attorney Harold Daufman in his address to the jury said: "Please don't have any sympathy for Wiles. But remember this active fun-loving 17-year-old girl who had her life snuffed out."

The defence contended the shooting was accidental. Defence counsel A. W. Boos told the jury: "In one brief, horrible moment, an accident caused Ken to be separated from his loved one and prostrated with grief. If there is any doubt in your mind as to how that gun discharged then you must give the accused the benefit of the doubt."



Student Gets Damages

TORONTO (CP)—A 16-year-old student who lost part of two fingers while operating a lathe at the Jarvis School for boys has been awarded $1,000 damages by the Toronto board of education.

Edward Charles Birch was operating the lathe during a woodwork class in January 1952 when his left hand was caught in the moving parts. The board of education did not admit liability but awarded the damages to Birch.

HYDRO PLANT FIRE — Smoke pours from the huge $20,000,000 Chats Falls plant near Ottawa as fire rages out of control. Sections of the concrete walls and roof collapsed. The plant, housing millions of dollars worth of turbines and dynamos, located 30 miles west of Ottawa on the Ottawa River, is owned jointly by the Ontario Hydro and the Ottawa Valley Power Company. It supplies power for Toronto and other southern Ontario centres. The blaze broke out following an explosion in an oil circuit-breaker or transformer. A spark is believed to have ignited oil in the breaker, spattering burning oil over the equipment.

$5,000,000 FIRE AT PLANT—Fire has swept the huge Chats Falls powerhouse (circled) near Ottawa with unofficial estimates of the damage ranging as high as $5,000,000. This airview shows the $20,000,000 plant, owned jointly by the Ontario Hydro and the Ottawa Valley Power Company, and located on the Ottawa River, 30 miles west of Ottawa. Four generating units of the plant were in ruins, cutting off the 220,000 horsepower output of the plant which supplies Toronto and other southern Ontario centres.

Krupp Empire Split Up By Agreement

BONN, Germany (AP) — Western Allies announced Monday they have reached agreement with former arms magnate Alfried Krupp to break up the vast Krupp industrial empire.

The agreement will be signed here Wednesday.

Announcement came after a meeting of economic experts of British, U. S. and French high commissions with Krupp's two American lawyers.

Details were not immediately known.

Authoritative informants, however, said the plan will force Krupp to sell the vast coal, iron and steel holdings which have been the backbone of the Krupp family fortune and the foundation of German armaments for three wars in the last century.

Krupp was reported to have given the Allies a written pledge that he never again will seek to regain a controlling interest in the industries.

The informants said that under the settlement Krupp will regain control over his other properties, which include shipyards, a steel processing plant, locomotive works and other extensive holdings. These have been managed by Allied trustees, along with his steel and coal interests, since the war.

No Approval Implied In Spain Appointment

OTTAWA (CP)—Dana Wilgress said Monday Canada's decision to elevate her representation in Spain has nothing to do with western defence and certainly doesn't imply approval of the Franco government.

The undersecretary of state for external affairs testified before the Commons committee on external affairs that the decision to send an ambassador to Madrid was mainly based on a desire "to round out our representation in Western Europe."

He said no consideration is being given to sending an envoy to the Vatican.

Court Halts Hydro Line

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan of the Ontario Supreme Court granted an injunction Monday to the Moore Park Ratepayers Association restraining the Ontario hydro commission from erecting tower lines through the Moore Park section in northern Toronto. The injunction was issued to Dr. E. B. James, president of the association. The hydro had planned to erect the wires through the residential section.

Sentence Suspended

STRATFORD (CP)—Two years' suspended sentence was imposed Monday on Theodore Logogianes, also known as Ted Logan, convicted of a charge of theft of $259 from his employer, Peter Lambros, proprietor of a restaurant. Magistrate A. F. Cook ordered the accused man to make restitution of the full amount and to pay court costs by April 2.

Federal MP Raps Duplessis Claim

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L—Portneuf) said Monday Premier Duplessis of Quebec is making a political football of provincial autonomy.

Speaking in French during the budget debate, Dr. Gauthier said he believes as much as anyone that Quebec should maintain its autonomy. However, Mr. Duplessis did not practice what he preached.

The recent Election Act passed by the Quebec legislature represented a serious blow to the autonomy of voters in Quebec. Dr. Gauthier did not elaborate.

He referred to the fact that the Quebec government is the only one that has not signed a taxation agreement with the federal government. Lack of an agreement was costing the province money.

It had been said by Union Nationale supporters in Quebec that Premier Frost of Ontario had been taken by the throat and forced by Ottawa to sign an agreement last fall.

But, said Dr. Gauthier, Premier Frost himself had stated that in his agreement he had not given up any of Ontario's constitutional rights.

Campney's Reply Fails To Satisfy

OTTAWA (CP)—Ralph Campney, associate defence minister, said Monday the defence department went into the lumber business at Camp Petawawa for a couple of winters because of rising prices but got out last year.

He replied orally to two questions on the Commons order paper about the activities of a government-owned sawmill and the disposal of its products.

His replies didn't satisfy questioners Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East) and Percy Wright (CCF—Melfort) but the speaker ruled that the questions must be considered answered since the minister said he had replied fully to them.

Mr. Campney said the department went into the lumber business in the winter of 1950-51 because it was considered more economical to do that than to buy lumber in the rising market. The logs were cut up the next summer and stockpiled.

Next winter another 500,000 board feet were cut but it was decided in June, 1952, to declare the logs surplus and put the sawmill in storage.

Vote Festival Grant

STRATFORD (CP) — A $5,000 grant to the Stratford Shakespearean festival was approved Monday night by city council over the protest of Ald. Bert Davies that the amount of the grant should be left until estimates are struck. At the previous council meeting council turned thumbs down on a grant but several councillors were absent.

Ban Dairy Substitutes

REGINA (CP) — The Regina Leader-Post said Monday that the provincial government is considering banning the sale in Saskatchewan of dairy substitutes such as vegetable oil compounds for milk, cream and ice cream. It said legislation likely will be introduced at the current session of the legislature. Margarine will not be affected.

Top Red Cross Goal

TORONTO (CP)—The 840 residents of Athens, Ont., established a record in answering the call for the Canadian Red Cross campaign for funds. The branch passed its objective just three hours after the campaign opened Monday. The group, known as the Rear of Yonge and Escott branch in the community 20 miles northwest of Brockville, had an objective of $450.

Crowd Of 60,000 In Tears As 2 Bullfighters Retire

MEXICO CITY. — Sixty thousand fans cheered themselves hoarse Sunday as Carlos Arruza, the greatest living bullfighter, was awarded the two ears of the bull and the medal to the Virgin of Guadalupe in one of the most unusual and dramatic competitions in quite some time in Mexico.

* * * *

This was a special contest in which all proceds were turned over to help with the building of the plaza at the Basilica of Guadalupe. Ordinarily, six bulls are killed by three matadores on a Sunday. This time there were eight bulls and eight matadores, the matadores donating their services.

* * * *

A bull fight is to Mexicans what a rugby game or an NHL game is to Canadians. They are enthusiastic and vocal fans. Bull fights are the one thing that start on time in this country. The arena here is the largest in the world and will hold 60,000 people. This time there was a full house and it was a colorful sight.

* * * *

Built in a funnel shape, the arena is wide at the top and tapers down. The best seats are on the shady side and the lower classes frequent the sunny side. The people, as well as the judge, have a say in the decisions. If they feel the ears and the tail of the bull should be awarded for especially good work, they stand and wave white handkerchiefs. This is what happened in the case of Arruza.

* * * *

There was drama and pathos enacted that afternoon and spectators and matadores alike had tears in their eyes. Manolo Dos Santos, the Portuguese bullfighter quite popular in Mexico, fought his last fight. He is retiring from the bull ring because he has promised his father never to fight again.

* * * *

FAREWELL TO FIGHTER

As he entered the bull ring in his colorful costume, the band high in the stands broke into "Las Golondrinas" —farewell song played for a retiring fighter. The huge crowd jumped to its feet and cheered wildly.

* * * *

Dos Santos put up a good fight and killed his bull. At the insistence of the crowd he was awarded one of the bull's ears. Again to the strains of "The Swallows" he walked slowly around the great ring twice as the crowd continued to cheer. As he passed, charro hats were tossed into the ring, the symbol of Mexico and a very great honor. Dos Santos kept putting on the hats as he made the circle. Many other things including a fur coat were tossed into the ring to show their esteem.

* * * *

All his staff came out and embraced him in farewell and as he stumbled out of the ring weeping, he was assisted back by Arruza, who also announced his retirement to a tense crowd. He will fight only once more and the proceeds will be given to his staff."

* * * *

Sitting next to us at the bullfight was Dr. Cruz y Celiz of Puebla. Only three weeks ago he operated on Dos Santos when he was badly gored by a bull in a Puebla fight. The doctor said that Dos Santos was one of the bravest men he had ever known. He did not want any pity for his sufferings and until he went under the ether there was not even a moan from him.

* * * *

Today the topic of conversation in stores, on buses and in hotels was all about Arruza's retirement. The biggest headlines in the papers featured the same topic. While having lunch at the Ritz Hotel, the bullfighters' hangout, I saw Dos Santos and he certainly fitted the Puebla doctor's description.

* * * *

BEAUTIFUL SENORITAS

From the opening of the fight everything was exciting. Because it was a special competition there was an extra parade of 19 cars around the ring. These were filled with beautiful senoritas in wonderful old Spanish costumes that made a brilliant splash of color. The girls circled the ring several times throwing flowers.

* * * *

Rigid protocol prevails in the ring. First the judge's permission is asked to proceed with the fight. Then a parade follows. The matadores walk abreast, each followed by his own cuadrilla of 2 or 3 helpers and two mounted picadores. Last come the ring attendants. After this parade the bull is admitted.

* * * *

Every matador and every bull was different, and the action is like ballet. The intricate foot-work was magnificent. There was nothing gory in the killing of the bull and I could see nothing that visitors could object to. Mexicans have adopted the name "Tourists Bull" for the second bull on any program because so many tourists get up and leave after the first fight. However, they were tougher customers this time because no one left the arena. This pleased spectators considerably.

* * * *

Each matador used a different style in fighting. Juan Canedo, a Mexican, fought on horseback, Portuguese style. He used three beautiful horses and their training was magnificent. No matter how the bull charged, the horse refused to panic. During the fight, Canedo injured his hand but he continued and killed his bull.

HIS LAST FIGHT—Carlos Arruza, the greatest living bullfighter, is shown in his last professional fight at which he was awarded the medal to the Virgin of Guadalupe and the ears of the bull for his thrilling performance. Sixty thousand people cheered themselves hoarse after he made seven passes in a circle around the bull.

False Arrest Suit Settled Out Of Court

A civil action brought against Detective Douglas J. Farthing for false arrest has been settled out of court. This was announced by counsel during the preliminaries when Supreme Court began Monday afternoon in the county courthouse.

According to the minutes of settlement the plaintiff, Glen R. Tate, 25-year-old salesman, who was arrested on January 29, 1952, and charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit theft, receives $500 for legal costs incurred.

The parties agreed that Tate's name was cleared of any imputation of wrongdoing and Detective Farthing was credited with acting conscientiously in doing his duty as a police officer.

Tate, a former insurance agent, was arrested at his Dublin Street home by Detective Farthing, then a constable on the city police force, and charged with attempted breaking and entering with intent to commit theft at Doxsee's grocery store, George and Dublin Streets.

He was acquitted in magistrate's court by Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC.

Last April a writ was issued by John C. Currelly, counsel for Tate, suing Detective Farthing for false arrest. The sum of $10,000 was specified in the writ "for annoyance, disgrace and loss of time and earnings and credit and reputation as a result of being falsely arrested and imprisoned without proper cause by defendant."

The Peterborough Police Commission retained Arthur A. Macdonald, of Toronto, as counsel for Detective Farthing.

Mr. Macdonald said both parties were pleased that an amicable settlement had been reached with "no stain" on either one.

SETTLEMENT REACHED

Minutes of settlement as endorsed by Mr. Justice King:

1. That the plaintiff's good name is cleared of any imputation of wrong doing on his part arising by reason of his having been charged with an offence in respect to which he was tried and acquitted.

2. That no want of good faith on the part of the defendant is alleged by the plaintiff or implied in the disposition of this action, it being recognized that the defendant acted conscientiously and in the discharge of what he honestly conceived to be his duty as a police officer in the steps taken by him and referred to in the pleadings herein.

3. That payment of . . . $500 to the plaintiff for legal costs incurred in connection with such charge (including the proceedings on plaintiff's behalf in this action) having been assumed on the behalf of the defendant, such payment to be and the same is hereby approved, and that no order be made as to costs of this action.

4. That the foregoing is . . . a final disposition of all the issues raised in this action.

This civil action was the only jury case listed at the jury sittings of the Supreme Court, and as there were no criminal cases either, the panel of petit jurors was dismissed by Mr. Justice King.

5 Women On Grand Jury As 12 Given First Taste

Twelve women from the city and rural districts of Peterborough County have had their first taste of jury duty. The seven on the petit jury panel didn't actually sit in on a trial because the one civil action requiring a jury was settled; but five other women are on the grand jury and are busy inspecting the court house, jail and other public buildings in the county.

Mr. Justice King, presiding at the assizes, welcomed the women who have been eligible to serve since an amendment to the Jurors' Act became effective Jan. 1.

A rest room and other accommodations has been provided for the women jurors in the south wing of the county courthouse.

Mr. Justice King made a special point of encouraging women to accept jury duty when he gave his charge to the grand jury.

PRIVILEGE TO SERVE

"I understand this is the first time in Peterborough that ladies have been jurors," he said. "I believe it is extremely important that from the outset it should be realized that it is not only a privilege but a high responsibility for one to be called as a juror and take part in the administration of justice in our courts.

"I realize full well that it is only at some inconvenience to oneself that it is possible to be present and take part in the administration of justice, but this is part of the price we must pay for the privileges we enjoy in this country," said Mr. Justice King.

"It is extremely important that the public at large have confidence in the manner in which justice is administered in our courts. All too often the public has not the opportunity to be present in court and see and appraise just what takes place."

Mr. Justice King said that the experience would be of educational value and he urged the jurors to tell their friends and neighbours so they in turn would willingly serve on juries when called.

HIGHEST DUTY

"There is perhaps no higher duty that a citizen can be called on to perform than to take part —and an important part— in the administration of justice. In all these matters I am quite sure that the ladies will have an extremely important and helpful role to play."

Mr. Justice King suggested that their femine powers of observation might help them make grand jury recommendations for the improvement of public institutions that have previously been overlooked by the men.

Members of the grand jury are: Ernest G. Brown, foreman; 140½ Park St. N; Cyril Barnes, 742 Frank St.; Joseph H. Crocker, 115 Maude St.; William R. Godson, 433 Manorhill Ave.; Theodore Liscum, Chandos Township Hugh McFee, Otonabee Township; Sidney Warr, Asphodel township; W. J. Hardill, 615 Homewood, Mrs. Lillian Abbott, Douro township; Mrs. Ruth Massey, Otonabee; Miss Leona Woods, 328A Water St.; Mrs. Rosamond E. Welsh, 435 Rogers St.; and Mrs. Glendora Wildman, 824 Lansdowne St.

The seven women listed on the petit jury panel were: Mrs. Pearl Baptie, Dummer Township; Mrs. Grace Bullock, Douro; Mrs. Margaret Porter, Otonabee; Mrs. Marion F. Watts, 1287 Hazeldean St.; Mrs. Olive L. Webb, 111 Princess St. Mrs. Aileen Wager, 273 Park St.; and Mrs. Margaret Winslow, 594 Murray Street.

Hydro Rebate Used To Cut Capital Costs

The $64,611 refund from the Ontario Hydro Commission will be applied to estimated capital requirements during 1953 of $271,291.80 by the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

The refund is Peterborough's share of a total refund of $1,879,780 to 276 municipal hydro electric systems announced by Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders last Tuesday and represents the difference between the actual cost of electrical power to Peterborough last year and the amount paid.

The proposal to apply the refund towards estimated capital requirements was made by Chairman Fred Hills at Monday's PUC meeting and was endorsed unanimously. Mr. Hills pointed out that this would help to cut down the amount the commission would have to borrow this year to $206,680.80.

PUT OUT GRASS FIRE

The pumper from the annexed area of Smith township was called out to a grass fire Monday afternoon on McClennan St., possibly lit by children. A pumper from the downtown fire department was also despatched to stand by. There was no damage.

Two Men Escape Freezing, Spent All Night In Car

Two men had a narrow escape from being frozen Sunday night when the car in which they were driving left the road on the 13th Concession of Chandos Township and they decided to sleep in the car.

Joseph Woods, 26, RR 1, Apsley, was reported "much better" by Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield today. He was brought to Civic Hospital Monday morning, suffering from shock and exposure after he had been discovered unconscious in his car by Clarence Campbell, Rose Island.

With Woods in the car was Jarvis Campbell, also of Rose Island, about seven miles from Coe Hill. He was conscious when the other Campbell came across the two men at about 8:15 on Monday and was driven to his home, but it was feared he was frost-bitten.

DRIVING TO ROSE ISLAND

The two men were said to be driving from Apsley to Rose Island when the car went off the road into the ditch about six miles from Clydesdale. Apparently the car could not be gotten out of the ditch and the two decided to sleep in it.

When Clarence Campbell discovered them the next morning he took Woods to the Red Cross Hospital, from which he was transferred to Civic Hospital.

Dr. Bailey said that when he first attended Woods Monday he was dazed and confused.

"Apparently they just went to sleep in the car and didn't wake up," he said. Woods was "numbed pretty well," but had not been frozen, although if they had been left in the car on Monday, Dr. Bailey thinks they might have frozen.

City Needs $3,121,162 To Run Its Affairs, Expect Revenue $399,327

Taxpayers Must Provide $2,721,835
1953 Spending Grouped In 4 Divisions
Lead By General Account, Education

City council listed in its budget Monday night the assessments, revenues and expenditures from which it arrived mathematically at the 1953 tax rate. Certain revenues are obtained from such sources as licenses, fines, Ontario government subsidies, rents and so on. Their amount is subtracted from the estimated gross expenditure, leaving the major sum that has to be found elsewhere, and that is by taxing property and business.

The spending is grouped as follows:—General, $1,440,299.59; Debentures, $475,375.48; Garbage disposal, $93,312.85; Schools, etc., $1,112,174.69; for a total of $3,121,162.61.

Subtract from that grand total the estimated revenues of $399,327.52, and the remainder, $2,721,835.09 has to be collected and raised in taxes.

The estimated receipts this year are set out as follows in the budget:

Estimated receipts: Bicycle licenses, $500; county registrar, $3,300; dog tags, $1,400; sign licenses, $500; marriage licenses, $400; general licenses, $9,000; parking collections, $34,000; police court fines, $25,000; Liquor Control Board, $8,200; market tolls, $2,000; penalty and interest on taxes, $7,500; poll tax, $3,800; rents, $35,000; Border Transit franchise, $13,000; wartime housing, in lieu of taxes, $13,000; board of works subsidy, $35,000; fire department subsidy, $24,000; police department subsidy, $24,000; miscellaneous, $2,500; section 51, assessment, $17,000; city hall rentals, $27,000; payment from Utilities Commission in lieu of taxes, $2,200; 1952 surplus, $86,052.52; school pre levies, $9,475; making a total of $399,327.52.

GRANTS DUE

These items are readily identified. Ontario government subsidies are the refund from the Ontario Department of Highways credited to the board of works; and the grants to the fire and police department costs.

The Border Transit franchise signifies the payment the city receives from the company operating Peterborough's bus service.

And the surplus from last year will be noted as revenue credit of $86,052.52. It has already been explained recently.

Estimated expenditures for general expenses of municipal government are: Administration of justice, $46,000; assessment office, $31,224; board of works, $292,200; charity, $64,545; dog catcher, $1,560; election and bylaws, $2,800; fire department, $185,915.39; gratuities and retiring allowance, $22,672.12; group insurance, $2,000; health, $54,000; interest, $15,000; law and legislation, $2,000; legal claims, $2,600; light, $68,150.54; manufacturers committee, $6,845; market, $8,710; municipal government, $41,400; miscellaneous, $54,225; parks, rinks, landscaping at Civic Hospital, $65,000; pension plan, $25,000; police department, $185,091.55; postage, $1,500; printing, stationery, etc., $3,000; property committee, $12,000; plumbing inspector, $6,760.55; public library, $48,700; recreation commission, $17,500; reception committee, $1,000; schools, (Wartime Housing), $4,943.50; special grants, $9,800; Suburban Area Commission, $20,000; taxes on city property, $1,800; town plannig, $500; treasurer and collector's department, $18,000; unemployment insurance, $3,700; voters lists, $350; water, $45,000; Workmen's Compensation, $3,500; one-fifth of 1951 deficit of $139,074.16, principal and interest one year, $32,056.74; city hall maintenance, $23,750; Court of Revision, loss of taxes, $4,500; provision for uncollected taxes, $5,000; totalling $1,440,299.59.

SCHOOLS, HOSPITALS

The next group of appropriations are applied to the collection and disposal of garbage; current school costs; Civic Hospital's current requirement, and relief.

The garbage rate applies to all property. There is no exemption from that detail of the tax which this year is 1.98 mills as compared with 2.15 mills last year.

Current expenditure for the Collegiate Institutes and Vocational School is charged against all taxable property. But, the Public School costs are paid only by their supporters, as the Separate School needs are supplied by theirs. Civic Hospital is like the Collegiate, levied on the taxable property, but not on the exempt list which is taxed only for garbage disposal.

Continuing down the list debenture charges, interest and sinking funds on monies borrowed and repayable over a term of years, are levied against the same sources as the Collegiate and primary schools.

This financing is done through the City Trust, or rather has been, and from schools it passes on to include the general debentures for purposes other than education.

Choral reading was conducted by Miss Hilda Taft, the members being the class.

Mrs. Granville Meiklejohn, a newcomer to the district and a guest of the evening, gave a talk on "The mother's point of view". Two fine readings, "The Teacher" and "The Teacher's Prayer" were given by Miss Verna Black of the White School in Marmora township.

Ladies of the Home and School executive served lunch after which a social period was enjoyed.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM H. PUFFER were married in Peterborough Saturday afternoon. The bride is the former Miss Norma Graham of Buckhorn. They will reside in Sault Ste. Marie. (Choate Studio Photo)

Puffer-Graham Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon at Mark St. United Church by the Rev. B. S. Morwood, when Norma June, youngest daughter of Mrs. Vernon Graham of Buckhorn and the late Mr. Graham, was united in marriage to William Harry Puffer, son of Mrs. Harry G. Puffer of Lindsay and the late Mr. Puffer.

The bride wore a white nylon lace and net gown, made over satin, in ballerina length with long sleeves coming to points over her hands. A Juliet cap held her shoulder length veil in place. Her bouquet was of red sweetheart roses, and she carried a crocheted hankie in double wedding ring pattern.

Bridesmaid was Miss Mary Dorsett whose gown was of deep purple sheer made with a tiered skirt. She wore matching mittens and a lilac headdress and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Robert Puffer.

The reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received, wearing a gown of midnight blue silk taffeta trimmed with sapphires, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother was attired in a pink gabardine suit and wore matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Guests were present from Toronto, Lindsay, Buckhorn, Norwood and Peterborough.

Going away afterward, the bride wore a beige English worsted suit with brown accessories and her grey kidskin jecket with a corsage of Talisman roses on the lapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Puffer will live in Sault Ste. Marie.

During the business period fruit and cards were ordered sent to the sick.

The United Church Women's Association are catering for the District Annual which will be held here some time the latter part of May.

Mrs. Harold Thompson convener presented the program. Readings were given by Mrs. Jack Henry, Mrs. Steve Deline, Mrs. James Longmuir, Mrs. Harry Mann. Impromtu readings were given by Mrs. Thomas Wight, Mrs. W. G. McLaughlin, Mrs. Frank Opensaw and Mrs. Ross Pollock.

Mrs. Thomas Wight won the birthday prize and Mrs. Earl Greenly the jumbled songs contest. Mrs. Ross Pollock was the winner of the jelly bean guessing contest.

The hostess served lunch assisted by Mrs. Thos. Brown, Mrs. Joe Tedford and Mrs. Francis Ruttan.

Aux. Planning More Recreation For Civic Patients

Board of directors of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Civic Hospital met Monday afternoon in the hospital committee room. President Mrs. E. Chambers presided.

Discussion centred on purchase of a piano for use of the recreational committee to help entertain patients. Plans are underway for a party this month it was announced.

A donation was voted to the nurses' Glee Club. The Auxiliary members voted their willingness to pay for one croupette if the Board of Governors approved of its installation in the hospital.

Mrs. C. Murkar and Mrs. W. K. McGee were appointed the representatives to the Local Council of Women this year.

Conveners' reports stated 470 contacts were made in February by the visiting committee; 64 pairs of boottees were given out; the recreational committee made four contacts; the library distributed 380 books. The new reading service was taken advantage of by 13 adults and two children. The flower and decorating committee placed Valentine favors on the trays last month and are now busy with plans for Easter favors.

Committees for the penny sale, which commences May 22, were set up.

Collins-Little

Pink and white flowers were the setting in All Saints' Anglican Church Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Irene Hazel, daughter of Mr. Howard Little and the late Mrs. Little of Peterborough, to Charles Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Russell Collins. The Rev. Maurice Poole officiated and Miss Margaret Flowers played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made with skirt of white net over taffeta topped by a slim bodice and peplum lace and a beaded halo headdress. Her bouquet was of red roses with lilies. She was attended by her sister Mrs. James Hutchison who was frocked in pale blue, similarly designed, and wore a halo trimmed with pale blue beads. Her bouquet was of roses and white lilies.

Groomsman was Edward Collins and the ushers were Stanley Collins and Jack Selby.

The reception was held at the home of the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Levitt. Mrs. Levitt received in a navy blue suit and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Afterward the couple left for Toronto, the bride wearing a powder blue suit with navy accessories. They will make their home in Cavan.

DOROTHY DIX:

Young Mother Becomes Enamored Of Another Man

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young married woman of 24, with three small children. I've been married for seven years, most of which time I have not loved my husband. However, I have put up a good front and our home has been harmonious. We have a nice home, good car, and no in-law problems. I enjoy housework and like to entertain. In spite of all these apparent advantages, I have no zest for living. We don't get out very often because of the children; I'm discontented and every day seems one endless round of drudgery.

I suppose the real trouble is that I innocently fell in love with another man over a year ago. We love each other very much; but he doesn't want to break up my home. I told my husband how I felt, but he absolutely refuses to give me a divorce. I see nothing ahead but long miserable years. I love my children, but do not enjoy them very much. My husband wants me to see a marriage counselor, but I dread talking to anyone about my troubles. Don't you think my husband and children would be better off without me?

MRS. M. V.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Let me tell you, first of all, most emphatically, that if you yield to your present desires, or convince your husband to do as you wish, you'll be a very sad woman. The surrender of home, husband and children to satisfy a love that probably exists only in your dreams, would be a tragic mistake. You have a very wise and patient husband.

The solid stuff of your life is encompassed within the walls of the home you have created, even though at present you feel imprisoned within them.

CONSULT A MARRIAGE COUNSELOR

Follow your husband's suggestion to see a marriage counselor; you'll find it amazingly easy to discuss your problem with someone trained in dealing with similar affairs. A physical check-up, too, might be helpful in uncovering some deficiency that would account for your lack of energy.

The solution of your difficulties lies in a replacement of images. Cast out the sentimental picture of yourself as a disillusioned wife who has fallen in love with an unattainable man. This is the stuff of which Grade B movies are

Welsh Citizens Celebrate St. David's Day

St. David's Welsh Society celebrated St. David's Day with a turkey dinner and program of song Monday evening. There were 33 citizens of Welsh descent at the dinner in the YWCA. Symbolic decorations on the tables were pots of daffodils and yellow candles. The Welsh dragon flag hung prominently in the rom.

Twelve of those present were charter members who joined this society 22 years ago.

President Mrs. C. L. Armstrong extended the welcome. After the toast to the Queen, a toast to Wales was proposed by Mrs. Walter Flowers and the response was singing of the Welsh national anthem in Welsh and then in English. Response to a toast to the society, proposed by Mrs. Blodwin Jones, was the singing of "Men of Harleck" and after a toast to Canada, proposed by Mrs. Doris Shewen, they sang "O Canada."

Messages of greeting from St. David's Societies in Winnipeg, Montreal and Toronto, were read by Mrs Walter Flowers.

The program arranged by Miss Margaret Flowers, who was the accompanist, included solos and duets with community singing of a song in Welsh and one in English between each. It commenced with all singing "Abrystwyth" and "The Ashgrove."

Solos were by Mrs. J. Kearns, who sang "David of the White Rock," Mrs. William Davies, who sang "Mentra Gwen" and "The Gentle Birch", Mrs. C. L. Armstrong, who chose "Bells of Aberdovy" and "St. David's Day." Messrs. Morris and John Parry sang together "Gwenith Gwyn" and latter sang a solo "Counting the Goats." Mr. Ted Poole sang "When I Leave the World Behind" and "The Ashgrove."

Miss Ida Whimsett conducted a lucky draw and the winner was Mrs. M. A. Edwards. Mrs. Sarah Siddall, oldest Welsh member, was presented with a bouquet of daffodils by Mrs. Wm. Bull.

The next affair of the society will be a card party for members and friends on March 16th.

Gertrude Smith Wed At Keene To William Kemp

A pretty two-ring wedding ceremony took place in the Keene United Church Saturday as Gertrude Eleanor Viola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smith of Keene, became the bride of William Roy Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kemp of Lang.

The Rev. H. B. Herrington officiated and the wedding music was played by Mr. H. Morrow of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was gowned in white slipper satin made on princess lines with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves with lily points. He veil fell to full length from a beaded headdress and her bouquet was of pink and white roses.

Miss Eileen Sedgwick as bridesmaid for her cousin, was frocked in mauve net over taffeta with bodice of lace and matching bolero. She wore a floral headdress and white lace mittens and carried pink and white roses with lily of the valley. The groom's attendant was Stuart Shaw.

A reception followed at the bride's home with guests present from Gelert, Fenelon Falls, Cameron, Lindsay, Cresswell, Peterborough, Chemong, Keene, Indian River, Lang, Villiers, Hastings, Bancroft, Springbrook and Simcoe. Mrs. Smith received, wearing navy sheer with wine accessories and corsage of pink roses and Mrs. Kemp wearing a navy ensemble with corsage of gardenias. There was also an evening reception for young people of the community.

The bridal couple left later for a wedding trip to Simcoe, Hamilton and other points. The bride travelled in a black and gold dress and wore a red velvet hat and her fur coat with a corsage of pink roses.

They will live in Oshawa.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serve Cheese Croquettes As Dish In Lenten Season

Her feet hurt. Her back ached, but it was Bobby's birthday.

When she had asked him if he would like to go to a famous Chinese restaurant for his birthday dinner he said, "Oh no, Mum, I like our kind of birthday parties."

So, since she was downtown and only one block from the candle and birthday-napkin store, she summoned her flagging energy, girded up her aching bones, and bore down on the store. She picked up a few extra table favor novelties to improve on "our kind of a birthday" and then she boarded the bus for home.

On the trip home her feet ached and she wriggled her heels out of her pumps under the seat, but her heart sang as she planned the table and just how to stack the presents—to make Bobby's brown eyes even shinier.

The festive air I am so fond of, could be described as "Mother always goes the second mile."

It is the spirit of an occasion that lingers in the memory longer than the thought of the food you have served . . .

. . . and the delightful part of this theory is that there are no budget restrictions on festive spirit.

Some of you have heard me tell the Marjie story, but it bears repetition: One of Marjie's maxims is, "find a way to make it". She has a family of four children, so of course, as many of you well know with your own broods, her life is one long series of mild and not-so-mild emergencies.

My two sisters were invited to dinner at the home of Marjorie and her doctor husband, both of whom were friends from college days. My sister Doris inadvertently mentioned that the previous year they had been there at about the same time and had celebrated their daddy's and her birthday together. Ann, who is fourteen, asked what day her birthday was. Doris said "tomorrow". In a few minutes dinner was announced and when it came to dessert time Ann proudly bore in a birthday cake complete with six huge candles on it. Everyone but the two conspirators was amazed and shouted, "Mother how did you know?" and, "Mother how did you do it?" for it seems that a pudding and a sauce for it were to have been the dessert. But when Ann slipped out to the kitchen to relay the news of Doris' birthday to her mother, nothing daunted, Marjie decided to turn the pudding upside down and instead of using the sauce she made pink icing and stuck the first candles her hand landed on in it. It was a great success for it was such a complete surprise.

Marjie reminds me of the U.S. Marines: An extremely difficult assignment they do at once. The impossible takes a few moments longer.

There is not one of you that will not welcome some short cuts in your birthday cake making. Some of the melted chocolate used in the cake which follows is reserved for swirling in the frosting—to give the cake its Festive Air.

STREAM-LINED FUDGE BIRTHDAY CAKE (2-egg)

Grease and flour OR grease and line with buttered paper 2 layer cake tins or one tin about 13 x 9 inches. Into your cake mixing bowl sift together 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt. Make a well in the centre and add ¼ cup soft shortening. Measure 1½ cups milk and add 1 teaspoon vanilla to it and add a little more than half of this milk mixture to the bowl, and now beat the batter for 2 minutes to incorporate the shortening and make the batter smooth. Now add 2 eggs, remaining milk and 3 or 4 squares melted chocolate (Melt this over hot not boiling, water and ADD an extra square of chocolate — making four or five in all — which you will use later when frosting cake.) If desired you may stir in ½ or 1 cup chopped nuts at this stage. Pour this thin batter into the prepared pans or pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. Layers require 30 to 35 minutes; square or oblong pans 35 to 45 minutes. When cool frost with—

FLUFFY WHITE FROSTING

Mix together in saucepan 1 cup sugar, one-third cup water and one-third teaspoon cream of tartar. Boil covered for 3 minutes, then uncover and boil to 242 deg. Fahr. (6 or 8-inch thread-stage.) Beat until stiff 2 egg whites. Beat until it holds its shape. Add 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Cover cooled cake with it. Spell out the name "Bobby" (or your treasures' name) with the leftover melted chocolate, applying it with 3 toothpicks held in you hand like a ½-inch wide fan.

Father Of Family Blind Yet Able To Support Home

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

"It can't happen to me."

This was George Tate's reaction every time he saw a white cane tapping along the street, just as it is the reaction of Peterborough's several thousand other visually unhandicapped citizens.

But it did happen to George Tate.

One morning about ten years ago George was at his job as usaul in a Peterborough industry. Suddenly he realized his eyes weren't working properly. Objects and people were becoming more blurred all the time until by noon hour all he could make out was vague outlines.

That afternoon George's wife took him to an eye specialist. Within a week he was in hospital and had undergone one operation to replace the retinas in both eyes which were becoming detached.

Eight months and eight operations later George was told nothing could be done for him. The first three operaitons had been fairly successful, but complications had arisen that had brought failure to all further attempts to restore his sight.

He was blind and would be blind for the rest of his life.

STARTED NEW LIFE

George came home and started a new life. For the next few weeks his activities were limited to work around the house. But this type of existence was unsatisfying for a normally active man and he became restless. What could he do?

This question was answered for him by a veteran friend who had become visually handicapped from war injuries. His suggestion was that George learn braille and start working at handicrafts such as leathercraft, basket weaving and chair caning. He told him how he could arrange for instruction in his own home.

George followed this suggestion. It kept him occupied but there was one major difficulty. He had a family to support. He needed a job.

George got his job, but it wasn't a simple matter of applying for a position and being hired. He needed help to regain his status as a working man. This help came from the same organization that had arranged for his instruction in braille and handicrafts— The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

When George decide he had to start working he went to Toronto to see the Industrial Placement Officer for the CNIB. Within a week, he and the placement officer went to interview George's former employer. The employer was soon persued that a visually helpless and can competently handicapped person is far from handle many types of industrial work.

This was nine years ago and George has been working at the same place ever since. He has proved to himself and to others blindness doesn't mean helplessness.

664 BLIND PERSONS

There are many other things that George has learned in those nine years. He has learned that the 64 other blind people in Peterborough are living almost unbelievably normal lives due to the services of the CNIB.

Ten years ago, George thought of the CNIB, when he thought of it, as an organization that helped blind people by teaching them handicrafts. Now he knows that this organization has resources that can virtually meet any need of a visually handicapped person.

Personal problems are dealt with by CNIB staff members who have special knowledge and understanding. Material help is given in emergencies arising from loss of income.

Instruction is given to blind persons in their home in handicrafts and typewriting and other subjects to develop use of their hands and senses of touch and to provide useful hobbies. Specially trained and experienced workers give counselling and instruction to pre-school blind children and their parents.

The Institute employment specialists are continually securing industrial jobs and assisting in the development of business enterprises and opening of employment opportunities for blind persons.

Several thousand embossed books and more than 1,000 recordings of books are available on loan to blind persons and specially adapted electric phonographs (talking book machines) are available on loan or may be purchased.

A recreation department makes available a trained recreation worker to help groups of blind people to develop a satisfying and enjoyable recreation program. Weekly bowling and regular monthly social evenings are enjoyed by many local blind people.

This rehabilitation program is responsible for restoring George and the 64 other blind people in Peterborough to the greatest physical, mental and economic usefulness possible. Instead of burdens they are contributors to society.

But this program is only one of the two fields of service carried out in Peterborough by the CNIB. They are also actively engaged in the prevention of blindness.

The prevention work done by the institute includes appointments with eye specialistst for both adults and children and the purchase of glassese for those who would otherwise not be able to buy them.

It is to finance these rehabilitation and prevention of blindness services in Peterborough that the Canadian National Institute of the Blind is making an appeal for funds through the Red Cross and Community Fund, March 6-18.

Although it is a national organization, the CNIB actually operates as a local organization. The money it receives through the community fund campaign will be used to finance its services in this city.

In 1952, the CNIB received $5,800 from the campaign fund.

Rent Curbs End In 600 Places

TORONTO (CP)—Rent controls ended Monday in more than 600 Ontario cities, villages, towns and townships.

A government order last year provided that rent controls would be ended Monday for all communities which had sufficient housing to decontrol rents without fear of skyrocketing prices.

Almost all the communities being decontrolled are small. Only four are cities—Chatham, North Bay, Waterloo and Kitchener. Timmins, still classified as a town although it has a population larger than many Ontario cities, is also being decontrolled.

Towns decontrolled are: Chesley, Port Elgin, Southampton, Wiarton, Orangeville, Durham, Meaford, Acton, Thornbury, Deseronto, Seaforth, Forest, Almonte, Carleton Place, Grimsby, Beamsville, Port Credit, Strathroy, Campbellford, Tillsonburg, Brampton, Listowel, Mitchell, Hawkesbury, Rockland, Vankleek Hill, Picton, Arnprior, Alliston, Barrie, Stayner, Harriston, Mount Forest, Palmerston, Bruce Mines, Nesterville, Hearst, Iroquois Falls, Matheson, Smooth Rock Falls, Gore Bay, Little Current, Bala, Bracebridge, Gravenhurst, Huntsville, Kearney, Parry Sound, Powassan, Trout Creek, Rainy River, Atikokan, Coniston, Copper Cliff, Frood Mines, Levack, Massey, Webbwood, Charlton, Dorion, Haileybury, Latchford, Geraldton, Beardmore, Longlac, Marathon, Red Rock, Terrace Bay, Shuniah and Schreiber.

Thatcher Challenges Liberals To Go Before People On Issue Of Newest Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — An outspoken CCF member whose speeches sometimes get him into hot water with his own party has challenged the Liberal government to put the 1953-54 budget before the people.

The challenge was issued in the Commons Monday by Ross Thatcher, 36-year-old Moose Jaw, Sask., hardware merchant. He said that the Liberal government is "encumbered by deadwood and hangers-on; ' that it lacks initiative to meet "overtaxation" and has embarked on waste and extravagance which reaches "scandalous proportions."

He added:

"I think the only honorable course for this government to take is to resign without delay; by that I mean to resign not next August or September, but to resign this week.

DISSATISFACTION

"I challenge the Liberal party to go to the people with this budget as an issue. I say that the people of Canada will welcome the opportunity to show their dissatisfaction at the polls."

George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley) immediately asked Mr. Thatcher if he was speaking for his party.

"I would not be surprised if I were," replied Mr. Thatcher

Some speeches previously have got him into difficulty with M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader. Last year Mr. Coldwell publicly spanked Mr. Thatcher for saying social security payments should be scaled so taxes could be cut.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair stepped into the fray. He recalled that last year Mr. Thatcher had charged the government was bleeding corporations white. He wanted to know what the Moose Jaw member thought of reductions in corporation taxes made in the budget.

NO REPLY

Mr. Thatcher made no direct reply.

Mr. Sinclair said it now is apparent Mr. Thatcher has reverted to the CCF party line. But it would be interesting to see how Mr. Thatcher voted on the CCF motion of non-confidence in the government which was "critical" of the corporation tax reductions.

Mr. Sinclair said he hopes "on this occasion he will not go fishing and miss the vote."

Mr. Thatcher interjected that there has been no reversal of policy on his part. He had merely said the government could make tax cuts across the board if it would meet the problem of waste and extravagance. That was what he had said before.

Mr. Sinclair said Mr. Thatcher now possibly will buy 10,000 copies of his speech, send it back to Moose Jaw and say 'look boys, I'm back in the CCF; forget that speech I made on corporation taxes last year.'"

At the House opening, Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced the lifting of the year-long United States embargo against Canadian livestock and meat. It was invoked in February last year when foot-and-mouth disease broke out among south Saskatchewan herds and was declared stamped out last August.

INADEQUATE

In the budget debate Mr Thatcher said the budget tax relief is ill-distributed and inadequate. The government had been "milking Canadian taxpayers to provide frills for the armed services"—such as fancy barracks, swimming pools, bowling alleys and air conditioning.

Canada, he said, shouldn't embark on costly pioneering in advanced military weapons but should leave that to the United States and Britain and concentrate on production.

F. D. Shaw (SC-Red Deer) said it appears that it is only on the eve of elections that the government realizes certain facts. It was only in this election year that it suddeny concluded the $2.50 annual radio licence fee was uneconomic.It was only on election eve it concluded the cheque stamp tax was nuisance. But there should have been much more in the budget. The time has come when the government should call an election as soon as possible.

NOTHING

George Nowlan (PC-Annapolis-King's) said there is virtually nothing in the budget for the average man. Mr. Abbott had overplayed the income tax cut because federal revenues would be up in the next fiscal year and actually Canadians would pay more taxes this year than last.

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L-Portneuf) speaking in French, said that Premier Duplessis of Quebec is making a political football of provincial autonomy.

Leon Balcer (PC-Trois Rivieres), also speaking in French, disagreed with Dr. Gauthier's view. When Quebec refused federal subsidies and asked for a fair allocation of taxes it did so in the best interests of the Canadian people.

Mrs. R. C. Brattain was the winner of the door prize, a ton of coal.

Following the distribution of prizes a square dance was held with Wilbert Abbott as caller.

Manitoba To Aid In Polio Expense

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hospital and medical problems occupied the attention of two provincial legislatures Monday.

In Manitoba, Heath and Welfare Minister F. C. Bell, announced that the government plans to meet part of the cost of the poliomyelitis epidemic which swept the province recently. Cost is estimated at $150,000 to the end of the present fiscal year, next March 31, and benefits will go to both hospitals and patients.

Two hospitals which carried the heaviest financial load during the outbreak will receive $95,000. Mr. Bell said the government will continue its policy of paying for the first 21 days of hospital treatment for individuals.

In Alberta, Health Minister W. Cross, announced rate increases ranging from 60 cents to $1.45 a day for 99 hospitals. The increases recommended by a committee which studied hospital costs, are effective April 1. The new rates range from $6.70 a day to $8.95 compared with the old range of $5.80 to $7.50.

The annual budget is being brought down in the Saskatchewan house Wednesday and it is expected to hit a high of more than $70,000,000. Hon. C. M. Fines, provincial treasurer, said in a recent interview there was no chance of tax reductions.

Pickets Patrol B.C. Elevators Strike Cost Increases Daily

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pickets still patrol five grain elevators in Vancouver and New Westminster as the cost of the strike of 25C grain handlers mounts by thousands of dollars daily.

Twelve ships are idle and so far there have been no reports of a possible settlement of the strike.

The grain handlers, members of the Grain Elevator Workers' Union (CIO), went on strike Feb. 16 to back up demands for 12½-cent increase over their present wage of $1.50 an hour.

In effect the strike has virtually tied up the majority of export grain shipments out of British Columbia. There are small elevators working in suburban North Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert but they only handle a fraction of the millions of bushels of wheat exported from British Columbia during the crop year.

Meanwhile, J. L. Phelps, chairman of the Prairie Interprovincial Farm Union Council, is attempting to get mediation started through the federal department of labor.

Owners of the idle ships estimate costs at between $1,000 and $1,200 a day. The union claimed last week that the railways, Canadian National and Canadian Pacific, and the elevator companies, are losing $500,000 a week.

Seven ships are at anchor in midstream and their owners are paying upwards of $1,000 a day in wages, cost of general upkeep, feeding the complement, heating and other costs. Some ships tied up at docks are paying another $150 a day berthing charges.

Union spokesmen and agents of the elevator companies say there is "no change" in the strike picture. At this time last week hopes for an early settlement were high. The union accepted the offer of Mr. Phelps to mediate the dispute.

But nothing has happened yet.

The strikebound elevators are: United Grain Growers Ltd. Alberta Wheat Pool, Pacific Elevators and Kerr-Gifford in Vancouver and Searle Grain in New Westminster.

More than 8,000,000 bushels of grain are tied up in the elevators.

Study More Pay For Rural Postie

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal member told supporters of opposition groups in the Commons Monday that they are welcome to appoint all the rural mail carriers in his constituency.

George Cruickshank, representative for the British Columbia constituency of Fraser Valley, said no political capital can be made out of appointments of mail carriers.

"If a member apoints one man to the job he wins the votes of that family but loses the votes of 15 others who wanted the job," said Mr. Cruickshank.

He spoke before the Commons gave second reading—approval in principle—to a bill authorizing the postmaster general to increase payments to rural mail carriers.

The bill was referred to a Commons committee which will study operations of rural mail services with a view to recommending improvements.

Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) expressed the hope the government will pay the expenses of any rural carriers called to testify before the committee.

Reds Arrest "Spy"

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet newspaper Trud today reported the arrest of an unnamed "spy" who it said attempted to cross the Soviet border disguised as a railwayman. The dispatch did not say where the alleged spy was caught or for whom he was accused of working.

No Mention

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Moscow newspapers made no mention today of Prime Minister Churchill's statement Monday that he is ready to join Stalin and President Eisenhower in talks.

Watchman Found Half-Frozen In Ditch

LISTOWEL (CP)—With his body partially frozen, Ormey Walker, 63, night watchman at the local headquarters of the Canadian Comstock Company, was found semi-conscious in a ditch on the Comstock property Monday morning.

Police chief C. F. Rocher said he was exposed to the near-zero weather for nearly five hours.

Both arms were frozen at the elbow and the legs frozen to the knees. Walker's condition is believed to be serious.

Chief Rocher said there is no suspicion of foul play.

Housing Effort "Shall Not Lag"

TORONTO (CP)—Planning Minister William Warrender said Monday the Ontario government "shall not lag" in its attempt to solve the province's housing shortage.

Mr. Warrender, in a speech prepared for a provincial network of the CBC in a free-time political affairs broadcast, said his department's main work on the housing problem is, in co-operation with the federal government, to provide serviced land.

Rental construction, he said, is going ahead in 15 municipalities. Projects at Windsor and Sault Ste. Marie would provide about 2,300 rental houses. In Toronto's Regent Park development, 152 units were completed last year and another 164 are being prepared. The units are subsidized at $1,000 each.

Crowd Of 60,000 In Tears

Arruza, the greatest fighter and the most popular with the crowd, kept spectators on their feet shouting "ole" (bravo) with his daring passes and skilful work. At 25, he is considered the greatest in the profession. Last year he fought 138 fights in Spain. Today he is a greater drawing card there than Spanish fighters. In particular, seven passes in a circle contributed considerably in the decision to award him the bull's ears.

* * * *

PLEASES CROWD

Manolo Gonzalez, a Spaniard, killed his bull and pleased the crowd. Manuel Capetillo, the second best fighter in Mexico, provided thrilling action. Several times the bull charged and came so close his clothes were covered with blood from the banderillas. The crowd liked him. The sixth fighter was Jesus Cordoba. He was born in Texas of Mexican parentage and is considered one of the top men in the business today.

* * * *

A Spaniard, Jose Maria Martorell, is wonderful on slow movement with the cape. The crowd wanted him to have an ear of his bull because he killed it with one blow. There was strong petition for it but the judge did not accede.

* * * *

The last man, Juanito Silveti, was the youngest to appear and at 18 is the youngest professional bullfighter in Mexico. He was wonderful in his passes, circling the bull around his body. His father, who was a fighter and now retired, always sees his son too, is Juan Silveti called "the Tiger from C[illegible]

* * * *

The fans are in themselves a spectacle. Their reactions are expressed noisily and enthusiastically. The most celebrated torrero is not spared if he is clumsy or shows fear. He is jeered with insults and a bombardment of seat cushions. When he shows unusual skill he is rewarded with wild applause and flowers and hats are thrown into the ring.

* * * *

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES

The matador, the chief actor, wears a beautiful costume that costs at least 3,000 pesos (about $375-$400). It consists of short skin-tight trousers, a white linen shirt, handsome embroidered jacket, a black pointed hat, always pink stockings and black ballet shoes. The costume weighs 18 pounds and is for protection as well as show.

* * *

As the bull rushes in he is played by helpers to give the matador opportunity to judge his speed and method of attack. Then the matador begins a series of graceful passes with his cape, always ending with a downward sweep over the bull's face. Then the picadores on heavily padded horses come in. When the bull attacks the horse, the picador pushes a long pole into the shoulder muscle of the bull three times while the matador make a series of passes to turn him away.

* * * *

Then the banderilleros, bullfighters who are not good enough to be professionals, place the banderillas—short, gaily-adorned sticks with hooks at one end—which pierce the bull's skin and hang on. The banderillero runs to meet the bull, leaps lightly into the air, leaving a pair of banderillas in the thick shoulder muscles. This is done three times. Then comes the finale. The bullfighter asks permission to kill the bull and enters the ring with a red cape and sword. This is when he reveals the greatest skill in passes and delivering the death blow.

6—In Memoriam

LEEHMAN—In loving memory of Merle James Leehman, who passed away five years ago today, March 2.
There is a road we call remembrance
Where thoughts and wishes meet,
We take that road in thoughts today
For the one we cannot meet.
Keep her Jesus in Thy keeping,
Till we reach that shining shore,
Then dear Master let us have her
To love her as we did before.
—Ever remembered by aunt, Mrs. Wilson, Adaline St.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all friends for their gifts and cards and all acts of kindness, also the doctors, nurses and Rev. Mr. Mathews for his visits while a patient in the Civic Hospital.—Mrs. Lillie Irwin, 199 Simcoe St.

We wish to convey our sincere appreciation to our many friends, relatives and neighbours and to the Rev. R. D. Duncanson, for kindness and expressions of sympathy during the illness and at the time of the passing of a dear husband and father.—Mrs. Allan Lewis and family.

Canada Names Idonesia, Ceylon Envoys

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today announced appointment of a high commissioner to Ceylon and an ambassador to Indonesia.

J. J. Hurley, OBE, 55, a native of Brantford, Ont., will take up the Ceylon post in July and G. R. C. Heasman, OBE, 55, of Ottawa, will assume the Indonesian post in June.

The announcement also said that Dr. Ali Sastroamidjojo has been appointed Indonesian ambassador to Canada. He has been serving as ambassador to the United States and will continue to hold that position, being represented here during his absences by a charge d'affaires.

Mr. Hurley, a veteran of both world wars, was with the firm of Hurley Print Co. Ltd., in Brantford for many years. He was discharged with the rank of colonel in 1946 after serving as acting commandant of Royal Military College, Kingston.

SERVED IN BERLIN

He joined the external affairs department in 1947 and served with the Canadian military mission in Berlin until his appointment as Canadian consul at Detroit in 1948. He returned to Ottawa for duty in the department in 1951.

Mr. Heasman since 1945 has been director of the Canadian trade commissioner service, a job which has involved extensive travel abroad.

A graduate of Queen's University, he joined the trade department in 1927. He held trade commissioner jobs in Java, Cape Town London, and Chicago. He returned to Ottawa in 1941 to organize and head the Canadian export permit branch. He was also appointed assistant to the director of the mutual aid board.

Escaped 32 Years Ago N.Y. Man Gets Parole

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—The New Jersey parole board today announced it has paroled a man who escaped from prison more than 32 years ago and was never captured.

The board said it was granting a parole to Frank Pucket of New York, who escaped from a New Jersey prison camp in 1920 and has since lived a respectable life as a superintendent of an apartment house.

Puckett—now 78 years old— is currently in a New York jail awaiting action on an extradition warrant from New Jersey on the old escape. The parole board's action means that even if he is returned to New Jersey he will be released on parole.

Puckett was sentenced to six to nine years in 1917 on a larceny charge. He escaped after serving three years.

Custed In Dean's Talk Hires Hall For Own

TORONTO (CP)—Ushers heaved J. Farley Faulkner from Massey Hall last week when he tried to protest a statement made by the "Red" dean of Canterbury

"If you want to make a speech, hire a hall," the chairman shouted after him. That's what Mr. Faulkner did. The Toronto businessman says he has hired the same hall for March 12.

The "Red" dean's meeting was sponsored by the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society. Mr. Faulkner said he plans to have on his anti-Communist platform some refugees to tell what goes on behind the Iron Curtain.

News Of Crash Causes CPA Hearing Adjourn

OTTAWA (CP)—Hearing of Canadian Pacific Airlines' application for a transcontinental air cargo licence was adjourned today because of the crash of a CPA jet passenger plane at Karachi.

The hearing, now in its third week, was set over until Wednesday to enable CPA officials attending it to deal with problems arising from the accident. Grant McConachie of Vancouver, CPA president, and a number of his senior officials are attending the hearing.

Jailed For Slaying

BAD KREUZNACH (AP)—Kurt Tesch, 42-year-old former non-commissioned officer in the S. S. elite guard, was sentenced today to 18 months in prison for slaying a captured American airman in 1944. The American has never been identified. Tesch contended he shot the flier at the order of superior officers.

Gets 3 Years In Pen On Two Arson Counts

SUDBURY (CP) — Charles H. Bloxam, 28, of Toronto, Monday was sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary on two charges of arson.

He pleaded guilty to setting a fire Feb. 11 which destroyed a $15,000 cattle barn at Burwash industrial farm near here.

He also pleaded guilty to setting a blaze in a Toronto radio store last April. He was sentenced to three years concurrent on each charge.

Magistrate W. J. Golden suggested a mental examination for Bloxam.

ReachSettlement In Civil Suit Over Bills

A civil action listed for trial in the Supreme Court with Adamson and Dobbin, Simcoe St., heating engineers and plumbers, the plaintiffs, and John S. Black, of 531 Hunter St., the counter-claiming defendant, has been settled out of court.

In the settlement the plaintiffs received an undisclosed sum of money. And $900 that had been paid into court by Black is to be handed over to them.

Both the action and the counter-claim were dismissed without costs.

BASIS OF DISPUTE

The legal dispute was an involved one with Adamson and Dobbin claiming $3,336 plus interest for the installation of an oil burning furnace and heating plant, as well as other plumbing installations, at Black's home.

Black said the price was too high and the firm didn't live up to the terms of their agreement. He counter-claimed for $2,166 as a bill owing for auditing work.

W. B. (Pete) Gordon was counsel for Adamson and Dobbin. James F. Dunn was counsel for Black.

Settlement of the Adamson and Dobbin-Black suit leaves only one more civil action, other than divorce cases, to be tried.

John Lutes, operator of the American Cedar Co. in Norwood, is being sued for a total of $7,500 by three Norwood residents. The case will probably go ahead on Wednesday before Mr. Justice King at the jury sittings of the Supreme Court.

A fire swept his property on the outskirts of Norwood last June 19 and then spread to an adjoining property, burning down the house and barn of Mrs. Martha Curtis.

Mrs. Curtis claims negligence on the part of Lutes and is suing for $5,000. Her husband, John Curtis, is claiming $1,500; and Frank Curtis, a hydro employee, is claiming $1,000.

Sister St. Catherine

Funeral service for Sister Mary St. Catherine (Ellen Gertrude O'Connell) who died in hospital Saturday in the 55th year of her religious life as a member of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph, was held today in Mount St. Joseph chapel at 9:30.

Celebrant of the mass was the Rev. V. Corkery, chancellor of Peterborough with the Rev. J. Greenan as deacon and the Rev. J. Dubbery as sub-deacon. Bishop Gerald Berry recited the lebra.

Among those present were the Rt. Rev J. V. McAuley, the Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, the Very Rev. J. Garvey, the Rev. J. O'Donnell, the Rev R. Garvey, the Rev. C. McCarney, the Rev. C. O'Donoghue, the Rev. G. Sullivan, the Rev. J. O'Sullivan and the Rev. G. Weiss.

Honorary pallbearers were Sisters Mary of Victory, M. Ursuline, M St. Mark, M. Neilus. M. Rosanna and M. Henrietta.

Active pallbearers were Dr. R. J. Young, Emmett Sheehy, P. D. Scollard, W. J. Grady, Kevin Hurley, Gregory Scollard.

Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. V. Corkery assisted by the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley.

Obituary

JOHN FEELEY

The death occurred in St. Joseph's Hospital today of John Feeley, 207 Park Street, after a short illness. He was 75 years old.

Son of the late Eligh Feeley and Philomene Brioux, he was a lifelong resident of Peterborough. His wife, the former Adelia Ranger, predeceased him last October.

Before retiring 15 years ago, he had been a lifetime employee of Canada Packers. He attended St. Peter's Cathedral.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Norman McConkey (Almeara), Mrs. Robert Armitage (Almada), and Mrs. Wilfred Cunningham (Marceline), all of Peterborough; four sons Amos and Vernon of Detroit and Alphonsus and Roy of Peterborough, and two sisters Mrs. Walter Lily (Maryann) of Thornton, R.I., and Mrs. Mary Gadoua of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held on Thursday from the Anglesey Funeral Home, 289 Hunter Street W., to St. Peter's Cathedral, where requiem mass will be sung at 9 a.m. Interment will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Approve Appointment

CAIRO (AP)—The foreign ministry announced today Moscow has approved the appointment of former inspector-general of the Egyptian army, Aziz el Masry, as ambassador to Russia. El Masry tried to fly to Germany during the Second World War but was interned.

Car Struck Rock Rolled Over Man Little Hurt

Vernon Jones, 22, of Lakefield, escaped with only a bruised right knee and a shaking up Monday afternoon when his car went out of control on Highway 28 at Slater's Corners, struck a rock and rolled over on its side.

It was one of two motor vehicle accidents reported to the OPP on Monday.

Jones was reutrning to his home in Lakefield late in the afternoon and was rounding a curve, two miles south of the village, when the tie rod broke on his car, making him lose control of the steering. The vehicle continued along for about 300 feet then plunged into a five-foot ditch on the east side of the highway. There it struck a rock and flipped over on its left side.

OPP Constable George Louth, the investigating officer, described the 1936 model car as a wreck. The front was completely smashed in, the left side damaged and the two front wheels completely sheered off.

Jones, who was alone in the car at the time, received a badly-bruised knee.

Another freak accident caused heavy damage to a stake-body truck driven by Oliver Kingdon, 34, of R.R. 3, Peterborough, Monday night.

Kingdon was driving the 1942-model vehicle east along the Concession Road in North Monaghan township, and leaned over to his right to see if a train was coming along the CPR tracks that cross the road 10 yards west of the city dump.

Kingdon told OPP Constable Harold Armstrong that when he leaned sideways to look for the train the truck ran off the narrow road and plowed into a six-foot ditch on the south side of the tracks. Before the vehicle came to a halt, it clipped off three railway guide posts and rolled over.

Kingdon was not hurt. The front end of the truck was heavily damaged as the grill and radiator were smashed.

It took two hours and the combined work of a tow truck and a tractor to get the truck out of the deep ditch.

Steel Industry Hits Top Production In Jan.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's expanding steel industry hit peak production in January.

The bureau of statistics today reported January steel ingot output at an all-time monthly high of 339,215 net tons.

This was a boost of about 34,000 from January, 1952, production and well above output of 312,018 in December. Average daily output during January increased to 10,942 net tons, compared with 10,065 in December and 9,862 in January, 1952.

British Claim Killing Of Top Malayan Reds

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) —The British high command claimed today to have destroyed completely the Malacca central district committee of the Malayan Communist party with the killing Monday of its top-ranking members.

The dead Reds were listed as Tan Thiam, district committee secretary, and Hon Ah Teck, who were tracked down by troops of a jungle company.

Council Gives Clerk One Month's Holiday

LINDSAY (ENS) — The town council will insist, following Monday's meeting, that Town Clerk W. R. Allely take a full month's vacation with pay in the near future. The town clerk has not been in good health for some time. Mayor Lamb told council that Mr. Allely has seldom taken the full vacation time allowed him by the town, and has some two or three months coming to him. The council agreed that it would be advisable for Mr. Allely to take advantage of this back time before coming back for full-time work.

Sunspot Blackout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sunspots blacked out virtually all trans-Pacific radio communication yesterday and today. Severe atmospheric disturbances were reported between San Francisco and such points as Tokyo, Hong Kong, Taipeh and Manila.

Perrytown Couple Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

BEWDLEY (ENS). — Friends and relations from miles around helped Mr. and Mrs. Reid Wilhon of Perrytown celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Saturday.

During the afternoon and evening more than 200 friends and relatives visited with the couple. These people came from Toronto, Oshawa, Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope, and the surrounding communities to convey their best wishes.

Besides the callers, there were many long distance telephone calls of congratulations as well as hundreds of cards and letters. Most prized of the greetings was a telegram from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth.

BORN IN HOPE TOWNSHIP

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were born in Hope Township, Mr. Wilson being born October 27, 1862, only one and a half miles from their present home. Mrs. Wilson, the former Mary Jane Jordon, was born on June 6, 1871. Their marriage was performed by Canon Allen in Millbrook.

Their six children all attended the anniversary celebrations. They are: Mrs. E. R. Retallick (Edith) of Port Hope, Mrds. W. H. Lindsay (Elsie) of Campbellcroft, Mrs. B. G. Parsons (Ruth) of Oshawa, Charles R. Wilson of Cobourg, Mrs. Clifford Hall (Beatrice) of Millbrook, Mrs. Jack Hardill (Gladys) of Peterborough. There are also 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The family presented their parents with a chesterfield, while the members of St. Paul's Anglican Church, where the Wilsons have been members for all the 60 years, presented them with a bouquet of flowers and a purse of money. The wedding cake was made by daughter, Mrs. Parsons.

Cancer Group Visits Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — First meeting on cancer study in the village was held at the town hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Peterborough unit of the Canadian Cancer Society. President Mrs. Maurice Holt was chairman and told the audience of the unit's three-way plan — lay education, welfare, and fund raising.

Dr. William Blastorah was the guest speaker and explained something of the current treatment of cancer with the cobalt bomb, deep X-ray, radium, and surgery.

Dr. Lloyd Bailey suggested that a cancer committee be formed within one of the village organizations rather than form a separate unit in Lakefield. The village, he thought, was already top-heavy with organizations. Mrs. Douglas Davis was elected general representative for Lakefield.

Two films were screened by R. L. Bishop of the National Film Council, and were entitled "Traitor Within" and "Man Alive."

The Peterborough unit officials were pleased with the turnout of village people and said they were delighted with the intelligent questions that came from the audience.

Dr. Blastorah was born in Harwood and has opened a general practice in Peterborough following five years of post-graduate work in Toronto and New York.

Mrs. John Arnott entertained with piano selections.

Crash On Ice Kills 1, Hurts 7

LITTLE CURRENT (CP)—One person was killed and seven others injured, two critically, early today in a two-car collision on the ice in the centre of McGregor's Bay, 10 miles northeast of here.

All are residents of Killarney, a fishing village on the mainland 20 miles north of this Manitoulin Island community, and were returning from a hockey game when the accident occurred.

Dead is Lionel St. John, 22. In hospital here in critical condition are Ben Sagina, 53, and Mrs. Isabel Roque, 38. Less seriously injured were Ed. Pandke, 22, Ernest Roque, 23, Eugene Heis, 20, and Matilda Pilon, 17.

Occupants in both cars except Roque and Miss Pilon were hurled onto the ice of the bay by the crash.

Roque crawled two miles over the ice to summon help. He met Len Buck and P. Roy who drove back and picked up the injured and took them to hospital. St. John died on the way to hospital.

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

EDMONTON (CP)—Max Bentley, Toronto Maple Leaf hockey star who left Toronto without notifying club officials, was reported Monday night to have arrived at his home at Delisle, Sask.

The telephone operator at Delisle told Edmonton callers that Max wouldn't come to the phone. "He won't accept calls from anyone except Conny Smythe," the operator said. Smythe is the managing director of the Leafs.

Bentley disappeared from Toronto last Thursday. Saturday his father at Delisle confirmed that his son was on his way home, travelling by car by way of the U.S.

Bentley was reported fed up and in poor health following a plague of injuries and illness during the season. His last appearance on Toronto ice—a brief one—was last Wednesday.

His departure from Toronto led to speculation he might plan to give up the game in which he was a dazzling figure for more than a dozen years.

MIDDLECOFF WINS

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cary Middlecoff banged out a three-under-par 69 Monday to win a five-way playoff for the Houston open golf tournament's $4,000 jackpot on the sloshy, 7,150-yard Memorial Park course. The Memphis dentist held a two-stroke edge over Jim Ferrier of San Francisco and Shelly Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N.Y. Earl Stewart, Jr., of Dallas was fourth with an even par 72 and Bill Nary of Los Angeles fifth

GIOVANELLI WINS

BROOKLYN (AP)—Danny Giovanelli of Brooklyn pummelled previously unbeaten Danny Joe Perez of New York into submission Monday night to score a TKO at the end of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight. Referee Ray Miller stopped the bout on the advice of Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the state athletic commission who examined the bleeding Perez after both the fifth and sixth rounds. Giovanelli weighed 141, Perez 138½.

DIMAG LEAVES HOSPITAL

BOSTON (AP)—Red Sox outfielder Dom DiMaggio was discharged from hospital Monday but doesn't expect to be able to report for spring training at Sarasota, Fla., "for at least a couple of weeks—maybe longer." The little professor has been in hospital a week because of choreo retinitis (inflammation of the back of the eyeball.)

Man Sentenced To Seven Days As Drunk Driver

Leslie A. Blakley, 33, 529 King St., was sentenced to seven days in jail and his car was ordered impounded for three months by Magistrate W. R. Philp today when he was convicted of drunk driving.

Blakley's counsel, Edward Fanjoy, said an appeal against the conviction would be filed at once.

In addition Blakley was fined $15 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of alcohol. Charges of careless driving and being drunk were dismissed when no evidence for the Crown was offered.

The charges arose out of an accident about 8:30 p.m. on February 7 on Highway 28, two miles north of Peterborough, when Blakley's car left the highway and came to rest against a hydro pole.

TIRE MARKS 286 FEET

OPP Constable Jack Gray who, with Constable Fred Lunn, investigated the accident, gave evidence that there were tire marks extending 286 feet from the rear of Blakley's car in the snow in the ditch and on the shoulder of the highway but the highway was bare. He said that about $700 damage was done to the front of the car.

Gray said that Blakley told him he was uninjured but he was unsteady on his feet, smelled strongly of liquor and his talk was "silly." He found one empty and one full bottle of beer in the rear seat, 10 bottles in a case in the trunk, a bottle opener on the front seat and two beer caps on the floor.

He said that Blakley was driven to Peterborough in the cruiser and didn't seem concerned about the damage to his car but "laughed a lot."

Blakley gave evidence that on the afternoon of the accident he had picked up Robert Woods, who employs him at his garage in Keene and the two had set out to visit a number of business prospects. They had each consumed three pints of beer at Blakley's sister's in Bewdley.

SOFT SHOULDER

He said he returned to Peterborough and ate dinner before going to a hotel where he drank one pint of beer and then agreed to drive Frederick Todd to Lakefield. As he was proceeding to Lakefield, a line of traffic was approaching him and one car pulled out to pass another. He pulled to the right to avoid a collision but his car went out of control on the soft shoulder. He said he didn't remember anything more until the police came.

Todd, who farms about 5½ miles from Keene, said that Blakley's speech and conduct were not unusual and he was not affected by liquor but immediately after the accident he was not conscious. He said he spoke to Blakley before the police arrived and he seemed jittery.

Woods corroborated Blakley's evidence of what had occurred in the afternoon and stated that the accused was definitely not affected by liquor.

Mr. Fanjoy argued that there were only two witnesses to the accident and their evidence did not conflict with that of the officers.

"It's not very often that I ask Your Worship to pay no attention to defence evidence but I do so in this case," said Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw. "The witnesses are all from the same district and therefore interested."

"There's no excuse for driving like that," commented the magistrate.

DEAR MISS DIX: Six months ago I met Dick while he was stationed at a nearby army camp. I liked him at first, but soon became quite bored with his conversation. I told him I didn't like his talk, and then he changed, and doesn't seem to be interested in me. I had thought I could reform him, but now I wonder if I was too hasty in my decision. I am 18.

PATTY

✦ ✦ ✦

ANSWER: Dick apparently was taking conversational inventory before advancing to a more definite stage—an inevitable progression according to his crude method of reasoning. You were quite right to let him know you disapproved of his subject matter. If he liked you at all, he would have acceded to your wishes, and continued the friendship. The fact that he stopped seeing you immediately after your reproaches clearly shows the way his mind worked.

✦ ✦ ✦

DEAR MISS DIX: All my girl friends do their homework and study while baby-sitting. My father, however, won't let me baby-sit after 9:30. I am 14, and I sure need the money I could earn.

GRACIE

✦ ✦ ✦

ANSWER: There might be many reasons for your father's objections to late baby-sitting. He might worry about you being in a house alone with the children, about your coming home late alone, or about your losing sleep. Whatever his reasons, I'm sure your welfare is his main consideration, and you should abide gracefully by his decisions.

Leading Lady Jailed, Cameraman Chased As Pink-Tinged U.S. Union Makes Movie

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The leading lady is under arrest.

Angry citizens chase the cameramen from the street.

Heated attacks are made from the floor of Congress.

The House of Representatives un-American activities committee and the federal bureau of investigation are watching.

Steps are already being taken to prevent showing of the film.

But a group of movie-makers who have been accused of Communist connections are still grinding away, trying to finish before anything else happens.

The movie is "Salt of the Earth." Its backers say it depicts the life of Mexican-American miners in southwestern New Mexico.

ACTRESS HELD

Rosaura Revueltas, 42-year-old Mexican actress playing the female lead, is held by the immigration service on a charge of illegally entering the country. Immigration service hearings have been postponed until Saturday to allow her lawyer to seek a writ of habeas corpus.

Some 40 citizens of Central, N. M., where portions of the film were planned for shooting, Monday ran out of a town a camera crew preparing to take street scenes. They were told to "get out" now or get out later w[illegible]our cameras. We mean business.

In Hollywood, the Screen Actors Guild turned down a request for support in the case from the Mexican Actors Guild.

A mass demonstration of members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers was narrowly averted here Monday night.

THREATEN JAIL

Ben Margolis, lawyer for Miss Revueltas, addressed a union meeting after close of the deportation hearings. He said his client would be unable to make a scheduled talk "because the U. S. immigration service has threatened to throw her in jail if she does."

Joseph Minton, district immigration director, angrily confirmed the statement.

"This woman is under arrest," Minton said. "I've shown her every consideration in the world in light of her cultural background and accomplishments. She has been free to eat and shop anywhere in the city.

"Anyone else facing the charge she does would be in one of two places—jail or detention quarters. She's not going to make any propaganda speeches."

Some union members present at the meeting shouted for a march on Miss Revueltas' hotel for a mass demonstration, but were restrained by Margolis who told them they'd "only make things worse."

Bentley Answers Telephone, Clears Mystery

DELISLE, Sask. (CP) — Max Bentley hesitantly picked up the jangling telephone at his farm home here Monday night and cleared up a mystery or two about his future in the National Hockey League.

The centre-ice veteran of Toronto Maple Leafs said he had slipped out of Toronto and come home for a complete rest. He also made it clear that he doesn't intend to give up hockey just yet.

The Delisle dandy said he hopes that a week or 10 days on the farm will improve his health to the point where he can go back to the Leafs and be of use in the play-offs.

CAN'T SAY

"The Leafs have always been good to me and I most certainly will do my best to get well and be of help to them in the play-offs," he said. "But right now I can't say just how soon I can go back as I'm not in any condition to play hockey the way I want to play it."

Besieged with long distance telephone calls, reporters, radiomen and scores of well-wishers, Max first decided not to accept any except from members of his own family and close friends.

However, he was pestered so much that he finally let down the barrier and talked to a few of the news-seeking hounds who had been shadowing Delisle since Saturday.

When finally reached he was in bed.

NOT WELL

"I haven't been physically well for a long while," he said. "I could not get any rest in Toronto and knew I'd possibly never recover unless I got away for a while. I thought my home in Delisle was the best place for me, so here I am."

Max said he had phoned Joe Primeau, coach of the Maple Leafs on his journey home and told him exactly what he was doing. "I expect to hear from Joe or Mr. Smythe (Conn Smythe, head of the Toronto club) today or in the near future. If not I'll be in contact with them."

Bentley, one of the top stars of the game, startled the hockey world last week by leaving Toronto and just disappearing.

The Leaf centre made the trip home by car through the United States.

Fire Guts Boat Plant

ARNPRIOR (CP) — Fire destroyed the main plant of the Ayling and Ramage boat-building firm here Monday. William Ramage, a co-owner estimated the loss at $50,000. About 20 privately-owned boats were saved but three dinghies being built for the Royal Canadian Navy were destroyed.

Stirling Victorious

STIRLING— (ENS) — In the southern division of the Trent Valley Hockey League, Stirling defeated Point Anne 5-4 in overtime for the second straight win of their best-of-three playdown series. Robson sparked the winners' attack with three goals, McCrory and Armstrong notching others.

Hastings Gets Close One Over Norwood

HASTINGS — (ENS) — The perennial rivals, Hastings and Norwood, teed off here last night to open their "little world series" in hockey before a goodly crowd, and Hastings won 7-6. It was one of the keenest games of the season on fine ice, the second one being Wednesday in Norwood.

Norwood rapped in three without a return in the first period Hastings got one halfway through the second, adding one later, but Norwood rapped in two more. The third was wide-open and was marked by Moon Wootton of Norwood getting a match misconduct for striking Referee Scriver after arguing a penalty that paved the way for the Hastings' scoring spree. After goals by Junior West and Vitarelli, Ball tied the game uu. , Gardner put Norwood up again. Then Byrne scored from Morrow to sew it up again, and at 18.50, Isaac sank the winner from West and Byrne.

Teams:

Norwood: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Wootton, Mortimer; centre, Kearns; wings, McDougall, Thorpe; alternates, Stewart, Ferguson, Scott, Williams, Buckton.

Hastings: Goal, O'Brien; defence, Wilson, Fennell; centre, Ball; wings, J. West, Vitarelli; alternates, Stevenson, Morrow, Thompson, Frizzelle, Byrne, McGillen, W. West, Batley, Issacs, Burns.

Referees: Scriver and Garden.

Leaving For West

MARMORA—(ENS) —At the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Spry, on Sunday evening, Mrs. H. G. Potts received the presentation of an electric tea kettle from her three sisters, Mrs. Spry and Mrs. Roy Eccles and Mrs. Jack Hunter of Toronto, prior to her departure for her new home in Beaverlodge, Sask.

In attendance at this event which followed supper were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunter, Mrs. Roy Eccles, Calvin Baker and Miss Valerie Childs of Toronto in addition to Mrs. Potts and her husband son, Wayne.

Balking Kiner One Of 20 Major Holdouts

NEW YORK (AP)—Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner, balking at a 25-per-cent slash in his reported $90,000 salary, is one of 20 major league baseball players who today may be classified as holdouts.

A survey of the training camps by The Associated Press showed there are 11 in the National League and nine in the American who haven't come to terms with their team. March 1 is the accepted deadline for contract signings.

Cleveland Indians have three of their highest-priced stars in the "gimme more" category. They are pitcher Early Wynn, a 23-game winner in 1952 who wants $35,000; centrefielder Larry Doby seeking $30,000, and second baseman Bob Avila, $23,000.

Three Cleveland second-line pitchers—Mickey Harris, Lloyd Dickey and Jose Santiago—haven't come to terms yet.

ASKS $40,000

Alvin Dark, New York Giants' veteran shortstop and field captain, is asking $40,000, some $7,000 more than the Giants want to pay.

New York Yankees' two holdouts were cleaned up Monday night with the announcement that Gene Woodling had accepted $24,000 and Johnny Mize, World Series hero, had agreed to $15,000—a slight cut from last season.

Most critical situation involves Kiner, the perennial National League home-run King.

Kiner, who batted only .244 last season, said he had airmailed acceptance of an offer of $76,500 made at a California conference Feb. 13.

But in Havana, Branch Rickey said he had changed his mind and any further negotiations would have to start with a 25-per-cent cut.

Hiawatha Gets EPL Series

KEENE (ENS). — With Jeff Stock flying to score no less than nine goals and help on three more, Hiawatha racked up a 19-2 win over Apsley here Monday to sweep their EPL semi-finals in two straight. The victors open the best-of-five loop finals here tonight against Keene, that team erasing Young's Point in two straight.

The Hiawatha first line was hot all night in a fine showing. The game was lively enough with Hiawatha drawing eight of 12 penalties, these including majors and misconducts to Batten and L. Sellaby.

Jeff Stock scored six goals in the first period and aided on another. Cowie counted two and Thomson one, Cowie assisting on two, and Paudash, Killingbeck, and Sellaby once each. In the second, Paudash, Cowie, G. Sellaby and L. Sellaby hit the mark, J. Stock assisting twice and G. Sellaby once. Watson scored for Apsley from Houle. The final frame saw Murray get the other Apsley goal from Houle. J. Stock sank three more for Hiawatha, with Morgan, Musgrave, and Paudash getting one each. Cowie had two assists, singles going to Musgrave, Morgan and G. Sellaby. Teams:

Apsley—Goal, Peters; defence, Muray, Delahaye; centre, J. Watson; wings, Howden, Houle; alternates, Brown, Smith, Rowley, D. Tucker, W. Tucker, Batten, McCagherty.

Hiawatha — Goal, Macdonald; defence, Killingbeck, Close; centre, J. Stock; wings, Paudash, Cowie; alternates, Anderson, Thomson, Musgrave, Morgan, L. Sellaby, G. Sellaby, G. Stock.

Bancroft Takes First In Final

BANCROFT (ENS)—The Bancroft Pontiacs and a strong Tamworth club began the final series for the Hastings-Addington league hockey championship here on Friday night. A sellout crowd of 900 fans saw the local crew defeat a team which has given them strong opposition all season, by an 8-4 score. The Tamworth club was the only one to beat the Pontiacs in league play this season. Madoc took them once in the play-offs at Madoc but they remain undefeated on their home ice.

The game was hard fought and fast despite an ice surface which became a little heavy toward the end. Eight penalties were handed out with the Pontiacs drawing five.

First period action saw two neat goals by Ted Maxwell and a single by Ross Severin for the home team. O. Rombough scored the lone Tamworth goal of the period.

In the second frame Pontiacs goals by Ross Severin, Norm Brough, Bob Cromrie and Tamworth tallies by T. Hinch and Brady gave the local boys a 3-goal edge.

Bob Green and Stu Stringer pushed in one each in the third and G. Marshall scored for Tamworth.

The second game of the best-of-seven series will be played at Tamworth this week, probably on Tuesday night if ice conditions are satisfactory.

The teams:

Bancroft: Goal, A. Young; defence, J. Hattin, L. Dougall; wings, B. Comrie, N. Brough; centre, E. Brough; alternates, B. Ramsbottom, T. Maxwell, R. Green, R. Severin, D. Maxwell, B. Delyea, F. Bruce, S. Stringer, G. McAlpine.

Tamworth: Goal, B. Storring; defence, T. Jones, T. Holmes; wings, R. Martin, K. Weese; centre, D. McDonald; alternates, L. Munroe, T. Hinch, R. Cox, G. Marshall, O. Rombough, M. Fisher, H. Rombough, T. Brady, G. Brady.

CITY CARPETBALL

Schedule for the week of March 9: Glens No. 1 vs. Fire Hall No. 4; Red Patch No. 11 vs. Legion No. 5; Legion No. 10 vs. Legion No. 7; Legion No. 12 vs. Orphans No. 2; Legion No. 3 vs. LOL No. 6; Fire Hall No. 9 vs. LOL No. 8.

Results of last week's play: The postponed game between Glens No. 1 and LOL No. 6 was played at the Legion. The first game was tied at 5-all in the fourth frame then No. 1 went ahead and continued their lead, winning a close 13-8 game. The second game was 4-0 in No. 6's favour in the fourth end but in the remaining frames No. 1 packed a three and two four ends to emerge with the victory 14-10.

At the SOE Hall. Orphans No. 2 met SOE No. 8. For the first game No. 8 only succeeded in scoring five singles and lost it to No. 2 by a 12-5 score. No. 2 was behind in the second game but by scoring a big six end in the sixth frame went into the lead. No. 8 was not to be denied as they scored in the next four ends and while No. 2 finished strong they lost 13-12.

The following games were played at the Legion Hall: Legion No. 10 met Red Patch No. 11. No. 11 went ahead in the first game and were never overtaken by their opponents as they won 12-7. The second game was No. 10's all the way as they kept No. 11 to three scattered ends winning 16-8.

The first game between Legion No 7 vs Fire Hall No 4 saw No 7 go into lead and hold the Fire laddies to a total of nine while they collected 15. The second game saw Legion score a big seven in the second frame. No. 4 tied it at 7-all in fifth end and went ahead to take the game by a 20-12 score. Glens No. 1 came from behind to make it 5-all in the eighth frame against Legion No. 5 and outscored their opponents in the last four ends to win 10-7. In the second game No. 5 tied at 3-all in the fourth frame but from there on the Glens scored most of the ends and won 17-9.

At the Fire Hall, Legion No. 3 won a close game from Fire Hall No. 9 by a 13-11 score. The second game was also a nip and tuck affair. No. 9 came from behind to make it 8-all in the eighth frame and went on to take the game by a 14-10 score.

Once again there is a postponed game as LOL No. 6 vs. Legion No. 12 failed to play. This game must be played this week; also the completion of the game between Fire Hall's teams No. 4 and No. 9.

Don't forget the Gracie's Memorial Doubles on Wednesday, March 4.

Woodville Puckists Rub Out Millbrook

MILLBROOK (ENS) — Woodville's speed merchants administered a convincing coup de grace to the local intermediates in a Saturday evening game in Woodville to eliminate Millbrook from the ORHA playdowns. Even with the handwriting on the wall the Brooks went all out to make a series of it and the 14-7 score is misleading as far as the action was concerned.

Woodville started off at a merry clip and Hubbeard had to retrieve the puck from the rigging five times before the Green Shirts became acclimatized. Cameron passed to Pethick for the first one and picked up the second himself assisted by Goad and McGillivray. McDowell was out of play momentarily picking up a replacement for a broken stick and McGillivray and Cramer grabbed the opportunity to breeze in for a counter. At the 12:00 minute mark Butler fired a shot that caromed into the net off a skate and tallied another a couple of minutes later when Smith, prone on the ice, slithered a perfect pass out to him from behind the Millbrook net to prove that the "horizontal stance" has a greatly underrated place in hockey. Millbrook came back into the picture with two quick goals by Seabrooke from McDowell on a pair of dazzling rushes to wind up the first period.

Millbrook missed in a feverish scramble in front of the Woodville net when they had six successive slaps at the puck in some exciting action. Pethick scored from Cameron and Smith from Stoddart to restore Woodville's commanding lead. Millbrook defensemen were adopting movements from the hula and the adagio dances in a desperate attempt to stop the fast travelling Woodvillites. Dawson missed an open corner on a first try but McDowell fed him the rebound from the boards and he made no mistake on the second attempt. McGillivray went through alone in a neat scoring effort. Ginn got jugged for high sticking and a Cameron from Pethick rush notched another counter. Walling, from McDowell, nullified this a minute later. Play roughened at this point and the teams took turns in successfully killing off double penalties. Earl Hutchison came close on a sizzling shot that hit the cross bar.

The third period opened with the "Strange Interlude." It all started with a somewhat heated discussion as to the rights of a referee to call time to allow a goalkeeper to retrieve his wandering headgear. After much waving of arms, tongues and rule books the curtain descended with Wright sitting out a misconduct penalty and a young lady who clobbered a referee on the ear leaving the arena. When play was resumed Ginn scored from Lunn and Moore got it right back. Cameron, of the "sparkle plenty" line, then sank the neatest marker of the evening with a Morenz-like touch. Walling and McDowell got in the clear in a lamplighting dash. Butler converted a pass from McInnes and Pethick counted with a Santa Claus assist from D. Edmonds of Millbrook. Pethick also did the chores on the next one before passing the puck to Cameron to nudge it into the net. Walling finished the free scoring affair by banging in Reg. Edmonds' pass.

Smith of Millbrook and Carpenter of Sutton cooled out any incipient rhubarbs without much difficulty, as the Baker-coached crew played it very clean.

Woodville: Goal, Sweet; defence, Currie. Goad; forwards, Cameron, Pethick, McInnis; alternates, Moore, Cramer, Stoddart, Smith, McGillivray, Butler.

Millbrook: Goal, Hubbeard; defence, R. Edmonds, Dawson; forwards, Walling, McDowell, Seabrooke; alternates, Wright, Ginn, Lunn, D. Edmonds, Ginn, E. Hutchison.

Dog-fight discourager

WE KNOW one bellicose dog who won't welcome the latest thing in aluminum: an electric dog-prod. Next time Towser rushes into battle, you can nonchalantly produce this two-foot aluminum rod and apply it to the handiest part of the dog's anatomy. The resulting shock is quite harmless, but they say a few "treatments" cure the pugnacity of even the toughest tyke.

Speaking of electricity, Canadians can take pride that the largest stranded electrical cable ever made for an overhead transmission line has been delivered by Alcan's Shawinigan Falls plant to the West Coast, to carry power to our new smelter now a-building at Kitimat. Western Rinks Start Fast In Trophy Quest

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

SUDBURY (CP)—Western rinks are off to a flying start in their quest for the Canadian curling championship which has gone to the West 18 times.

The four rinks which won both their games in Monday's first two rounds are all from the west—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba.

But either Alberta or Saskatchewan will fall behind in this morning's third round when they meet in the only game involving two leaders.

In other morning games, Manitoba meets Prince Edward Island, British Columbia faces Northern Ontario, Newfoundland is pitted against Ontario and New Brunswick takes on Nova Scotia. Quebec drew the bye.

New Brunswick sits out the afternoon session of the round-robin spiel while Prince Edward Island meets Nova Scotia; B.C., Alberta; Ontario, Northern Ontario; Newfoundland, Quebec; and Manitoba, Saskatchewan.

No evening play is scheduled tonight when the annual banquet will be held.

NEARLY LOST

British Columbia just about lost the evening game. The Trail rink edged Newfoundland, which showed surprising strength after an 18-7 drubbing by Saskatchewan in the afternoon. The night game swung back and forth until the 11th end when B.C. chalked up a three to take a 9-7 lead. Newfoundland added one in the 12th. Final score 9-8.

Most of the crowd of 1,000 followed the Saskatchewan-Northern Ontario game, which reached its climax when Grant Watson, skip of the Port Arthur quartet, conceded at the end of the 9th end when the score was 15-5. It was an even battle during the first few ends until Jimmy Hill's boys from Delisle started rolling. In the ninth the Saskatchewan rink, one of the youngest at the five-day meet, scored a six.

The Ontario entry from Chatham, made up of veteran Pete Gilbert, his two sons, Bob and Gord and Jim Harrington, was downed 11-9 by Quebec after the Montreal entry had dropped a 14-5 decision to B.C., in the first round. It was Ontario's first game since they drew the first-round bye.

Neither Alberta nor Manitoba had much trouble racking up their second victories. Len Haw's Calgary mates, sporting cowboy hats, held a healthy lead throughout their game with Prince Edward Island and finally defeated the Charlottetown quartet 14-10. Frank Acorn, making his third appearance in the 'spiel, led his crew to a four-ender in the 11th to give a late boost to the P.E.I. count.

New Brunswick lost its second game to a rink skipped by Ab Gowanlock, the veteran from Dauphin, Man., who played on the 1938 championship rink. Manitoba started steady with a one in the first end, two in the second, two in the fourth, one in the fifth, and four in the seventh to swamp the Moncton four 14-6.

In the afternoon games, which started after a colorful parade from the 'spiel headquarters to the Sudbury arena, Manitoba and Nova Scotia played the closest game, Gowanlock's four coming out on top of a 9-8 score.

Other afternoon results: Saskatchewan 18, Newfoundland 7; Alberta 13, New Brunswick 6; Northern Ontario 14, Prince Edward Island 5; British Columbia 14, Quebec 5.

Urges More Police

GALT (CP)—Police chief Robert Carson, in his annual report released Monday, said Galt has the most understaffed force of any city of its size in Ontario. He requested two additional men to bring the strength up to 18 men, the usual number for a city of 21,000 population.

M. Selkirk Leads

M. Selkirk rolled high single of 353 and B. Nichols led in triples with 723 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League. M. Thompson's 535 was closest to the 542 blind score. Black's led teams with 3201 pinnage and a single of 1154. They blanked Collis, as 2-1 wins went to Marines over Aces, Bassel's over Sevenaires, Austin's against Cardinals, and Curtin's over Aces.

Good singles included: B. Nichols 295 and 255, L. Vincent 295, M. Bailey 284, B. Morrow 276, M. Payne 262, D. Martin 260, A. Anderson 255 and J. Pammett 253. Neat triples were: D. Martin 717, J. Moore 668, A. Anderson 667, B. Morrow 662, J. Brockley 655.

Lindsay Gets 4 Stolen From Him

DETROIT (AP) — "That evens it up," said Ted Lindsay. "He robbed me of four goals the last two times we were in Boston."

Lindsay, left winger for Detroit Red Wings, was talking about Monday night's 10-2 victory over Boston Bruins.

Terrible Ted scored four goals on Boston goalie Sugar Jim Henry as the high-flying Red Wings stretched their National Hockey League lead to eight points.

"I had never scored four goals in one game before," said the Wings' 27-year-old veteran. "But this was a good time to do it. Sugar Jim robbed me of four goals in our last two games in Boston. So this makes us even."

Lindsay, who is playing his ninth season in the NHL, put on a spectacular show for the 10,973 fans in the Olympia. It's doubted, however, that Henry appreciated it.

Swooping in on the Boston netminder from all angles, Lindsay scored three goals in a wild second-period assault and then added No. 4 in the final period. That gave him 29 goals for the season.

He'd probably score more often, too, if he didn't spend so much time in the penalty box. One of the toughest players around, he's served more than 100 minutes.

Lindsay is glad of one thing, though. That's the fact that Chuck Rayner, who used to play the nets for New York Rangers, isn't around much anymore.

"That's one guy I couldn't beat," Lindsay explained.

Tax Rate Up 1 Mill

BRANTFORD (CP)—A tax rate of 64 mills, just one mill higher than last year, was struck by the city council at a special meeting Monday night.

NHL Old Timers Play Benefit To Aid Veterans

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nearly a half-century of hockey greats jammed into an hour's action in Vancouver Forum tonight.

It's the annual old-timers' benefit game staged by the B. C. Hockey Players Benevolent Society.

Proceeds from the evening go to assist old-timers whose pocketbooks have dimmed with the years.

Hockey's greats from across Canada turn out to do their bit and make the line-up read like a quick flip through the record book.

It's Walter (Turk) Broda in one net and Cecil (Tiny) Thompson in the other.

Back on skates are old-timers Fred (Cyclone) Taylor, Les (The Silver Fox) Patrick, Walter (Babe) Pratt, Mac and Neil Colville, Paul Runge, Leroy Goldsworthy, Sweeny Schriner, Bucko McDonald, Muzz Patrick, Tip O'Neill, Gordon (Duke) Keats and many others.

Taylor is the organizer of the old-time classic, along with Clint Smith, Percy Hicks, and other directors of the society.

OTHER BIDS

Bids now are in from Ottawa for many of the players to attend a similar benefit in the capital city.

An innovation this year will make sure that the passing years get proper attention on the time-clock.

Veterans of the 1920s will perform in one-minute stretches and players of 1930-35 will play for five minutes. Youngsters from 1935 on will play for 10-minute periods.

Probably the highlight for many of the fans will be a chance to compare the two great goaltenders, mulling over their rank in the hockey honor-roll.

Goldsworthy, distinguished graduate of Montreal and Boston, picks Thompson as the greatest.

There's always a touch of sadness too, connected with the annual affair.

This year, on behalf of the hockey Hall of Fame in Kingston, Ont., Mrs. Si Griffis will be presented with a scroll in memory of the hockey immortal who died shortly before his election to the hall this year.

Escapes, Truck Wrecked

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Although his panel truck was wrecked, Isaac Wrigglesworth, 56, RR 1, Otterville, escaped with only a bruised knee when the truck was struck by a Canadian National Railways train a mile east of Norwich Monday night. Police believe the driver started across the tracks, saw the train and swerved alongside the tracks to avoid it.

Study New Sites For Towns To Be Flooded By Seaway

MOULINETTE, Ont. (CP)—Communities to be inundated by the building of the St. Lawrence seaway must be restored to the greatest extent possible in new locations, Transport Minister Chevrier said Monday night.

Speaking in one of the half-dozen small Ontario centres that will be engulfed by the 32-mile-long hydro-power pool of the project, Mr. Chevrier urged townsfolk to start dealing with the problems now.

In an address prepared for representatives of all the communities that will be submerged, he said the flooding will occur in the spring about three years from the start of construction. The St. Lawrence river front between Cornwall and Prescott will be affected.

While it is too early to present a clear-cut solution to the communities' problems, Mr. Chevrier said, they could be listed as: Preserving the scenic beauty of the area; rehabilitating the affected communities, and compensating individual property owners.

There was need for foresight and planning to ensure that the new lake could be developed with new scenic values to compensate for those destroyed.

Mr. Chevrier expressed hope that in each case a new town would be established above high-water mark, laid out on a modern basis with all modern conveniences.

He urged co-ordination in planning among the municipalities and other interests with the Ontario hydro-electric commission, which is to build the power end of the seaway for Canada and which will be mainly responsible for making the adjustments with those in the area to be flooded.

Useful Course

CALGARY (CP)—The fire department plans special courses to teach baby sitters what to do in case of fire. Certificates will be presented to the baby-sitters who complete the course which stresses evacuation of children from burning homes.

Brown Succeeds MacNamara In Labor Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Monday that Arthur MacNamara will retire as deputy minister of labor Wednesday—his 68th birthday—and will be succeeded by Arthur H. Brown, assistant deputy.

The double move involving the $13,500-a-year job, one of the top posts in the federal civil service, was forecast unofficially 10 days ago.

Mr. MacNamara, deputy minister for 10 years, is rounding out his third one-year extension beyond the 65-year statutory retirement age—the most any deputy has received. He was deputy public works minister for Manitoba before moving to Ottawa to a job that involved direction of Canada's wartime selective service.

The 57-year-old successor, a lawyer and recognized expert in labor law, has been in the federal service since 1929 and is vice-chairman—acting chairman for the last two years—of the Canada labor relations board.

A native of Huntingdon, Que., Mr. Brown has filled several federal positions including those of secretary-treasurer and legal adviser to the Canadian farm loan board, chairman of the dependents' allowance board of the defence department and member of that department's dependents' board of trustees.

Mr. Brown joined the labor department in 1943 as legal adviser. He became assistant deputy two years ago.

Of a quiet and somewhat diffident personality, Mr. Brown is known among his fellow employees as a hard worker with a meticulous regard for precision in his work.

He served as a gunner overseas in the First World War and was wounded several times.

Army Borrows RCMP's Horses

OTTAWA (CP)—The army has become so mechanized that it must apply to the RCMP to get five horses.

An army official disclosed Monday that the RCMP has agreed to turn over five of its black beauties to Canadian officers who will ride them in the Queen's Coronation procession in London June 2.

"We just haven't any suitable horses of our own," the official said. "In fact I don't know if we have any left at all."

One of them will be mounted by Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Canada's wartime army commander overseas and special aide-de-camp to the Queen, and the others by four Canadian Army officers forming part of the special Commonwealth Coronation escort.

The five will be among the 46 the RCMP is shipping to London for the Coronation. Thirty-five will be mounted by a contingent of Mounties during the procession and special "musical ride" performances which may be given during Coronation ceremonies. The rest of the horses will be used as spares.

The highly-trained steeds are veteran travellers. They've been to many points in the United States on "musical ride" jaunts.

This is the first time RCMP horses are being shipped to London since the 1937 coronation ceremonies, said superintendent Lloyd Bingham of the Mounties' adjutant branch.

Four Drama Groups Take Part In Festival

SARNIA (CP)—Amateur theatre groups from Galt, London, St. Marys, Welland and Woodstock will participate in the Western Ontario Drama League festival here March 11 to 14.

Woodstock Little Theatre will lead off March 11 with Ruth Gordon's "URS Ago;" followed Thursday by the St. Marys Little Theatre production of J. M. Barrie's "Mary Rose." London Little Theatre will produce the Richardson and Berney fantasy "Dark of the Moon" Friday. Moss Hart's "Light Up the Sky" will be produced Saturday by the Galt Little Theatre.

John Allen, British actor, playwright and director, will adjudicate.

Victoria Newspapers Bought By Albertan

VICTORIA (CP)—Appointment of J.G. Maxwell Bell of Calgary as president of Victoria Press Ltd. was announced Monday.

The announcement added that H. T. Matson of Victoria, former president, has disposed of the balance of his interest in Victoria Press Ltd. to Mr. Bell, and resigned all his offices in the company.

Victoria Press Ltd. publishes the Victoria Times, an afternoon newspaper, and the Victoria Colonist, a morning newspaper.

Mr. Bell is publisher of the Albertan in Calgary.

Toronto's Education Costs Hit $2.4 Million

TORONTO (CP)—Education in Toronto this year is likely to cost a record $24,763,000 — $1,457,000 more than the previous high.

The board of education set the cost figure tentatively Monday and planned final consideration Thursday.

The increase is due mainly to the salary bill of $17,464,178, up $1,100,000 from last year.

BOYS AND GIRLS TOGETHER get rifles from a People's Police officer in Red Germany for Free German Youth arms training.

Stalin's German Children

How To Kill Americans Primer For Red Germans

By FRED SPARKS

BERLIN (NEA) — "Boys and girls! Here is how to kill an American."

Ror all realistic purposes that is exactly what the seven million members of the Communist Free German Youth (FDJ) are being taught.

From almost the beginning of the FDJ program rifle shooting is the number one pastime. Town sharp-shooters win elaborate prizes and often jolly free-loading junkets to Moscow.

Target ranges have the bull's-eye superimposed over sketches of American GIs. Glider pilots dive at dummy models of U.S. planes. Observation lessons feature silhouettes of our aircraft, tanks, artillery.

Each day political troop leaders hammer, hammer, hammer home one theme: "America is your arch enemy—prepare to fight her."

We are blamed for all horrors, from the last war to the mumps.

In an exhibition hall in East Berlin I saw blue-uniformed FDJ youngsters march with the precision of Radio City ushers to witness "proof" of "American germ warfare."

Under little glass cases, like butterfly displays in museums back home, were ugly bugs, perhaps raised in bed.

These insects, according to the placards, practically are briefed in the White House, then wing to Korea to spread dreadful disease.

In national Communist youth headquarters on Unter den Linden I noted a huge drawing of a grossly fat American sergeant (in need of a shave) who was agile enough to chew a huge cigar and at the same time spit bombs at Chinese children wallowing in rice paddies.

From six to 14, Uncle Joe's German nephews and nieces are herded into the FDJ's "Pioneers," where they do squads right and politics left.

Russian-trained experts watch them—like a housewife watches the butcher cut her steak—to weed out kids with flabby biceps and those who doubt that communism can cure anything, including the common cold.

The local FDJ Gruppenfuehrers are invariably in their 20's and were captured by the Russians when the old Wehrmacht froze like a sticky ice tray. Communist recruiting agents tapped them for "re-education" and service for Fuehrer Stalin in the post-war Reich.

At 14 the Pioneers, as much alike as teeth in a comb, graduate to the FDJ proper. After school they march to local FDJ clubs—usually the best buildings in town—for endless political classes and recordings, not by Fats Waller but to party poo-bahs. In fact, bee-bop is banned and cowboy pictures are labeled "decadent."

Muscle building sports take priority, although in this era fancy, frightful weapons can slow down a guy able to tear two telephone books in half as easily as the 97-pound weakling who never touched a barbell.

If Oto fancies himself a Luftwaffe flyboy, he'll join a glider group, build and pilot his own crate. Recently FDJ received the first of many promised light Russian trainer planes.

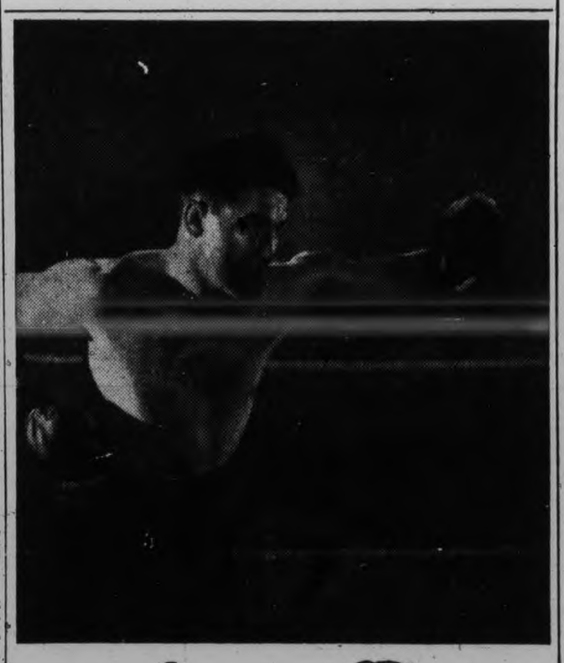
If Fritz would like to serve Deutschland on U-boat or warship he'll acquire nautical knowledge about navigation, tides, engines.

If Lily doesn't sway when blood flows she'll be tapped for active hospital training.

Tomorrow's Wehrmacht warriors get additional on-the-spot training at naval bases and airdromes. A current call is for adventurous lads with telephone wire nerves for "Special Mission" units, which will feature the delight of a parachute drop from a Red Army plane. There are spring and summer encampments under canvas and in the field.

If that isn't enough to keep Communist youngsters out of the pool rooms, they do "voluntary" labor 30 hours monthly. Along East Berlin's Stalinallee I saw "youth battalions," in a bitter blizzard, dig foundations and haul bricks for Moscow-styled buildings designed to make the boulevard East Germany's Fifth Avenue.

Their pay would rocket the blood pressure of a CIO organizer—00 marks daily. Their only award is Bolshevik blah from lamppost loudspeakers.



A standard joke is: "Does your son do voluntary labor?"

Reply: "Oh, yes, he has to."

At 17 the kids spend six full months in "Dienst fure Deutschland," a labor service corps currently erecting barracks for the army at Pasawalk, near Mecklenburg.

They're well ready, at 18, to flesh out the fast expanding East German Wehrmacht, just served the choicest cut of the Communist Reich's budget.

With such a background any inducted boy will bring smiles to the face of the wicked old sergeant raised on chewing tobacco and lemon juice.

Ottawa Council Decides On Gowns

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa city council announced Monday night it has decided to garb itself in ceremonial finery for special occasions.

It confirmed a decision taken at a secret caucus Feb. 16 to order special robes from a London firm, robe makers to the Royal Family. The mayor will be in red, controllers in maroon and aldermen in dark blue.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton will wear her costume as the city's representative at the Coronation in June. It will be red silk with minever fur facings and cuffs, black satin and gold lace trim and a lace neckpiece. The ensemble will be completed with a new tricorne hat and her present civic chain of office.

Controllers are to be decked out in maroon robes trimmed with gold lace and a cockade hat with a gold button. Aldermen will have the same hat, but with blue velvet-faced robes.

Four Courses Open To UN In Korea Says Bradley

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley today listed four courses of military action the United Nations could take in Korea. He warned that some of them carry the risk of touching off all-out war with the Chinese Reds, or even starting a third world war.

Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, said he is committed neither for nor against them.

Here are the alternatives which Bradley set forth in a prepared speech:

1. Get out of Korea — an action "which I believe the American people and their allies would not condone" because it would jeopardize UN authority and give communism free rein in Asia.

2. Continue the war as is, keeping up pressure, keeping down UN casualties, inflicting the maximum possible casualties on Red battlefront forces.

3. Continue the pressure in Korea — but be ready to "take the additional military steps, from time to time, where a military advantage might accrue." Bradley did not say whether this might mean a UN offensive. The hope obviously would be the pressure might eventually tire Red China and lead her to quit.

4. Take any one or any combination of military steps to get a decision in Korea "even while we realize it might eventually involve us in all-out war with Communist China." Broadening of the war in this manner, Bradley said, "might pin down the bulk of our military power on the continent of Asia, and could eventually develop into world war III."

Bradley addressed the Palm Beach Round Table, a cultural organization which brings various experts and authorities here to lecture.

Bradley cautioned that "we would have to assess the risk of each step taken," among which he included possible use of atomic weapons.

"We would have to be prepared for the counter-measures the Communists could take and the counter-measures that eventually the Soviet Union might take because of the Sino-Russian Treaty (the pact between the Peiping Red government and Moscow)."

Before anything is done, the general said, he thought the UN and particularly the U. S. "would have to make long-term foreign policy decisions on future relations in the Far East."

STROKE BRINGS STALIN NEAR DEATH

Can Win In Korea Without Spread Of War: Van Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today the United Nations forces can win a military victory in Korea without enlarging that war into a greater conflict. The former 8th army commander in Korea said also he knows of no other way to break the deadlock over the prisoners-of-war issue—the great snag of armistice talks. With the general in the witness chair of the House of Representatives armed services committee, Representative James Patterson (Rep.-Conn.) asked: "Is there any solution to the problem of interchange of prisoners?"

Van Fleet replied in one word: "Victory."

Patterson: "Other than that, there's nothing else?"

Van Fleet: "That's all."

Van Fleet urged that the two-year draft period be extended to 30 or 36 months.

He told the committee that this extension is needed "to better prepare our boys to live" in combat by giving them more and better training.

He endorsed by inference one of the pronouncements by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, fired by former President Truman as Far Eastern commander.

Representative Paul Cunningham (Rep. Ia.) asked: "There is no substitute for victory in Korea" (MacArthur's words.)

Van Fleet: "Not in my opinion."

Van Fleet, home for retirement, testified for 1½ hours at a public session of the House committee. Then the committee went into a closed session with him to hear more details which could not be brought out in public for security reasons.

HOLDS REASONS

The general, in saying a military victory could be won without enlarging the war, said that was his "personal opinion" but that he would have to withhold his reasons for that view until the closed meeting.

During a general discussion of the situation in Korea, Van Fleet said there is no serious supply shortage but that replacement of men is not satisfactory either in numbers or quality of troops.

Van Fleet called the present war situation of stabilized lines a "sitdown of our own choice." He said it is "not a checkmate, not even a stalemate."

Carl Vinson (Dem. Ga.) asked the former Korean commander: "If an offensive is launched, wouldn't that be broadening the war?"

"Not necessarily," replied the general. "That's my opinion It would not."

Van Fleet repeated a belief he had expressed in Korea when he was retiring from his command—that the UN could have won a military victory in the spring of 1951.

He described the Korean war situation as a "sitdown of our own choice."

He said the 8th army had "complete supremacy" over the Communists in three vital areas, listing them as:

1. Quality of troops.
2. Firepower of weapons.
3. Mobility and flexibility to meet new situations.

Mossadegh Holds Offensive In Iran Dispute

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh kept up the offensive today in his struggle for power with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, demanding that Parliament intervene in alleged royal court intrigues against his government.

The move disclosed Tuesday night by the semi-official newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz as Tehran returned closer to normal after riotous demonstrations in which three persons were killed and an estimated 60 injured since Saturday.

Bakhtar Emrooz said Mossadegh is insisting that Parliament approach the royal court and demand elimination of intrigues. The newspaper asserted that the premier has threatened to call a referendum of the people if the palace does not take action against the alleged plotters.

COULD ACT

If the referendum is favorable to him, the newspaper said, the premier will be in a position to act for himself. If the vote goes against him, he will resign, it added.

The capital city was quiet today. Shops and bazaars that closed down at the start of the trouble Saturday night were beginning to open. With the apparent passing of the crisis, 28 pro-Mossadegh deputies moved out of their refuge in the Parliament Buildings and returned home.

U. S. Ambassador Loy Anderson and Mossadegh met for 2½ hours today to discuss the British-American proposals for ending the long drawn out oil nationalization dispute. There was no official announcement on the results.

IN GRAVE CONDITION in Moscow is Premier Joseph Stalin, who suffered a paralyzing stroke late Sunday night. Russian doctors say his condition has become worse in the last few hours.

Prays For Conversion

VATICAN CITY —(AP)— Pope Pius is offering prayers for the Russian people in connection with the grave illness of Stalin, the Vatican said today. A reporter asked if the pontiff also was praying for Stalin. "Yes, he is praying for his conversion," the Vatican informant said.

US Resolution Won't Affect Pacts: Taft

Say Senate Leader Breaks With Ike Over Newest Revision

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Robert Taft of Ohio said today that President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles agree that a resolution to condemn Russian "enslavement" of other people in no way affects the big power agreements of the Second World War.

Taft's statement was in reply to Democratic taunts that by revising the wording of the resolution originally submitted by Dulles the Republicans had "emasculated" a cold war propaganda device sought by the President.

The revision may have jeopardized chances for the overwhelming vote Dulles has said it needs to have any propaganda effect.

Taft declared in an interview:

NO EFFECT

"Both Mr. Dulles and President Eisenhower agree that nothing in the present resolution is intended to affect the validity or the status —whatever it is—of the Yalta agreements in one way or another."

Taft, the Republican Senate leader, would not go so far as to say, however, that Eisenhower and Dulles specifically approve an addition made to the resolution Tuesday by the Senate foreign relations committee.

(The New York Times said that Taft "broke with and defeated the Eisenhower administration" on the first important foreign policy issue to be presented to the Republican Congress. The newspaper said that under Taft's influence, the committee voted to harden Eisenhower's proposed declaration on the wartime Yalta and Potsdam agreements by the addition of language opposed by the Democrats.)

YALTA PACT

At Yalta President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had agreed to let the Russians have former Polish territory and island positions off Japan in exchange for a Soviet promise to enter the Second World War against Japan. All this was confirmed at Potsdam in the same year, 1945.

Eisenhower's resolution did not seek to repudiate these territorial concessions o to blame Roosevelt or President Truman, who signed for the U. S. at Potsdam.

The President asked Congress to adopt a manifesto accusing the Russians of having "perverted" the terms of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements into instruments for the "subjugation of free peoples and declaring that the United States would never acquiesce in such enslavement."

By a vote of 8 to 6, largely on party lines, the committee wrote into the resolution a declaration that its adoption would "not con-

Malenkov Likely Successor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Western speculation on Satlin's successor centred today on three men, all deputy prime ministers. They are: Georgi Mamilianovich Malenkov—at 50, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party. A dark, stocky man who hates the West, he has been built up by Stalin over the years to become one of the super-architects of the new Soviet world. Born in Orenburg, a town in the Cossack country southwest of the Urals, he joined the Red Army in 1919 as a propaganda official and rose rapidly. By 1924 he was secretary of the Komsomol, the Soviet youth organization. He next worked for the Communist party's central committee and then became Stalin's private secretary.

After Hitler invaded Russia, Stalin appointed Malenkov to Russia's five-man supreme war cabinet. He emerged as a likely successor to Stalin when he delivered the opening speech at last fall's big Russian Communist party congress.

Lavrenty Pavlovich Beria—Russia's super-policeman, with supervision over the dread state secret police, and atomic development as well.

MYSTERY MAN

Among a group of leaders obsessed with silence and security, he is the mystery of mysteries. Not until 1938—when Stalin called him up from his post as Communist party secretary in the Georgian republic to head the NKV —the secret police—was his name mentioned prominently among Russia's leaders.

Like Stalin, a Georgian, Beria was born at Merkheuli, a small village on March 29, 1899. During the Second World War, his task as secret police chief increased enormously. Since then, he has had a major hand in the expansion of communism in satellite and occupied countries through his police agents in and out of the armed forces, stemming from the case of the nine doctors accused of plotting to kill Soviet leaders, may mean he is on shaky ground.

Vyacheslov Mikhailovich Molotov —one of the few remaining "old Bolsheviks," the men who brought the Soviet Union into being in the 1917 October revolution.

A former foreign minister and onetime prime minister, he is 62. Born in the Viatsk province of central European Russia to a fairly well-to-do family named Scriabin,

MOST LIKELY successor to Stalin in the event of the Russian premier's death is Georgi Malenkov, now secretary of the Communist party. A Cossack, Malenkov is known for his hatred of the west.

Dragged By Train Girl Hurt Slightly

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A locomotive dragged 15-year-old Pat Huddleston 65 yards today, but she escaped with only a cracked breast bone.

A passenger in a car driven by Jacob Jenzen, 22, which collided with the diesel engine at a level crossing here, she was thrown onto the front of the engine. Janzen escaped with shock.

Cut Light Music

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio cut all light music from its broadcasts today after announcing Stalin's illness. Otherwise programs were normal.

Expect Little Policy Change In Soviet On Stalin's Death

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Reaction around the world to the announcement of Joseph Stalin's serious illness:

WASHINGTON — Specialists in Russian affairs say anything can happen when Stalin dies, but Georgi M. Malenkov is considered to have inside track for his job. Officials not optimistic that Stalin's death would bring any great change in Russian policy.

LONDON — Prime Minister Churchill, who mave survive as last of the wartime "Big Three," offers sympathy to Russians. British officials recall past fears of rash action, in the event of a struggle over Stalin's job.

BONN, Germany — Chancellor Adenauer says Stalin's death would not let the world relax, and "should only strengthen us to pursue the course on which we have embarked."

BELGRADE — Semi-official press agency sees implication in Moscow announcement that Stalin already is dead. Yugoslavs wonder how change in power would affect Moscow's fight with Tito.

VIENNA — Western diplomats believe no changes are likely in control of satellite countries in view of recent purges by men in power—but dissatisfied elements are bound to probe for weaknesses. "The purges are likely to continue," says one official. "The Communist system needs a constant bogey man to keep in power."

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Nehru learns news as he arrives for parliamentary session. There is widespread speculation that Stalin already was dead when the announcement of his illness was made.

TOKYO — Foreign office sources see no change in Russian policy. Believe Malenkov if named would continue efforts to woo Japan away from the West.

Fear Three Die In RCN Aircraft

HALIFAX (CP) — A naval aircraft crashed into calm Atlantic seas while on training exercises with a British submarine Tuesday night and its crew of three is feared dead.

Searchlights from six surface craft swept the crash scene some 20 miles off Halifax harbor all night but found only the Avenger's tail wheel and splintered wreckage.

The single-engine plane had been dropping flares in an attempt to locate the Royal Navy submarine Andrew, on loan to the Canadian Navy for anti-submarine training.

Missing in the crash:

Sub-Lt. James F. Washbrook, Vancouver.

LS. Ernest Marshall, Jasper, Ont.

LS. William Dutfield, Dartmouth, N. S.

All are 22.

Churchill Now Last Of Big 3 To Be Active

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The illness of Prime Minister Stalin leaves Prime Minister Churchill of Britain the only active member of the allied "Big Three" of the Second World War.

Stalin, Churchill and the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt composed the triumvirate. The three met together twice during the war, at Yalta in the Crimea and at Tehran in Iran.

Churchill Expresses Regret Stalin Ill

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill expressed his regret and sympathy today at the news that Prime Minister Stalin is gravely ill.

The 78-year-old British leader sent his private secretary, J. R. Colville, to the Soviet embassy this morning to express Churchill's "regret" and to "offer his sympathy," a government spokesman said.

Churchill also asked through his secretary if he might be "kept informed of Mr. Stalin's progress," the spokesman added.

"No Country Doing More" Pearson Tells N.Y. Forum

NEW YORK (CP)—Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, said in Town Hall Tuesday that "no country in the world of our size and position is doing more in practical terms to fulfill its international obligations and responsibilities."

Pearson, first of 21 Canadian statesmen, educationists, diplomats industrial and business executives and journalists who will participate in a forum, spoke on "Canada's International Situation and Point of View."

Canada, said Pearson, is fulfilling her international obligations and responsibilities "at a time when the development of new resources presents us with a great challenge and takes up much of our energy and our strength."

Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., spoke on "Canada's People and Historical Development."

Canada's development proceeded differently from that in the United States, he said.

In the U. S. the "apparatus of transportation and government had to catch up with the rapidity of settlement whereas in Canada there were long periods of waiting for the possibility of settlement to catch up with the projects set up for government and economic expansion."

Americans sometimes thought Canadians a little "slow," said Dr. Mackintosh, following with a remark that brought applause from the audience of more than 500 U.S. industrial and business executives:

"In terms of environment, the opposite has been true. There was nothing in Canada that was the counterpart of your wild and lawless west. In Canada the mounted police were there before the cattle rustler."

"Sometimes we have even had to wait for our neighbors to make up their minds," he said in a reference to U. S. delay in participating in the St. Lawrence seaway.

Satellite Bosses Reported Rushing to Moscow

By NATE POLOWETZKY

LONDON (AP)—Moscow announced today that Joseph Stalin is gravely ill after suffering a brain stroke. Leaders of the Communist satellites in Europe were reported to have been called to Moscow—adding to speculation that the Russian prime minister may already be dead. First word of the illness of the 73-year-old dictator came soon after sunup, in a Moscow broadcast saying he had suffered the stroke Sunday night—more than 48 hours earlier. Stalin was described as in a coma, with his body partly paralyzed and his condition grave.

There was immediate speculation among diplomats here that Stalin already was dead, and that the Communist party was leading up to the disclosure of that in easy stages. Then East Berlin associates of Walter Ulbricht, Communist boss of East Germany, reported he had flown to Moscow Tuesday night—on Moscow's orders. German sources said they understood top men in all the satellites had been called to Moscow.

GUESSWORK

A lot of guesswork was involved, pending a final clarification from Moscow but some Western diplomats said handling of the illness announcement supported their theory that the dictator was dead.

Conversely, others expressed belief no announcement would have been made at this time unless there were signs Stalin was on the mend. The announcement spoke of Stalin's "temporary withdrawal" from leadership of the Soviet Union and the Communist party.

Western correspondents in Moscow were unable, because of censorship, to indulge in any sort of speculation. Even the official announcement of Stalin's illness was held up in Moscow until it could be passed formally through censorship.

NEW LEADER READY?

There is the possibility that the matter of Stalin's successor may have been decided long ago. George M. Malenkov, a ruthless follower of Stalin's methods, has been mentioned most prominently in the West in the last year as the probable successor, but there is always a chance that other figures such as V. M. Molotov and L. P. Beria will be included in the new setup.

There is considerable doubt, too, whether a Soviet under new leadership would be any easier for the West to get along with.

Prime Minister Churchill, following the news closely, sent his private secretary to the Soviet embassy to express his regret at Stalin's illness and to "offer his sympathy."

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a group of visiting American editors and publishers that "if Stalin dies, the Free world should not relax but should continue to build up its strength against aggressive international communism."

Doctors Doubt Stalin To Live Over 48 Hours

LONDON (Reuters) — Medical science estimates Stalin is unlikely to survive another 48 hours.

Should the miracle occur he is doomed to a life of paralysis.

Doctors said it seemed clear that he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy caused by the rupture of blood vessels in the brain.

If a large vessel has been affected, death often follows within a short period. Even where some recovery seems to take place, the nutrition of the brain is so impaired that a recurrence of a haemorrhage is likely. The danger to life increases with each attack.

One specialist estimated Stalin's life expectancy at "a few hours," another at a maximum of two days. They said that if he did recover, it was unlikely he would be able to speak again or use his limbs properly.

He added that Stalin would not die until the blood burst in the middle of the brain.

SEVERE TEST

"The fact that he is breathing fast and with long pauses shows that vital centres of the brain are being severely tested," he said.

"Stalin obviously has had a big and progressive haemorrhage. I should imagine that his doctors are just trying to keep him alive as long as they can.

"But I should think he would die during the day if he is not already dead."

A world-famous physician who has treated royalty said "the prognosis is grave, and Stalin's condition is obviously very serious. First there is the blood pressure. Then his respiration is up to an amount that suggests he probably has got some heart failure causing congestion of the base of the lung."

Says CWU Head Spy School Grad

QUEBEC (CP)—Pat Walsh, who resigned last Friday from a number of Communist-front organizations, said Tuesday Gerard Fortin, president of the Canadian Woodworkers' Union, took three courses in sabotage and espionage last summer at a Communist secret school at Bracebridge, Ont.

Walsh also said he attended a meeting of principal Communist union organizers at a Montreal restaurant July 4, 1951. He said Harvey Murphy of Vancouver was present.

Walsh said plans were discussed for a survey of Sept Iles and Kob lake in Quebec's northshore mining district, for the possibility of establishing bases to be used in organization the following year for the United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Earlier Murphy said: "I have never heard of Walsh."

Queen Mary Spends "Fairly Good" Night

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mary, sick in bed for 10 days with a recurrence of gastric trouble, spent a "fairly good night," informants said today.

They described her general condition, however, as unchanged.

The 85-year-old Queen grandmother dealt with her correspondence as usual this morning, helped by members of her household.

Outlaw Candy Fags

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP)—The North Dakota house of representatives voted 68-39 Tuesday to outlaw the sale of candy cigarets in the state. Representative Arthur Link said candy cigarets "educate the small fry of America to accept something we consider not to be good for them."

Budget March 12

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost, who is also Ontario provincial treasurer, is expected to bring down his annual budget in the Legislature Thursday, March 12. It will be the 11th consecutive budget for Mr. Frost since he assumed the treasury portfolio in 1943, a record number for an Ontario treasurer. The old mark of nine was set before 1900 by Richard Harcourt.

Cut Off By Clouds

Copper Prospectors Marooned For Week

VICTORIA (CP) — Lowering clouds cut an aerial life-line to four copper prospectors in northern British Columbia, forcing them to spend seven icy days on a wind-swept mountain glacier.

The men staked 72 claims on an ice-covered 7,000-foot peak known as Leduc glacier. To win a staking race with another company, they were forced to ration food and sleep seven days in the snow.

Thorn Forrest, oldest of the party at 60, returned Tuesday to tell of the mountain ordeal. He was accompanied in the wind and snow by Tom Williams, Wendl Dawson and Howard Fowler.

Dawson, in 1931, found the copper deposits in rugged Alaska-B.C. borderland territory about 135 miles north of Prince Rupert.

At that time copper was selling at six cents a pound compared to 29 cents today. Dawson said he reported his discovery to "practically every big company" but all turned it down.

Results of the expedition were reported from Prince Rupert during the week-end, but the story began Feb. 15 when a pilot left the four men on the glacier after landing his small seaplane on the snow.

Full supplies and the backer of the staking party, Bill Richardson, were to arrive on a later flight. But the weather closed in.

The party was marooned with 10 pounds of meat, a loaf of bread, a pound of tea, four sleeping bags, a small tent and a gasoline stove.

By the third day, weather was still bad. Williams, established as leader of the party, decided on rationing.

The meat, all that remained, was cooked into a soup, each man getting two cups daily.

The men eventually travelled down the mountainside to timber level and set up a second camp, spending three more nights there.

The sky broke on the seventh day and the plane arrived on the glacier together with a long-delayed helicopter, held up at Prince Rupert by weather.

General Export Of Gas Seen Soon In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — The general export of natural gas at an early date was advocated Tuesday by Premier E. C. Manning.

Speaking in legislature debate on a Liberal motion urging the government to consider special legislation to ensure adequate gas reserves for Alberta's own requirements, Mr. Manning said it was "most urgent" that an adequate market for gas export be established as soon as possible. The number of capped wells and money invested in the industry was having a detrimental effect on exploration for gas and oil, he said.

At the present time there are 300 natural gas wells in the province, representing an investment of more than $18,000,000, and companies could not be expected to continue proving up gas reserves without a market and accompanying financial returns, Mr. Manning said.

EXPORT LIMITED

Last year the Social Credit government approved limited export from the Peace River district in northwestern Alberta.

In the provincial election campaign that followed, gas export was the main issue and Mr. Manning's administration was returned in a land-slide victory.

The Social Credit government favors export "at the earliest possible date" and will do all it possibly can to facilitate establishment of an adequate market, the Premier said.

Mr. Manning's statement brought a charge from CCF leader Elmer Roper that the government now appears ready to provide means for further export of gas without the recommendation of the Alberta petroleum and natural gas conservation board.

The Premier replied that the government's decisions still would be based on the board's recommendations.

But he added that the province's natural gas picture is good and the potential "tremendous." All the legislation needed to protect the interests of the Alberta consumer had been placed on the statutes.

AID FLOOD RELIEF—Thomas A. Stone (right), Canadian ambassador to the Netherlands, presents a cheque for 3,308 guilders (about $827) to aid in flood relief to Lt.-Gen. P. Alons, director of the Dutch national disaster fund at the Canadian Embassy in The Hague. The money was contributed by officers and men of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group at Hannover, Germany. Representing the brigade were Major R. A. Briggs (right rear), of Vancouver and Ottawa, and Capt. L. W. Garen (left rear), of Chatham, Ont. The brigade donated a similar amount, 309 pounds sterling, to the Lord Mayor's disaster fund, London, for flood victims in the United Kingdom.

Challies Defends Hydro Against Opposition Charge

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario hydro electric power commission, favorite punching bag of opposition critics in the last two weeks, was defended Tuesday in a 90-minute speech in the Legislature by Hon. George H. Challies, vice-chairman of the commission.

Mr. Challies, who sits in the cabinet as minister without portfolio, rose for the first time since three opposition members alleged irregularities in contracts, exhorbitant rates, and discrimination against Northern Ontario consumers.

The Grenville-Dundas member's talk was interrupted several times by questions from the opposition, which frequently resulted in caustic exchanges.

Last week Albert Wren (Lib-Lab—Kenora) said many hydro officials "didn't know a volt from a jolt." Mr. Challies said they certainly knew the difference and Mr. Wren was the one likely to get a jolt.

CONTRACTS

Mr. Challies' defence of hydro centred on contracts awarded for power development on the Niagara river, rates charged northern mining companies, and the comparative rates in Quebec power companies.

He said he would speak later on hydro's contract with Canadian Comstock Company for conversion of Southern Ontario power from 25 to 60 cycles, which has been attacked by the opposition several times. They criticized the cost-plus basis on which the contract was let, stating that the original estimate of $191,000,000 has risen to $275,000,000 and may go higher.

Mr. Challies said the contract for a tunnel at the Sir Adam Beck generating station on the Niagara river was awarded to the two lowest bidders. J. B. Salsberg (Lab-Prog—Toronto St. Andrew) said hydro bought expensive equipment for the use of the contractors, but this was denied by Mr. Challies.

He said the standard mining agreement "is most liberal to the customers." Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver has said that high rates were forcing mines to restrict operations and in some cases were driving new industries across the border into Quebec.

ONTARIO CHEAPER

Mr. Challies said some power companies in Quebec were selling power for $40 a horsepower, but Ontario hydro supplies large blocks of power for $27.50 a horsepower up to 5,000 horsepower and lower rates for additional quantities.

Premier Frost said he had been promised any necessary assistance from Quebec Hydro in the event of shortages resulting from Monday's fire at the Chats Falls power plant on the Ottawa river.

The premier said it "was a fine gesture of goodwill" and he had expressed his appreciation to Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis.

CCF House Leader W. J. Grummet said a central building at an isolated location should be used for executions of condemned persons as a means of curbing "morbid interest."

BAD EXAMPLE

He said the hangings of Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson in Toronto's Don jail were an example of what happened when executions occurred in the centre of a city.

"Crowds gathered and I heard comments like 'they're on their way to the scaffold now.' Comments like these wouldn't be so prevalent if our condemned men were taken away from towns and put to death at an isolated place."

The Cochrane South member urged early completion of three roads in the Timmins district. They were the Warren Lake road, running southwest from Timmins toward Chapleau, the Lightning River road, serving the district south and east of Timmins, and a 16-mile uncompleted stretch of the Matachewan-Swastika road.

Several pieces of government legislation were introduced in the three-hour sitting. Included were bills to:

Allow annual inspection of elevators, escalators and ski tows, and revoke licences where lift devices were considered unsafe;

Forbid servicemen under 21 years of age from buying liquor or patronizing beverage parlors;

BOOST PENSIONS

Increase pension payments for widows of men killed in industrial accidents to $75 a month from $50, and for each dependent child to $25 a month from $12;

Amend the workmen's compensation act to provide payments to workmen employed outside the province by an Ontario firm, and for accidents in vehicles and aircraft used in their work;

Extend the time in which a police summons must be served from 10 to 15 days, to give police enough time to complete investigations;

Give the health department overriding authority over municipal boards of health in event of disputes on matters within the scope of the Public Health Act;

Make juvenile and family court judges eligible for provincial superannuation benefits and the cost-of-living bonus. At present, they are paid by municipalities. If the bill is passed they will be paid by the government, which will in turn be reimbursed by the municipalities.

Two Units Start At Chats Falls

FITZROY HARBOR (CP)—Two of the eight generating units in the giant 220,000-horsepower Chats Falls plant of the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario began turning out electrical energy Tuesday night, 36 hours after it was damaged by a $2,000,000 fire.

R. H. Saunders, commission chairman, said in Ottawa that within the next two or three days the plant will be back at half capacity with another two units cleaned up and put back into operation. This will mean a daily output of 120,000 horsepower.

Mr. Saunders praised the work of five employees on duty Monday when an explosion caused by a short circuit in an oil breaker touched off the blaze.

"These men undoubtedly saved the entire power plant by staying in there at great risk to their lives, getting the gates down and confining the fire to one section," he said.

The fire destroyed one generating unit and a frequency-changing unit.

stitute any determination by the Congress as to the validity or invalidity of any of the said agreements or understandings."

This was done over Democratic opposition to satisfy what Taft and Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep. N. J.) said were demands—largely from Republicans—that Congress should not affirm the agreements made by Roosevelt and Truman.

"A lot of people denounced the Yalta agreements in the campaign and now don't want to be put in the position of affirming them," Smith said.

BACK COMMITTEE

Despite the obvious risk that the Democrats, who condemned the change roundly might not go along, the Senate Republican policy committee voted unanimously to stand behind the committee's action. Its chairman, Senator William Knowland of California, said he hopes that after the Democrats study the revised resolution they will decide to support it.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas opened immediate fire with a declaration that he would "oppose any effort to attach partisan amendments that will jeopardize the President's prestige before the country and the world."

German Tonnage Up

HAMBURG (AP)—West German merchant fleet tonnage was increased by almost one-third during 1952, the German transport ministry said Tuesday. The fleet now includes 1,962 ships totalling 1,500,000 tons. Of these 167 ships with 340,000 tons were added last year.

Population Increases

LONDON (AP)—England and Wales had an estimated population of 43,940,000 at June 30 last year, the registrar-general's office reports. This is an increase of 140,000 from the June 30, 1951, figure. The estimate put the population of the London area at 8,364,000.

Adenauer Tells Free World Not To Relax

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today that "if Stalin dies, the Free world should not relax but should continue to build up its strength against aggressive international communism."

Adenauer made the statement to a group of visiting American editors and publishers as this capital buzzed with excitement over the Soviet dictator's grave illness.

Asked what effect he thought Stalin's death would have on the world political situation, Adenauer said:

"Nobody can prophesy that But we must remember that after the death of Lenin, there came a Stalin.

"I have had the feeling for some time that they were preparing the way for Stalin's succession in Moscow. I believe the persecution of the Jews in Russia and the satellite countries, and particularly the Moscow doctors case, is connected with these preparations.

"Now a new element has been injected which will cause political unrest throughout the world. . ."

Crown Ends Case In Child Slaying

KITCHENER (CP)—The Crown completed its case Tuesday against Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Paepcke of nearby Elmira, charged with murder in the death of their three-year-old daughter Glenis Jan. 27.

Crown Attorney Harold Daufman contended that one or both parents caused the death by beating the child. Defence evidence is to be heard today.

Inspector Alex MacLeod of the provincial police, one of seven Crown witnesses, read a statement made by Paepcke the day after Glenis' death.

In the statement, Paepcke said his wife phoned him at work Jan. 27 to tell him Glenis had thrown a spell and "would not come out of it." He told her to put the girl in the shanty behind the house.

Paepcke's statement also said that he had strapped the girl and on one occasion spanked her with a hairbrush. The night before Glenis died, he told her he was going to spank her and "she just grinned."

Defence counsel Roy Youngston drew from Dr. E. L. Barton an admission that the injury causing the child's death—a subdural haemorrhage—could have been caused in other ways than by a beating.

Committee Approves Separating Colleges

TORONTO (CP)—The private bills committee of the Ontario Legislature gave approval in principle Tuesday to a bill which would separate Assumption College of Windsor from the University of Western Ontario at London.

Although the bill does not provide full university status for Assumption, a Roman Catholic college, it provides power to grant degrees. Assumption, which has 1,600 students, has been affiliated with Western since 1918.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1⅝ per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 98 11-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.77⅛ against $2.77 3-16.

Coronation Title Approved, Scots Walk Out

LONDON (Reuters)—The House of Commons Tuesday night overruled Scottish Nationalist objections and approved the Queen's Coronation title as "Elizabeth II." The Scottish minority walked out of the House after its amendment was defeated.

The Scots had urged rejection of the titles bill on grounds that "it does not provide for a historically accurate royal title for Scotland." They complained Scotland is being treated as a "minor satellite" of England.

Many Scots object to the Queen being called Elizabeth II. They say they never had a Queen called Elizabeth before. The 16th century Elizabeth—"Good Queen Bess" of Shakespeare's day—was Queen of England only, since Scotland was then a separate nation under Mary Queen of Scots (subsequently beheaded by Elizabeth I).

The Scots stood alone as a stubborn minority of 39 as their amendment was turned down by a majority of 289. The bill then received second reading (approval in principle) and final third reading.

Consequently, at her June 2 Coronation and afterwards, the Queen will be known here as "Elizabeth II, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of her other Realms and Territories, Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith."

Man, Two Girls Admit Breakins

DETROIT (CP)—Three of six Canadians arrested Monday on "preliminary" charges of robbery have confessed to a series of breaks in Essex County, Ont., and in Alberta, police said Tuesday night.

The six, including two girls, were picked up for questioning after a hotel employee reported they had been flashing unusually large amounts of Canadian money.

The three who police said admitted taking part in robberies are: Harry Yarmo, 26, of Toronto; Sheila Lee, 18, and Violet Gray, 23, both of nearby Windsor, Ont.

Detroit police said they have been in touch with police in various Essex county centres where robberies have been committed during the last few weeks.

Sharp Losses Strike At Toronto Market

TORONTO (CP)—Sharp losses struck the stock market in early afternoon trading today.

Industrials, base metals and western oils each lost 1½ points or more on the exchange indexes. Golds dropped more than an index point.

Volume continued high as low-priced mining issues traded actively and a wide list of other issues drew interest. Volume for the first three hours totalled 3,439,000 shares.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals joined the general losses after showing some strength during the morning. Eastern Metals, the most active issue, moved 198,000 shares to lose 15 cents.

A wide list of losses ranging to 40 cents hit western oils. Losing between 25 and 40 cents were Devon Leduc, Federated, Home, Husky and Scurry. Canadian Devonian added pennies.

Gunnar led losses in uraniums, dropping 75 cents. New Delhi, Chimo and Nesbitt-Labine weakened sharply. Brunswick, a Bathurst-area leader, dropped $1.50. New Larder U followed. Inspiration, a Northern Ontario rare metal prospect, held firm.

Refining oils led the losses in industrials and textiles, constructions, liquors and miscellaneous issues slipped. Canada Cement dropped $1.75. Steels were strong and foods and banks gained.

Senior golds weakened and leading juniors followed. Holding companies slipped.

Base metals traded actively for general losses led by higher-priced issues. International Nickel, Steep Rock and Normetals slipped.

Tories Bid For All Reports Of Defence Dep't Surveys

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservatives put in a two-fronted bid Tuesday for all and any reports on surveys of defence department administration since 1948. Their hunt for new fuel for their charges that the department is inefficiently and extravagantly run broke both in the Commons defence committee and on the order paper of the Commons itself. The indications were that they have information in their possession tipping them what to seek.

The bid came as the committee tidied up a major detail arising from the sensational Currie report itself by reaching the end of study of a 42-page document summarizing findings of irregularities in the army works services' administration by the department's own auditors.

SET DATE

In the committee, E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) asked for any reports on accounting and administration in the department since March, 1950. The committee has decided its studies will not go farther back than that date. Mr. Fulton specifically mentioned the Gordon report made several years ago and never made public. Date of the report was not revealed.

The Gordon report by Walter S. Gordon, prominent Toronto accountant, contained recommendations for improving the administration at defence headquarters. It was made at the request of Defence Minister Claxton and has been treated so far as a private document.

Chairman David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina) told Mr. Fulton he would see if such a document as the Gordon report exists and it would then be decided whether it comes within the committee's terms of reference.

SECOND MOVE

Mr. Fulton's second move came in a request placed on the Commons order paper which represents a move to get around the 1950 deadline imposed by the committee. He asks for all reports or findings made in investigations or surveys since June, 1948, on the army works services—subject of the Currie report—the ordnance corps and administration of the department generally.

The background of these bids for more information is understood to be a considerable amount of official material which has come into the hands of the Conservatives about various reports. They are not making their information public themselves but are using it as a guide for their questions.

NO PROPHESY

Adenauer said nobody could prophesy what effect Stalin's death would have on the world political situation, "but we must remember that after the death of Lenin, there came a Stalin."

Only 12 days ago a high British source said the biggest possibility of a world war stemmed from the possibility of a struggle for power inside the Kremlin in the event of Stalin's death. Similar views have come from other Western leaders, with some of them fearing that a new leader, to consolidate his position, would seek to assert his strength by facing up sternly to all international challenges.

It is striking that the news of Stalin's illness and treatment comes barely two months after the Soviet Union's announcement of a purge of physicians. In January Moscow disclosed the arrest of nine physicians, some of them Jews described as having ties with western espionage and zionism. The announcement said they had faultily treated A. A. Zhdanov, one of the earlier heirs apparent to Stalin's mantle, and caused his death in 1948 at the age of 52. That announcement turned the heat alike upon the Soviet ministry of health and upon security organs — headed by Beria — and served notice that those in power were in a position to clean out all adversaries. The belief at that time was that Malenkov was riding high.

NEW MINISTER

Today's announcement discloses that the U.S.S.R. has a newly-acquired health minister.

The doctors' plot was one of the things that prompted the comment recently by the high British source mentioned above. He said he was much more anxious about the Moscow situation than he was a year ago, observing that "as long as we knew Stalin still was in full command, we could be fairly confident."

He based this on the belief Stalin was more or less content, within his lifetime, to keep the Russian area of control pretty much as it is. But in the event of an all-out struggle for the dictatorship, this informant said, "there is no telling what their rashness might plunge us into."

Stalin's last few years have encompassed both highs and lows in international amity. In wartime, the United States sent the Soviet Union $11,000,000,000 worth of lend-lease goods, and worked shoulder-to-shoulder, as far as that was possible, to throw back the forces of Hitler. Stalin himself hailed the assistance the U.S. gave him in supplying the Russian front.

TUNE CHANGED

But soon the tune changed. With Hitler subdued, the Russians said the victory over him was a thing of Soviet making. Communist expansion into countries like Czechoslovakia, Romania and Hungary left little doubt of the Kremlin's intentions. Then the Korean war, started in 1950 with Soviet backing, brought the U.S. and its Western Allies to an unprecedented peacetime program of preparedness, culminating in formation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the groundwork of the European Defence Community—a setup that would include the troops of Western Germany.

Many of Stalin's recent public statements have been concerned with world tensions and the possibility of war.

Last December, the Russian leader offered to meet with President Eisenhower in an attempt to ease the East-West conflict and declared that the Soviet Union was interested in ending the Korean war. The statements were included in his Dec. 25 replies to questions submitted by New York Times reporter James Reston.

WOULD MEET STALIN

Eisenhower told a press conference last month he would be willing to meet Stalin face-to-face for such a conference if he thought it would do any good. The new U.S. President laid down certain conditions for such a get-together, however. He said that U.S. Allies should be given full information on what was talked about and that any agreements reached should be self-enforcing. Heretofore, Russia has balked at signing any pacts that provide a method of enforcement.

The matter apparently ended there. The day after Eisenhower said he was willing to talk to Stalin, State Secretary Dulles of the U.S. told reporters that any such meeting was entirely in the realm of conjecture.

The British government also moved into the picture, asserting that it expected to be represented at any Stalin-Eisenhower talks. Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons, however, that he did not believe an East-West conference now would do any good.

President Truman warned Stalin Jan. 7 that war between the East and West "would spell ruin for your regime and your homeland."

Stalin said last October that war between the communist and capitalist worlds was unlikely. He claimed that instead, an armed struggle among the capitalist nations themselves was inevitable.

he joined the Bolshevik party while still in high school and by the age of 19 had been arrested by the Czar's secret police five times.

With the success of the revolution, Molotov rose by steady steps to a seat on the governing politburo. From 1930 to 1941, when Stalin was running things from the officially obscure post of chairman of the Communist party's central committee, Molotov fronted as chairman of the Council of People's Commissars—a post equivalent to premier. Stalin took over the job. In 1936, Molotov helped draft a new constitution for the Soviet Union and in 1939 he replaced the Western-minded Maxim Litvinoff as foreign minister.

During the Second World War he took over reorganization of Russia's tank production, in addition to running the foreign office. He was released as foreign minister in 1949 to free him for the task of aiding Stalin in the enormous task of governing the USSR.

The T. Eaton Co., Ltd., has issued a booklet, "The Story of a Store," which recites the history of the firm from its foundation by Timothy Eaton in 1869 to its present position as the largest department-store organization in the Commonwealth. From one small store measuring 24 by 60 feet, it has grown to 58 department stores, including 14 major units, and 219 other retail outlets; and from a staff of two men, a woman and a boy, to one of 40,000 men and women (rising to 60,000 at Christmas time).

The Wall Street Journal, in a stock market appraisal, says: "There is no indication at this time that 1953 will not be a record year for aggregate dividend payments. This in itself should prevent any important liquidation by investors of domestic equities at this time."

The annual report of M.A. Hanna Company, of Cleveland, one of the big backers of Iron Ore Company of Canada, says of Iron Ore's Labrador project:

"We feel the major construction problems are behind us, and still estimate that ore can begin to move to market in the late summer of 1954."

Canadian Standards Association, Toronto, announces an 800-page fourth edition of the list of electrical equipment approved by CSA.

The current monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada says: "Creative activity is an antidote to escapism. It leads a man away from trash into a search for truth."

Peers' Daughters To Bear Train

By EDWIN S. ROSENTHAL

LONDON (Reuters) — Six patrician young beauties, all daughters of British peers, will bear the Queen's train at her Coronation in Westminster Abbey June 2, it was announced Tuesday.

This and other features of the Coronation pageantry were announced at a press conference by the Duke of Norfolk, the Queen's Earl Marshal and chief planner of the event.

The maids of honor are all close friends of Princess Margaret. The Queen herself selected them, following a precedent established by Queen Victoria.

One of the key Coronation questions—will the Duke of Edinburgh stand beside his wife when she is crowned—was answered by the Earl Marshal. He won't. Philip has been assigned a seat alongside other royal dukes—Gloucester and Kent—to the right of the throne in the abbey.

He will, however, sit on the queen's left when she rides in her golden coach in the procession to the abbey. Some 1,000 guardsmen in helmets and gleaming breastplates will precede the coach.

Asked if the Queen's two children would be in the abbey, the Earl Marshal said "I am afraid I have no knowledge at all of that."

Jay Walkers Pay

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police started a second campaign against jaywalkers here and in the first seven days handed summonses to 126 alleged offenders. Police superintendent Sydney Lloyd said however that "many first offenders get off with a warning."

Pension Changes Outlined To Legion Men

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)— D. H. Marshall, superintendent of the Veterans' Welfare Service branch at Kingston was guest speaker at the February meeting of Branch 103 Canadian Legion.

He outlined various changes regarding pension and welfare services for veterans and after the meeting set up an office to interview any veteran who needed advice on these services.

DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

C. C. Massie, chairman of the membership committee presented to the meeting the applications of two new members, which were approved by the membership. To step up the recruiting for new members, a social night is planned for some time in April, with every member being expected to bring a prospective member with him. Comrades Len Beggs and Clarence Massie will be in charge of this project.

A short report on the Coronation Day celebration, which Branch 103 is spearheading, was given. The branch has accepted the responsibility for decorating the town for this event. Because the council chambers were too small for the large turnout of representatives of the various councils, service clubs and other organizations which attended the organization of the Coronation committee, it was decided to use the Legion Hall for future meetings of this group.

Triple Event

LACOMBE, Alta. (CP)—The Lacombe Hospital, built in 1937, has just registered its first set of triplets. The babies, all girls were born to Mrs. Lawrence Sim of Tees, Alta.

CBC APPOINTMENT—Marcel Carter has been appointed director of personnel and administrative services for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Born and educated in Ottawa, he was secretary-treasurer and office manager of Le Droit before joining the radio commission in 1944. He was with the CBC in Montreal and Ottawa before receiving his present appointment.

QUEBEC DIECTOR—Rene P. Landry has been appointed director for Quebec province of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. He started his career in national broadcasting in 1933 when he was appointed secretary of the Canadian radio broadcasting commission. He was loaned to the government at the start of the Second World War and was chief radio censor for Canada. In 1942 he returned to the CBC and in 1944 was appointed director of the personnel and administrative division which he occupied until his recent appointment. He was born in Montreal and served in the First World War.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR—Marcel Ouimet has been appointed assistant director of programs for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. He joined the CBC as a bilingual announcer in Montreal and in 1940 was appointed senior news editor. In 1943 he headed a team of French-speaking war correspondents for the CBC. In 1947 he was made director of the French-speaking network and, for a time, attended National Defence College at Kingston. He was born in Montreal and educated at Ottawa and at Paris.

LAC D. E. McNUTT, 24, of 578 Division St., Peterborough, will be among the personnel of the three RCAF Sabre-jet squadrons, that will be sent to Zweikrucken, Germany. LAC McNutt has been in the RCAF for the past two years, and has been stationed in Bagotville, Quebec, as a radar instructor for the past year. The three jet squadrons will fly across the North Atlantic this month.

Two Big Stores Seek New Sites

LINDSAY (ENS)—Reports and rumors of real estate transactions in Lindasy are following recent developments in some of the town's most desirable properites.

When the Separte School Board decided to build their new school, many offers were received for the land on which the present building stands. One of them came from Loblaws Stores, which was attempting to obtain space with more parking facilities, following the trend in super-market building. The A and P Stores also were reported to be seeking the property which is a block north of the towns main street and close to two main highways into the town.

Reports today indicated that Loblaws, at least, had obtained their wishes, in purchasing most of the property of the Kawartha Lumber Co. on Kent Street west, just west of the town's main shopping district. The property which will offer some 10,000 square feet of floor area for the store also contains a large parking area to the rear which will suit plans of the store. Kawartha Lumber Co., Co. has sold its business to Beaver Lumber, Co. Lindsay, which will occupy office quarters in the present Kawartha building, after building a new warehouse near the town limits. In line with these development it was noted that the Shell Oil Co. which now has a station on the town's main road to the south, would purchase the Separate School property on the same street for a new station and sell the old station to the A and P Stores. This new site for a store would offer ample parking facilities. If the second agreement is reached it will mean that the towns' two large grocery chain stores will have moved, within a year, from the main shopping centre of the town, leaving large premises available for other rentals.

Man's Hand Caught In Carding Machine

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Ed. Outindyke, an employee of the local woollen mills, suffered severe and painful injuries to the fingers of his right hand when his hand was caught in a carding machine which he was operating. Rushed to the office of Dr. W. W. Baker, he was given treatment for his injuries and then taken to his home.

Mr. Outindyke was the victim of a similar accident with the same machine, two years ago this month.

V. J. T. Colon

The funeral service for Victor John Thomas Colon, 56, of North Monaghan township, who died Sunday in Peterborough, following a short illness, was held at the Kaye funeral home Tuesday.

The Rev. H. Yarr of the Fraserville United Church conducted the service, and the pallbearers were Percy and Walter Moncrie, Earl Ward, Roy McCall, Harry Moon and Fred Lippet. Burial was in the Unionville cemetery.

Model Train Helps

WINNIPEG (CP)—A fine model railroad system in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Lytle is doing its bit for relief of flood victims in Europe. Persons who come to see it in operation donated more than $50 in one week.

School Board Needs More, Upsets Budget

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A demand for $20,240 by the Campbelford Public School Board has upset the Town Council's calculations on the 1953 tax rate. The budget had been set to pay the same as last year to the Public School ($18,233), but it was pointed out in the request for the larger amount that in June, 1952, there were 435 pupils attending, but when school reopened in September there were 500, with many more seeking to be taken in. Another classroom and teacher will have to be added, as even more children are expected to be seeking admission next fall.

The result of this increased demand would be either to force council to reduce other expenditures by 1.3 mills or to raise the tax rate accordingly (probably 2 mills). The Separate School levy in the latter case would be adjusted accordingly.

DECISION DELAYED

Councillor MacMillan asked that a budget for 1953 and a financial statement for 1952 be requested by council. This motion was carried and the matter laid over until a full council is present. Mayor Locke and Councillors Rutherford and Burgess were absent. Reeve Nicholas presided over the meeting.

A demand for the return of the local improvement rates on several wartime houses was received from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The corporation took the attitude that although the houses had been sold, Crown still had possession by virtue of their mortgage. This attitude was questioned by council and the matter referred to the solicitor.

The licence for the HS Area Board for the use of the school for a St. John's Church concert was waived.

Matters concerning an extension on Garry Street were left to the Road and Bridge Committee to bring in a report.

Reeve Nicholas was appointed a member of the Emergency Relief Committee in place of ex-Mayor Kingston.

ASK CONTROL DUST

A motion was passed asking Trent Dehydrated Products to control dust coming from their plant.

Councillor Free reported on a meeting called to arrange for the Coronation celebration, and asked council's support by way of a grant. The sum of $250 was voted for this purpose.

Arthur Collette, representing Walter Jones, said that he was authorized to convey to council the figure asked by the latter for his property on Queen Street North. The sum quoted was $3,800, which together with $2,500 asked by the Free Methodist Church, made the figure prohibitive to council. These properties were desired by the town for a park site. Councillor Maybie suggested carrying on with the beautification of the river property from the Black Bridge on the west side of the canal back to the tennis club on the east. A committee comprising Deputy-Reeve Maybie and Councilors Tatham and MacMillan was named to look into the matter.

The council will advertise for a caretaker for the cenotaph and the park near St. Mary's Church, tenders to be received until March 7.

The Reeve was asked to approach the Public Utilities Commission about having their Blue Cross group extended to cover the town employees.

A special meeting of the council was arranged for Monday to discuss police matters and other business, Councillor Maybie was authorized to attend the conferences of the Department of Planning and Development on March 23 and 24 in Toronto.

Escapee Pleads Guilty

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Stanley Kizul, 18, pleaded guilty Tuesday to escaping from Lincoln county jail Sunday and to assault occasioning bodily harm to two jail guards. He was remanded to March 10 for sentence. Nick Petro, 63, in whose Grantham township shack Kizul was caught, was remanded for two weeks on a charge of aiding and abetting.

ILL-FATED LINER—Canada's first Comet jet airliner crashed and burned on a takeoff from Karachi airport, killing its crew of five Canadians and six British aircraft technicians. There were no survivors. The sleek new craft, renamed the Empresss of Hawaii and powered by four De Havilland jet engines, had left London on its way to Honolulu for delivery to Canadian Pacific Air Lines. It stopped at Karachi to refuel after a flight from Beirut, Syria, and was heading on to its next stop at Singapore when it smashed up. From the tire marks on the runway it appeared the plane had not left the ground on its ill-fated take-off.

Seven Firms Seek Licenses For TV Stations

OTTAWA (CP) — Licences soon will be sought for privately-owned television stations in seven Canadian cities.

Applications for the licences have been filed with the 11-member CBC board of governors by companies in Hamilton, London, Sudbury, Windsor, Quebec City, Saint John, and Sydney, N.S.

The board announced Tuesday that it will hear representations on the applications at a public meeting March 27. But the board cautioned it may not make immediate recommendations on the applications.

It said it will be prepared to postpone action on the applications if there are others who wish to apply for TV stations in the same area.

Niagara Television Limited applied for a TV station in Hamilton. The company is composed of three firms now operating radio stations in Hamilton—Maple Leaf Broadcasting Company, Wentworth Broadcasting Company and the Hamilton Spectator.

LONDON BID

The London application came from the London Free Press Printing Company Limited, operator of station CFPL in London

The Sudbury licence is sought by station CKSO of Sudbury. The Windsor application came from Western Ontario Broadcasting Company Limited, operator of station CKLW.

Television de Quebec Limitee filed the Quebec application. The company consists of Famous Players Canadian Corporation and three Quebec radio stations — CJNT, CHRC and CKCV.

New Brunswick Broadcasting Company Limited, operator of station CHSJ in Saint John, applied for a TV licence in the same city.

Cape Breton Broadcasters, operators of station CCB in Sydney, applied for a TV station in Sydney.

The applications are the first to be considered by the board in approximately five years. At that time, several companies applied for licences for privately—owned TV stations, but the CBC board deferred action.

The government has announced that private stations would be allowed in areas not served or to be served by the CBC.

City "Too Big"

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Alice Crakanthorpe, preparing for her 89th birthday, said she came to Vancouver in 1873 from her birthplace in Port Alberni. Her fondest memories are of the past because the city "is too big now."

PILOTED LINER—Capt. Charles H. Pentland, 43, of Cloverdale, B.C., and director of Canadian Pacific Air Lines' overseas flight operations, was pilot of the Comet jet airliner which crashed and burned at Karachi airport. Eleven persons, five of them Canadians, were killed in the crash. There were no survivors. Capt. Pentland is shown with a stewardess of the company's Vancouver-Tokio-Hong Kong run.

Redmen Defeat Muskies 5-2

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Port Hope Redmen came up with a surprisingly strong display here last night to down the Lindsay Muskies 5-2 in the first game of the OHA intermediate A final here for the Lakeshore League crown. The Port Hope team had just finished their semi-final series with Cobourg, while the Muskies had been resting for a week.

McKeen, Gordon, Freeman and Turner led the winners in their effort which thrilled and stunned the capacity crowd of 1,200 many of them from the Port town.

The Redmen took a one-goal lead in the first period when Gordon took McKeen's pass in front of O'Connell for the opening tally. In the second, Douglas, McKeen and Turner added to the Redmen's total, while Coombs scored Lindsay's only two counters.

In the third period, with the Muskies trying desperately to come within striking distance of the Redmen, Green scored, but the goal was disallowed, early in the period. Then Freeman added the final goal of the game to bring the scoring to a close.

'Crazy Jack' Sentenced For Kidnapping Guards

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—"Crazy Jack" Hyatt of Leamington, Ont., one of the leaders in the million-dollar riot at Southern Michigan prison last April, Tuesday was given a 15-to 23-year sentence for kidnapping guards during the mutiny.

Hyatt pleaded guilty to the charge of seizing guards and holding them as hostages. The new sentence will be served concurrently with a 25- to 30-year term Hyatt is serving for robbery.

David White

The funeral service for David White of 341 St. Joseph St., Peterborough, who died Friday at the Civic Hospital, following a prolonged illness, was held Tuesday at the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell of Trinity United Church officiated. Pallbearers were: Bernie Chambers, Harold Yelland, Keith Harrison, Albert Finn, William Davies and Earl K. Ward. Burial was in the Little Lake cemetery.

Index To Show If Costs Continue To Drop

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians will likely know Thursday whether a slight downward trend in living costs last November and December continued into the first month of the new year.

No great change either up or down is expected to show up in the consumer price index for January to be issued by the bureau of statistics.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, dropped one-tenth of a point during December to 115.7 from 115.8. That followed a larger drop during November from October's level of 116.1. The index in December was down 2.5 points from its peak of 118.2 in December 1951.

Despite the over-all decrease in December, fluctuations in prices of individual items which make up the index meant that not all consumers benefitted equally. It depended on what they bought.

UP AND DOWN

The bureau, in a brief analysis of food price trends, showed that cabbage prices increased 28.1 per cent in December, while eggs dropped 7.2 per cent.

Celery went up 11.2 per cent while lettuce dropped 3.3; fresh tomatoes climbed 8.9 per cent while oranges dropped 6.9.

So it went down the food counter. While prices on the whole were down, living costs to the individual may have been up or down—depending on the individual's buying habits.

During December, the food sub-index declined to 113.5 from 114.1, the major factor in the general index's fractional decline. The yardstick's shelter component increased to a peak of 122.3 from 122.2. The clothing sub-index remained unchanged at 109.7 while household operations rose to 116.5 from 116.1 and other commodities and services to 116.7 from 116.6.

The old cost - of - living index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, rose one-fifth of a point to 184.4 from 184.2.

Luce Envoy To Italy

With State Secretary Dulles by her side, Chief Justice Fred Vinson administered the oath.

44-Mill Rate For Cobourg, 2-Mill Increase

COBOURG (ENS)—Assisted by a $7,000 surplus from last year and by careful preparation of estimates, council expects to be able to keep the tax rate from rising more than two mills this year. The estimates have not been formally presented but there have been eight committee meetings and last night council passed a resolution that the necessary by-law be prepared establishing a public school rate of 44 mills this year and a rate for separate school supporters of 40.5 mills. Last year public school supporters paid 42 mills and separate school, 40 mills.

In order to keep the rate from going more than two mills above last year's figure, council had to forego its plan to establish a sinking fund this year for the purpose of future street paving. Council was also faced with a 3.5 mill increase in the rate for school expenditures. This year, due to the amendment in the Act, affecting high school areas, the town has to pay on a business assessment levy as well as on property and this means an extra $3,000. However, in spite of economies, necessary things will be procured and this includes an additional man for the police department and installation of police radio in the cruiser and police station.

Mayor Jack Burnet thanked the members of the council and the clerk-and-treasurer, for their hard work and co-operation in arriving at the estimates.

Council received a communication from the Department of Labour advising that the conciliation officer, James Hutcheon would be in Cobourg on March 10 for a meeting between the corporation and its employees regarding wage settlement.

DIRECTOR RESIGNS

The resignation of Bob Lucas from the directorate of the recreational centre was received. Mr. Lucas advised that he could not devote sufficient time to the post, due to other demands. Permission was granted to the YWCA for a rummage sale and tag day.

Council filed a communication from the City Engineers' Association, which contained a resolution passed by that association, asking the provincial government for a more equitable distribution of funds amongst the various authorities charged with the responsibility of construction and maintenance of roads. The resolution pointed out that funds collected through the gasoline tax were intended for the maintenance of roads and streets.

Council studied a traffic survey made by the police department and filed it for future reference.

Peterborough Reduces Its Tax Rate

The Council struck the Peterborough tax rate Monday, and it was lower than last year's rate. We are mindful that the reduction was very small—a quarter of a mill. What is important is the fact that it was a reduction and not an increase; the first time since the war ended that the ratepayers have not faced an increase. The new rate is 64.5 mills. The rate is high, but it is good news that even a quarter of a mill has been lopped off. Other cities—Oshawa, for instance—have again had to increase their rates.

* * *

Why has Peterborough been able to keep its tax rate at last year's level; in fact, slightly below it? There are three obvious reasons. First, the Council and other spending bodies scrutinized the estimates carefully and department heads have been chary of increasing their demands. The budget is higher than it was last year, because costs of equipment and services are higher and some of the services have to be expanded. The city needs, apart from government grants to special boards (Board of Health, Library, Education, Hospital) $3,121,162. Last year its total expenditure was $3,071,436. The increase is not greater than might conservatively be expected.

* * *

The second reason for the Council being able to keep the tax rate down is that city assessment has increased. The total against which levies may be made is $47,189,791. Last year the total was $44,686,268. The increase of two and a half million dollars in assessment (a little smaller for purposes of general taxation) will produce additional taxation revenue of $148,000. The increase in assessment is due almost entirely to new property, and not to upward revision of last year's property evaluations.

* * *

The third reason for the stable tax rate is that the city treasury had a surplus from last year's account of $86,000; a useful drop in the city bucket.

* * *

Underlying these obvious reasons is this major one: the taxpayers and their past Boards and Councils faced the post-war civic expansion, inflation and expensive requirements boldly. Schools were built, hospitals were built or enlarged, the City Hall was built, the sewage disposal plant extended, mains and sewers were laid. Each year the citizens and their representatives took the burdens and responsibilities as they came. Now Peterborough rides above the storm, as the tax barometer indicates, while other less courageous places still fumble, grumble and toss among continually mounting taxes.

* * *

We should mention that the small reduction in the mill rate was not made possible by the larger grants to municipalities announced by Premier Frost last week. These will not come into effect until next year.

* * *

One immediate criticism of the city's budget may be made. The estimates for the police and fire departments, and for salaries of city outdoor employees are so vague as not to belong to proper budgeting procedure at all. There is a large lump sum provided, in an item called "miscellaneous" at the bottom of the budget—much larger than usual. This item is not, we think, a grab-bag, although there may be a tendency in some quarters to think it so. The item seems to be in lieu of definite estimates for firemen, police and outdoor workers' wage changes. This sort of budgeting is not good, but seems to be the best the Council could do under the circumstances. The circumstances are that members of these departments on the city pay-roll, through no fewer than three separate unions, are still in the throes of asking for wage increases of a kind and extent to which the Council has not agreed. The city would have a messy budget indeed if other municipal spending bodies drawing from the taxes to pay their employees were similarly unable to say by the first of March how much money they required to meet wages and salaries for the year beginning last January 1st.

No Long Hairs For The Ladies

Forty years ago the fox—red, black, grey, whatever his breed, as long as he had long fur—was valued for his hide if not for his knavish barnyard tricks. People paid hundreds of dollars for a fox fur wrap. Now conservative county councils pay thousands of dollars just to get rid of foxes and to throw away their pelts. For instance, during January and February Peterborough County Council paid $864 in bounties, at three dollars a brush, for foxes killed in the county. Handsome pelts were draped momentarily over the County Clerk's desk, then taken out to be discarded as garbage. These beautiful furs are not glutting the market. That is not the reason for their being worthless. There is absolutely no market for them. The reason?—ladies do not like long hairs today.

Fashion has decreed that the fox is nothing but a pest—because his beautiful coat is long. Fox fur farms are now unknown, even in Prince Edward Island where silver foxes were first bred in captivity. The Island has now placed a bounty on them. The Ottawa Citizen, opening its eyes wide to the decline of the fox, points out that at the beginning of the Great War when the well-dressed woman was swathed in red or silver fox, a single pelt sold for as much as $3,000. A good breeding pair of Island foxes commanded as much as $35,000. Now P.E.I. has a bounty on the beasts and the ladies want mink, or some other shorthair. They would rather be seen in bear skin than in a fox coat. The rat and fashion have doomed the fox.

What fashion has undone it can re-do (witness the hair-do). Short hair may be the dernier cri of the salon world now, but there is a yelp in the fox still. When mink become as numerous as their offspring, and foxes are driven to the hinterland by the bounty, the fashion could change. We often notice that the high world brings rarity—and hence costliness—into fashion, rather than merely beautiful things.

Even now the dernier cri of mink may be truly its last cry. A Canadian woman of fashion recently said to the wife of a foreign diplomat when the foreign lady inquired where best in Canada to buy mink: "Mink? My dear, everybody wears mink; it's so common." She did not advise the diplomat's wife to switch to fox, and thereby a good Canadian opportunity was lost. If Canadian arbiters of fashion were to take a position independent of New York and Paris—where long, warm fur is not needed—the fox fur might again be brought into fashion in this northern land. And a good fashion it would be, where beauty, warmth and the national economy would meet in distinctive Canadian opulence.

The Plant Is Possible, Given The Soil

Loch Ness has its monster, Victoria has its Cadborosaurus, Peterborough has its own piece of ectoplasmic folk-lore—the Memorial Centre. This is as shapeless, formless and without being as any piece of community property in Scotland or British Columbia which is neither fish, flesh nor good red herring. True, we have tucked away in a drawer a brochure of the Centre, with imaginative pictures and details of appointments and prospective use. But the brochure belongs to the archives of history; it was printed in 1944 when Peterborough people were giving $225,000, the city council was contributing $75,000, and the ratepayers later voted imagined proceeds from the sale of the market hall block, all in order to raise a useful and fitting memorial to the warfaring men and women of this district.

The fund to build the Memorial Centre now stands at $300,000. It has never been built, and there were two reasons for not building it. First, a site—to be given by the City—could not be agreed on. Secondly, the money was not enough to build the kind of structure promised, because the time deflated the value of the money. However, the veil may now have been lifted on the temple. Last Saturday we published, with an architect's drawing, an article detailing how the Centre (generally conceived to be a big rink) could be built for a sum not out of reach of the Memorial Centre Committe; for less than $500,000.

Timber Structures, Limited, a firm whose Canadian base is Peterborough, and whose speciality is structural work with laminated wood, undertook an engineering and contracting survey and has produced what seems a good and practicable plan. Whether or not this or some other design of another firm is used, the plan published Saturday does show that the building of the Centre is possible, financially and materially. The Memorial Community Centre committee and all other citizens interested now have a fresh grasp of reality to hand. There is now something positive to consider. The plant can be built. What is necessary for it is the land on which to build whatever is built. Surely it is not beyond the powers of reasonable Peterborough people to reach agreement on the site?

LONDON LETTER

The Egg Points The Way

By ROBERT MILLER

THE announcement that eggs are coming off the ration in Britain this month (March 26) may seem a small thing to some people, but in fact it is not without significance. For it marks yet another step in the Churchill Government's policy of creating a freer economy.

The complaint was often made by Conservatives during the first six months of this government that the new administration was no better than a bunch of Socialists. The charge was understandable. Some of the Party's leaders had, consciously or unconsciously, given the impression that as soon as the Conservatives were returned to office, they would sweep away all the restrictions introduced either during the war or by the postwar Labour Governments. Then month after month went by, and nothing seemed to happen.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE explanation is, of course, that the new Government found itself hemmed in by the economic crisis. However much the Conservatives might dislike a rigidly-controlled economy, they had for a time no choice but to continue with the policy of their predecessors. There was no time to look round; something had to be done at once. To stop the catastrophic drain on the gold reserves and get Britain's overseas trade into balance, imports had to be cut and every important control maintained.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT to assume from this that the Conservative leadership had been converted to Socialism was absurd and indeed, during the last twelve months, they have shown that they have a policy of their own and intend to follow it out. It has been a slow process. Mr. David Eccles, the Minister of Works, was perhaps the first to start, though he did it so quietly that few people noticed it at the time. He relaxed several of the restrictions on building materials. Since then control after control has gone or has been marked down for extinction. When Labour was in power it was very difficult for the private person to build his own home: the general policy was that for every home built for sale the local authorities were allowed to build five to let. Mr. Harold MacMillan, the Minister concerned, has changed all this and nowadays the ratio has been reduced to one in two. Sweets rationing has gone, the sausage has been "liberated," and the butchers, I see, are jubilantly asking that there should be a free market in meat.

✧ ✧ ✧

MORE important measures are on the way. Those who can afford it will soon be able to buy a white loaf; and I am reliably informed that the steel allocation plan, which was one of the Labour Party's more important instruments of planning, will almost certainly be abolished in the second half of the year. And, finally there is good reason to think that the restrictions on capital investment will be progressively relaxed during the next few weeks. That may well be followed in the April Budget by the ending of all controls on industrial development.

✧ ✧ ✧

I FIND IT difficult to believe in the reports that the Government is thinking of seeking a new election in the Autumn. It is true that, on the evidence of recent by-elections, the Conservative vote has slightly increased as compared with the figures for the last General Election. Most observers, I think, would agree that the Conservatives would be returned by a slightly increased majority if they went to the country now.

✧ ✧ ✧

OF COURSE, the argument is that the Coronation in June will release a great fervour of patriotism that would sweep the the Conservatives back to power. It seems a curious argument to me. What excuse could the Conservatives find for holding an Autumn election? It is true that a Government can always trump up something or other, but in this case the reason would have to be genuine and compelling. For if it were suspected that the Conservatives were cynically using the Monarchy to further their own ends the public might react violently against them.

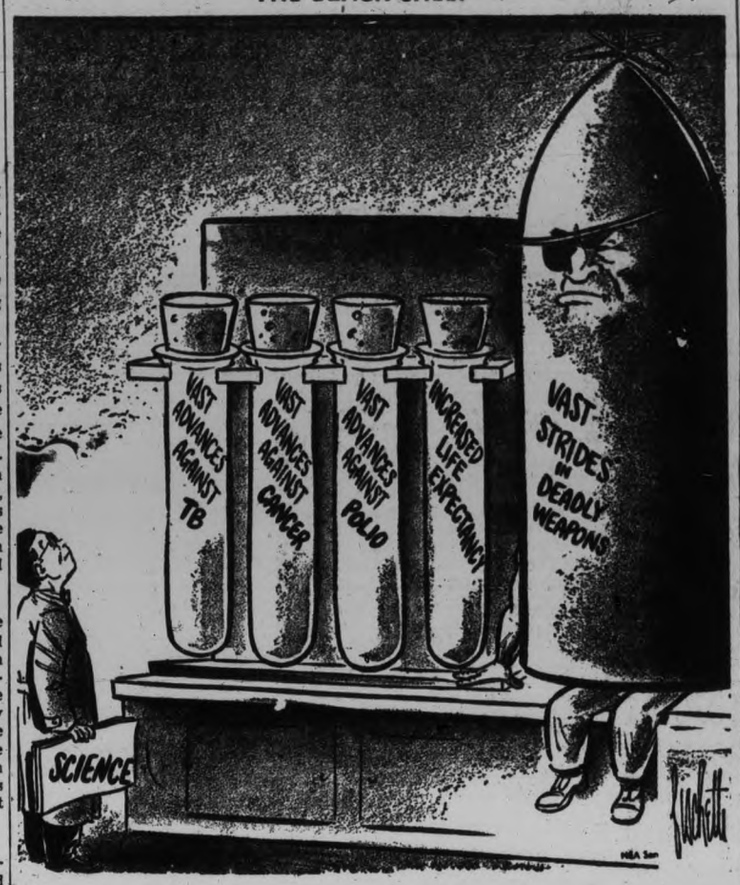
✧ ✧ ✧

AND there is another reason why I do not think the Government will soon go to the country. No one believes that Winston Churchill will fight another election, so that for him to ask for a dissolution would be tantamount to a Politician's publicly assassinating himself. No such dark thoughts I am sure, are passing through Mr. Churchill's head. On the contrary he is thoroughly enjoying himself. "What age was Mr. Gladstone when he formed his last administration?" he once cruelly asked Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary. For Mr. Gladstone was eighty-two.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are times when one feels almost sorry for our poor British Communist Tomorrow's red dawn may be always sure, according to Marx, but it certainly is a long time in coming. In the meantime, the party, which takes its orders from the French Communist Party, is treated with contempt by the Kremlin and largely ignored at home.

✧ ✧ ✧



MR. HARRY POLLITT, its General Secretary, has just issued a rather sad little report on the state of the Movement. The Party is obviously not doing too well. In 1950 its membership was forty-five thousand. Mr. Pollitt has had to admit that it is now down to 35,671. Even that may be an optimistic figure. The Party at the moment is carrying out a re-registration of its members, and the number of backsliders must have increased since the Prague trial and the campaign against Jews in Russia. One does not have to have any inside information to know that the Party has been in a state of jitters during the past month or two. Time and again the "Daily Worker" has tried to prove that there is no anti-Semitism behind the Iron Curtain. For years Communists have boasted that there was no racial prejudice in the Fatherland, and in consequence the Party has had a magnetic attraction for English Jews. Only the most fanatical Jewish Communists can have been in a happy state of mind since the purges began.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN Mr. Pollitt has had to admit part of this story. "The slow growth of the Party and 'Daily Worker,'" he says, "is out of all proportion to the ceasless activity carried on by our active membership." There has been "only slow progress with building our factory branches." What is even more illuminating is that Mr. Pollitt sharply deplores the "disagraceful situation of dull branch life and meetings." The Party must be in a bad way indeed.

Candles For Coronation

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

AT first glance, it seems strange that the candles for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II should be furnished by a firm in a little town in New York State. One would think that some British firm would be able to supply these important items for the great spectacle to be presented in London in June, and that this would especially be the case when Britain is so sadly short of dollars. Nevertheless, the candles—2,300 of them—are being crated now in an unpretentious shop about half a block from the railroad station in Mamaroneck, and it seems that there is nothing at all strange about the matter.

The firm that made the candles is Antonino Ajello and Brothers, and a spokesman, Ralph Ajello explains that "We always do the special jobs for Westminster Abbey. We did them for Elizabeth's wedding, and we did them for her father's funeral. You see, we sort of specialize in that type of candle." All of which, while quite true, nevertheless places Mr. Ajello in a class by himself when it comes to understatement.

When he said "we sort of specialize," he was referring to a family that has enjoyed a reputation for five generations as masters of the art of candle making. He was also referring to a firm that has almost a monopoly on the candle-of-state business in Europe as well as in North and South America. It supplies St. Peter's in Vatican City, St. Patrick's in New York, and the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Montreal, among hundreds of other customers, which should thoroughly entitle the firm to style its members as specialists without the slightest qualification.

The design for the coronation candle that won approval has a blue, red and gold replica of the Crown for a base, on which there is mounted a candle golden in the lower half and white in the upper. It is carved and moulded in the company's "Florentine design," which apparently gives an irregular flaky effect. All are of the same design, but they vary in size from twelve inches to six feet.

Under the circumstances, it is not at all surprising that the Coronation candles will come from Mamaroneck. A few words from Mr. Ajello help to make it easy to understand why his firm occupies the position it does. He ran his hand delicately over one of the Coronation candles, and said: "I think we can be proud of this one."

Television For Tourists?

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

The Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity has taken a valuable step to remove a source of annoyance to tourists.

It has issued new regulations which say that "tourist advertisements must not contain any innaccurate or misleading representation in respect to sleeping accommodation, transportation or recreational facilities, or rates charged . . . where rates are quoted, it must state exactly what the rates are. Full information must also be given about what the rates include."

On this question of "modern conveniences," the new regulations lay down standards. They must include electric lighting, local and long-distance telephone service, modern plumbing and hot and cold water for baths.

That seems to be a reasonable enough minimum, but it may still disconcert some visitors from south of the border. They probably regard a television set as a customary "modern convenience" now.

Readable Royal Biography

(Ottawa Journal)

Mr. John Wheeler-Bennett, a British historian, has been commissioned by the Queen to write the official biography of her father, King George VI. He is to have free access to the royal records and files, but traditionally the biographer of a Sovereign not long dead finds his hands tied by decorum and good taste and Mr. Wheeler-Bennett is not likely to be an exception.

There was an exception in the case of Sir Harold Nicolson (he was knighted for it) whose life of George V was a fascinating work and one of the literary sensations of last year. Readers of that volume would have liked to see Nicolson doing the biography of the son of George Fifth, because he demonstrated the fact that with complete respect for both the Monarchy and the Monarch he had the skill and the imagination to strip the King of his inaccessibility, to show him as a man among men, as a most human individual.

No doubt there were good reasons why Sir Harold could not undertake this second task—recently he gave up a weekly article that had been a feature of the London Spectator for many years — and perhaps Mr. Wheeler-Bennett will be able to follow Nicolson's delightful example in royal biography. Readers of the latter will hope so because for the multitude the joy in the reading of history lies in the manner of its telling. A mere collection of records and files is usually pretty dull stuff.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

When the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death .... And they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, They parted my garments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots. (Matt. 27: 1, 35.)

✧ ✧ ✧

In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalen and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it.

And the angel answered and said unto the woman, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchere with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word. (Matt. 28: 1, 2, 5-8.)

Deer Attacks Car

(Sudbury Star)

An interesting question has been raised by a motorist in Southern Ontario, as to the responsibility of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests for damages caused by their wildlife wards—deer.

It seems the motorist stopped his car on a highway to let 16 does cross in front of him. Then a 210-pound buck, chased by two dogs, crashed into the car, causing damage to the extent of $270. The badly injured deer was shot.

The motorist maintains that as his insurance does not cover this type of collision, then the Department of Lands and Forests should be responsible for the damage that deer inflict on autos.

This appears to be on a par with the recommendation made by a North Dakota senate committee that candy cigarettes be out lawed because they are "too realistic and may cause children to start smoking earlier".

Search For Ores, Oil Wells Speeds Surveys

OTTAWA (CP)—The widening search for uranium, iron and oil in Canada has given impetus to governmental geological, topographical and mapping surveys.

The mines department Tuesday announced plans to send out 175 survey parties this year—two more than in 1952. The parties will work in all 10 provinces, the Northwest Territories and inside the arctic circle.

The department said this year's plans reflect the rapid spread in the search for oil north and west of the Peace River area into the Northwest Territories. Other contributing factors include the high level of interest in uranium areas of northern Saskatchewan and iron ore development in the Ungava area of northern Quebec.

COVER ORE FIELD

One helicopter-equipped party will map the Quebec-Labrador iron ore field between Knob lake and Fort Chimo. Knob lake is about 600 miles northeast of Quebec City on the Quebec-Labrador border and Fort Chimo is on Ungava Bay about 230 miles north of Knob lake.

A second party, also equipped with a helicopter, will begin mapping work over an estimated 80,000 square miles of promising oil territory in west-central Alberta extending northwest into British Columbia.

The geological survey includes six parties in the Northwest Territories, 12 in British Columbia, seven in Alberta, four each in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, six in Ontario, five each in Quebec and Quebec-Labrador and Nova Scotia, four in New Brunswick, seven in Newfoundland and one in Prince Edward Island.

The planned St. Lawrence waterway also is bringing work to the geodetic survey which plans to establish a line of precise levels from Kingston to Montreal.

Outside Buckingham Palace he met Karen and Pte. Jack White, of Edmonton. Pte. White served under Rockingham in Korea and now is with a Canadian army postal unit in London.

Jewish Congress Criticizes Code Revision

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposed revision of the Criminal Code was criticized Tuesday as lacking safeguards against efforts to incite violence or ill-will between religious or racial groups in Canada.

The Canadian Jewish Congress voiced the criticism in a brief presented to a special Commons committee studying the revised code which was approved last fall by the Senate. Sol Hayes and M. H. Myerson of Montreal and Prof. B. Laskin of Toronto represented the congress.

The congress suggested that sections of the code dealing with sedition contain a prohibition against publishing or circulating statements "intended or calculated to incite violence or disorder against any class of persons. . . ."

Sections dealing with causing a nuisance also should outline that "injury or mischief to a public interest shall include promoting disaffection among or ill-will or hostility between different classes of persons in Canada," the congress said.

Crushed By Car, Dies

OTTAWA (CP) — Two-year-old John L. Noonan was crushed to death between a tree and the bumper of a runaway car Tuesday night. The car, owned by John Powell, a neighbor, had been parked on a hill nearby 30 minutes earlier. The empty car rolled nearly 200 feet before it jumped the curb and carried the child about three feet until it hit a tree.

Courtroom Turns Ballroom Witness Gives Dance Lesson

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A beautiful Paris-trained dancing instructor gave a free lesson in the dance Monday when she appeared as witness before Judge Joseph A. Legris.

Tanya d'Arcey, 28, was witness in a case in which the Arthur Murray Dance Studios and John F. Allison, a sub-licencee of the studio, claimed $385 from John Murdy a former pupil who later decided against continuing the lessons.

Murdy said he had been drinking when he signed the contract and made out the cheque. Later he stopped payment on the cheque.

Judge Legris awarded $10 to the studio and upheld the argument presented by Mundy's lawyer that his client could not be held to the contract because of a technicality of the contract.

Miss d'Arcey, a slim brunette, was called to explain a report she made on Murdy's dancing ability after a preliminary dancing lesson.

She said Murdy "lacked confidence" but had a good sense of rhythm. His "animation" was good she said.

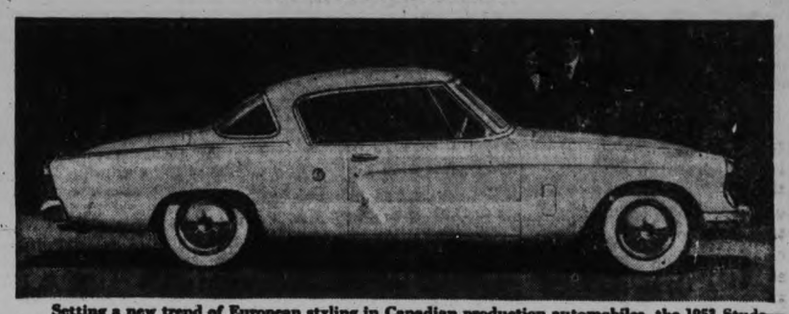
In her slow Parisian accent, and with a little hip-swaying, she demonstrated several phases of the art of dancing.

The rhumba is easy to learn, she said, once you know the steps of the waltz.

"Do not forget the footwork of the rhumba comes from the waltz.

"Everyone should take dancing lessons. I would like to teach everyone in this room to dance."

Ontario Plans New 4-Lane Road



TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of highways plans a new 75-mile four-lane highway north from Toronto running east of Lake Simcoe, it was reported Tuesday.

A section of the bill providing a metropolitan government for Toronto and 13 surrounding municipalities clears the way for construction of the new road, expected to cost $35,000,000.

Highways Minister Doucett hinted at the first step in the Ontario Legislature Tuesday when he said that under the metropolitan bill, the province would take over the Markham road, now in the York county road system, north from a by-pass under construction to take east-west traffic north of Toronto.

It is reported that the new highway will follow roughly the route of the Markham road, cut east of Lake Simcoe and connect with No. 11 Highway at Severn.

Setting a new trend of European styling in Canadian production automobiles, the 1953 Studebaker Champion hardtop reflects the Continental influence by its low silhouette and graceful contours. The car is only 56 5/16 inches high, and has an overall length of 201 15/16 inches. Power steering, now available at extra cost in the Commander series, will be offered in the popular Champion line later in the year.

Livestock Sales Up After Embargo Lifted

TORONTO (CP) — Increased buying and selling of livestock was evident this week throughout the province, following lifting of the U.S. embargo, the Ontario department of agriculture reported in its weekly report.

Farmers in Grey, Northumberland, Ontario, Lanark, Leeds and Renfrew counties reported all grades of livestock were in good demand. Wellington and Lincoln counties reported a good market for weanling pigs at advanced prices.

Seed cleaning plants were in full operation in Lincoln, Rainy River and Thunder Bay while fruit growers in Welland were engaged in pruning operations.

Seed fairs will be held later this month in Grey and Renfrew counties.

Ottawa To Buy Dried Milk Stock

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has decided to buy 10,000,000 pounds of dried skim milk from the Canadian industry in an effort to reduce a commercial stockpile that has doubled in the space of a year.

Agricultural officials disclosed Tuesday that with Canada's concentrated milk industry facing a problem in mounting surplus production, federal relief will be provided through government purchase of about 50,000 barrels of the surplus product. Purchases will begin as soon as storage space can be found.

Under this new price-support measure, first of its kind since 1949, the government will pay eight cents a pound for 3,000,000 pounds of dried skim milk produced on roller machines and 11½ cents a pound for 7,000,000 pounds produced through spray-machine methods.

These prices are slightly below current market levels, but the market-support move may cost the government about $1,045,000. If arrangements can be made, the milk likely will be turned over to some international agency—probably the United Nations international children's emergency fund.

This federal move is expected to reduce commercial stockpiles which climbed to 15,600,000 pounds on Feb. 1, double the 7,500,000 on Feb. 1, 1952.

Bantam Shamrocks Win In Belleville, 12-7 To Open OMHA Playdowns

BELLEVILLE (Special)—A smart well-coached Peterborough crew of youngsters grabbed a strangle hold on the second round of the OMHA Bantam "A" playdowns here last night defeating the Belleville youngsters by a 12-7 score. The second game of the goals to count series will be played in Peterborough tomorrow night. The Petes grabbed a 3-1 margin in the first period and never looked backward. They held a 5-2 edge in the second heat and ran in seven goals in a wide-open third period that saw the Belleville kids come back hard with five markers. The passing plays of the visitors clicked throughout the game while their shooting was generally right on the net.

LED THE WAY

Pat Baker and Frank Daly were the triggermen for the Petes crew each scoring three goals while the player that caught the eyes of the rail birds was Larry Lonsberry, big defenceman, who accounted for one goal and four assists. Billy Mahoney was good for a pair with Wayne Haig, A. Pace and Gary Darling accounting for the rest.

Bobby Hull, 14-year-old Belleville star, who plays intermediate hockey with his dad, stood out for the homesters, getting two although Bill Foster accounted for the hat trick and an assist. Ab Wright, pint sized forward, scored two quickies on individual efforts to account for the Belleville scoring. Twelve penalties were handed out by the officials, all minors. The teams:

Peterborough—Goal, Riel, def., Lonsberry and Darling; centre, Baker; wings, Daly and Mahoney; subs., Haig, Jay, Coombs, Pace, McFadden, Kimball, Shaw, Stewart and Hope.

Belleville—Goal, Pinkston; def., Beeby and Robb; centre, Chick; wings, Wannamaker, Musgrove; subs., Wright, Hull, Pollard, St. Louis, Green, Foster, McLean and Barclay.

Referee — Post, Peterborough; Wiggins, Belleville.

League Leading Hawks Put Out Lindsay

LINDSAY (ENS): — The Lindsay Juniors were defeated Monday night 7-1 in Belleville, to drop out of further play in the OHA Junior B playdowns, after winning one game from the league-leading Hawks, and tieing another, to force the fifth game of the playoff series, the local team finally folded under the pressure of the stronger Belleville team. A win was necessary to force the sixth game. Therrien, Jones, Gilmour and Halstead were the stars. Gilmour and Halstead scored in the first period, while the Lindsayites managed to stay fairly close to the home club.

In the second, Jones, Therrien, and Casey scored on Reg Truax as Lindsay folded up, after Hip Packer, starry right winger, said a few too many words to Referee Larry Heffering, and got the gate for the balance of the game.

In the third period, the home club added two more goals, via Halstead and Jones, to seal up the issue, before the Lindsay club managed to put their single counter behind Barclay in the Hawks net. The latter played his best game of the series and deserved the win, as he stopped many close-in rushes by the desperate Lindsay crew, especially in the first period. Art Truax garnered the lone Lindsay point, on an unassisted play.

Havelock Juves Take First Over The Sound

HAVELOCK— (ENS) — Havelock chalked up a 9-3 win over Parry Sound in a OMHA semi-final game (B series) here on Tuesday night before a large crowd of fans.

Havelock shut out Parry Sound until the 7:40 mark in the third period when Graham of the visiting team scored on a penalty shot when Hickey tripped a Parry Sound player on a breakaway. This is the first time that a penalty shot has been handed out in Havelock arena. Woodcock of Peterborough was the referee and Hunter of Havelock the linesman. Fourteen penalties were given out, seven to each side. Bill Laing did the hat trick for Havelock by scoring three goals and getting an assist as well. Newman also played a strong game for the home team scoring two goals and gaining two assists.

The next game will be played at Parry Sound on Thursday night. Owing to the stormy night and icy roads, most of the visitors stayed over night.

LINE UP

Parry Sound: Goal, Green; defence, Piddington, Simpson; centre, Graham; wings, Stevenson, Agnello; alternates, Poytress, Rochon, Cribbie, Brady, Barks, Kerr, Handcock, Virgo.

Havelock, Goal, Stackhouse; defence, Crowley, Hickey; centre, B. Laing; wings, Newman, Pollock; alternates, Ruttan, Chase, Paranuik, MacMillan, Drummond, Revoy, Patterson, Logan, B. Anderson (sub-goalie).

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A letter arrives from Bill Sweetman, now living in Davison, Mich. Bill played in the old East Peterborough League and later with the senior Petes of the early 30s, and he still is a summer visitor to these parts. His Diamond days coincided with such stalwarts as Jeff Hardill, Fred Ash, the Hollingsworths, Cack Rogers, Cy Whatley, Tommy Foley, Ike Batten, Nick Nicholls, Ernie Holmes, Russ Kitchen and a whole raft more. Some of the EPL managers here just ere senior ball revived were Art Primeau, Charlie Curtis, Phonse Brioux, Bill Kay, Bill Prindible, etc. Excellent intermediate "A" calibre, and later the pick of 'em teamed up in senior play in a good COBL. A few years before Knotty Lee came in to run the Petes.

* * * * * *

Anyway, here's a para in the Sweetman script: "It was a tactical error for Peterborough to drop to one major hockey team. When I was around, I always believed there was enough talent and interest there for two teams, and now the town is a third larger. Same way with baseball. In my day, too many good fellows were sacrificed to the one team idea. Actually, there was enough talent around for two good teams. In baseball for the old burg I'd be a four-team man, having the so-called juniors scattered among the lists. A four-team industrial league playing nightly, with the winning team going into the playdowns, would go a long way toward reviving local interest." Certainly it's a thought to keep the sport going here.

From NHL Bulletin

Latest NHL bulletin listed George (Red) Sullivan with one goal and eight assists for nine points, but he scored another marker in that Detroit-Boston debacle the other night. Gord Howe and Ted Lindsay were off by themselves atop the scoring scramble with Rocket Richard a poor third as the Wings keep flying fast toward another NHL title. Canadiens are sitting cozily in the second slot, but there's a hot scrap going on among Leafs, Hawks and Bruins for the other two playoff spots, Rangers being firmly imbedded in the cellar. A few more weeks and they'll be hitting into the exciting Stanley Cup playoffs.

Secretary Dick Bridgman of Trenton sends along the Final scoring tally for the TVL northern division. Leo Goyer of Wellington won the southern section sniping crown with a total of 59 points. For the third year in a row, Ken Trumble of Marmora led this district with 41 points, two more than Joe Rochetta of Norwood and Junior West of Hastings, and three more than Tom Birch of Lakefield. Doug Free of Campbellford was one point back of Birch. Graham Craig of Campbellford led in goals scored with 24 while West was high in assists, helping on 27 in just 12 league games played. The final northern area scoring list is in tonight.

Petes' Puck Action

Petes play an exhibition puck game in Lakefield tonight with Dit Clapper refereeing. Lakefield will use their own OHA players like Hunter, Wasson, Montgomery, and those good IOOF-ers who hailed from the village. With Orillia dropping out of the post-season OHA series for runners-up, Petes have been drawn against Cobourg's bolstered bunch in the first round up this way. The series opens here Friday and goes to Cobourg early next week. Petes expect to be at full strength for the series, and Cobourg will be strong, too, with such aces as Jim Munroe, Dave Casey, Clark Somerville (former pro goalie), Sleep Dawe, recently tabbed by Boston Bruins, Cliff Maundrell and the others.

Joe Rochetta takes his midget Aces to Kingston tonight to open their OMHA second round "A" playdowns, return joust being at 8.30 p.m. here Thursday. Pat Doherty's bantam Shamrocks opened their second round with a neat 12-7 win in Belleville last night, and now tote a five-goal lead into the return number at seven here tomorrow eve in Civic Arena. Pat Baker and Frank Daly scored three goals each for Shamrocks while Larry Lonsberry had a large evening, also, to sink one and help on four more. Bill Mahoney clicked for two, with Gary Darling, Wayne Haig and Ricky Pace each notching one. Goaltending was good. The Havelock juvenile "D" boys downed Parry Sound 9-3 last gloaming for a six-goal lead in the return up north Thursday.

Normals Hoop Victors Over The Aces, 39-35

Gaining a lengthy first half lead and holding on through the second half, Normals eked out a 39-35 victory over the Aces Tuesday night in YMCA house league play.

Actually the Normals built up most of their lead in the first quarter. Then McDonald paced Normals with four baskets and a successful foul shot for nine points as they took a 13-8 score. Harry Carleton was the only effective player for Aces during that quarter.

The Normals, with McDonald still leading, all entered the scoring in the second quarter, taking a 26-18 half-time score. Again only Aces' Carleton was hitting the hoop regularly.

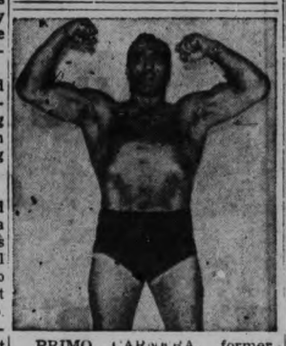
CLOSE CHECKING

The third quarter was confined to close checking, resulting in a low score, Carleton with a series of foul shots and Normals' Bill English were the only players to find the hoop more than once. It ended with Normals still up 33-25.

Bob Keating and Low cut Normals' lead in half during a last quarter rally, but they couldn't overcome the full eight-point lead. McDonald saved Normals in that quarter with three field baskets.

McDonald led the scoring with 22 points while Carleton had 17 and Keating 14 for the Aces.

Lineups—



Normals (39) — McDonald 22, Reid 2, Whitney 2, Edwards 4, English 7.

Aces (35)—Forbes 2, Carleton 17, Keating 14, Hope, Lynch, Low, Weldon 2.

Trumble Leads In Scoring For North TVL

Ken Trumble of Marmora once again led the scorers in the northern division of the Trent Valley Hockey League this season, scoring 19 goals and helping on 22 more for a total of 41 points. It was his third straight scoring title. Joe Rochetta of Norwood and Junior West of Hastings were next with 39 points each. West led the league in assists, getting 27 in 12 games, while Graham Craig of Campbellford had 24 goals to lead in that section. Following are the top scorers with 20 or more points for the season, as compiled by the TVL secretary:

Boston Blocks Milwaukee Move

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A new move to shift the St. Louis Browns' baseball franchise to Milwaukee before the start of the 1953 season ran into a road block Tuesday, and influential parties on both sides agreed there's no chance of it immediately.

The Milwaukee franchise in the American Association is owned by Boston Braves, who don't want to sell. The Braves were offered $500,000 compensation to move their Milwaukee club to Toledo, an open territory, but Lou Perini, president of the Braves, said "no."

Bill Veeck, head of the Browns, is eager to move and Milwaukee is beckoning him with a $5,000,000 stadium, but the Braves aren't willing to get out unless they can pick up an equal franchise elsewhere.

"We wouldn't stand in the way of Milwaukee getting into the major leagues," said Joseph Cairnes, executive vice-president of the Braves. "But before we give up the franchise we want a triple franchise with the same potential."

YOUNGEST AND OLDEST — There is a half century difference in the ages of these two curlers, entered in the Canadian curling championships at Sudbury. Hal Worth, 21, who plays second on the Delisle, Sask., rink, exchanges greetings with Peter Gilbert, 73, skip of the Chatham curling club, representing southern Ontario.

Onetime NHL Greats Shine At Vancouver Benefit Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—Yesterday's hockey greats sparkled with some old-time brilliance in Vancouver Forum Tuesday to provide a tomorrow for a fellow-player stricken with poliomyelitis.

More than 6,000 fans shoehorned into the rink at $1 each to watch the third annual old-timers benefit game.

They weren't disappointed as fellows like Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, and Lorne Carr of the old New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs, Mac and Neil Colville and Clint Smith of New York Rangers showered rubber at Walter (Turk) Broda of Toronto and Cecil (Tiny) Thompson of Boston Bruins.

The old-timers came back from retirement to aid Gordon Petrie, who played here 10 years ago. He entered an iron lung last summer after being stricken with polio in Houston, Tex.

The score probably doesn't matter too much, but the "Blues," with Thompson in the net and led by the Colville brothers, won out 7-3 over the "Whites."

COLVILLES SCORE

Mac and Neil each scored once for the Blues, while Lulu Lennon, Tip O'Neill, Frank Jerwa, Johnny Sheppard and Clint Smith got the others.

Paul Runge, who led the American Hockey League in scoring in 1933-34, scored twice for the losers and Schriner, who won the National Hockey League scoring title in the 1935-36 and 1936-37 seasons, got the other.

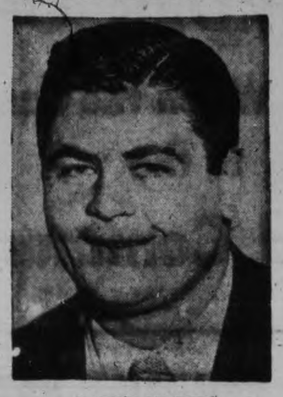
The old-timers made a game of it after a slow warm-up in the first period. They played a full 60 minutes, but the time-clock ran without stopping during a period.

Making the difference between the star-studded line-ups was Thompson. The four-time Vezina Trophy winner, who played with Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks, and who now is chief scout for Chicago, made some smart saves.

White's power-line of Schriner, Carr and Leroy Goldsworthy made Thompson hop at times, particularly in the third period, when he turned aside 13 shots to six handled successfully by Broda.

TURK SLOW

The Turk, possibly a good deal heavier than during his "fabulous fat man" squabbles with Conn Smythe of Toronto, found the reflexes a little slow.



Most surprising was the way the old-timers kept their "passing-eye" through the years. When an attack went astray, it was because the legs couldn't keep up with memory, the last man on a pass-play finding himself a stride or two behind the puck.

Amby Moran, a 58-year-old old-timer, took a regular turn on defence for the Whites with Chuck Millman.

In a ceremony before the game, Mrs. Si Griffis was presented with a scroll on behalf of the hockey Hall of Fame in Kingston, Ont., in memory of her husband who died shortly before his election to the hall this year.

Chicago Hits Rough Stretch In Playoff Berth Battle

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks, who had the breaks from the National Hockey League schedule-makers last week, have hit a rough stretch of travelling in their fight for a play-off berth. The Hawks spent most of their working time recently beating Boston Bruins over the head every time the train-weary Bostonians showed their faces in Chicago. Meeting them three times in eight days, Sid Abel's charges picked up two victories and a tie.

But now the shoe is on the other foot. After six straight games on the road, the Bruins play their next four at home while the Hawks keep their bags packed.

The Chicago schedule calls for a game against the last-place Rangers in New York tonight, a hop to Chicago for a date with Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday, a jump to Montreal Saturday and another overnight ride to Boston for a Sunday tilt.

TROUBLE?

Even the Ranger game could spell trouble. The last - placers handed the Hawks a 4-2 beating on their last visit and have made a nuisance of themselves generally in recent weeks.

A point ahead of the fifth-place Bruins and a similar distance behind the Leafs, Chicago can't afford to give many points away. They have 10 games left to nail down one of the four play-off berths.

The Chicago - New York game is the only activity tonight. While the Hawks and Leafs clash Thursday, the leading Detroit Red Wings the only team sure of their play-off spot, entertain New York and Montreal Canadiens play at Boston.

Barons Blank Hornets To Head AHL Alone

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons regained undisputed first place in the American Hockey League Tuesday night by blanking the second-place Pittsburgh Hornets, 3-0.

Gus Karrys, rookie Baron defenceman, zoomed in the first goal on a 70-foot shot at 5:18 of the first period. Steve Wochy, right wing, got the other two in the third period.

Goalie John Bower of Cleveland recorded his sixth shut-out, his best record for any single season.

WIN BERTHS IN FINALS

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Walkerville Collegiate and Assumption High School Tuesday night won berths in the senior finals of the Windsor Secondary School Association Basketball League. Walkerville defeated Patterson Collegiate 39-27 while Assumption took a narrow 36-35 victory over Kennedy Collegiate.

Walkerville and Assumption will meet in a sudden-death final March 13.

"Bim" Sturgeon Recreation Head For Ottawa

R. W. "Bim" Sturgeon, former director of recreation of the city of Timmins, has been appointed manager and recreation director of the Ottawa Civil Service Recreation Commission.

The new RA director began his duties in Ottawa Monday. His work includes the supervision of more than 50 activities of RA's 11,000 members.

Mr. Sturgeon is a former member of Peterborough YMCA. His father, R. G. Sturgeon, was a plumber on Charlotte St., in the vicinity of the Curling Rink where he was for years prominent as skip, and noted in the Club for his runner shots. Father and son in their respective days were interested in athletics.

EDUCATED HERE

"Bim" Sturgeon was educated here and was employed for some time in the office of Canada Packers Ltd. He was active in basketball and tennis. At Timmins he organized and promoted arts, crafts drama and music, as well as sports. He is an executive member of the Recreation Directors Federation of Ontario, and has been a member of the advisory council of the Ontario Recreation Association since its inception.

Mr. Sturgeon is 41, married, and has three children. His wife is an artist who has done much to foster the growth of art in Northern Ontario centres.

TROOPS BATTLE MOBS IN IRAN—Iranian troops rush in to break up a mass demonstration at the gates of the royal palace in Tehran, Iran. Mobs converged on the palace as Premier Mohammed Mossadegh ousted the army's chief of staff and named a new one in an effort to quell the stormy national crisis. Rioting had flared when Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi announced he was leaving the country. He later changed his mind, but crowds blaming Mossadegh for the crisis surged wildly through the streets.

Campbellford Man Buys Trent River Lots

TRENT RIVER—(ENS) —William Longmuir has sold a southerly portion of his farm bordering on Highway No. 30 approximately 700 feet, wide by 1,400 feet long to F. G. De Caroll of Campbellford.

This choice piece of land is cleared and is at highway level.

Although nothing definite has been forthcoming from the purchase, it is rumored around the community that a new drive-in theatre is in the making.

G. A. Wannamaker

LAKEFIELD—(ENS) — Held under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, Branch No. 77, of which the deceased was a member, the funeral service for George Andrew Wannamaker, who died on Wednesday as a result of drowning, was held from the Anderson Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon and was largely attended.

A resident of the village all his life, Mr. Wannamaker served during World War II with the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Pallbearers, members of the Canadian Legion, were: Hilliard McCracken, Walter Chappell, Thomas Junkin, Harry Galvin, Stanley Dever and Clayton Montgomery.

Flower bearers were: Wilbert Dever, William Ackison, Jack [illegible]se, Albert Jessup, Elmer Graham and George Chappell.

The service was conducted by the Rev. W. T. Tonge of the Lakefield United Church and burial was in Lakefield cemetery.

Members of the Canadian Legion formed a guard of honour and the last post was sounded by Bugler Douglas Darling.

Crokinole Party

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Young People of the Norwood United Church held a successful crokinole party in the basement of the United Church on Saturday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Harold Rogers, Mrs. Max Brown, Harold Lunn and Bill Bott.

Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Asks Congress For Closed Shop

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL president George Meany asked Congress Tuesday for what amounts to practical repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

In a sweeping indictment of the labor law, which he called "unjustifiably oppressive," the AFL's new president told the House of Representatives labor committee:

1. The closed shop, under which employment depends on prior union membership, should be made legal.

2. Injunctions of all kinds should be stricken from the law, including 80-day bans on national strikes.

3. Some types of secondary boycotts should be allowed. Meany called these boycotts "time-honored activities traditionally carried on to protect established labor standards and to assist other unions." The Taft-Hartley act forbids them.

4. The anti-Communist oath requirement "reduces unionists to the status of second class citizenship" and should be eliminated. Meany said the provision is not "ferreting out Communists from unions."

Stalin's German Children

Reds Are Teaching Children To Spy On German Parents

By FRED SPARKS.

BERLIN (NEA). — "I denounce my parents for preparing to leave Eastern Germany and go to the West."

So ran a recent letter in "Young World," the newspaper of the semi-militarized Communist Free German Youth (FDJ).

It was signed by a 13-year-old snitch.

The editor noted: "This Pioneer is commended for alertness."

Parents of this poisoned child will be panel members at a brass-knuckled quiz program in the rear of a secret police station. The jackpot prize: Up to 24 rent-free months in a damp cell.

Right now thousands are fleeing lovely life under Leninism before, as anticipated, the last easy exit from the Russian zone via Berlin is shuttered with barbed wire.

To cut the flow, small fry are urged to keep a private eye on friends and relatives who might be packing.

West German intelligence officers state that scores of arrests to prevent flight are based on data supplied by juvenile stool pigeons.

"Junge Welt's' unique letters-to-the-editor column, which glorifies t'een-age tattle tales, is another flash-back to Hitler's House of Horror. Then Hitler Youth sniffed around for anyone suggesting the Brown Shirts had bloody hands.

The U.S. High Commissioner's Office, after an extensive peep behind the Iron Curtain, reported: "The FDJ serves as an 'information service.' Their members (seven million kids, six to 24) have the duty to denounce instances of deviations from the Communist Party line in homes factories, schools, in the administration and (even) in the secret police."

Recently Hans Streitz and his wife, factory workers from Frankfurt-on-Oder, Soviet Zone, reached the American sanctuary and told this story:

Their two daughters Klara and Ingeborg, wanted to join The Pioneers, semi-militarized Communist youth organization for children under 14. Herr Streitz had his fill of totalitarian tots under Hitler and refused permission.

Another delightful twist was related by an East German army lieutenant the day he escaped to West Berlin. A handsome 20-year-old, he still wore his Soviet-style uniform and paratrooper boots.

He showed me a snap of the blonde fraulein who was his undoing and explained: FDJ girls, 16 to 20, hang around beer stubes near army camps to check German GIs' loyalty while making merry.

His honey bun, whom he had vaguely suspected, led him through one wild, schnapps-soaked evening. His lips loosened and he beefed about the complete control exercised by attached Russian army advisors.

The next day a military police buddy tipped him off. The girl had denounced him.

The lieutenant didn't care to spend the next 99 years counting his toes, so he "flew." He swears to visit Fraulein Spy again some day and cut her throat from Adam's apple to Zanzibar.

Tomorrow: "There is no god!"

NOT CUB SCOUTS ON PARADE, but Stalin's "Young Pioneers" in East Germany make this incongruous picture of recruited youth.

Sunday School Given Hymnals, Tune Book

BETHANY (ENS). — From a former resident the United Church Sunday School received 50 Sunday School hymnals and a tune book. They were used for the first time on Sunday, Mr. A. H. Monk, superintendent of the school, expressing appreciation of the gift and offering a dedicatory prayer.

The donor, Mrs. William Ewing of Sault Ste. Marie, was well known here some years ago. Her maiden name was Minnie Garnett and her father owned a small store in the business section which was destroyed by fire in 1911. The Garnett family moved away from the village at that time and Minnie became a registered nurse. Through the years she has kept in touch with several families by letter, but has not visited here for some time.

In explaining the gift, Mrs. Monk gave excerpts from a letter received from Mrs. Ewing: "At eighty-eight years of age, I am nearing the end of life's journey, and wished to do something acceptable for the church of my childhood."

Speaking expressly to the junior members of the school, Mrs. Monk continued: "I hope you children will appreciate this gift as much as the older folk do, and that you too will always carry in your hearts pleasant memories of the Sunday School and church that you have attended; that in years to come you will remember and put into effect all the things you have learned in our Sunday School."

Canada's Population Reaches 14,642,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population jumped to a new high of 14,642,000 on Dec. 1 last, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday.

This was a boost of 90,000 in three months and a jump of 194,000 from the June, 1952, estimate of 14,430,000.

Altogether, said the bureau, Canada's population has jumped 615,000 from the 14,009,000 figure shown in the decennial census of June 1, 1951.

Ready Lake Freighters For Busiest Season

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's inland fleet of several hundred lake freighters were being prepared today for what shipping officials predict will be the busiest season in the history of river and lake transportation.

They based the prediction on the increased amount of cargo available, particularly grain and ore, and additions to the inland fleet which have increased the capacity of Canada's bulk carriers by several hundred thousand tons.

Officials estimated a record 112,000,000 tons of ore will be moved this season, an increase of 6,000,000 over last year.

Rotarians Mark Fellowship Day

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Fellowship Day was the theme of the program at the Rotary Club on Monday, when Paul O'Sullivan, chairman of the fellowship committee, had charge of the program.

A quartette, with Rotarians Lew Glover, Bill Holmes, Percy Denyes and Hilton Beatty, were featured on the program. Miss Donna Sharpe contributed a piano solo and instrumental solos were given by Rotarians Ross Richardson and Arn Bright. Rotarian Leo Doherty, accompanied by his daughter Maureen, played a violin solo, after which Hilton Beatty presented a humorous financial statement. Rotarians Wally Rutherford, Dave Ness, Hector Macmillan and Paul O'Sullivan were in a vocal number which was followed by a comedy act by Cliff Gibson.

Rotarian Frank Linton was the lucky winner of a prize hen, in a draw conducted by Rev. John McKibbin.

Blackout Hides Blush

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Let there be light, said the mayor last night as he pulled a switch intended to bring near-daylight vision along a mile of Pacific coast highway. Instead the whole town was plunged into darkness. Mayor J. Russell Shea's blush was hidden for two hours until workmen repaired a power line, blown down by high winds.

Funeral Market Bright With Flower Wreaths

MEXICO CITY. — The funeral market on Avenida Hidalgo is a much more cheerful place than the name would imply. Here small groups of workers make beautiful flower wreaths three or four feet in height to be used at funerals.

* * * *

The men and boys work in the open air and are artists at their jobs. They have lovely and original designs and work speedily at their tables. Flowers are beautiful and cheap in Mexico and on a sunny afternoon this makes a bright splash of color on the old street.

* * * *

This market is in the space of half a small block between two churches—the Church of San Juan de Dios and the Church of Santa Vera Cruz.

* * * *

The Church of San Juan de Dios which dates from 1766 has a Baroque exterior that is richly carved. Of special interest there is an image of San Antonio de Padua covered with silver votive offerings. He is the healer of broken hearts and is constantly visited by those seeking love or suffering from it.

* * * *

The Church of Santa Vera Cruz to the right of the flower market is one of the oldest. It was established in 1528 and rebuilt in 1870. It was formerly one of the fashionable churches to which the Virgin of Los Remedios was brought in elaborate processions to Mexico City.

* * * *

LA MERCED BIG ONE

The markets in Mexico City are an important part of life here. La Merced which is one of the oldest and largest, sprawls over 10 square blocks. It not only uses up the sidewalk space but overflows much of the narrow road area. There is just room for two people to walk abreast comfortably.

* * * *

There are little stalls and big stalls. 'In one section you will find all kinds of fruits from oranges to papayas. In another there will be vegetables such as little green chili peppers, tomatoes and huge onions. Some have spices or are open air restaurants; another section will have yard goods, clothes or pottery. Many people, particularly the poorer ones, do most of their buying here. There are ragged, barefoot peons, children, Indian women and smartly dressed people wandering through this market. Some stands have fruits drinks in pretty red, orange and green colors. But the tourist is advised to pass it up.

* * * *

The San Juan market is particularly noted for its gorgeous flowers. Passing through the small Chinese quarter, the visitor sees the end of the flower market. It is beautiful with carnations, gladioli, roses, etc. There are beautiful mauve and white orchid corsages that would make any woman envious and you can buy one for almost nothing. One vendor was selling little old fashioned nosegays. Both sides of the street are lined with gay flower stalls.

* * * *

There are several craft stalls here, too, and some good bargains may be had. I picked up a small wicker basket for fruit for two pesos, about 16 cents.

* * * *

SPECIAL SEA FOODS

There is a large indoor market at San Juan which would delight any housewife. Government inspected, it is clean and has great variety. Turkeys and chickens were plentiful and cheap and they had a wonderful seafood section. The fish are brought direct from the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast, packed in ice to ensure freshness. Several of the counters had a grey octopus hanging up—not exactly my choice for a good dinner. There were also good fruit and vegetable sections. Although Christmas has gone, there were still some pinatas. They are big animals made of paper in pretty colors.

* * * *

Xochimilco market about 14 miles from Mexico City, is also interesting. An open air market, it has beautiful drawn linen articles, tablecloths, mats, trinkets and the usual assortment. With some of the merchants here you can do a little bargaining if you care to. I got a little knocked off a tablecloth set and another proprietor offered to bargain if I was interested.

* * * *

In all these markets, you are vociferously besieged to buy this or that, each man shouting a little louder than the man ahead of him. But it is typical of Mexico and it is something that no visitor should miss if he wants to understand and appreciate the country.

New Resident To Pay Higher Taxes

25 Per Cent Increase For Most In Smith Being Annexed

Property owners in that portion of Smith Township facing annexation by the city will pay roughly 16 to 25 per cent higher taxes this year than they did in 1952, although the difference would have been less had the prospect of annexation not been before the township council when it struck last year's rates.

For example, when the rate was struck for public school supporters of SS 13, Queen Elizabeth School Section last year, no school levy was imposed as a surplus from 1951 was available for that purpose.

Consequently a comparatively low rate of 51.4 mills was levied in that section, compared to the 64.5 mills they will pay to the city this year, pending passage of the annexation bill by the Provincial Legislature. The increase would be about 25 per cent.

Meanwhile, annexation of SS 13 and parts of 3 and 4 has been approved by the municipal board of the province and the 1952 assessment rolls of these sections have been adopted by the city for the purpose of levying 1953 taxes.

Tax rates to public school supporters in the three sections last year were: SS 3, 49.5 mills; SS 4, 55.8 mills; SS 13, 51.4 mills.

The rates in Sections 13 and 4 stood higher than in 3 because they were levied 7 mills for fire protection, 1.9 mills for retirement of debentures on the fire hall, and 1 mill for VON, a total of 9.9 mills which was not included in the rate for SS 3, which is not covered by the fire protection agreement and is not provided with VON services.

Throughout Smith Township last year the county levy and the township general rate totalled 27.2 mills.. For public school supporters there was an additional levy of 3.8 mills, making the basic township levy 31 mills.

The final total in each section was made up of extra services mentioned and including the extra school levy except for SS 13, where there was none, and the levies for secondary school education.

Exactly how much more property owners in the annexation area will be paying in taxes in 1953 than if they had continued to pay to the township is an open question; but it is likely that the difference would have been even less than these figures indicate.

The reason for this is that the 1953 tax rate for Smith Township has not yet been struck, but, judging by the demands of school boards for 1953 spending sent to Township Clerk Alex. Edmison, this year's tax rate in Smith Township will be higher than in 1952.

HOLD INQUEST

An inquest is being held this afternoon into the death of Angus Ferguson who died as the result of burns he received from an explosion in the Quaker Oats feed mill January 12. It is being held in the lecture room of the nurses' residence of the old Nicholls Hospital, now owned by the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College. Dr. H. G. Carleton is presiding in the absence of Dr. Hobart N. Young.

OLD COIN PRESENTED

Jim Meyers of Ida found an old coin in the south of Italy in 1943 while he was fighting in the Italian campaign, World War Two, with the Fort Garry Horse. He brought it to the Examiner for identification on Monday but it was recommended that he show it to coinage experts in larger Canadian cities to determine what it was and how much it was worth today. It appeared to be made of bronze and seemed to carry a Roman emperor's head on one side with the word "AVGVSTVM" on it.

Residents Ask Investigation Into Zone Change

Property owners in the Cadverley area of Ashburnham petitioned the council Monday night to prevent Ross Greenley from proceeding with the construction of two multiple-unit dwellings at the northwest corner of Caddy and Ludgate Sts.

The petition was presented by J. L. Ireland, Thomas Owen, J. D. A. Miller and J. H. Storrie, residents of Caddy St. They also asked for an investigation of the circumstances by which Mr. Greenley has been permitted to undertake this construction.

All the buildings in the Cadverley sub-division are single-unit one-storey dwellings, with the exception of a one-storey and a half house at the north east corner of McFarlane and Beverley Streets which was built before the subdivision was occupied.

In an attached statement, the petitioners informed the council that on Feb. 12, 1953, the building of a shack was begun on the five vacant lots.

GIVEN AUTHORITY

"On Feb. 13 we were told at the City Engineer's office by the building inspector that an authorization was granted for the construction of two four-unit dwellings with no dwelling space in the basement to be erected on all or part of the five lots on the northwest corner of Caddy and Ludgate Streets. The construction of these buildings was authorized by Mr. Hubert Sills of the Town Planning committee and Mr. Chalmers, City Engineer. On further enquiring why no building permit was posted at the site, we were informed that as no plans had been submitted for filing, no building permit had been issued.

"On reviewing the above further, we find that two men apparently authorized a change in the character of the whole sub-division of one type and entirely built up except for six vacant lots. We find that these changes were made without notifying the residents of the built-up sub-division, and yet there are numerous precedents which should have caused them to do so."

The statement recalls the plan for building a gasoline station at the northeast corner of Water St. and Parkhill Road. It is in the midst of a semi-commercial area and the residents were notified of the request for permission to build.

"With this precedent before and with the facts so far presented to you, we desire this council to ascertain the specific reasons why two men authorized the change in the Cadverley sub-division."

The petitioners also say that no building permit was visible at Caddy and Ludgate Sts. up to Sunday, March 1 . . .

PLANS CHANGED

"During the week from Feb. 23 to Feb. 28 we made our preparations to present our case to this Council, and while we were doing so we were reliably informed that the building permit had been changed from two four-unit dwellings with no dwellings in the basement to two six-unit dwellings with dwellings in the first or basement storey. At the same time the contractor has been working on the foundations of one building and we repeat 'with no visible building permit'."

"This apparently unauthorized building has gone on without regard to the safety of children and pedestrians for large piles of building material and a deep hole

121 Men Have Enrolled As Canvassers In Fund's Retail Division

Approximately 121 men will be on the street canvassing for the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund when the campaign officially opens Friday. This group makes up the Retail Division of the fund canvassers. The division's objective is $19,250 of the $95,000 total objective. This year, city retailers are again being asked to adopt the payroll deduction plan in their stores. The city banks and trust companies have agreed to accept deposits for the fund to simplify the operation of this plan.

SETUP REORGANIZED

In addition to retail establishments, the division this year has reorganized it setup to include a special names sections and has also arranged for lawyers and real estate firms, dentists and Catholic Institutions to be canvassed as groups.

Another innovation in the division for the 1953 campaign is the offer of two organizations in the city to help with the canvass as a body. These organizations are the Y's Men's Club and the Peterborough branch of the Life Underwriters' Association.

Woodrow Roberts is the chairman of the retail division. Supervisors are Reg Crouch, Charles Elliott, Cliff Boate.

The canvassers are: Lawyers, James Lillico; real estate firms, Ross Thompson; dentists, Dr. A. H. Ball; Catholic Institutions, J. Sullivan.

Division 16, Special Names—Stan Payne, captain; M. Turner, H. David, W. Hardill, R. Stacey, M. Comstock, J. Foster.

Building Permits For February Total $114,500

Peterborough's building permits for February amounted to $114,500 as compared with $65,180 in the second month of last year, as reported to the council Monday by City Engineer Chalmers.

For the first two months of this year, the total value of new building is $124,280 less than for the same opening period of 1952. The report showed $303,180 in the value of permits issued in January and February last year more than the two first months of 1953.

Details of the permits last month were: two garages $500; two dwellings $18,000 and 20 miscellaneous permits for $96,000, amounting to $114,500. In the corresponding month last year, the permits were: one garage $300; six dwellings $49,000, and 13 miscellaneous permits for $15,800 total $65,180.

So far this year four dwellings represent $33,000 in new permits as compared with 17 a year ago for $139,850.

Former Lakefield Housewife In 60s Taking Course To Learn Prospecting

Mrs. Sara Crozier of Toronto and formerly of Lakefield—a trim little woman in her 60s is getting set to go prospecting.

Mrs. Crozier along with 14 other women attended the opening session Monday of the five-day prospecting classes being run by the Ontario Department of Mines in conjunction with the Prospectors and Developers Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Crozier lived in Lakefield for about five years. Mr. Crozier was a salesman there. They moved to Toronto about six years ago.

Born in Cobourg, Mrs. Crozier is a home economics student from Chicago.

INTERESTED FOR YEARS

"I've been interested in prospecting for five years and I'm a student in geological science at the University of Toronto," she said.

In her neat little brown hat with veil, metal-rimmed spectacles and conservative green suit, Mrs. Crozier was a far cry from the common conception of a 'grizzled prospector'. However she thinks it may be the Irish in her that makes prospecting so appealing.

She has ordered a station wagon and is studying maps to decide just where she'll go this summer.

Asked what her family thinks of the venture, Mrs. Crozier said her 23-year-old daughter's only comment was:

"I can't imagine anybody doing all that studying when they don't have to."

County Old People's Home Nothing To Be Proud Of Grand Jury Says In Report

Mixed Jury Criticizes Lack of Action On Previous Recommendations, Doing Best With "Antiquated Facilities"

Accommodation at the Peterborough County Old People's Home was given a sharp rap by the grand jury that reported at the spring assizes. The grand jury—five of them women—submitted a written report to Mr. Justice King in which they stated flatly that "the citizens cannot be proud of the facilities offered at the Old People's Home." After perusing past reports of grand juries and inspecting the court house and county jail, as well as the Old People's Home, the grand jury said:

"We were courteously received at all institutions and offered the utmost co-operation. The whole impression was that the personnel were doing the best possible job with antiquated equipment and accommodation."

FAILED TO ACT

Failure of the county to do anything about previous grand jury recommendations was noted by this latest grand jury that presented their report to Mr. Justice King on Tuesday noon.

On the Peterborough County Old People's Home:

"Our reason for visiting the Home was to see if the numerous recommendations of the previous juries had been carried out. It was apparent after our inspection that most items mentioned in their report had received little attention. We strongly recommend the following steps be taken to ensure increased safety for the old people:

"1. Rubber treads should be placed on all stairways. They are at present worn and smooth and very dangerous.

"2. Two of the three steps leading from the entrance hall are loose and dangerous and should be repaired immediately.

"3. The matter of adequate hot water mentioned in the last jurors' report had not been corrected and according to the present management it would merely be a matter of firing the jacket heater daily instead of once a week.

"4. It is suggested that the installation of a water softener be investigated to both protect the porcelain fixtures from unsightly staining and to relieve the boiler of excessive scale and consequent waste of fuel.

"5. The wheel chair has not been replaced and it is thought by this jury to be most desirable and necessary in a place of this kind. The stretcher was not in evidence and again we feel it to be most necessary that one be available for emergencies.

"6. The crockery and cutlery should be replaced immediately for sanitary reasons if or no other."

MODERNIZE KITCHEN

The county jail escaped the general criticism with only a suggestion that the kitchen equipment should be "modernized" to increase the work area and allow room for the refrigerator to be moved from the jailer's office to the kitchen.

Jail officials were described by the jury as "most courteous" and "capable of conducting the institution in a sanitary and satisfactory manner".

The grand jury praised the cleanliness of the court house but pointed out three previous recommendations that had not been carried out:

"1. Men's washroom facilities outside the county council chamber are still antiquated.

"2. Drinking water facilities have not improved.

"3. Glass in jurors' room (for draft control) not installed and we feel that with the advent of lady jurors that this matter is most important."

Safety Driver Award For H. S. Elliott

Thirty Ontario truck drivers will be honored on Saturday when Lieutenant-Governor Hon. Louis Breithaupt will hold a formal investiture at Queen's Park. Among the 30 men will be H. Stephen Elliott of McClennan Avenue. Mr. Elliott is in his 45th year with the Bell Telephone and has been a driver ever since trucks were put on the road by the company.

The Lieutenant-Governor will present to each man a 20-year medal award from the Ontario Safety League, denoting that he has been driving for 20 years without an accident.

The name of the late W. H. Payne, who died here last October after six weeks' illness, is also included among the drivers who would be getting the award if he had lived.

Mr. Payne was agent-driver for the McColl-Frontenac Oil Company in Peterborough, and at the time of his death had an accident free record of almost 30 years.

W. M. V. Ash, president of the Ontario Safety League, in announcing the investiture said: "These men whom we will honor have driven on our streets and highways day after day, in good weather and bad, and by day and by night. Yet they have shown that through skill, courtesy and patience traffic accidents can be avoided. There are undoubtedly many people living normal lives today who would have suffered death or injury if these men and others like them had been less careful and considerate."

Navy Men Elect James Hamilton

James Hamilton on Tuesday night was elected president of the Peterborough Naval Association at the sixth annual meeting of the club, held in the Canadian Legion Hall. He succeeds Ronald Teasdale.

Last year Mr. Hamilton was a member of the executive.

Robert MacDonald, vice-president, and Thomas Bradley, treasurer, were also both returned to office by acclamation.

Following is a complete list of the 1953 officers who were installed by Louis Durkin, president of branch 52, Canadian Legion:

James Hamilton, president; Robert MacDonald, vice - president; Thomas Bradley, treasurer; Robert Graham, secretary; and five executive members: William Atkinson, James Brown, Jan D'Angelantonio, Robert Robertson and Ray Young.

The Peterborough Naval Association has a membership of 75 naval veterans.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

The district conference is the main item of interest for all leaders, group committees and other workers in Scouting, for on March 21 the west area annual conference of the Scout Association will be held in the Normal School, starting at 2 p.m. There will be items of interest for Cubmasters and assistants, Scoutmasters and assistants, Rover leaders and assistants, ladies' auxiliary members, group committee members, local association executive members, district commissioners and staffs. Groups are expected from Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Apsley, Brighton, Millbrook, Lakefield, and many other points. But the first thing we must do is send in that registration. We feel everyone should attend this conference, even if you have to be carried there. So don't forget to send in that registration.

FIELD DAY

Through our visits it is found that some groups are and others are not working on the schedule of Field Day events on May 16. The effort being put behind it from the local executive angle calls for the full support of every Cub and Scout unit in the district. Boys should be practising and leaders preparing. We understand that one group will not be able to supply leadership for that day. What about getting in touch with the DC or ADC, and also call on some of the dads to help. We are sure Guides and Brownies will be out in full force. Let the male section show that we can do it too.

1ST PETERBOROUGH

Once again St. John's Scout and Cub banquet registered a sellout. It had been expected 125 people would attend, but by the time all were seated the count went to 150.

For the first time since his incumbency, Archdeacon W. P. Robertson was absent from the head table owing to an appointment in Toronto; but the Rev. John Purser group chaplain, was on hand to welcome the guests. The banquet was held in the Cub rooms, with the tables decorated in real Scout fashion, whilst up in the main hall was one taken to camp with tent pitched in regular lumberman fashion. Mr. E. Trueman, secretary-treasurer of the group committee, took over the chairmanship for the evening. There was no guest speaker. Mr. Trueman gave a short outline of the work being done and introduced the Scout and Cub leaders. Brian Dunford, senior Sixer, of the pack, sang two solos. Following the banquet, the meeting was carried out in the main hall where badges were presented to members of the pack. Wallace Davidson received his swimmer's badge. Jamie Welsh swimmer, George Boucher toymaker, house orderly and first-aider, David Irwin house orderly, Garry Hamilton, Tommy Lewis, and Brian Dunford each the swimmer's badge. The Brown Six under George Boucher received the good hunting pennant. The Cubs put over a good display of games, melodrama, etc., followed by a game made up of four teams, mothers, dads, Cubs and Scouts, with the mothers coming through to win. Scouter Ford told of the troop's winter camping experience and the Scouts displayed lighting fire by friction. This evening would not have been possible but for the work of the Mother's Auxiliary under Mrs. Dunford and also the assistance of the Girls' Auxiliary of the church under Mrs. Boate.

BRONZE ARROW COURSE

Those patrol leaders and others who took the recent training course in Trinity Sunday School are reminded that all examination papers must be in the hands of Assistant Commissioner Earl Westman, 167 Romaine Street, on or before March 15. Failure to comply with the regulation may cost you the Bronze Arrow.

2ND PETERBOROUGH

Another night of real activity was held around the Council Rock last week as Doug Pammett led the opening grand howl. Mike Rafarel left the pack, and accompanied by Akela went to join the troop, for Mike is past age for Cubbing. Then came the presentation of badges for work done, Art McNabb receiving the collector's badge, Bill Bonnie the swimmer's, and Jack Steen the artist's.

Further stars were placed on the progress chart as Doug Pammett passed somersault and first star knots, Art McNabb somersault, first star knots, Jim Wyatt thrift, fire lighting, Daird Choate artist, Jack Steen model, Randy Bradshaw book balancing, James McGowan cleaning shoes, Roger Mesley cleaning shoes, Don Hepburn cleaning shoes, cleanliness; Kim Salonius cleanliness, Bill Bonnie message, birds and trees, Ron James message, Glenn Turkington salute, Randy Cummings salute, Ten Starr first class knots, Keith Worboy book balancing, Don Muir first star knots, Daird Pilley second star knots and growing things, John Reynolds first star knots, and Ron Worboy the team players' badge tests.

Assistant Scouter Danny Barclay was in charge of St. Luke's troop at the last meeting in which 30 members took part in Indian wrestling and Chinese tag. Some progress was made as eGorge Roberts completed signs, salute, and woodcraft signs, Peter Salonius gadget, law and promise, also first class swimming, Lionel Harvey flags, law and promise, Peter Sanderson compass, and finally Michael Rafarel, flags. The troop received the invitation to attend the men's and boys' breakfast and Communion on Sunday morning. The highlight of the week was the attendance of the troop at Dick Bird's lecture on Newfoundland at the Collegiate, for which our sincere thanks is extended to Miss McIntosh, a member of the PCVS teaching staff who kindly donated the tickets for the group.

3RD PETERBOROUGH

Two very special meetings were held in St. George's Anglican Cub Pack during the past week: First was the regular meeting of the pack at which 33 were present to witness first investiture ceremonies in which Douglas Black, Jack Fallis, David Fair, Allen Field, Bob Field and Ronald Goodacre were made full members of the pack. It was also the investitutre of Sixers David Swersy to Senior Sixer (Tall Pine) in charge of the Green Six, Bill Kokesh (Brown Tip) Sixer of the White Six, Brant Warern (Red Fang) to the Red Six, Paul Rex (Grey Brother) of the Grey Six, and Morris Hill (White Claw), Sixer of the White Six. Three new chums were accepted into the pack, Allen Pierson, Wayne Kempt and Bill Belton. The game, ankle relay, was played. On Sunday the Cubs held a church parade following which the members of the congregation were invited to attend a meeting at which Cubbing was demonstrated and further investitures carried out. Some 80 members of the congregation acepted the invitation, and together with the Rev. H. J. Scuse and Dr. J. N. Perry of the local association, witnessed the investiture of Leslie Hemwood and Arthur Houghton into the Brown Six, Ronald Hemwood and Ronald Painter into the Green Six, Allen Keating to the Red Six, and Artie McLaren to the White Six.

4TH PETERBOROUGH

Sacred Heart Pack will be losing three members this week as Black Brother Paul Brioux, Seconders Carl Moher and Allen Dobson, who have come of age, will be stepping out into the Scout Trail. The Grey Six under Grey Brother Billy Harrington came through to win the week's Bone but could not displace the Red Six from winning the honor pennant for the month. Carl Moher passed hopping and ball throwing and was presented with his first star.

In the Sacred Heart Troop preparations were made for a big night next week in which a going up ceremony, and investiture will be held for Peter Board, Jerry Crough, and David James. With the three Cubs coming to the troop another patrol was formed, with Bob James patrol leader and Anthony Longo as second the patrol name of Eagle being chosen.

7TH PETERBOROUGH

The regular meeting of St. Paul's Troop was held on Tuesday evening with seven Scouts under ASM Logan. The father-and-son banquet on Friday evening was a grand success, with a real active program in which four members of the troop were presented with their leaping wolf badges as a token of attaining highest rank in Cubbing. These were Bill Watters, Doug Rishor, Roger Mallory, and Robert Hornal.

5TH PETERBOROUGH

All Saints' held a joint church parade on Sunday with a real turnout of Cubs, Scouts, Guides, Brownies, Rover Scouts and Mothers' Auxiliary.

At the meeting on Thursday last, compass relay and clothes pin relay caused a lot of amusement. We were pleased to have with us Mr. Wilson, a member of the group committee, and also some members of Mark St. Troop. Mr. Barnes gave semaphore signalling to a group of the lads. The progress chart showed Gordon Curvin had passed trail signs and making a camp bed; Bernard Hatton, union flag; Bob Davies, knots; and Garry Hughes, union flag. The Crow Patrol emerged ahead to take off the honor pennant.

13TH PETERBOROUGH

Mark Street Troop have taken over another lease on Good Scouting in the acquiring of a new Scoutmaster. One of the first items was the appointment of a news reporter in Bill Moore. Next was the reformation of the patrols, the Beavers, under P. L. (Bunny) Dorrington, the Cougars with Doug Woodward as patrol leader and the Eagles under the wing of Bob Dixon. One of our first actions was a visit to Lakefield Sea Scouts where we had a friendly game of hockey with refreshments to complete the evening. Also our patrol leaders and troop leader, Everett English, attended the bronze arrow course. On March 6 we will be holding a father and son banquet where we will try to show Dad that we mean business in real scouting.

16TH PETERBOROUGH

At the last regular meeting of the pack, E. O. Westbye, chairman of the group committee, attended for the special ceremony being held when his son, Michael, was invested as a Cub in the Trinity Pack. Akela then announced the father and son banquet at which five members of the pack would be leaving the troop. Then followed a short training period in which Raksha took signalling and other members of the pack tried for test work with good results. Ralph McCullough passed Highway Code; a message was delivered by Stanley Hood, Ralph McCullough and Paul Ross. Two Cubs, John Thompson and Richard Shaw won proficiency badges for their collections, the toymaker badge goin to Stanley Hood. Paul oss was awarded the artist's badge and that of house orderly. and that of the house orderly. Jim Tanney proved his ability to fold his clothes properly, Bob Gardner passed public telephone, Paul Ross signalling. Walter Whitely presented a clever model for another star. Kenny Kearns produced his bank book to show he was thrifty, and last of all three boys, Billy Howes, Ken Kearns and John Thompson brought out their plants for the growing things contest.

But the happiest event of the week was the dad and lad banquet at which some 130 odd fathers and sons sat down together over the festive board. Mr. Westbye was chairman and things went swinging along in good fashion and also musically with the aid of Stan Gilmour at the piano and Charlie Spearin on deck as song leader. The Mothers' Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Doreen Edmondson and Mrs. Isabel Perry, had set the tables in pleasing style with paper Maple Leaves giving color everywhere. All leaders were thanked for their grand work over the years, these being Scouter Gord Thomson, Troop Leader Ron Cooper, Cub Master Gord Hunt and his assistants Rollie Hood, Mrs. Hunt and Hugh Chown. During intermission, ADC Harold Wilson told a story to the Cubs and Scouts whilst Akela Gord Hunt cornered the dads and came through with the proposition that every dad will take two evenings each year to visit the pack and assist in the training program. This fitted in well with the theme of the speaker, the Rev. Gordon Maxwell, who centred the whole of his talk on father and son companionship. Mr. Maxwell referred to much of his own family life, of his father's interest in what he and his brothers were doing in life. "Where are we going?" and "What are we looking for?" were two questions put forward. Much could be understood if we got closer to our sons with an understanding heart, to walk with our sons, to talk with them.

The speaker closed with this word of warning: "Into the hands of these boys we are passing a world that is in a sad state, because of what we have been making it. Let us therefore give our sons of the best we can in order that they may be more able to handle the task. Understanding that nothing can be accomplished without God and the Lord Jesus Christ as the hub of all."

Six members of the pack and troop Cubs Allan Jamieson, Leslie Mann, Roy Bacon and Billie Edmonson and Scouts Bob Ritchie and Don Gibson sang "The End of a Boy Scout Day."

A "Going Up" ceremony was held in which Billy White, Sixers David Elliott, John Thompson, Paul Ross and Earl Daynes renewed their Cub promise before Akela led them from the Jungle Trail out into the Scout Trail where Scouter Thomson met them and conducted them to the troop.

Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said that the damage would be repaired in a few weeks.

Communism's Shadow Steps Slowly Across Africa's Heart

For the last month, William L. Ryan has been surveying the Communist line in Africa. Today the AP's specialist on Communist affairs presents the first of three stories depicting the situation from Kenya to Cairo.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The lengthening shadow of the hammer and sickle of world communism is creeping across the heart of Africa.

Here in Britain's Kenya colony, the shadow is still faint but it is growing.

White men hunt down a gang of black men called Mau Mau and build themselves a formidable legacy of hate in the process.

As far as can be made out, the secret, ritualistic Mau Mau is not the direct result of Communist activity. It is a native rising, dedicated from frustration to expelling the white man by terrorism.

The biggest and practically the only organized native political force is the Kenya African Union (KAU). It is not yet Communist-controlled but there is danger it will be unless there is intelligent action by white settlers and British authority.

MYSTERY MAN

KAU has at least 100,000 members. Its president is Jomo Kenyatta, mystery man of the Kenya problem who denies being Communist inspired.

Last October Kenyatta was arrested on charges of managing and assisting the Mau Mau. The trial of Kenyatta and five other natives has been going on for a month in Kapenguria.

His acquittal will rank in the African mind as a defeat of white authority. Conviction will make him a martyr. At most he can get a seven-year sentence.

Some of Kenyatta's background arouses suspicion among anti-Communists. He was not back six months from 15 years in Europe before he took over the presidency of KAU, reorganized it with a "central committee" and introduced discipline.

NEAT TIMING

The timing of the Mau Mau rising coincided neatly with Moscow's turning major attention to "colonial and dependent peoples."

Kenyatta, about 50, attended a church of Scotland mission school until 1914 and then worked as a houseboy and as an interpreter in the Supreme Court. In 1922 he began his political career in the East Africa Association, now the Kikuyu Central Association. The Association sent him to England in 1929 with a list of grievances.

Kenyatta left for England again in 1931 and stayed in Europe 15 years, claiming funds for his support were furnished by the poverty-ridden Kikuyus. Two years, through 1934, were spent in Russia where he studed at Moscow University. His white wife and son are in England.

ENEMY OF MAU MAU?

Kenyatta insists he is an enemy of Mau Mau; that he led 30,000 Kikuyus in pronouncing a curse upon it. The prosecution says he simply told them to go underground.

After the arrest of Kenyatta a mysterious traveller told Joseph Marumbi, general secretary of KAU, to ask a Negro organization in the U.S. for help. The organization quickly sent financial help and promised more.

Marumbi seemed surprised when he learned the organization is operated by Communists.

What KAU stands for, Marumbi said, is more equitable treatment of the black man. There are 5,500,000 of them, as against 120,000 Indians and 35,000 whites. The whites run the government and have taken all the fertile highlands. The Indians have taken over all mercantile establishments. There are relatively few educated Africans and even they have a scant chance, economically.

The legal minimum wage in Nairobi is about $7 a month, plus a housing allowance of just under $1.

Dies After Operation

OSHAWA (CP)—Ralph Vine, 13, of Nestleton died in Oshawa General Hospital Tuesday of an internal haemorrhage 22 hours after a tonsillectomy. The boy's father, Herbert Vine, said a doctor operated at Port Perry Monday and haemorrhaging began during the afternoon.

Drain Lakes, Shift Rivers In Search Of Earth's Riches

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Lakes are being drained and rivers shifted as Canada seeks out her mineral wealth.

Latest instance of such topographical face lifting is the planned draining of Black lake, near Thetford Mines, in Quebec's eastern townships.

This body of water, about 600 acres, or nearly a square mile, in extent, will be lifted from its bed to uncover a deposit of asbestos. The water course now leading into the lake will be diverted to another part of the area's drainage system, and the lake will be pumped out.

United Asbestos Corporation, Ltd. under recent action of the Quebec legislature, now owns the area of the lake's bed, and associated with it is Lake Asbestos of Quebec, Ltd., a subsidiary of American Smelting and Refining Corporation.

SPEND $15,000,000

United Asbestos plans to spend $15,000,000 to bring the property into production, including draining of the lake and building of an initial milling unit with a capacity of 5,000 tons daily.

Expansion programs by other companies in the Thetford Mines area, which now produces 70 per cent of the free world's asbestos, will total about $25,000,000 during the next two years.

Draining of Black lake, in relatively level country, is regarded as a fairly simple feat, as such things go.

A more spectacular job was the draining of Steep Rock lake in northwestern Ontario, 140 miles west of Port Arthur, which uncovered one of the continent's largest bodies of high-grade iron ore.

RE-ARRANGED

There the water courses of the entire countryside had to be rearranged before the lake was pumped out. This lake, shaped somewhat like the letter W, was about 15 miles long and one-half to a mile wide.

Steep Rock Iron Mines, Ltd., was formed in 1939, the drainage job was completed in 1944, and iron-ore shipments started in 1945. The company last year shipped 1,275,000 tons of ore and aims at 3,000,000 tons annually by 1955, and 7,000,000 tons later on.

Additionally, Inland Steel Company of Chicago plans to spend $50,000,000 in the next seven years, developing properties in the area which it has leased from Steep Rock.

Most dramatic of all jobs in the re-shaping of the Canadian face is, of course, that being done in British Columbia, where a watershed of 5,400 square miles is being made to reverse its flow from east to west, to provide power for the Kitimat aluminum development.

Student Injured In Fall On Ice

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Warden Trude, 11, a public school student, fell on the ice at the community rink on Monday afternoon during a free skating period.

The spill caused a linear fracture of the skull—diagnosed and treated by Dr. H. E. Gastle of the village.

Warden, a grade VI student, was taken to a Peterborough hospital for X-ray and treatment. His condition today is satisfactory.

School principal Everett Sloan says this is the first injury of this kind to happen at skating period time. The class was under supervision of teacher Keith Borland.

Democrats Win

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrats won control in seven of eight Sicilian towns that held administrative elections Sunday, it was announced today. The Christian Democrats, who formerly held only three of the towns, picked up two from the Communist-Socialists bloc and two more from rightist parties. The Communists won in only one town.

GROVE SCHOOL BOYS VISIT OTTAWA—A group of 17 teen-age students from the Grove School, including members of the "Fourteens" team, spent a busy weekend in Ottawa where, on Saturday, the latter played hockey against Ashbury College, the final score being 3-3. The party visited the National Art Gallery, the Royal Mint and other places of interest. They were luncheon guests of Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., in the parliamentary restaurant and then made a tour of the parliament buildings and watched the House of Commons in session from the visitors' gallery. Other entertainment included a swim in the famous Chateau Laurier pool and a hockey game at the auditorium. In this photograph, taken on the steps of the main entrance of the parliament buildings, are, from left to right, front row: G. Winder Smith, B.A., headmaster of the Grove School; John Davis, Toronto; Gavin Rainnie, Halifax; Donald Young, Toronto; David Ross, Lakefield; Bob Ryley, Bethany; Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. Second row: Donald Rogers, Aurora; Larry Perkins, Burleigh; Michael Sherwood, Ottawa; Stephen Hunter, Tweed; Chris Gordon, Montreal; Nicholas Sparks, Ottawa. Top row: James de Wolfe, Washington, D.C.; Garry Hutchison, Ottawa; George Hutchison, Ottawa; Miss O. M. Perry, Lakefield; Philip Crump, Calgary, Alta.; Brook Badgley, Ottawa.

An Education Week Feature

Children Like Firm Control Want To Be Made To Work

CALGARY (CP)—Dr. W. H. Swift Alberta deputy education minister, has some tips for teachers. He says school children like to be kept under firm control and made to work.

He says that after 15 years of listening to his own children discuss their teachers, he has decided the most popular teachers are those who keep their classrooms under firm control, without being cranky, and those who keep their students busy, without overloading them with work.

Dr. Swift told a student teacher association convention here that teachers who wish to be popular with their students might consider the characteristics most often mentioned by children in discussing their favorite teachers.

He said children like teachers, who in addition to keeping firm control and keeping students busy, arrange tasks so that pupils know what they are being asked to do.

A further point was that teachers should return test papers promptly and discuss them with students.

Dr. Swift says a teacher should include some summary or skeleton outline with his notes so that students can get notes in systematic order.

Panel Discussion By Young Adults

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — The Young Adult Society was in charge of the evening service at the United Church on Sunday and presented a panel discussion on three subjects. The Rev. J. A. Steed was chairman of the panel.

The subject of the Gospel of St. John was led by Neil C. Wood. Dr. L. O. Bailey presented the topic, "The United States' Foreign Policy in Asia" and George Tanner dealt with the local problem of "What Should Be Done With the Lakefield Park?" The congregation were given the opportunity to join in the discussion.

Mrs. George Tanner, president of the society, was in charge of the service of worship and the scripture reading was given by Mrs. G. Kellar.

A fellowship hour followed the service at which the Rev. J. A. Steed presented some highlights of a recent trip he and Mrs. Steed had made to Florida.

The story of the hymn, "Now the Day Is Over" was given by Miss Connie Orr and the hymn sung by the congregation. Mrs. Donald Hendren sang the solo, "The Altar of Prayer." Mrs. E. Rath accompanied her. Miss Jean Spence was pianist for the service and played a piano prelude as the guests assembled.

Members of the society served refreshments following the program.

Red Cross To Conduct "Blitz" Campaign

LAKEFIELD —(ENS) — The local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has decided its financial campaign will be carried on in "Blitz" fashion this year, with all canvassers working at the same time, on Tuesday, March 10, from 7 until 10 p.m.

It is hoped that the entire village will be covered in the three hours.

A. G. Buchanan is chairman of the campaign with Mrs. W. W. Leonard, the Rev. J. A. Steed, Arthur Kingdon and Stanley Burger as his committee.

The village has been divided into small areas and refreshments will be served to the canvassers in Memorial Hall after they have finished their routes.

It is the hope of the committee that all residents will have their donations ready so a second visit will not be necessary.

Fathers And Sons Banquet At St. A's

The father and son banquet of 8th St. Andrew's Cubs and Scouts was held in the Sunday School hall with about 80 attending. The dinner was prepared and served by Mrs. M. Stickle and a committee of the Auxiliary mothers. Banquet tables were arranged by Mrs. J. Richardson and Mrs. H. Tudhope and decorations centred on the Scout colors, green and yellow predominating. Pretty arrangements of yellow daffodils and green carnations with sprigs of Scottish heather and pussywillows gave a springtime touch to the occasion, while lighted tapers of yellow and green gave added warmth of welcome.

Mr. H. Vickers, chairman of the Group Committee, was chairman for the banquet. The toast to the Queen was proposed by Mr. D. Crawford and to the fathers by Vernon Chiles. Mr. Paige Rowell responded by toasting the sons. A toast to the church was proposed by Bill Vickers and Rev. Henry Cotton responded.

Guest speaker was Dr. G. R. Langley, district commissioner, and he talked on the life of Lord Baden-Powell. He was introduced by Dr. J. N. Perry.

Solos by Roy Bacon added greatly to the evening's pleasure. Community singing was led by Mr. Ingham, acompanied by Mr. H. Northrop. There were stunts at intervals in the program in which the fathers and sons participated.

Mrs. Jean Whitney, Akela of Cubs, thanked the Mothers' Auxiliary for the dinner.

Shellcraft Is Fashioning Of Delicate Floral Patterns

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Shellcraft, the fashioning of delicate floral patterns or a replica of a bride in a flowing gown and train from the myriad shells of sea life, has fascinated Mrs. F. R. MacDonald for the last eight years.

Her craftsmanship in her delicate and painstaking hobby was recognized recently when she was awarded first prize for her exhibit at the Canadian International Hobby Fair in Toronto.

Like all keen hobbyists, Mrs. MacDonald surrounds herself with her craft. In her home she has a collection of floral arrangements, goofus birds, and uncanny creatures of her own imagination made from whelk and cockle shells.

A pair of conch shells is one of her principal treasures. In each of them she has installed a light bulb to reveal the delicate translucent quality of the shell which glows with the warm orange-pink of a sunset.

CHARMING EXHIBIT

In her prize-winning exhibit Mrs. MacDonald showed a bride with a flowing gown and train held by two flower girls, and five bridesmaids in crinolines and poke bonnets carrying nosegays. She also displayed a white dresser set ornamented with fish scales and centred with gold leaves encircled by green leaves.

Perhaps her most delicate creation is a little bowl of lilac. The bowl is a sea-urchin; the stalks are fish bones and each floret is made of minute shells, painted in real-life colors.

A flair for using the right shell for a chosen project has enabled Mrs. MacDonald to produce a fragile wild rose to adorn a blue plastic box, and to devise a realistic water lily with green sand-dollar pads for a centrepiece.

But she has one complaint. There is a distinct shortage of shells in hobbycraft stores. Dealers say shells formerly were gathered by natives and beachcombers and cost dealers little. Now, they say, the shell-gatherers demand an hourly rate, and, at the same time, more people are interested in shellcraft.

Triangle Players To Support Children's Theatre

Blue Triangle Players Senior Drama Group of the YWCA will support the Y Children's Theatre in their forthcoming presentation March 14th at the Queen Mary School auditorium. The group will repeat "Confutation of Wisdom" by special request. This play was placed when competing for the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival at Cobourg and won high praise from adjudicator William Needles who described it as "a gem requiring a little more work to complete its perfection." With some slight changes the group hopes this perfection has been achieved, and is pleased to give the citizens of Peterborough an opportunity of enjoying a delightful play.

Second presentation in the trio of plays scheduled for the night is "Daughter of Bluebeard," which is a fantasy of fun and a fitting sequel to the xery successful Bluebeard presented some two years ago.

Apart from their generous support of the children's theatre, the Blue Triangle Players are hard at work on a new play which they hope will be ready for presentation at the end of May. This is peculiarly interesting, as it is the first modern play the group has attempted.

Making Flowers Demonstrated To Havelock WI

HAVELOCK —(ENS)—Mrs. W. Goodswan of Norwood gave a very interesting demonstration on the making of artificial flowers at a meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute in the council chamber on Monday afternoon, lillies, daffodils and narcissus being the flowers she used for her exhibit. A reading by Mrs. William Woodbeck was also given during the program period for which Mrs. R. Melville was the convener.

The main item during the business session, for which the president Mrs. H. Pollock presided, was making arrangements for the afternoon tea and bake sale at the home of Mrs. R. Melville on March 14. The following committees were appointed: home baking table, Mrs. H. W. Roche, Mrs. A. Buckland; pouring tea, Mrs. A. Anderson; Mrs. R. Jones; serving, Mrs. H. Revoy, Mrs. H. Thompson. Mrs. A. Holland, Mrs. W. Woodbeck; arranging the plates, Mrs. B. Jewell, Mrs. R. Melville; tickets, Mrs. F. McKenzie, Mrs. R. Melville.

Mrs. Jewell announced that arrangements had been made whereby members of Grace United Church, Peterborough, would present their play "Meet the Husband" in the Havelock town hall on March 20 with the Havelock WI as sponsors. Mrs. Jewell, Mrs. G. Hubbel and Mrs. Buchanan were appointed a committee to make posters and tickets.

The secretary was authorized to purchase four tickets for the convention to be held in Toronto in August.

Each member was asked to answer the roll call by relating an incident in their school life.

Hostesses for the tea hour were Mesdames R. Jones, A. Holland, H. Pollock, J. Hoffman, R. Brown.

OTONABEE CHAPTER

With the flag brought forward by standard bearer Mrs. W. A. Burrell, Otonabee Chapter, IODE commenced the business meeting Monday. Regent Mrs. Frank Merrett presided. A minute of silent prayer was observed in memory of a valued charter member, Mrs. J. W. McDermid.

Letters from the adopted school pupils thanked the chapter for Christmas treats, calendars and pictures sent. Mrs. B. MacLean reported on the cards sent to sick and shut-ins and the visits made.

It was decided to send out a bulletin each month, Mrs. A. R. McWilliams to be the editor.

Two ladies were proposed and accepted for membership. A representative will be sent to the annual meeting in Hamilton it was decided. A rummage sale was planned for the second week in April. Plans are also going forward for a Coronation Tea on May 30th at the YWCA. The next sewing meeting will be at Mrs. F. A. Gray's, 218 Aylmer St., on March 16th.

Mrs. W. A. Greenslade was pianist for the closing anthem.

Home and School Association News

GROVE SCHOOL

The Grove Home and School Association held "open house" at the school Monday evening. Teachers were in their classrooms from seven thirty o'clock to talk with the large crowd of parents who visited.

Mrs. Nels Foster presided at a business meeting afterward.

Principal Mr. J. Barnard gave a talk on the unit system in the primary grades, explaining carefully the difference in development of the children in grades one to three which the unit system is designed to meet. Instead of an annual promotion, the child is promoted as he finishes the unit and this can happen at any time of the year, he said. Three units are looked on as roughly equivalent to one grade.

The next executive meeting will be March 23rd at Mrs. Foster's home, 581 Arndon Ave.

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

Education week was emphasized at the Prince of Wales School Tuesday evening when several hundred parents responded to an invitation from principal Mr. R. J. Bolton and the teaching staff to an "open school." Teachers received in their classrooms from seven to nine o'clock, allowing mothers and fathers an opportunity to discuss their children's progress. Senior classes, manual training and home economics rooms had many activities to interest the visitors. Dancing by senior pupils was an added attraction.

Nomination forms were handed out in the foyers of both junior and senior schools by convener Mrs. C. A. Gilders and committee.

Refreshments were served by the social committee.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

A capacity audience was in attendance at Central Home and School Association meeting Monday evening. President, Mrs. L. Horning, presided and extended a cordial welcome to all present.

The pupils' work in the line of arts and craft was on display in the hall. This work was very deserving of credit and received much appreciation by the parents.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mr. J. E. R. Munroe, retired principal of Queen Alexandra School. His subject was "Education" or "Learning", for he said, "education is actually a lifetime of learning." Hobbies are a very important part of education, said the speaker, as they bring out the true feeling or character of the individual."

Mr. Munro was introduced by Mr. N. Gainer and thanked by Mr. H. V. Cunningham, both of Central School teaching staff.

Three short films showing the original ideas brought out by "Creative Hands" climaxed the address most fittingly.

Two piano duets, "Warblers of the Forest" and "Nola" by Mrs. Allan Millburn and Miss Dorothy White were much enjoyed.

Attendance prizes were won by Miss Palmer's and Mr. Hagerman's classes.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Kelcey and her committee.

HAVELOCK SCHOOL

The Havelock Home and School Association celebrated their 16th birthday on Monday evening. A special program was arranged by the program convener, Mrs. J. Calman, with the assistance of the teaching staff. A large birthday cake was served during the tea hour at the close of the program.

The program opened with the singing of Home and School songs with Mrs. G. Kennedy at the piano. Mrs. G. Wright sang a solo, "When You Come Home" with Mrs. D. Kirk as accompanist. The balance of the program was presented by pupils of the school.

A chorus was sung by a group of grade 8 pupils, and from this group, Jo-Ann Kennedy and Doris Newman sang a duet unaccompanied, followed by a trio by Doris Newman, Billy Watson and Clifford Chase.

A group from Grade I presented the following items with their teacher, Miss G. Hunter at the piano. A chorus was one of their items and eight members of the group entertained with a dance.

1st Spring Fashion Parade Is Most Entertaining

Entertainment was the keynote of the fashion parade which drew 1,200 viewers to the Brock Ballroom Tuesday evening. It was entertaining in as much as adorable children, charming models and attractive clothes could make it, and then excellent professional entertainers, a dance team and a juggler and unicyclist, were added.

The show was sponsored by the Local Council of Women and produced by Mrs. Allan B. Collis, representative of the Hadassah Chapter on the Council, using stock from her husband's store. The child models were selected from their clientele and Peterborough young ladies modelled teen-agers and misses' clothes, but Mr. Collis secured professional models to display the high class garments and bathing suits and he also secured the floor show talent.

The most outstanding garments of the evening were those worn by the commentator, Mrs. Maurice Holt. She first appeared in one of the box-coat, straight-line skirt suits, fashioned of fine woollen in the pink tone that is top fashion for spring '53. It is finished with deep cuffs of soft lynx fur. For the second half, which was exclusively dresses, Mrs. Holt was wearing an evening gown and stole of nile green lace and net and a purple orchid, her gift from the Council. She also had jewelry locally designed for the occasion. It was a two-way piece in rhinestones, part being worn as a lapel pin with the suit and the whole as an eye-catching evening necklace.

Bathing suits modelled by a professional were truly glamorous and included a new design called 'bloomer girl" but showing only slight resemblance to the much-publicized bloomer girls of the twenties. Another high style for the beach was called "shirtmaker" because of its smart button trim.

Grown-ups were much attracted to the dress in popular shantung, this one in brown tone, with a matching stole edged with brown fringe. Also, the black snow-flecked denim three-piecer with its stole edged with white ball fringe. There were many who would long for the beautiful light beige coat with luxurious shawl collar of lynx, but for practical purposes they would choose first a lovely wool, loose back coat with its own shawl collar and featuring a handkerchief pocket on the breast.

Sophistication at the golf club or even downtown could be achieved by the wearer of a flared skirt showing unusual tucking all over and a matching tri-cornered stole of generous proportions which had each corner gathered to a wool tassel. It was shown with a sleeveless black blouse.

Coronation items in the show included tiara jewelry lapel pins and there was often mention of a coronation emblem on children's coats, etc. Elizabethan pink, the color of the most lovely of the party frocks, will most likely be seen often in coming months.

Everyday clothes in the cottons that resist creasing and spotting and will wash nicely were highlighted by one in flamingo shade individualized by rows of tucking. The popular all-purpose coat is still around, the show including a very stylish one in navy water repellant ottoman cord with white showing at the collar and small buttons of navy and white. It was also lined with white.

The children were a delight in themselves and perhaps their clothes received only minor attention though each outfit was minutely described by the commentator. They showed spring coat and hat sets and then charming little dresses of cotton, mostly the glazed cottons, and sheer organdies and lawns, also bathing suits. One of the nicest outfits was the royal blue velvet coat and hat shown by Susan Mills. Something new were miniature size navy pedal-pushers brought in from Florida. Mothers also liked a cream flannel skirt with striped corduroy weskit and matching jacket.

Small, pert hats and some unusual bags were shown as accessories. Rhinestone jewelry was the highlight to many costumes. Make-up and hair stylings were noted.

The models included Miss Ruth Carrier and Miss Thelma Brewis, both former Miss Toronto's, and Misses Ruth McKee, Beverly Goodman, Beverley Truswell and Barbara Sucee and Mrs. Clare Stuart of Peterborough in the adult group.

Council members served light refreshments to the tables at close of the show.

Legion Ladies Sending Parcels

Five parcels were sent to men overseas during February it was reported at the Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary meeting Monday evening by Mrs. J. Buchan. Money for more parcels was voted for use of Mrs. Buchan and her co-worker Mrs. E. Gynane.

With president Mrs. G. Stevens presiding, it was decided to hold a Legion Coronation Tea on Thursday, May 28th in the Hall. Donations of $25 each to the European flood victims and the Legion Scholarship fund were voted. Mrs. A. Glenn reported on cards, flowers and visiting for the past month.

Presentation of the past president's badge was made to Mrs. Mason who was absent at the last meeting. Secretary Mrs. C. S. Windsor was given a brief case in which to carry the books, this to be passed on for the purpose to each succeeding secretary.

Mrs. A. Parrington was elected to stand as zone commander for another year. The zone rally will be held at Lakefield on May 20th.

Lady Alexander Represents IODE

TORONTO (CP)—Lady Alexander of Tunis, wife of Canada's former governor-general, has agreed to represent the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire on the central council of the Victoria League in England.

The IODE is the sole representative of the Victoria League in Canada and it is through the national and provincial hospitality committees of the IODE that facilities for hospitality by the Victoria League are available to Canadian travellers in the United Kingdom.

During this Coronation year members of the Victoria League want to meet Canadians visiting Great Britain, says IODE officials. The league has been set up solely to promote friendship between Great Britain and the Dominions and has branches throughout England and in other parts of the Commonwealth. Its members plan to arrange tours for visitors.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

FIND AMNESIA VICTIM

TRENTON (CP)—An apparent victim of amnesia who claims he's "in terrible trouble" is baffling police here. The man, picked up Monday night, carried an unemployment insurance book bearing the name "John Eyre" but shows no recognition of this name when questioned. He also has a train ticket to Kingston, bought here, $276 found in an empty cigaret package and a blank income tax form.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Casserole Of Spinach, Eggs On Special-Purpose Menu

Sample conversation of the zany people who are my friends:

"Mary Moore if you put this recipe in the paper, so help me I'll mow you down."

Me: "If it's good it goes in the paper and you know it."

Her: "I measured every last darn thing so that if it was good I'd be able to tell you exactly what I did."

Now I ask you— did you ever hear of such a quick switch?

You see she had invited me to have dinner at their house knowing she was going to make Charlotte Russe, and hoping all the time they'd rate as column copy. I went. They rated.

There's more to this than meets the eye so far though.

I want to repeat a recipe for spinach with eggs, because it should be useful for vegetable plates or meals that are low on meat. It is very good with broiled bacon, or maybe a serving of one pork chop. You might thus cut meat costs without lowering the adequate protein content of the meal.

Here's the meal:
Broiled Bacon.
Casserole of Spinach and Eggs.
Baked Sweet or White Potatoes or Squash.
Lettuce and Tomato Salad with Cotttage Cheese Dressing.
Coffee.
Charlotte Russe.
Directions:

CASSEROLE OF SPINACH WITH EGGS

(Actually this, if baked in individual casseroles, would be called Spinach Timbales.) Mix together 2 slightly beaten eggs, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups hot boiled, chopped, drained spinach, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, few drops of onion juice, 2 teaspoons lemon juice. When mixed well turn into greased baking dish or individual moulds, stand in pan of water and bake at 300 deg. Fahr. until firm. If desired this may be served with tomato sauce. If you want a Tomato Sauce recipe you will find one in tomorrow's paper.

COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

To ½ cup French Dressing, (for salad for 6) add ¼ cup strained cottage cheese, and beat in well.

Here they come now— the Charlotte Russe— one of the reasons why I went to Cooking College.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE

One teaspoon gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1-3 cup hot milk, 1-3 cup fruit sugar, 1½ teaspoons vanilla, 2 cups heavy cream (whipped), lady fingers or strips of sponge cake. Soak the gelatin in the cold water 5 minutes, then stir it into the hot milk to dissolve it. Then add the sugar and flavoring and stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill, stirring occasionally. When it is partially set— about the consistency of honey — beat it with a rotary beater until very foamy, then beat in about one-quarter of the whipped cream, then fold in the remainder gently. Line individaul moulds or 1 large mould with lady fingers or strips of sponge cake, and pour in the charlotte mixture, being sure it flows around pieces of cake. Chill until set firm. Unmould on serving plate and garnish attractively with cherries and apricot halves.

Variation: Chocolate Charlotte: 1 1-3 tablespoons gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1-3 cup hot milk, 1½ oz. cooking chocolate, 2-3 cup fruit sugar, 3 tablespoons boiling water, ¾ teapsoon vanilla, 2 cups heavy cream (whipped), lady fingers. Soften gelatin in cold gater, dissolve in hot milk. Melt chocolate over hot water; add ½ of the sugar, then boiling water gradually, stirring constantly until smooth; stir into dissolved gelatin. Add remaining sugar. Finish as plain Charlotte Russe above.

QUEEN'S CORONATION ROBE—The royal purple robe to be worn by Queen Elizabeth at her Coronation now is being embroidered by skilled women at the Royal School of Needlework in Prince's Gate, Kensington. The robe, of pure silk, and 18 feet long, is being embroidered in a design chosen by the Queen.

Designing Women, Bored As Wives

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband recently told me he is in love with another woman. She is married and has a family, but does not love her husband. At first I told my husband I loved him and intended to fight for him, but when I saw what he was enduring, I told him he could have his freedom. He talked to her about it, asked her if she would marry him and accept the responsibility, at least part time, of our children. She decided I should be given a chance for happiness; she would not get a divorce at this time because her husband wouldn't make the settlement she wanted. I feel that if she loved my husband, she'd be willing to give up anything for him. My husband is a fine person, and I hate to see him as miserable as he is now. Do you think I could eventually make him forget her or should I make him go to her?

W.S.

✧ ✧ ✧

VICTIM OF DESIGNING WOMAN

ANSWER: Your husband has fallen for one of the coterie of women who deserve special punishment: the members of this sisterhood find themselves bored with their own marriages and take great pleasure in seeing how many others they can break up. When one of them has her bluff called —as did this female—she does a sudden backtrack. The weak-minded men who fall for this dodge should have special penance meted out to them, too. I'll wager the woman's husband knows nothing of her defection.

Such women can usually count on their gullible victims keeping the affair a secret — especially from their wives. Secondly, the wife usually refuses to consider divorcing her husband, even when she is informed that he wants to marry the other woman, and the way is left open for a flirtation to progress into a full-fledged affair. In time, of course, the home-wrecker turns her attentions to another idiot who is all set to bask in her flattery.

There's no doubt that your husband will forget her and return all his love to you. Be a little wiser and don't ever give him a chance to doubt your love.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My best friend who lives nearby has a daughter 14, and I have a girl 15. At one time they were the best of friends, but finally my daughter got tired of the other girl's sarcasm, and their friendship ended. My problem is that my friend and I spend a great deal of time together and, when this involves the girls being with us, the situation becomes strained. Each girl acts as though the other one didn't exist.

EVELYN L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your daughter is old enough to have a sense of social responsibility, and when circumstances force her into the company of her former friend she should be at least agreeable.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been going steady with a boy for four years. We are engaged, but he has postponed the wedding three times because of finances. Now, he has started breaking dates without even phoning me.

MARJORIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: From the aspect you give, your engagement seems to be quite broken. When a man doesn't even telephone you, and makes no effort to see you, you may conclude safely he is no longer interested.

Toronto Woman Operates Chartered Accountancy

TORONTO (CP)—Gwendolyn C. Conmee is the first woman chartered accountant in Ontario to have her own business and thinks she may also be the first in Canada.

But Miss Conmee, a brisk, decisive blonde, says she will have to work hard to get recognition in a field traditionally dominated by men.

"I am just starting from scratch and expect to have to work very hard. Women are still comparatively new in chartered accountancy—there are 50 or 60 among 5,000 in Canada—and still have to establish their efficiency and competence on a level with men."

Miss Conmee became interested in accountancy in 1945 while working in a bank. She took a certificate course in business at the University of Toronto and her professors suggested a chartered accountant's course.

"To do that I had to article to a firm for five years and carry a course at the same time. That was in 1945 and firms weren't very willing to take in women."

However she took the Institute of Chartered Accountants course through Queen's University and was graduated in 1950 at the head of a class of 400.

After graduation she remained with the firm to which she had been articled until February when she struck out on her own.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

A capacity crowd attended the father's night meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association Monday. The Rev. Ivan Morgan conducted a short devotional period, afterward speaking briefly on "Ourselves as Fathers".

It was announced that Association is providing transportation for two polio patients for water therapy treatment at the YW for the month of March, by arrangement of the health convener, Mrs. D. Snelgrove.

President Mrs. Arthur Black expressed a sincere welcome, especially to the fathers. She reminded of the nominations to be taken at the April meeting and of the daffodil tea on March 25 and the hobby fair on April 22.

Dr. Louis Zacks, vice-president of the Canadian Cancer Society in Peterborough, gave valuable information on the work of the Society.

Messrs. Arthur Bacon and W. J. Barber, fathers of the two top students of last year's graduating class, arranged the program with Mr. Bacon acting as chairman. Due to Mr. Barber's absence through illness, Mr. Cecil Potts conducted a humorous quiz with Messrs. Calhoun, Bruce Pritchard, Curtis, Anderson, Dunfield, Cragg and MacKay participating.

Mr. Arthur Black introduced the speaker, Constable Donald Mackay, who spoke on the patrol system in the schools. The constable introduced Ross Magee, captain of the school patrol and other members.

Mr. Reginald Peters contributed two vocal selections "Without a song" and "Little Bit of Heaven". Mr. H. Wilson led a sing song in which part singing was developed. Mrs. Ross Moore was the piano accompanist.

Mrs. O. Axford and Dr. C. E. A. Cragg greeted the attendants at the door. Miss Connolly's and Mr. Wilson's rooms were the attendance prize winners.

Refreshments provided by the parents of Miss Haddow's and Mr. Wilson's pupils were served by fathers, wearing pretty paper aprons, under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Norris.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

The Queen Mary Home and School Association "Father's Night" meeting Monday had as speaker Mr. C. T. Sharpe of Toronto. Mr. Sharpe is interested in every phase of boys' work, having been YMCA secretary of boys' work and now is director of Toronto West End Y. He has also been director of boys' and girls' camps for the province of Ontario and is a director of Sherwood Forest Camp at Carnovan.

His talk was mainly about his teaching experience. It was warm-hearted and humorous.

Mr. Sharpe outlined three things which he feels a child should achieve in his education: 1, learn to think; 2, learn to work; 3, learn to mind.

Enlarging upon these he brought out that the first point means also learning to think of others and recommended attendance at Sunday School as very important to gain this. He said everyone should be taught to work, at home as well as at school. The third point he said means learning to have respect for other people, respect for civil and traffic laws, sports rules and included learning politeness.

Mr. Sharpe was introduced by Dr. John Stewart and was thanked by Mr. Jim King.

Mr. P. LaBranche was chairman for the program and Mr. Mort Knox entertained with two solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Adam Sands.

Association president, Mrs. Ralph Honey presided for a brief business session. Mr. G. Reader read a scriptural selection and led devotions. Mrs. Reader explained the nomination slips which were distributed and are to be filled out by next meeting.

Receiving in the rotunda were Dr. Ralph Honey, Mr. G. Wainwright and Mr. Walter Edkins.

Lunch was served by a committee of fathers.

Six Canadians Held In Detroit On Theft Counts

DETROIT (CP)Six Canadians —four men and two young women —were held by Detroit police today for questioning about a series of thefts in Canada.

Police said one of the men admitted that he and two of his companions had stolen $2,895 from eight Canadian stores and post offices in the last month.

They were arrested at a hotel here Tuesday night. Police said they went there to question them on a report they were displaying and spending large sums of Canadian currency.

Held for questioning by Canadian authorities and U. S. immigration officers were Gary D. Harding, 22; Harry Yarmo, 26; Edward Burnstine, 22, and Robert McDonald, 26, all of Toronto; Misses Sheila Lee, 18, and Violet Gray, 23, both of Windsor.

Miss Gray told Canadian authorities and Detroit police that Harding, Burnstine and McDonald left her at a Windsor hotel last Saturday night and returned Sunday morning "with a lot of money."

TOOK $1,000

Detective Lt. Joseph Brown of the Detroit holdup bureau quoted Harding as saying that he, Burnstine and McDonald broke into an office of the Farmers' Association, Kingsville, Saturday night and took $1,000 from a safe.

Lt. Brown also quoted Harding as saying the same trio, during the past month, took $45 from a post office in Edson, Alta.; $700 in one night from two stores and a tractor sales company in Edmonton, Alta.; $500 from a department store in Leamington, Ont., $350 from a post office in Harrow, Ont.; $300 from a soft drink stand and tools from a hardware store in Windsor.

Harding insisted, police said, that Yarmo had not taken part in the thefts and that the women knew nothing about them.

Yarmo, McDonald and Burnstine refused to make any statements, police said.

"We started for Mexico Monday," Harding told police, "and decided to stop off in Detroit decided to stop off in Detroit for a good time, on our way.

Solos were sung by Bonnie Rutherford, Judy Calman and David McKenzie. The group closed their part of the program by singing "Now the Day is Over".

A group from Miss Clarke's room gave a demonstration in finger painting and sang, "By the Light of the Moon" in English and then in French.

Mrs. W. Nobes, Sr., tendered a vote of thanks to the teachers for their assistance with the program

The president, Mrs. B. Johnson, announced that the Home and School Association would sponsor their annual "Amateur Night" in the Havelock town hall on April 17.

This contest is open to grade 8 pupils and under, from Havelock and Belmont township. the entries to be in to Mrs. G. Whitney not later than April 3.

Mrs. J. E. Corneil, the publications convener, drew the attention of the gathering to the fact that this is "Education Week" when the attention of all citizens should be focussed on education. She also spoke about the pamphlets and magazines on her table.

Mrs. W. Nobes, Sr., took as her topic for her health talk, "The Liver, King of Organs".

The attendance shield and prize of a dollar was won by Miss G. Hunter's room.

The president announced Mrs. G. Whitney had been appointed as delegate to the Home and School convention in April.

The next meeting will not be held until April 13, on account of the Easter holidays.

Charge Waste, Extravagance In Radar Chain Construction

OTTAWA (CP) — New opposition charges of waste and extravagance in the defence department have been made in the Commons.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, military spokesman for the Progressive Conservatives, said Tuesday he has evidence of waste and extravagance in the building of Canada's highly - secret radar screen across the northland.

Gen. Pearkes, member for the British Columbia constituency of Nanaimo and wartime commander of Canada's Pacific Coast area, made his charges during continued debate on the 1953-54 budget.

Efforts to learn the facts about the radar stations, he said, were rebuffed by the government on the grounds of security.

However, he had talked with some persons connected with the radar stations and had letters from others. One man had said there was a "flagrant disregard" of cost at one site. Another mentioned duplication of shipments and another said an order for equipment had resulted in the arrival of a shipment "containing two wrenches and a large amount of useless scrap."

QUESTIONS METHOD

Finance Minister Abbott questiond the procedure of quoting from communications without disclosing the names of the persons who gave the information. Speaker Ross Macdonald said Gen. Pearkes must disclose the names of those making the charges if he wanted to quote them.

Gen. Pearkes said he could give the government the names of his informants, but not locations because his informants had "respected security and have not even told me."

At the House opening, Finance Minister Abbott told questioners that budget changes in the 15-percent excise tax will not extend the tax to tire and tube replacements for farm machinery used on farms, including farm tractors.

NO SUNSHINE

In the debate, R. R. Knight (CCF Saskatoon) said if there was any sunshine in the budget, it certainly was not for the working man. A man whose sole income was from corporation dividends could have an income up to $10,000 a year and never pay a cent in tax. The working man with a similar income would pay $1,642 a year.

"That's what we mean when we say it's a rich man's budget," said Mr. Knight.

J. J. Smith (L-Moose Mountain) criticized the stand of the CCF on corporation taxes. CCF members argued in one breath that corporation taxes should not be reduced. In another they argued that the corporations pass on the taxes to the consumers.

"If the taxes are passed on to the consumers, why does the CCF argue that the taxes be maintained?" he asked.

Stranger At First

By the time they got to the Y Bill had a brilliant idea.

"Say they're having a blue jean dance over at the YW on Friday night. How would you like to go? It'd give you a chanec to take a look around and meet some of the kids."

"That sounds like fun."

"O. K. See you at school tomorrow."

Bill went on into the Y well pleased with himself and his afternoon's success.

Bill is, and Joan will soon be among the 2,845 members who are benefiting from Y (both YMCA and YWCA) services in Peterborough.

These services extend far beyond those Bill outlined to Joan.

He didn't tell her that last year 475 learned how to swim at the Y's and that 191 passed life saving tests.

Nor did he mention the Y camp, Camp Kawartha, that was attended by 239 campers last summer. And there was the stay-at-home camp for 159 youngsters who could not leave the city.

The two Y's have 41 interest groups that had an aggregate attendance last year of 55,031. The aggregate attendance at swim classes for the year was 33,042 and at gym classes, 21,294.

Both Y's provide accommodation for meetings of various city organizations. During 1952 148 organizations held 805 meetings and social events with an aggregate attendance of 32,130.

The role of information bureau is also an important part of the Ys' services. They provide a room's registry, counselling, travellers' aid and vocational guidance, and employment placement bureau. In the past year 1,569 interviews were held to help people with personal problems.

They also provide residence accommodation at relatively low rates for 99 people.

The Ys' major contribution to Peterborough is their training for youth that will provide the city with better citizens and better leaders in the future. The activities are planned to help youth adjust to its environment and to develop the characteristics of courtesy and cooperation.

Both Ys,' estimate the annual cost per member at $30. The majority of the members only pay a small percentage of this cost in fees. As a result the Ys are faced with an operational deficit every year.

This deficit from service to Peterborough is the reason the Ys are making an appeal for funds through the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund, Mar. 6-18. They must have this money to carry on.

In 1952 Peterborough YMCA and YWCA received $30,300 from the fund.

Speedy Blood Service

HONOLULU (AP)—The U. S. destroyer tender Dixie, 400 miles north of Wake island, sent out an urgent distress call for blood early Tuesday and within an hour volunteer coast guard and civilian employees on the tiny mid-Pacific isle donated six pints. A half hour later a coast guard plane sped the blood donation to the tender and succeeded in dropping it on the deck —in the dark.

Farm Helpers

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — To meet an expected shortage of farm labor in Prince Edward Island next spring application has been made for 35 German workers expected to arrive in April. The workers receive passage money to be repaid later.

President Sends Sympathy To Russian Folk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower expressed sympathy to the Russian people today in commenting on the serious illness of Prime Minister Stalin.

Eisenhower voiced hope in a statement that God will watch over the Soviet peoples "regardless of the identity of government personalities."

The text of the statement:

"At this moment in history when multitudes of Russians are anxiously concerned because of the illness of the Soviet ruler the thoughts of America go out to all the peoples of the U. S. S. R.—the men and women, the boys and girls—in the villages, cities, farms and factories of their homeland.

"They are the children of the same God who is the Father of all peoples everywhere. And like all peoples, Russia's millions share our longing for a friendly and peaceful world.

"Regardless of the identity of government personalities, the prayer of us Americans continues to be that the Almighty will watch over the people of that vast country and bring them, in His wisdom, opportunity to live their lives in a world where all men and women and children dwell in peace and comradeship."

Residents Ask

have been left unprotected immediately, adjacent to the sidewalk.

"Ours is a street of young couples with small children whom we love, and we feel due precautions should be taken for their safety."

The petition itself was for an investigation of the means whereby the Town Planning Committee and the City Engineer's department "authorized a change in the proposed Zoning Bylaw to the extent that the area in which Caddy St. is located was changed from one on which the dwellings are single-unit, one-storey buildings, to one on which the dwellings may be multi-unit, two or three storey buildings, thereby changing the whole character and value of the street and dwellings without allowing the residents of the street an opportunity to express their views on the change."

To investigate the means "whereby it is alleged that authorization was granted to a local contractor (Mr. Greenley) to erect on the five vacant lots two four-unit dwellings on a street of one-unit dwellings, and to later alledgedly change the authorization to two six-unit dwellings of three-storey with living quarters in the first or basement storey without apparently:

Considering the general level of the land and street in the immediate vicinity of the proposed building; considering and specifying areas inside the building for washing and drying of laundry, for garbage storage prior to disposal and outside the building for parking the cars of possible residents . . .

Considering the possible effect from smoke upon the dwellings on Caddy St. which are on a higher level than the proposed buildings, or the possible effect from water and drainage upon the dwellings on Caddy St. and Euclid Ave. which are on a lower level than the proposed building."

STOP WORK

They also ask for prohibition of continuing the work "until the above investigations are completed, and if as a result of the investigations it is found that such buildings as are allegedly authorized should not be constructed in this area to revoke the authorization for the issuance of a building permit . . . To prohibit the builder from any further work until precautions are taken to protect the safety of the general public."

The petition also proposed an interim bylaw to prevent any civic commission or any civic official from making changes to areas specified in the proposed zoning bylaw without permitting the residents of the area an opportunity to voice their approval or disapproval.

Ald. William Beggs said there should be an investigation to protect the council and the people involved. He said the people who built and bought the other houses on the area were of the impression that were all for single-unit purposes.

Consideration of the petition was moved by Aldermen Miller and Burrows, and that a representative of the petitioners be invited. It will probably be at the meeting of the board of works next Monday night.

P.E.I. Legislature Opens Session 8th Now Sitting

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Prince Edward Island legislature opened its 1953 session Tuesday, bringing to eight the number of Canada's provincial legislative bodies now sitting.

The speech from the throne, read by Lieutenant - Governor T. W. L. Prowse, forecast government assistance in a rural electrification program in the island province, stricter highway safety checks and driving tests.

Other houses in session are in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The Quebec session is finished and Newfoundland has not yet announced a starting date.

In the New Brunswick house a government back bencher, J. Arthur Moore (PC-Queens) voiced opposition to Canadian Army plans to establish a 400-square-mile army camp in his constituency. He said Queens county and the city of Saint John would benefit more from development of kaolin and silica deposits, used in making fire brick, than from the camp.

In Nova Scotia, Education Minister Hicks announced appointment of Mr. Justice V. J. Pottier to investigate education financing.

ASKS REDS HALTED

The Manitoba house heard a demand from a Progressive Conservative member, George P. Renouf of Swan River constituency, that the province's attorney - general find ways of stopping the teaching of Communist doctrine in Winnipeg. The Winnipeg Tribune reported Saturday that two groups in the city are operating schools to teach communism to children 6 to 14 years of age.

Premier Manning indicated in the Alberta legislature that the province may be ready to permit export of natural gas. He said it is "most urgent" that an adequate market be established as soon as possible because the number of capped wells and the amount of money tied up in investment is having a detrimental effect on exploration for gas and oil. Alberta now permits limited export of gas from the Peace River area in the northwestern section of the province.

In the British Columbia house, a private government member, Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale), suggested that if a single bomb hit the Kenney dam which diverted the Nechako river to supply power for the Aluminum Company of Canada's Kitimat project a 1,000-foot wall of water might sweep down the Fraser river and carry towns along the river into the sea.

The annual budget is to be presented today in the Saskatchewan House.

Roads Slippery Rash Of Crashes

Slippery roads and highways in the district were blamed for numerous small accidents after 5 p.m. Tuesday. A check with the OPP indicates there were no injuries and only minor property damage.

The most serious accident was on Highway 28, a mile and a half south of Burleigh Falls, when a three-ton dump truck slithered across the highway and ran into the ditch about 7.30 p.m. William Brethour, 37, of Woodview PO, was driving the truck which snapped off a telephone pole after it left the highway. He was not injured.

The front end of the truck was buckled and damage is estimated at $200.

PULLED OUT

A car owned by Hilliard Parsons of RR 2, Ennismore, skidded off the Chemong Road, south of Bridgenorth, and required a tow truck to put it back on the road. There was no damage to the car and Parsons was unhurt.

He had stopped in a line of traffic on a hill but the icy road gave his tires little traction and the car skidded backwards into the east ditch.

The OPP report at least four other motor vehicle drivers who said they had skidded into ditches.

The icy rain played havoc with roads and the highways had patches of ice that caused motorists trouble from 5 p.m. on into the early hours of today. Sanders from the Department of Highways were working all night to get the highways into shape.

Car Slowed Down Struck From Behind

Slight damage was done to two cars Tuesday afternoon about 1:30 when they were in collision on Charlotte St. north of Reid St. A hearse proceeding west on Charlotte St signalled and slowed down to turn into the lane of the Nesbitt funeral home. Mrs. H. Turner, 56, 55 Douglas Ave., driving behind the hearse, slowed down and was struck by a car driven by Austin Gorman, 48, 405 London St., which left a 15-foot skid mark. Damage to the Turner car was $20 and to Gorman's $50.

West Appears Headed For 19th Trophy

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

SUDBURY (CP)—The West appears heading for its 19th Canadian curling championship.

The two undefeated rinks going into the fifth draw, Manitoba and Alberta, are favored to fight it out for the title.

Manitoba has already won the championship 13 times, once with this year's skip. Alberta has walked off with the trophy four times. Eastern rinks have taken the championship only five times since its inception in 1922. The 'spiel was cancelled in the war years of 1943-45.

Following the Calgary and Dauphin quartets, tied for top spot, are British Columbia with three wins and one loss, and Quebec and Nova Scotia with 2-1, records.

The Saskatchewan rink from Delisle, not as experienced as most of the other competitors, is not counted out. Many 'spiel followers think the team, skipped by 33-year-old Jimmy Hill, has gained valuable experience in its first four games and, if Alberta or Manitoba slip, may jump back into competition.

LEAVE BROOMS

Tuesday night the curlers left their brooms at the arena and headed for the banquet table and an evening of story-telling and renewing old acquaintances.

The 1954 championships, it was decided, will be held in Edmonton and the following year at Regina where Saskatchewan will be celebrating its golden jubilee commemorating the province's entry into confederation.

In Tuesday's fourth round the Alberta-B.C. game reached a thrilling climax in the final end when Alberta squeezed out an 11-10 win.

With the score tied 10-10 going into the 12th round, Alberta laid down two stones and then skip Len Haw placed a perfect guard. Reg Stone, skip of the Trail entry, attempted a triple raise but failed and the Haw rink counted one.

NO TROUBLE

Manitoba had no trouble with the Saskatchewan rink. The Dauphin four piled up points early in the game and finally in the ninth end Saskatchewan all but gave the game away. The Gowanlock crew won 14-6.

Quebec won its second game, disposing of Newfoundland 15-2. It was the St. John's rink's fourth loss. Quebec, which had a bye in the third round, has a 2-1 record.

Grant Watson's Port Arthur rink, representing Northern Ontario, defeated the Ontario entry 14-7. The game was in the bag for the north in the fifth end when three bad stones by the Chatham four gave the Port Arthur rink a five end and Ontario its second defeat against one win.

Two Maritime rinks, trailing in the standings, fought desperately for a win. Nova Scotia's Bridgewater four finally defeated Prince Edward Island 12-10 after a see-saw battle with Frank Acorn's Charlottetown aggregation.

This afternoon's fifth round will see Newfoundland with the bye. Alberta meets Ontario; Manitoba, B.C.; Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan; Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, and Northern Ontario, Quebec.

The sixth round tonight: Saskatchewan vs New Brunswick, Ontario vs Manitoba, Quebec vs Alberta, Northern Ontario vs Newfoundland, Nova Scotia vs B.C.

SEEK TITLE—Lined up for the Canadian curling championships which started Monday at Sudbury are skips of the 11 competing rinks, representing the 10 provinces plus Northern Ontario. Front row, left to right: N. P. Rockwell, Newfoundland; E. F. Acorn, Prince Edward Island; R. A. Noble, New Brunswick; B. Haines, Nova Scotia, and K. Weldon, Quebec. Back row, left to right: P. L. Gilbert, Southern Ontario; G. Watson, Northern Ontario; A. Gowanlock, Manitoba; V. J. Hill, Saskatchewan; L. Haw, Alberta; R. Stone, British Columbia.

Lois Marshall To Sing With Toscanini's Orchestra

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO (CP)—At this particular moment in her career Lois Marshall, gifted young Canadian soprano, is in the enviable position of standing at an international crossroads with a promising future in both directions.

Concert and radio performances in many centres across Canada during the last three years made the 28-year-old lyric singer one of this country's best-known artists. Here, her career is assured

From the United States has come a beckoning from the great Arturo Toscanini. After listening to her magnificent voice the Italian maestro chose her for the solo soprano role in the Missa Solemnis at Carnegie Hall March 28. She will appear with the NBC Symphony and the Robert Shaw chorale. Later, the work will be recorded.

At about the same time, March 25, she will sing—as she has for the last five years—the solo role in St. Matthew's Passion in Toronto with the Toronto Symphony and the Mendelssohn Choir. This too will be recorded.

After her Town Hall debut last December in New York she was acclaimed by the New York critics. She signed a three-year contract with one of New York's important agencies, Judson, O'Neill and Judd. This starts June 1. Meanwhile, she has a series of concerts to give in Ontario and Quebec.

Still a bit dazed by the swift-moving events of the last few months Miss Marshall, five feet tall, with warm, brown eyes and expressive features, admits it has been "hard, hard work."

She has had to battle long odds most of the way. She suffered from polio between the ages of two and eight. Her voice, when she started training at the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, 14 years ago, was high and light. Now it ranges more than three octives from D below Middle C to F above high C.

A teacher, Elsie Hutchinson at the Wellesley Orthopedic Hospital, encouraged her to take lessons.

Except for a two-year period in a business office, starting when she was 17, she has been studying, singing or teaching singing since.

MUSICAL FAMILY

There was always music around the Marshall house when she was young, she said. A brother, Frederick, had a large collection of classical recordings. She and her five sisters were always singing.

Her father died when Miss Marshall was young, and her studies at the conservatory all were on scholarship. When she was graduated in 1950 she won the $1,000 award given the outstanding pupil of the school, regardless of the branch of music. The same year the Toronto-born singer won the "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" and another $1,000.

Then in April, 1952, she won the Naumburg award which entitled her to the Town Hall debut and the international aspect of her career opened.

Hiawatha Gets First Fray Of EPL Playoff

KEENE (ENS)—In a speedy, clean East Peterborough Hockey League playoff here last night, Hiawatha swept to a 7-3 victory over Keene before a good-sized crowd. It was the first game of their best-of-five final series for the Dit Clapper Trophy, now held by Lakefield. The second game is expected to be played here on Friday night.

The winners drew four of the six minor penalties in a well-handled game, one penalty going to the Hiawatha goalie. Both netters went good as the rival squads battled hard in an exciting struggle. Whalen led the losers with two markers, while Morgan, Cowie, the Sellaby boys and Jeff Stock went well for Hiawatha.

After a scoreless first period, Whalen slapped in two for Keene, Davidson and Colby each earning an assist. Hiawatha scored four, Cowie, L. Sellaby, G. Sellaby and Anderson being the marksmen. Morgan had two assists, one each going to Thomson, J. Stock, G. Sellaby and L. Sellaby. In the third heat, Kempt counted for Keene from Bethune and Locke. Hiawatha clinched it with two goals by Jeff Stock and one by Cowie, and the latter and J. Stock had an assist apiece. Teams:

Keene: Goal, Mackness; defence, Kimball and Houle; centre, Whalen; wings, Colby and Davidson; alterantes, Kempt, Bethune, Locke, McCarthy, Steenburgh, Brown and Adamson.

Hiawatha: Goal, Macdonald; defence, Thomson and Musgrave; centre, J. Stock; wings, Paudash and Cowie; alternates, Close, Anderson, G. Stock, Morgan, G. Sellaby, L. Sellaby aid Crowley.

Referees, Legrow and Leggitt.

Famed Harness Driver Dies In Orlando, 63

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Nathaniel Daniel Ray, 63, veteran harness race driver, died here Tuesday night.

He had been in poor health since suffering a stroke on the grand circuit last year. He was here for the winter training season at the Ben White Raceway.

He is survived by his widow, Margaret; a sister, Mabel Ray, Birchcliffe, Ont., two nieces and a nephew.

Ray, who lived in Toronto, was originally a steeplechase jockey and switched to the sulkies about 1925.

He drove Guy McKinney to a Hambletonian victory in 1926 and then went back to steeplechase horses before finally deciding on harness racing.

Big Jim Jeffries, 77, Dies One Or Greatest Fighters

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — James J. Jeffries — Big Jim, the boilermaker boy who became one of the world's greatest heavyweight boxing champions—was counted out for the first and only time Tuesday night. Death came to the former titleholder at the age of 77.

Jeffries, a semi-invalid since a stroke seven years ago, died in his home in bed after asking his niece and housekeeper, Mrs. Lillian Bull, to call a doctor.

Big Jim, the idol of the turn of the century, had been feeling well in recent weeks, even up to attending a social function or two, Mrs. Bull said. But he died before the doctor arrived.

Dr. William M. Nethery said coronary thrombosis — a blood clot in the heart — was the cause.

Never knocked out in his 19-year ring career, Jeffries reigned as King of the heavyweights from 1899 to 1905, when he retired undefeated. But, coaxed out of retirement, he met Jack Johnson, his successor as champion, in 1910. Johnson won on a technical knockout in the 15th round to close the career of Jeffries, then 35.

But in his prime, many veteran fight fans aver, there was no one like Big Jim for speed and hitting power. Carrying 220 pounds on a 6-foot, 1½-inch frame at his peak, Jeffries twice knocked out Jim Corbett and the great Australian, Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons.

His victories over sailor Tom Sharkey, Gus Ruhlin and Joe Choynski rank among the fiercest battles in the days when prizefights were long and brutal. His over-all record: 23 fights, 11 knockouts, 7 decisions, 2 draws, 2 exhibitions—and the one loss to Johnson.

Born in Carroll, O., April 15, 1875, of Irish-American stock, Jeffries was one of eight children of a Methodist clergyman. The family moved to Los Angeles when Jim was only six, and the lad went to work early in railroad shops and iron foundries as a boilermaker.

He had his first professional fight in 1891, at the age of 16, knocking out Hank Griffin in the 14th round and earning $500. His mother then persuaded him to quit the ring until he was 21.

In 1896, the fighting boilermaker began his career in earnest. He knocked out Dany Long in San Francisco and fought 20 - round draws with Choynski and Ruhlin. Two other quick kayoes followed.

He began rounding to top form in 1898 when he beat Joe Goddard and Peter Jackson and won his first 20-round decision over Sharkey in a bruising battle.

Jeffries won the heavyweight title by knocking out Fitzsimmons in the 11th round at Coney Island, N. Y., June 9, 1899. Five months later he successfully defended his crown with a 25-round decision over Sharkey.

In 1900, he met Corbett, the former titleholder and greatest boxer of the era. Corbett was far ahead on points in the 23rd round when Big Jim caught him with a deadly left and Corbett was counted out.

Jeffries repeated his knockouts of Fitzsimmons and Corbett in 1902 matches.

Running out of competition, Jeffries retired in 1905 and built the San Fernando valley ranch home where he died.

Three Overtime Games Feature Sr OHA Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

You didn't need a calendar to tell it was playoff time in the Ontario Senior Hockey Association Tuesday night. Of four games played, three went into overtime. Even after the extra period one game remained undecided.

In the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series Stratford Indians, last year's Allan Cup champions, were eliminated on home ice by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen as the Dutchmen scored a 5-3 overtime victory and won the best-of-seven semi-final 4-1.

In Owen Sound, the Mercurys had an easier time, taking their best-of-seven semi-final with Brantford Redmen 4-1 as they glided to a decisive 8-3 victory.

The Mercurys, Allan Cup winners two years ago, now meet the Dutchmen for the OHA Senior A title.

PLAY TO TIE

Rouyn Flashes and Abitibi Eskimos played a 4-4 tie at Iroquois Falls in the first game of the Northern Ontario Senior Hockey Association Series A best-of-seven semi-finals.

In the other NOHA Senior semi-final Sudbury Wolves scored two goals in overtime to win 5-3 and take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final with North Bay Trappers.

The Indians took a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Mickey Roth and Bruce Burdett. Clare Martin and Bobby Schnurr tied it up for the Dutchmen in the second. Stratford again took the lead in the third on Pat Wilson's goal, but Charlie Brooker knotted the count. Martin won the game with his second goal with only 28 seconds of the overtime period remaining and Don Rope fired the clincher 20 seconds later.

In Owen Sound Jaydee McArthur paced the Mercurys with two goal the others going to Doug Gillespie, Bill McComb, Jerry Reid, Ralph Hosking. Bill Allum and Buck Forslund. Doug McKay, Bill Shill and Wally Hnatiuk scored for Brantford. Shill scored his goal on a penalty shot.

Bush Leaguers Tie

NORWOOD (ENS)—It was hockey night Monday evening for the Bush League in the Norwood Arena when Asphodel and South Dummer tied 3-3. Asphodel counted their three markers in the first period with H. Wilfred getting a goal and an assist. D. Rusaw and D. Fredericks each counted one and G. Coughlin got an assist. South Dummer counted one in the first period with the Lobb brothers getting together for the counter. The second period was scoreless. In the third, South Dummer came back and tied it up with B. Chamberlain and G. Ivey doing the counting with assists from E. Moore and B. Bott.

Referees were Clarence Mainland and Glenford Miles.

Teams:

South Dummer: Goal, B. Danford; defence, B. Sedgwick, A. Lobb; centre, G. Ivey; wings, W. Lobb, B. Bott; alternates, E. Moore B. Chamberlain, J. Thompson, O. Clements, C. Lobb, H. Lunn, M. Hannon, A. Baker, D. Stinson.

Asphodel: Goal, H. Stinson; defence, R. Horne, N. Rogers; centre, D. Fredericks; wings, G. Coughlin, L. Peoples; alternates, O. Rusaw, E. VanVolkenburg. L. Wrightley, H. Wilford, H. Mathews, D. Smith.

Successful Hunt

Bentley Welcome Back On Leaf Terms: Smythe

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe says that when Max Bentley feels well enough "to play anywhere, at any time, on our terms," he'll be welcomed back to Toronto Maple Leafs.

Smythe, commenting Tuesday on Bentley's trip to his home at Delisle, Sask., said the terms would be set by the Leafs "because the team comes first."

He was commenting on a statement by Bentley at Delisle that he would return to finish out the National Hockey League season with the Leafs "when I feel good enough to play—and play a lot."

Fishing Season Opens

PORT DOVER (CP)—Port Dover's fishing season swung into high gear Monday with the tug Cosley Brothers, skippered by captain Peter Cosley, raising the first nets. The catch was good considering the quantity of net set Sunday.

Sunday 11 boats of the Kilbe fleet and six of the Co-Operative set their nets. The Cosley Brothers is part of the latter fleet.

Stranger At First Finds City Poor Place To Live In

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

A new girl!

Bill spotted her as soon as he walked into the morning French class. She sat just ahead of him across the aisle. Usually alert in class he found that French was running a poor second for his attention all during the period.

It didn't take him long to decide that the newcomer was an asset to PCVS. She was quite pretty and there was a certain self-assurance about her manner even in the classroom that intrigued 16-year-old Bill. By the end of the period he had decided he would do some sleuthing in his next spare and see if he could find out who she was.

By noon hour he had been fairly successful. He found out that her name was Joan Bagnell and she had moved to Peterborough with her family a week before. This information came from one of Bill's classmates who lived on the same street as the Bagnells.

Bill saw her again in physics class in the afternoon but he wasn't able to manoeuvre an opportunity to speak to her. Instead of following the why, how, when and where of the induction coil he planned his 'attack'.

At exactly 4 o'clock Bill was standing just inside the Collegiate's outside door, apparently absorbed in a conversation with one of his chums. He didn't wait long. She came down the hall alone carrying her books and passed him without a glace as she went out the door.

Bill waited until she had reached the street before he said goodbye to his companion and rushed after her. Just before he caught up with her he slowed down and asked, as nonchalantly as he could:

"You're new here aren't you?"

The girl stopped as if she were surprised at being addressed.

Bill went right on without waiting for an answer.

"Your name's Joan Bagnell. You moved to Peterborough a week ago and this is your third day at PCVS. How do you like it?"

Joan started to laugh at this outburst.

"How do I like what, Peterborough or PCVS?"

"Both?"

"O all right. I guess I haven't had time to find out much what they're like yet."

"You'll like it all right," Bill said with assurance as the two of them started down the street together.

"This is a terrific place. Lot's to do and lot's of swell kids at school."

"I'm a little worried about that," Joan interrupted before Bill could elaborate.

"Worried about what?"

"About making friends. I lived in a small town all my life before we came here and I didn't have to worry about making friends. The gang was just there."

"Heck, you won't have to worry about that," Bill said decidedly. "You'll be in with the kids in no time."

NO ONE SPOKE

"I don't know. This is my third day at school and you're the first person that's spoken to me.

Bill stopped in surprise to find that they were just in front of a soda bar.

"Like a soda," he asked hoping desperately he had enough cash in his pocket to pay for them.

Joan smiled assent and the two went in and climbed up on the counter stools.

"Maybe you oughta join the Y," Bill suggested after he had given their order.

"The Y," Joan looked at him in amazement. "What for?"

"Well it's the best place I know of to get to know other kids and have fun," Bill explained. "I've been a member since I was eight and my sister is a member of the YW."

"What do you do there," Joan asked beginning to get interested.

"All sorts of things. There's the pool for swimming and there's basketball and volleyball in the gym. I learned how to swim there and I don't know how many gym classes I've been to."

Bill was getting warmed up to his subject and he soon had given Joan a full picture of activities at the Peterborough YMCA.

He told her about the clubs — the stamp clubs, airplane clubs and the clubs for instruction in painting, leatherwork and clay modelling. And then he explained the discussion groups where the boys talked about everything from parliamentary procedure to social etiquette.

The last activity Bill touched on was the leadership corps, where boys are trained in the art of responsible leadership in addition to the art of co-operation.

At the end of this lengthy explanation, Joan turned to him a little impatiently with the remark:

"Well that sounds all right, but I can't join the YM. What do they do at the YW?"

"Oh they have swimming and gym classes there too, and basketball and archery and badminton. And they have all sorts of clubs and interest groups too.

"My sister was telling me the other night about them all. She said they had groups in interior decorating, rug making, smocking, oil painting, and square and folk dancing and a lot of other things. You shouldn't have any trouble finding some group doing something you're interested in."

"Joining the Y sound like a good idea," Joan finally agreed. "But there's just one other thing, Dad isn't too liberal when it comes to an allowance. How much is this going to cost."

"You can put your mind at ease about that," Bill replied. "It only costs me $7.00 a year at the YM and I can take part in any of the activities. The YW operates a little differently, but you will have to pay very much more than that if as much. Down there you pay a membership fee and then pay separate fees for whatever classes or groups you want to join.

"Say that reminds me," Bill said as he jumped up," I was supposed to be at the Y five minutes ago. Have a date for a game of ping pong. Are you going that way?"

Joan nodded and they left after Bill found to his relief he had enough money to cover the check.

East Douro Triumphs

DOURO —(ENS)—East Douro defeated Ennismore 7-5 at Warsaw on Monday before a large crowd to take the rural semi-final series. They now go into finals against West Douro, the first game being Wednesday night. J. Heffernan, E. Leahy and C. Sheehan scored for East Douro in the first period, but Corkery and C. Hickey counted singles for Ennismore. East Douro took a good lead with three more next heat, Farley tallying two and C. Sheehan one. F. Farley got another in the third, Ennismore fighting back for three, one each by J. Brick, M. Hickey and Jacque. Teams:

Ennismore: Smith, Donoghue, Lapointe, F. Brick, Gifford, C. Hickey, Moloney, J. Brick, Crough, Quinn, Jacque, M. Hickey, E. Hickey.

East Douro: Keating, B. Heffernan, D. Sheehan, W. Moher, C. Leahy, G. Sheehan, Condon, Farley, E. Leahy, F. Moher, Bryne, J. Heffernan, J. O'Grady.

Referee, Puffer; linesman, Lonsberry.

FaceCompetition Farmers Advised

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Farmers have to "face up" to increased competition from substitutes and synthetic products in the future, Ontario livestock commissioner W P. Watson declared Tuesday.

Mr. Watson addressed the official opening of the 14th annual Middlesex Seed Fair and Food Show at Queen's Park. Hundreds attended the afternoon ceremony, then returned at night to see Mrs Evan Howe, of RR 2, Longwood, crowned Seed Fair Queen for 1953.

The livestock commissioner had a special warning for the dairy industry. Instead of concentrating on their own special interests, the various branches of this industry must co-operate "for your own survival and well-being and recognize the fact that you are your brother's keeper," said Mr Watson.

Development of synthetics and substitutes is to be expected—"you can't stop progress," the speaker said—and this would have a definite influence on prices of farm products in years to come.

Six Escape Fire

MOUNT FOREST (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Vermesch and their four children escaped Tuesday when fire levelled a farm house on the 9th concession of Caradoc township. They were tenants on the farm owned by H. Whiting. Loss was estimated at $5,000.

VICTORIOUS GENERAL — In the biggest and one of the bitterest battles of Indo-China's six-year-old war, Franco-Vietnamese forces decisively defeated 20,000 Communist-led Viet Minh assault troops who surrounded and tried to storm the tiny airstrip at Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi. The defenders' successful stand was planned by General of the Army Francois Gonzales de Linares, officer commanding ground forces in northern Indo-China. The general is shown touring Na San following the big fight. He spent most of a full day decorating men who performed gallantly during the siege, inspecting the scene of the fighting and talking to hundreds who took part.

Airlines Add Extra Flights To Britain For Tourists Bound For Coronation

By STERLING SLAPPEY

LONDON (AP)—If you are thinking about coming over for the Coronation, here is some good advice:

Go right away to a travel agent, ship line or air-line ticket office to make your reservations and arrangements.

Literally, you have not a day to lose. The Coronation is still months away on a distant June 2, but according to the men who should know, your chances of making reservations after another 30 days will be practically impossible.

You must consider first, ocean transportation. Complete your booking, and the battle to watch history is half won.

TIGHT SITUATION

British Overseas Airways Corporation claims the situation during the critical May-June period "is as tight as can be," but the airline plans extra service.

Trans-world Airlines says, "right now we are not fully booked, but it looks like we will be very soon."

Pan - American Airways has plenty of space for early May but toward the end of the month you must join waiting lists.

(Trans-Canada Air Lines, which expects capacity bookings, has 2,000 reservations already to fly over here in May. TCA plans to add extra planes if necessary.)

BETTER BY SHIP

The situation on two big ships lines is better.

United States Lines—operators of the America and the blue-ribbon speedster United States, report first-class bookings are available. But on the big liners all cabin and tourist-class accommodations are sold.

Cunard, which operates the Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, and other plush liners, reports extremely heavy bookings but some space in all classes remain open on most ships.

The burning of the Canadian Pacific Steamships' liner Empress of Canada in Liverpool Jan. 25 was a tough blow. She was scheduled to carry about 7,000 passengers between Montreal and Liverpool to the Coronation.

VIEW SPACE SCARCE

Parade - view space along the five-mile Coronation route is almost as scarce as ocean transportation, and the few seats for sale are expensive. But there will be quite a lot of space for rent where you can stand at a window overlooking the parade. And free standing room along the curb—if you're willing to take up an ironman vigil the night of June 1.

Canada has been allocated 8,000 seats along the procession route and in addition is building 500 of her own at Canada House, the office of Canada's high commissioner in London. About 7,000 Canadians have already applied for seats and still more applications are rolling in.)

You can forget any idea of staying in a London hotel unless you had space confirmation months ago. Alert travel agents dashed over here last summer and signed up entire floors.

However, there is abundant space in private London homes and in small hotels in towns within 90 minutes by road or rail.

There will be plenty of food even though Britain still is hounded by some rationing and shortages left over from the war. But there is hardly any question but that you will have to get in line for some meals.

For evening entertainment in London, one of your best bets is to get your travel agent to make reservations. Otherwise, you may be doing a lot of night-time window shopping.

Window shopping in London can be great fun. Shops here are colorful and well stocked and, somehow, they seem different from those any place else.

London is a city where you can operate big. It also is a city where you can watch your shillings and still have a high old time.

'Walking Bomb' Gets Seven Years

SUDBURY (CP) — Termed a "walking bomb" by Magistrate W. J. Golden, Peter Max, 31, of Toronto, today was sentenced to a total of seven years in penitentiary.

Arrested Feb. 21, Max was carrying a loaded pistol, two jars of nitro-glycerine, electric detonating caps, wires and batteries, rubber gloves, a screw driver, flashlight and box of ammunition.

Max was sentenced to two years for carrying the gun and five years consecutive to the other sentence for having the nytro-glycerine. He was given 30 days concurrent for having an unregistered gun. A fourth charge of possessing housebreaking tools was withdrawn.

". . .You were a walking bomb, a potential mass murderer," the magistrate said. "If you had slipped or fallen you could have touched off a blast that could have injured a number of innocent citizens."

Miner Sanctuary Flock Grows By 1,000 Birds

KINGSVILLE (CP)—The flock of wild geese at the famed Jack Miner bird sanctuary here has increased by more than 1,000 birds during the last few days, it was reported Monday.

About 1,000 geese, who were late starting the annual flight south last fall, spent the winter here. The flock increased to more than 2,000 when geese who spent the winter months farther south returned. Manley Miner, who, with his brother Jasper, operates the unique sanctuary which was founded by their father, said the arrival of the large number of geese is not unusual for this time of year.

A number of geese wore Jack Miner leg bands. One was dated 1931.

Plan Rare State Ball To Mark Coronation

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor-General Massey has decided to hold one of the rarest of Canadian functions—a state ball—to celebrate the Coronation June 2.

Government House announced Monday that the governor-general has decided on the function at his official residence, Rideau Hall, the day the Queen is crowned. This will be followed by a garden party June 6.

Protocol experts said this is the first time in their memory that a state ball has been held in Canada. Under a special order of precedence, only the top bracket of society likely would be invited.

YPU Reorganized

BETHANY (ENS)—The Young People's Union of the United Church was re-organized last week and the following were elected to office: President, Miss Joan Bristow; vice-president, Mr. Carl Finney; secretary, Miss Grace Bigelow; treasurer, Miss Marie Finney. It was decided to study the book, "Keeping Up With Teenagers" during the next few months. The Rev. James Hampson conducted a brief worship service. A social hour followed in which games were played and lunch served.

Tough, Impatient, Daring Commander In Indo-China

By JOHN K. MACBETH

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Spanish conquistadores, sturdy British adventurers, and a one-time Canadian horse wrangler have combined through the years to give France one of her ablest soldiers today.

General of the Army Francois Gonzales de Linares, at 56, is just about what his ancestry would indicate: Tough, impatient and daring. His present job as commander of French Union ground forces in northern Indo-China demands each of these qualities in full measure.

And there is little danger the de Linares strain will die out. The general has 10 children.

COLORFUL BACKGROUND

In his roomy headquarters recently, he skipped quickly over his family's early Spanish and British background, commenting only that it was "colorful enough." Then he began talking about his father.

"My grandfather was a British shipping man and my father was born in India. When he was 18, he took off in a small sailing boat from Boulogne for Canada. He used to tell me, years later in France, how he chased wild horses and broke them.

"He spent most of his 12 years in Canada in Northern Ontario and farther west. I forget the placenames, except for how-do-you-call-it, Winnipeg? He was there, too."

Gen. de Linares, speaking half in French, half in English, said his father became a Canadian citizen but, on his return to France, was renaturalized. He married in Brittany and, in 1897, the general was born at Guerande (Loire-Inferieure).

NO OFFICE MAN

Suddenly, the general stopped talking. He slapped his huge desk, leaned over, and growled:

"I hate office work. Do you hear me? I hate it."

After a slight pause he continued. He volunteered to serve in the French army in 1916, and was sent to the academy at Saint-Cyr. There followed, in the next two years, bitter fighting in which he was wounded twice.

For gallantry in these actions, he was cited four times..

Gen. de Linares, whose eight rows of ribbons include the British DSO and the American DSC, has never been to Canada. He said he had not served with Canadian troops during the First World War, but fought alongside them in the Italian campaign of the second World War.

"Some day," he said, "I shall visit Canada. My father always talked about it, and I admired the Canadians in Italy a great deal. But, for the time being, we have a war going on here too."

Between world wars, the general's duties took him to Morocco for five years, a hitch at the war college, and then back to North Africa for another five years. In 1939 he was promoted from captain to major and given command of a battalion of the famed Alpine Chasseurs.

After France was overrun by the Germans in 1940, de Linares established and directed the resistance movement in and near Lyon. Subsequently, he was flown secretly to England and, in 1943, he took part in the North African campaign.

Named regimental commander of the 5th Algerian Fusiliers, he led he unit throughout the Italian drive and on into southern France. It was in the siege of Toulon that then Lt.-Col. de Linares won the admiration of the late Marshal de Lattre de Tassigny.

Seven years later, following a post-war period of relative inactivity, Gen. de Linares was sitting at home with his family when a telegram arrived. From Gen. de Lattre, it said, in effect: "Come at once." Eight days later, Gen. de Linares was in Indo-China.

DETERMINED OFFICER

Since that time, much has happened. The death of Marshal de Lattre a year ago left Gen. de Linares shaken personally but determined more than ever to seek out and destroy the Communist-led Viet Minh.

Lately the general has been particularly successful. The battle of Na San in December, which resulted in some 6,000 enemy casualties compared to only several hundred French Union losses, has been described by competent observers as the most important Franco-Vietnamese victory of the six-year war.

But Gen. de Linares is the first to admit that this bitter war, involving close to 1,000,000 men, is about as far from a decision as it ever was. It is a classic stalemate.

As the ground forces commander sees it, a strictly military verdict is out of the question. He thinks also it will be impossible to persuade the enemy to lay down his arms, at least for a long time to come.

MUST WIN CIVILIANS

Instead, he sees as the only realistic hope a decision brought about by military pressure where necessary, combined with a successful drive to win the civilian population wholeheartedly to the anti-Communist cause.

As, in a civilian capacity, French commissioner to North Vietnam, Gen. de Linares is in a good position to supervise both military and civilian campaigns.

Personally, however, he would far rather go into the field with the troops and stay there. He does exactly that whenever he can.

Meanwhile, he has this to say about the Indo-China war:

"This is a war here. It may be smaller than Korea but, to my mind, it is strategically more important. Don't forget that if Indo-China goes, so does the rest of Southeast Asia and all its food and resources. It's as simple as that."

STALIN'S CONDITION WORSE, END NEAR

U.S. To Use Caution In Policies

See Two Dangerous Situations If Big Change Made

WASHINGTON (AP)— The United States will be supercautious to avoid sudden changes in military policy which might alarm either the Soviet Union or U.S. Allies during any transition in the Russian regime.

This became apparent today as the U. S. defence department weighed each bit of information about Joseph Stalin and consulted frequently with the state department.

Two potentially-dangerous situations were seen if the U. S military, for any reason, should make major changes in armed force strength or disposition of troops at this time:

SITUATIONS

1. If the U.S. should start an abrupt buildup of strength on the believe the danger of war was increasing because of Russia's internal situation, a new and inexperienced regime in Russia might seize upon this as a pretext for launching "preventative" war.

2. If there was a decision to cut down the U. S. armed forces, for reasons either international or domestic, the Western European Allies might interpret that as meaning the U. S. believed the danger was gone with the departure of Stalin from power.

HELD IN RESTRAINT

There was disposition in U. S. military quarters, as there was among some Congress members, to feel that a live and active Stalin has been a restraining factor which held Russia back from new military adventures.

Those who argued that way did not seek to say that Stalin was any less guilty of other dark needs of diplomacy and duplicity, but only that he appreciated the danger of embarking on war to gain his goals.

Even if a new Russian leader of professed moderate or peaceful intentions should come to power—and the names of no such persons appeared among the probable candidates—the U. S. would be loath to swerve immediately from its present policy of full military readiness.

U. S. military leaders, with bitter experience in dealing with Russians after the Second World War, want deeds instead of words from Russia to demonstrate peaceful intentions—stopping Soviet aid to Red China and North Korea, agreement to atomic arms control by inspection.

Cartoon Depicts Ike Retreating From Offer

BELGRADE (AP) —The Yugoslav newspaper Politika today carried a three-column cartoon picturing the ghostly spirit of Stalin rising from the Kremlin. In the foreground, a caricatured President Eisenhower, beating a fast retreat, was crying over his shoulder:

"I am taking my offer back. I don't want to meet you halfway."

Something Wrong: Baby

HONOLULU (AP)—Mrs. Annie McShane, 38, went to her doctor last week for a check-up. "There's something wrong with me, doctor," she said. "I don't know what it is but go ahead and check me up." Three days later Mrs. McShane gave birth to a six-pound, six-ounce boy—her first in 17 years of marriage.

IN A WATER-FILLED DITCH—A car driven by Donald Webb, 27, of 724 Stormont St., skidded 300 feet down a slight hill on Parkhill Rd. today to hit the Lindsay-bound CNR train. The impact hurled Webb's car along the embankment, over a railway culvert and into a ditch. The driver escaped out the right-hand door, and walked three blocks to his home to report the accident to the police. He said his car was a complete write-off.

China's Mao Seen Successor To Stalin's Mantle Of Ideological Leadership

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP)—When Joseph Stalin dies there may be two separate struggles for succession. One is the immediate matter of who is to be ruler of the Soviet Union. The other—and historically perhaps the more important—centres on who will take Stalin's almost exalted place as ideological master of world communism.

Stalin wore two hats. One was the temporal garb of naked power in Russia itself. The other was the more spiritual and possibly even more powerful hat of an almost religious nature—that of the god of atheistic communism.

During his lifetime, communism became known as Stalinism. All schisms from Stalin dicates were split from Stalinism. Such was the now defunct Trotskyism. Such now is the Titoism of Yugoslavia.

Stalin's Russian successor may be G. M. Malenkov or V. M. Molotov or L. P. Beria or someone else.

But will that Russian receive the fanatical adoration of Communists the world over? Russia's prestive in world communism might give him a head-start in the race for ideological leadership, but there are contenders outside Russia, too.

Tito may seek the mantle, but his land is small and his world following smaller.

MAY BE ASIAN

There are many who raise the startling possibility—startling to Western onlookers, that is—that time will prove an Asian the next ideological fountain-head of world communism. The man they mention is Mao Tze-tung, dictator of Red China, a man who made his own revolution, and won it.

Communism is driving toward its goal of world domination and an "ideal" society sometimes changes its course abruptly to meet changing pressures, and it needs a theoretician of great prestige who can explain away the sudden switches and make it all seem consistent.

Mao could fill the bill. He is an agile intellectual who has contributed much to Communist literature and he commands plenty of prestige in the Red world.

Mao and his followers give lip service to Soviet leadership, but that lip service has always been to the person of Stalin. Mao himself has given many signs of independence. He did not follow Stalin's advice to join Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang, but instead went ahead and made his own revolution—and did it in his own Chinese way.

The question is: Will Western (white) Communists follow a Chinese? The answer could provide a turning point in the history of the world.

Walsh To Meet Justice Minister

QUEBEC (CP)—Pat Walsh, labor organizer who last week said he resigned from a number of Communist front organizations, said Wednesday he will meet Justice Minister Garson to volunteer any information he has on Communist activities in Canada.

Walsh told reporters he was approached by the justice department last Sunday, two days after he announced his break with the Red-dominated organizations.

"For security reasons, I'm not saying when or where the meeting with Mr. Garson will take place," he said. "I don't want a bomb thrown at me."

Reporting that 250 trained Communist saboteurs are spotted across Canada, Walsh said Communist schools for training in sabotage and espionage were located at Bracebridge, Ont., and Camp Lafond, near L'Ascension, Que. Another for Communists of Slav descent was at Petsamo, Ont.

Other Communist schools were in Ottawa, Lachute, Que., Sudbury, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Que. Rink Edges Manitobans 8-7

SUDBURY (CP)—The surprising Quebec entry in the Canadian curling championships today gave Manitoba its first defeat 8-7 in seven games.

It was 7-7 going into the final end when two members of Ab Gowanlock's Dauphin quartet missed shots while the Montreal St. George's crew laid theirs in true. Quebec had one almost on the button and it was well protected and left Manitoba in a hole which Gowanlock couldn't pull them out of.

For the Quebec crew it was their fifth straight victory since British Columbia downed them with a big five end on the first round.

Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia are bunched in second spot after the seventh round of the round-robin spiel, the top event of the bonspiel season.

Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia are bunched in second place after the seventh round of the round robin spiel, the top event of the bonspiel season.

Both British Columbia and Alberta ran up easy victories in the morning round. British Columbia downed New Brunswick 12-5 while Alberta ran up a 17-7 score over winless Newfoundland.

In other morning games Prince Edward Island suffered its sixth straight defeat bowing to Saskatchewan 5-9 while Nova Scotia won its fourth game over Ontario 8-5.

Saskatchewan was never headed winning its fourth win against three defeats.

Car Hits Train Hurled 35 Feet Lands In Water

When his car landed on its roof in two feet of ice-covered water after being hurled 35 feet by a northbound CNR passenger train today, 27-year-old Donald Webb scrambled out and walked three blocks to his home in order to phone police.

Webb, who lives at 724 Stormont St., set out for his job at Outboard Marine at about 7:30 this morning in the 1948 sedan in which he had installed a new engine just last week.

Minutes later the car was a total wreck, lying upside down in the ditch alongside Jackson Park at the Parkhill Rd. CNR crossing and Webb was sitting at home, wrapped in blankets and drinking hot tea to ward off the effects of slight shock and his soaking in the freezing water.

HEARD WHISTLE

Webb said he heard the train whistle as he came over the knoll on Parkhill Rd. about 300 feet from the crossing and applied his brakes. The wheels would not grip on the ice-covered pavement, however, and the car skidded the entire distance to the crossing.

Webb attempted to swerve his car into the signal post beside the track but the side of the engine caught the front of the car, swung it around and flipped it over into the ice-covered water in the ditch.

Fearful of drowning, Webb, who was not even stunned, scrambled over to the passenger side and got through the door which had sprung open with the crash. Soaking wet, he hurried to his home and first called the police, and then his insurance company. The car, which was a total wreck, was completely covered by insurance.

Constables Gerald Emmons and Robert Mudoon, who investigated, agreed that it was a miracle that Webb, who escaped with a bad shaking up, was not drowned.

Hours after the accident the heater of the car was still running incongruously in the icy water of the ditch where the car had landed pointing in the opposite direction to that in which it had been travelling at the time of the accident.

The train crew wired back to the Peterborough station giving their names as engineer D. Ghent, brakeman P. Murphy, and conductor Earl Jenkins.

Hit Industries Near Russ Border

SEOUL (AP) — Allied fighter-bombers made a record 1,000-mile round trip today to smash industrial targets within 50 miles of Russia's Siberian border.

The 5th air force said 15 F-84 Thunderjets, flying from bases in South Korea, plastered industrial targets near Chongjin, 140 miles from Vladivostok, in the longest fighter-bomber strike of the Korean war.

Other fighter-bombers pounded Communist positions along the quiet, 155-mile battle front.

Thunderjets followed up the Chongjin strike with an attack on a munitions plant near Sunchon, north of Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

Wednesday night B-29s pulverized a huge North Korean supply centre six miles southwest of Pyongyang. The Superforts unloaded 100 tons of bombs, leaving the centre a "boiling mass of smoke and flames," the air force said.

Living Costs Decrease By Fraction

Third Drop In Row Attributed To Lower Food Prices

OTTAWA (CP)Living costs as reflected by the new consumer price index dropped one-fifth of a point during January to 115.5 from 115.7, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. It was the third monthly decline in a row.

The January drop, propelled mostly by lower food prices, followed a decline of three-tenths of a point last November and one-tenth of a point in December. The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, reached a peak of 118.2 in December, 1951.

But while the consumer price index declined, the old cost-of-living index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, continued to rise, increasing by one-half a point to 184.9 from 184.4.

OLD INDEX UP

It was the second consecutive monthly increase in this index on which escalator clauses in many wage contracts in Canada are scaled. This yardstick increased one-fifth of a point in December. Its peak was 191.5 in December, 9151.

However, the bureau considers the new index as more accurate and as the official gauge of price change.

Under the new index, the food group dropped four-fifths of a point in January to 112.7 from 113.5 with lower prices noted for: sugar, tea, eggs, oranges, potatoes, tomatoes, lettuce and celery.

These overcame boosts for margarine and some meat cuts.

RENT HIGHER

The shelter column rose to a new high of 122.5 from 122.3. The cost of household operations also rose fractionally to 116.6 from 116.5, slightly below the record of 116.9 in January, 1952.

Clothing eased to 109.6 from 109.7 while the column entitled other commodities and services remained unchanged at the peak of 116.7.

On the wholesale side, the industrial materials prices index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, eased to 238.4 on Feb. 20 from 238.7 on Jan. 30.

The Canadian farm products index, also based on 1935-39, eased to 215.6 from 217.

Scattered price declines were noted for fir timber, white lead, raw rubber, lead, zinc, oats and steers, outweighing increases for beef hides, raw cotton, tin ingots, wheat and hogs.

Tax Rebate Sum Near $85 Million

OTTAWA (CP) — The income tax division estimated today that 2,000,000 Canadians have overpaid their 1952 income taxes and will collect rebates totalling about $85,000,000.

The system of withholding almost 100 per cent of the tax at the source was in effect for the whole of 1952. As a result, the division said, most of the estimated 4,300,000 taxpayers "will either have very little additional tax to pay or be entitled to a refund."

Deductions for charitable donations, medical expenses, union dues, marriage or an increase in dependents during the year are some of the factors which bring about an overpayment and a refund.

The division said that in Toronto, for instance, 713,000 persons are expected to file returns and some 306,000 will get refunds totalling $13,246,009.

Two Little Words

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An afternoon newspaper used a headline containing just two words to tell its readers about Stalin Wednesday. "Not Yet!" said Ultimas Noticias across the top of page one.

Pole Lands MiG In Denmark, Flees Homeland

ROENNE, Denmark (AP) — A Russian-built MiG-15 jet fighter plane was landed at Roenne airport this morning by a Polish pilot fleeing from his Soviet-dominated homeland, police reported.

It is believed to be the first time one of the powerful Red jets—mainstay of the Communist air force in Korea—has been brought outside the Iron Curtain undamaged.

The pilot asked for political asylum and was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

A heavily-armed military cordon was thrown around the plane. Photographers and reporters were barred.

Danish military chiefs on this strategic Baltic islad—only a few minutes flying time from the Soviet controlled Polish and East German coasts—hurried to the airport to inspect the MiG.

No information was available as to whether the prize jet would be handed over to Allied air force specialists or would be returned to Poland.

SOVIET PROTESTS

Twice in recent months, the Soviet government has officially protested Denmark's participation in the NATO defence arrangement, accusing the little Scandinavian country of taking part in an anti-Russian war plot.

The authoritative British aircraft annual publication, Jane's All the World's Aircratt, says a "fairly complete" MiG-15 was salvaged from enemy waters off the North Korean coast by the Royal Navy in 1951 and was examined by the United States Air Force, but efforts to make the plane airworthy for flight evaluation trials were abandoned.

In London, a British air ministry spokesman said technical data on the construction and performance of the MiG-15s was obtained from the plane recovered in Korea. He added, however, that an examination of the undamaged craft would aid allied technicians.

Redistribution Not Planned Yet

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said today redistribution of seats in the provincial legislature will not come before the current session.

The premier's statement spiked persistent rumors that redistribution, considered long overdue because of uneven population growth in the province, would be dealt with before the session prorogues around Easter.

"It's obvious that redistribution is necessary," the premier said, "but we won't get down to it this session."

He declined comment on a report that a select committee would be set up this session to study the problem, and bring down a report for legislative action next year.

Government observers said when redistribution occurs it would probably increase the number of seats in the House to 100 from 90. The last change was in 1933, when the seats were reduced to 90 from 112.

Metropolitan centres such as Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor and London, likely would get the big share of additional seats. The average population of Ontario ridings is about 50,000. Some constituencies in these districts have populations far in excess of that figure.

Doctors' Bulletin Suggests Life Ebbing Away

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—Joseph Stalin's physicians reported tonight his condition is exceedingly poor. Their third medical bulletin suggested that the life of the 73-year-old leader is ebbing steadily away. This third bulletin was issued at 8:30 p.m. and reported Stalin's condition up to 4 p.m. (8 a.m. EST). It described signs of heart failure. The bulletin read: "The treatment is at present directed mainly toward combatting the irregularities in breathing and blood circulation, in particular of the coronary one." This would mean the circulation of blood through the heart. A leading medical authority said the bulletin meant Stalin soon would be dead, if he was not already so, and said it was in effect a description of fatal heart failure.

The physicians bulletin described Stalin's blood pressure as having decreased as he grew increasingly pale.

The physicians' second bulletin had been issued earlier today and described Stalin's condition as of 2 a. m.

The bulletin disclosed the brain haemorrhage that struck the 73-year-old leader of world communism Sunday night affected the trunk section of the brain, in addition to the left sector where the bleeding occurred. His heart action, blood circulation and breathing continued "gravely impaired," it added.

In New York, competent medical sources said on the basis of the bulletin—first report on Stalin's condition since the initial announcement Wednesday of the illness—gave the Russian chief "little or no chance of recovery." A leading Canadian neuro - surgeon said in Montreal that if the medical report was correct, the Soviet leader may already be dead.

"Towards the end of March 4," the bulletin declared, "the state of health of Joseph V. Stalin continues grave. The patient is in a state of deep unconsciousness, nervous regulation of breathing as well as cardiac activity continue to remain greatly impaired."

CALL FOR UNITY

As this latest report on the condition of their leader was announced to the saddened Russian people, the Communist party newspaper Pravda, in a front - page editorial, called for "unity of the party and the people" in these difficult days.

The government's council of ministers (cabinet) and Communist party's central committee already had announced they were "guiding" the party and the country, but there has been no indication here as to how government or party leadership would be affected by Stalin's incapacity.

Although unquestionably tense and nervous, Moscow's citizens went about their normal tasks as the morning broke with snow falling from grey, heavy-laden skies and a biting east wind.

WORK AS USUAL

Factories, stores and offices were open as usual. There were no crowds in Red Square, the vast open area under the frowning Kremlin battlements.

The chief indication of anything out of the ordinary was the large number of people in the city's churches. Many flocked to burn candles and pray for Stalin's health after Patriarch Alexei of Moscow and all Russia led special prayers for the Russian chief's recovery.

The medical bulletin from the Kremlin doctors said that Stalin's breathing had improved somewhat Wednesday after the use of medical drugs but later in the day "grave breathing disturbances recommenced."

The announcement said:

"The cerebral haemorrhage in his left brain sector which occurred during the night of 1st-2nd of March on the basis of arterio-sclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and hypertonic disease, has resulted,

Military Victory Sole Solution For Korean War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet appeared today to favor a smashing Allied offensive which would drive the Communists far back into North Korea and permit South Korean troops to take over a shortened battle line.

This pattern began to emerge from his testimony to congressional committees eagerly seeking his views on the best way to achieve victory in Korea.

The retiring former 8th army commander—who testified before two House of Representatives groups Wednesday—was called for another discussion of Korea fighting today before the Senate armed services committee.

Van Fleet told the House armed services committee Wednesday that he believed victory can be won in Korea without necessarily spreading the war. He asserted the fighting will end only with a military decision.

After a later private meeting with the House foreign affairs committee, chairman Robert Chiperfield (Rep. Ill.) reported Van Fleet had said U. S. troops could be pulled out of Korea in numbers only after a military victory placed the army on a shortened defence line which could be held by the South Koreans.

Achieving a shorter defence line in Korea would mean driving to the narrow waist of the peninsula, north of the North Korean capital city of Pyongyang. Such a line would be almost half the width of the present line which closely follows the 38th parallel.

Chiperfield described Van Fleet as being "emphatic in stating that the war in Korea must end in nothing short of victory—anything short of that would be defeat — peace in the Orient would require the unification of all, or almost all, of Korea."

Martin Asks Reds For Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada today challenged the Chinese Communists and North Koreans to make "forward-looking" proposals in answer to the United Nations resolution seeking an end to the Korean war.

Health Minister Paul Martin, head of Canada's delegation to the UN assembly, told the UN he "detected a possible gleam of light" from recent statements of Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia.

Martin spoke during debate on Korea in the assembly's political committee.

He noted Vishinsky's remark that the UN was just approaching the possibility for elaborating proposals on the Korean question in the spirit of peace and justice.

"What did he mean by this?" Martin asked in his prepared address.

Report Section Baffles Auditor

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department's chief auditor said today he is "mystified" by one of the most damaging sections of the Currie report, which refers to his own work.

J. A. Kidd told the Commons defence committee he thinks George S. Currie was "over-emphatic" in stating that the departmental auditors repeatedly disclosed unsatisfactory conditions and then found them still going on the following year and in some cases worse.

The committee was also told by defence department officials:

1. The unauthorized spending of $14,200 on repairs to a Regina house was "partly" responsible for the retirement of Brig. A. B. Connelly, 44, of Calgary.

2. Brig. Connelly is still on leave six months after his retirement and no final decision has yet been made about his pension rights.

3. Of 154 "irregularities" in army works services administration listed in the "Currie report, only one has resulted in the laying of a military charge.

British Economy Strained To Limit, Says Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today Britain has strained her economy to the maximum in her rearmament drive. He asked parliamentary approval for a record peacetime defence budget.

He told the House of Commons the spending of £1,636,760,000 ($4,585,728,000) in the budget year ending March, 1954, is as far as Britain can go. But he emphasized that this heavy arms load is absolutely essential in this "testing time for the free world."

"Any further substantial diversion of our resources from civil to military production would gravely imperil our economic foundation and with that our ability to continue the rearmament program," Churchill said.

Speaking over a hacking cough that troubled him, the 78-year-old prime minister said:

"No one with knowledge of the facts of our economic situation can challenge our claim that our defence effort is the absolute maximum of which we are capable."

He told the House of Commons that the East-West cold war has reached a stage of "prolonged pull."

"Any sign of weakening of purpose. . .would undermine the good that already has been done" in building up Britain's defences, he said.

Churchill's government has introduced a motion calling for approval of the defence budget.

Churchill praised the former Labor government of Clement Attlee for initiating the defence program. That program, begun in mid-1951, was supposed to be finished in 1954. It is expected it will not be completed now until 1956.

Referring to Labor's original program, the Prime Minister told the house:

"Even if events have proved that it was over optimistic and hastily thought out, that does not detract from the statesmanship and courage of the measure."

Infantry Officer Writes

Initial Fear In Action Bars Shooting

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian infantry officer thinks that perhaps half of Canada's troops now in action don't fire at the enemey because of their initial fear in action.

To help build up self-confidence and self-discipline, he suggests that the army take some tips from the Communists.

Maj. W. E. Garber of the Royal Canadian Regiment, writing in the current issue of the Canadian Army journal, recalls recent studies of United States infantry units which showed that at least 50 per cent of riflemen never fire at the enemy because, they say, they are reluctant to take a human life.

No such survey has been made of Canadian units, but Maj. Garber, now stationed in Washington, accepts that a similar lack of aggressiveness exists here, too.

He says officers are understandably reluctant to discuss this sort of thing but says the need for open discussion is most important.

Maj. Garber suggests that the real cause of failure to shoot is lack of sufficient self-discipline to overcome the initial fear which grips all soldiers. Inability to shoot a fellow man is only "a convenient excuse."

These are his suggestions:

Careful initial selection, indoctrination and training for infantrymen "would greatly improve the ability of the Canadian soldier to meet battle."

A larger proportion of the army's better men should be channelled into the real fighting arm, the infantry.

There should be better indoctrination in training and steps to make the soldier devoted to what he fights for, to reach a high level of patriotism. The Communists have had "almost unbelievable success" at this. With each Canadian training unit there should be a special instructor "to prepare men mentally to meet battle."

The soldier should be taught to know and take pride in the traditions of his regiment and he should always be kept with that regiment except in extreme emergency.

Every consideration should be extended to the man undergoing battle conditions for the first time, even to mothering him through his first shots.

There should be danger pay for the men who do the fighting.

See Russian Policy Unchanging

Removal of Stalin From Power Might Bring Lull

WASHINGTON (AP)— Top U.S. state department officials today discounted the chances of any early radical change in Soviet foreign policies under new Kremlin leadership.

Some experts believed that Prime Minister Stalin's removal from power—as disclosed in the official announcement of his illness—might paralyze Soviet operations, for a time and to a degree, because of a probable struggle for the mantle of succession. Many persons in high position consider it likely that Stalin is dead.

OFFICIAL ATTITUDE

The official U. S. attitude was to assume Soviet policies would go along substantially unchanged and that the U. S. must expect to fight the hot war in the Far East and the cold war elsewhere for an indefinite period.

However, U. S. authorities recognize that in the long run a change of dictators could profoundly affect Russia's world aims and her methods of seeking to realize them.

They also point out that Stalin has been not only the leader of Soviet communism for 20 years but has grown into a symbol of communist unity and power

There was speculation here that with his disappearance from the role of active leader any other person would for a long time find it impossible to exercise the same attractions for Stalin's followers.

Charge Boxer In Woman's Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—A murder charge against a Vancouver boxer followed the slaying of a young housewife Wednesday night and the apparently connected brutal beating of another woman in the same house.

Police said the charge was laid against Sonny Jones, a middleweight preliminary fighter well known in Pacific northwest rings.

The arrest was made following the discovery of the body of a woman, believed by police to have been strangled, in the ground-floor suite of a house on Union street here.

Upstairs, another woman was alive but had been beaten into unconsciousness and tied hand and foot.

The dead woman was identified as Mrs. Albert Smith, whose husband is working out of town. He had not been located by police at a late hour last night. He is believed to be a railway porter.

Police said the husband of the beaten woman told them he returned home to find Mrs. Smith dead and, rushing upstairs, found his wife bound and unconscious.

Attacked Foreman

BRAMPTON (CP)—Joseph Dyer blamed foreman Arthur Webster for having him fired from his defence-plant job. Dyer was fined $25 Wednesday for assault. Webster testified that Dyer hit him with a hammer, causing severe head injuries.

St. Peter's Students To Debate In Kingston

A debating team from St. Peter's High School will meet a team from Regiopolis College, Kingston, in Kingston Friday night.

This is a return debate and the Peterborough team will be out to chalk up a second win against the Kingston College. The two teams met in Peterborough early in December when the local team scored a victory.

The debate subject Friday night is: Resolved that Canada should adopt a policy of universal military training for all able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 21. The Peterborough team will be debating negatively.

The St. Peter's team includes Margaret O'Keefe, Pat Masterson and Brian Philcox with subs Joan Driscoll and Joseph Masterson.

Sister Clotilde of St. Peter's is in charge of the team.

Strikes Boards, Hockeyist Dies

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — Robert Gillies, 17, of nearby Stayner, was fatally injured Wednesday night when his head struck the boards during a hockey game.

Gillies, right defence player with the Collingwood Greenshirts Junior C team of the Ontario Hockey Association, died about five hours after the injury which he suffered after 15 minutes of play in the final period of a game with the Aurora Bears.

Ed Bush, coach of the Collingwood team and a former player with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, said Gillies was moving fast behind his own net with his head down, trying to centre the puck. He was jolted by another player and slammed into the boards, Bush said.

Gillies was taken to hospital here and lost consciousness shortly after midnight. He died in an ambulance that was taking him to Toronto, 90 miles south of here, for brain surgery.

Building Inspector Of Douro Retires

Douro township council approved at its February meeting the following accounts for payment: Roads $505; relief $214; general township accounts $161.80.

A motion by Councillors Ryan and Dunford authorized that tenders be called for the crushing of 7,000 cu. yards of gravel.

The resignation of Fred Ball as building inspector was accepted. In his place: H. J. Ayotte was appointed inspector for that part of the township south of lot 11, and Russell Little north of lot 10.

The resignation of J. Mahoney as inspector to enforce the warble fly control Act was accepted. Russell Little was appointed to that position at 75c an hour plus 25c an hour for use of car.

Stephen Moloney was engaged to supply tractor and wagon to haul the spraying machine at $2 an hour, and Thomas O'Brien to operate the machine at 75c an hour. This work is for spraying cattle against the warble fly.

A committee of the whole council was named to meet the council of Dummer to arrange for a visit to the north part of the boundary and discuss the opening of a road.

A resolution directed that School Areas 1 and 2, SS No. 3 and SS No. 12 be included in Peterborough High School district, and the rest of the township in Lakefield High School district. The clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw to that effect.

Council accepted the tender of Frank Payne for the following insurance coverage: Workmen's Compensation, premium $40.25; township truck premium $63.78; public liability and property damage premium $132.50; floater on sprayer $24.

Tax arrears of $14.97 are to be removed from the treasurer's book.

Doctor's Bulletin

apart from the right side paralysis of the limbs and loss of consciousness, in impairing the trunk section of the brain, accompanied by disturbances in the most important functions of breathing and blood circulation."

SPASMODIC BREATHS

It reported that instances of "periodic, so-called Cheyne-Stokes breathing" had become more frequent. This is a shore-like breathing, broken by intervals in which no breath is drawn. It was named after Dr. John Cheyne, a Scot, who first described it more than 100 years ago.

New York medical sources said the mention of this type of breathing means that Stalin "has suffered serious brain damage" and "is getting much worse."

These sources said the bulletin shows clearly that Stalin "is dying," and that he "now is developing heart failure and possibly pneumonia."

USE LEECHES

The bulletin also disclosed that Stalin's doctors have resorted to one of the oldest medical practices—the use of blood-sucking leeches—as well as such advanced scientific remedies as penicillin in the effort to save his life.

"For the second time, leeches were used to draw blood," it announced. They presumably were applied in the hope of reducing Stalin's alarmingly high blood pressure—210 maximum to 110 minimum.

Moscow's diplomatic corps followed the news of Stalin's illness with as great interest as the Russian people. Many envoys asked Western newspaper men to telephone them of new bulletins on the prime minister's condition, no matter what the hour.

PHONE CALLS

Various embassies and legations reported receiving numerous telephone calls from all over the world, asking about Stalin. Most of these apparently were from foreign newspapers but some have been from individuals.

One call came from Chicago to the Canadian embassy. The caller asked for the Kremlin's telephone number.

The diplomatic corps is considering what should be done about social functions during Stalin's illness. As yet, there has been no decision by the dean of the corps, Swedish Ambassador Rolf Sohlman, but the Indian embassy cancelled a cocktail party it had scheduled for Wednesday.

Synthetic Nets

AMSTERDAM (CP)—The largest fishing-net factory in The Netherlands has decided to use synthetic fibres for manufacture of nets in future. This firm maintains a Canadian subsidiary at Lunenburg, N.S.

AT YALTA, one of the few meetings of the Big Three, Stalin is shown with Prime Minister Churchill and the late President Roosevelt. Today, only Churchill is active of the three men whose history-making conferences changed the map of the world. Should Stalin die of his present illness, he will have died by an affliction similar to that which killed Roosevelt.

Stock Market Prices Continue To Decline

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices today continued Wednesday's general decline and forenoon trading slowed slightly.

Base metals showed a slight lead in the losses as all sections—industrials, golds, base metals and western oils—lost more than a half point each on the exchange indexes. Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals also weakened.

Trading volume for the first hour totalled 1,131,000 shares — lowest since Feb. 17. A fairly wide list of issues traded but heavy trading failed to appear in many issues.

Higher-priced base metals dropped and a number of juniors showe sharp losses. Campbell Chibougamau lost 40 cents and Eastern metals weakened in active trading. Noranda and Steep Rock slipped.

Gunnar led the losses in uranium with a fractional decline. New Delhi, Chimo, Nesbitt-Labine and Pitch - Ore also weakened. New Brunswick base metals turned lower as Brunswick, Ladulama and New Larder U weakened. Inspiration, a Northern Ontario rare metal prospect, lost pennies in active trading.

A wide list of losses ranging to 30 cents weakened western oils. Britalta, Calvan, Commoil and Canadian Atlantic were the leaders.

Industrials slipped as utilities, papers and miscellaneous issues turned lower. Refining oils weakened with Trans Mountain Pipe Line dropping $1. Steels were strong and Constructions and retail stores gained.

Senior golds, juniors and holding companies weakened. McIntyre, a senior, dropped more than $1 and Ventures, a holding company, lost a similar amount.

Can Stage Hypnotists

LONDON (AP) — The London county council voted a ban Tuesday night on stage hypnotics. Dr. Somerville Hastings who proposed it said: "I look upon stage hypnotism as a denigration (blackening) of human personality, for people unde the hypnotic state make fools of themselves against their will for amusement of those present at an entertainment."

Dinner To Start Campaign $95,000 Community Fund

Just how to collect $95,000 to maintain the services of 11 Peterborough welfare agencies will be the question in the minds of 350 citizens Friday night.

This group—fund directors, division chairmen, team captains and canvassers—will be attending the opening dinner of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign at the CGE cafeteria Friday night.

It is hoped that the necessary inspiration to make this 1953 campaign a success will come from the address to be delivered by Deputy Minister of Welfare, Dr. George F. Davidson, Ottawa, who will be guest speaker at the dinner. His address will be broadcast over CHEX.

The fund directors are also counting on an added impetus of team spirit among the canvassers to result from this pep rally dinner.

REORGANIZED

This year the campaign divisions have been reorganized for greater collection efficiency. This is expected to take care of any potential contributors who may have been missed in former campaigns.

Skeptics have painted anything but a bright outcome for a complete campaign success ever since the 1953 objective of $95,000 was announced. Many felt that the failure to reach the $85,000 objective in 1952 by more than $2,000 should be enough warning.

However the fund's board of directors felt that the objective would have to go up to meet rising costs and also to include the addition of a new agency, St. John Ambulance to the 10 agencies already in the fund.

For anyone who feels that $95,000 can't be raised in Peterborough for welfare agencies a dip into files of former campaigns in this city might be an eye opener. In 1941, the first year of a community fund campaign in Peterborough $124,532 was raised, with an objective of only $85,000. Those were the days when citizen remembered the nuisance of 10 campaigns instead of one.

Peterborough's population in 1941 was 25,703. The latest figures from the city hall show that there has been an increase of 13,645 in the 12 intervening years for a present population of nearly 40,000.

If 25,000 citizens could scare up $124,532 in 1941, it doesn't seem impossible that 39,348 citizens can contribute $95,000 in 1953.

Another eye opener for skeptics is a report of the 1951 campaign in Oshawa. At that time this city had a population of 40,000. The amount raised that year in their community chest campaign was $115,991. The year before Oshawa residents showed their appreciation of the city's welfare agencies to the tune of $116,288.

The Peterborough fund directors have increased the campaign period for the 13th campaign from eight to 12 days. In that time it is believed that every potential contributor in the city can be contacted. If anyone is missed contributions will be gladly received at the fund's office, 332½ George St. N.

The five division objectives for this year's campaign are: Special Names, $27,850; Industrial, $41,800; Retail, $19,250; Women's, $5,500; Penny-A-Day, $600.

Friday night's dinner will be the official opening which will start more than 300 voluntary canvassers knocking at doors and starting collections in city industries and retail and business establishments.

The results of their work and the 1953 campaign will be announced at the closing campaign dinner to be held at the Empress hotel March 18.

Couple Acquitted In Child's Death

KITCHENER (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paepcke were acquitted Wednesday by a Supreme Court jury of charges of murder and manslaughter laid after the death of their three-year-old daughter, Glenis.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence, who earlier refused a defence motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, said he agreed with the jury's findings.

Medical evidence at the two-day trial was that she died of haemorrhage caused by a scalp bruise possibly complicated by asphyxiation.

Defence counsel A. W. Boos and Roy Youngson called no witnesses. The jury deliberated for an hour.

Crown Attorney Harold Daufman charged that death had been the result of a beating inflicted upon the child by the two parents, combined with suffocation of the tot by the mother.

The couple still face a charge of assault causing bodily harm arising out of the same incident. It will be heard in magistrate's court here where the Paepcke's will have an opportunity to elect in which court they will be tried. Bail is being arranged.

Tiny Pension Forces Woman, 28, To Theft

LONDON (Reuters)—Life has not been easy for 28-year-old Mrs. Kathleen Robinson since she wed an ailing man 81 years of age.

His total income is £1 5s 6d ($3.60) weekly from an old-age pension.

She pleaded guilty in court Wednesday of stealing two hats in a store because her husband couldn't afford to buy her any.

"You ought to be punished," the judge told her, "but I don't know how to do it."

He set her free to tend her ill husband.

Children Escape Fire

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Seventy-six children, 24 of them infants, were led and carried to safety Wednesday when the Little Flower orphanage at nearby Little Bras d'Or was gutted by fire. A staff of 15, including eight sisters, assisted by volunteers brought all children to safety without a casualty. The blaze was confined to the second floor.

Charges Unionist Directed Ship Sabotage

QUEBEC (CP)—Pat Walsh said Wednesday sailing of 12 ships for the Chinese Ming Sung Company was deliberately held up here by a Communist official of the Canadian Seamen's Union so they would fall into Chinese Communist hands when they reached Shanghai.

The 37-year-old Quebec labor organizer, who said last week he has resigned a number of Communist front organizations, said in an interview that Ray Collette was the union official responsible.

Walsh said Collette was switched to the Quebec job from his post as CSU director on the West coast where he had directed sabotage of war materials sent from Canada to Nationalist China.

CHIANG COMPLAINT

He added that Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese Nationalist leader, had complained that material arrived in his hands in bad shape. Sand had been put in the engines, precision instruments had been tampered with and plane propellers had been broken.

Collette, he said, personally chose the crews for the ships in the CSU hiring hall here. Shortly before the scheduled departure, the crews would quit, thus delaying their departure.

"The scheme continued until Collette felt reasonably sure that the Nationalist cause on the China mainland was so precarious that when the ships arrived in Shanghai they would fall into Communist hands," Walsh added.

CHATHAM SHOWS SLIDES

Eight members of the Chatham Camera Club sent a total of 40 colour slides for reviewing by members of the Peterborough Camera Club on Tuesday evening at the Public Library. City men thought the work was good but perhaps the general standard was not up to their own work. Next week's meeting will be a showing and criticism of members' prints.

VISIT POLICE DEPARTMENT

Eighteen members of the safety patrol of Prince of Wales school made a tour of the police department today accompanied by their principal R. J. Bolton. They constitute half of the patrol. The other half, under Bob Fallis, made the same tour a week ago. In the course of their visit under the guidance of PC Don Mackay, they attended the session of police court where they were welcomed by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

OBSERVE METHODS

Sixteen Grade 12 and 13 students of St. Peter's High School are spending short periods in city Separate Schools this week observing teaching methods. Following this observation period the students will be given an opportunity to conduct classes. This project is being carried out to encourage students to enter the teaching profession.

SEATS IN ABBEY

Mayor Hugh Waddell said today he expected to receive early next week confirmation from the Secretary of State, Ottawa, of the assignment to Mrs. Waddell and himself of seats in Westminster Abbey for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth. A limited number of seats in the Abbey have been secured for some of the Mayors of Canada and their wives.

Aircraft Ejector Seat Co. Locates In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The unemployment situation in Campbellford will receive a "shot in the arm" shortly, when a firm at present operating in Cobourg opens a manufacturing plant here.

The Cobourg firm, Flight Equipment Limited, has outgrown the facilities available in that town and has purchased a building which formerly housed a shoe factory here. They will occupy the basement and first floor of the old shoe factory. Company officials are hopeful of leasing the remaining floors of the building to some other firm, which will mean still more industrial expansion for the town.

PRODUCE PARTS

The company will manufacture parts for aircraft ejector-seats in Campbellford, and will use their building in Cobourg for assembling the seats. The ejector-seat, of Martin-Bohr design, is manufactured for use in modern jet bombers and fighter aircraft. The company holds the North American patent rights on the seat, which was invented in England.

Managing director of the firm is Robert Murison. He obtained wide experience in aircraft design and manufacture in Britain before coming to Canada some years ago.

Just how many men the firm will employ has not yet been made known, but the number will increase as the activities of the company increase.

The Chamber of Commerce, the town council, and interested local citizens have been trying for some time to induce a new industry to locate in Campbellford. It was through the efforts of several of these citizens, along with Dr. Fred G. Robertson, MP, of Cobourg, that Flight Equipment Limited was first introduced to the possibilities and advantages of locating in Campbellford.

Measles Top List 31 Cases Reported

COBOURG (ENS) — Mumps have dropped into second place in the sick parade and red measles now is at the top of the list, if that is any distinction, according to records of the counties health unit here for the week ending Feb. 28. Cobourg only had 4 new cases of mumps but they hit the ranks of the youngsters in the community centre's figure skating carnival scheduled for tomorrow night. One mother had just put the finishing touches to the costume to be worn by her eight year old at the carnival when the child came down with mumps. Mother and child are both very unhappy about it all.

Of the 31 cases of red measles, Cobourg has nine new cases. Total for mumps is 30. Ten cases of chickenpox were listed, seven jaundice and one of scarlet fever.

Spelling Trips Phoney

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A man who posed as a doctor but didn't know how to spell "thrombosis" on a death certificate pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of practising medicine without a licence. Robert Reed, a state investigator, testified that John Kobaly treated a woman who later died. The death certificate was signed "John Kobaly, M.D." and gave cause of death as "coronary thrombosis".

Depot Commander Given Promotion

COBOURG (ENS) Mar. 5 — Major W. R. Peace, commanding officer of the new ordnance depot here has been promoted to the rank of Lt.-Colonel, it has been announced from Ottawa. The officer has been located at Cobourg for the past several months supervising the organization work in connection with the depot, which is under construction.

Larger Grants For Municipalities

The Ontario Government has recognized that its own welfare legislation as well as the increased costs and demands for municipal services require that it give greater financial help to the municipalities than in the past. Beginning next January Provincial grants to cities, towns villages and townships will be increased by nine million dollars. It is substantial aid and the sort of assistance this newspaper, this city and other municipalities through the Province have repeatedly urged.

* * *

The system of grants is new as well as enlarged. It replaces grants formerly made only for police and fire protection in communities, which last year totalled three and a half million dollars. By the new legislation the municipalities will receive about twelve million dollars, with no strings attached. The municipal corporations may spend the money in any way they see best suited to their needs.

* * *

The sums to be put at the disposal of councils are by no means the total of provincial grants. Premier Frost remarked, when he made the announcement of the new, enlarged grants, that the Province's total contribution to municipalities will be about 130 million dollars annually—more than forty percent. of the Ontario Government's present revenue. The bulk of the financial assistance is for the state school system, hospitals, and other long established instruments of public welfare and advancement.

* * *

Municipalities will not quarrel with the fact of the increases and unconditional grants; smaller cities and towns may find points for argument in the per capita bases. They may say—with some truth—that the small increases to small communities are sops to stop their mouths protesting the very large increases to the largest cities, specifically to Toronto.

* * *

The grants are to be made on a count of heads. A town with fewer than 2,000 citizens will get $1.50 a head. Toronto is to get—should it become the metropolitan area discussed in these columns Tuesday—four dollars a head. This will amount to something like five million dollars a year, which is nearly half the total of the new grants. Thus, at the price of a few thousand each for the acquiescence of the small places, Toronto will get the meat, the rest the pan gravy. Torontonians will think this only proper, Toronto being the hub of Ontario.

* * *

But pan gravy is good; coming this way from Queen's Park it will be a new taste thrill on rural spuds. Peterborough for instance, will get more than $95,000, instead of the $46,438 of last year (on a $2.50 head-grant). Belmont and Methuen and like townships should really be thrilled. These united townships received no police and fire-protection grants heretofore (having neither police nor fire protection); under the new system they are to receive $2,377, beginning with the year 1954.

* * *

While there is room for criticism and complaint in the new system, all in all it and the total of provincial grants will be the best that Ontario communities have ever received, and we have to thank Mr. Frost and his Government for the realism with which they are meeting the financial crises of which cities, towns, villages and townships have been on the brink since 1946.

Freedom Of Whose Press?

A deputation from the Trades and Labour Congress met the Prime Minister and several members of the Cabinet on Tuesday, and asked for a Canadian Bill of Rights, to guarantee certain freedoms to the people of this country. One of these freedoms was freedom of the press, in which we are naturally interested, and which we are anxious to preserve.

We find, however, that there is widespread misunderstanding of what freedom of the press actually is. It is freedom for any citizen to print expressions of his own opinion, accepting responsibility for so doing. That is to say, a man who feels strongly about taxation may write a pamphlet putting forward his views, and distribute it, having signed it with his own name; he may do the same thing, using a pen-name; he may insert an advertisement in a newspaper, containing what he wants to make public. But in all these cases he must accept responsibility himself for what he has said.

We find that many people think that freedom of the press means freedom of somebody else's press; they seek to put forward opinions of their own in the form of newspaper letters, often signed with pen-names. They have no traditional freedom to do this, and they cannot insist upon the insertion of such letters by a newspaper publisher. He is responsible for what he prints, and he has the corresponding right to refuse to print anything which he thinks would involve him in trouble or lawsuit, or which he may not like.

Most newspapers publish letters expressing opinions with which they do not agree; they publish letters critical of themselves, for instance. But they will not, and need not, extend this to the printing of material which they feel to be in any way contrary to the public good. Their denial is not a restriction of freedom of the press; it is always possible for anyone to print and distribute what he pleases, entirely in his own responsibility.

We have made this matter of newspaper responsibility plain before in these columns, but it is a frequent ground of misunderstanding.

No End To The Korean War

Mr. Vishinsky's speech to the Political Committee of the United Nations on Monday made quite clear that Russia has no intention of doing anything which will bring the Korean war to a quiet end. His speech was a delayed response to the short, strong American address made to the same committee last week in which Senator Lodge, chief U.S. delegate, set out the Eisenhower administration's views. Senator Lodge then accused the Soviet Union of continuing the war which, he said, it had planned and instigated. The Indian resolution put forward last year represented, in the American view and in the view of most U.N. members including Canada, an adequate basis for a truce. This resolution offered a means of solving the prisoner issue which has completely blocked the truce talks.

The Soviet union rejected the Indian resolution last year. Mr. Vishinsky rejected it again Monday. Therefore, the truce talks are at an end and the United States will now proceed to find other ways of bringing the Korean War to a close. Those ways have been indicated by the Eisenhower administration and given emphasis by Senator Lodge, but did not, despite their force and threat, bring Russia to a change of attitude. On the other hand, Mr. Vishinsky's reply was not a blast; perhaps some of the wind has been taken out of the Soviet sails. Enough to keep the U.S.S.R. in the doldrums?

Death Of A Marquess

On February 17 there died in England a man named Ernest George, twelfth Marquess of Grimaldi. He was an automobile salesman, and was usually called plain Mister. His father had been a butcher, and his grandfather had been a cabinet-maker. Nevertheless, the family asserted its title to nobility, and Grimaldi's brief obituary notice says that his ancestry included soldiers, statesmen, princes and cardinals. But it also says that one of his ancestors was the famous clown, Joseph Grimaldi.

We do not wish to rob the late Mr. Grimaldi of any glory which is rightly his, but we wonder if anyone has checked this glorious ancestry. We happen to be keenly interested in Joe Grimaldi the clown, and his autobiography, which Charles Dickens edited, contains no claim to a descent from a noble family. He was, in fact, unable to trace his family back farther than his own father, an Italian clown known as "Old Iron-Legs" because he could do a higher standing jump than any other man of his time. If the Marquess was a romancer, we think none the worse of him. He boasted of a distinguished ancestry, but he did not attempt to trade on it. Every man cherishes a dream of some sort, and few are more harmless than this.

Breaking The Ice

In the pursuits of peace Canada has long had ice-breakers. They belong to Canada as naturally as ice itself. Ice-breakers ply the St. Lawrence, inland waterways and the Arctic. It is disconcerting therefore to discover that the United States and Russia are vying with each other in their Cold War to produce more and better ice-breakers.

The Arctic might well be a major battleground if there should be another world war, since it offers the shortest route between North America and North-eastern Asia. In case the Cold War gets even colder, therefore, the American Navy is building new ice-breakers, the first of which is twice as powerful as anything known to be afloat—a 3,240-tonner with an all-welded steel hull whose 21,000 horse-power can cut a way through ice twenty feet thick.

What the Russians are building is a secret behind the Iron Curtain. We are, however, forced to believe that their ice-breakers may be just as good, big and many as the ones the U.S. is constructing. After all, it was the Russians who invented the ice-breaker. They really did.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A thought for Education Week, from F. G. B. Carr, a London museum director: "Copying from one book is clearly cribbing; copying from two is research, if you get someone else to do the copying, that's a project".

LIFE AND LETTERS

The Young Writer Today

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

With the accompanying article, Philip Toynbee begins a new fortnightly series that will be very broadly concerned with current books. His object will not be to provide a conventional literary criticism but, rather, to relate books of all kinds and qualites to contemporary interests and contemporay life. He will not necessary choose the "best" books that appear; he may even choose the "worst" if, by their lack of merit, he believes they illustrate some general fault in the thought and feeling of modern society. Approximately he will try to show that books are not something separate from ordinary living, but the products of it and, to some extent, the producers of it.

Toynbee, son of the historan Arnold Toynbee, is thirty-six years old. During the war he served in the British Army's Intelligence Corps, with the Ministry of Economic Warfare, and on the staff of SHAEF (Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force) in France and Belgium. He has already written four novels.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO PRODUCE really good cars is good business, as the makers of Bentley, Rolls Royce and others have triumphantly proved. The attempt to produce really good books is bad business, as any publisher will ruefully admit. This has not always been so, and when we cast our eyes over the great Victorian writers we are also surveying a group of prosperous and successful men. Even the poets became men of substance, and there is no career which better illustrates the solid and tangible rewards of the arts than that of Tennyson.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL THIS has changed in our time, and it is usual now for young writers to complain that talent and honorable intentions are not enough to earn them a living. They often point out that they did well enough during the war, and that their economic conditions have sharply deteriorated since 1945. The depressing truth is that there was an unnatural book boom during the war throughout the belligerent countries, when people were confronted with long and unexpected periods of leisure which had to be filled in one way or another. This gave writers a false sense of security, from which they are painfully recovering only now, eight years after the good period came to an end.

✧ ✧ ✧

AN INTELLIGENT and unembittered young English author writes that "Publishers have been trounced enough for their fundamental cupidity by authors who do not realize that publishers are men of business, not men of letters." This, surely, is the hard, irreducible fact of the situation. However much we may hate the existence of "the market" it is into the world of the market that we have been born. The cruelty of the situation is that the young writer either realises this fact too thoroughly, and writes badly to suit a bad market or else he absurdly and gratuitously defies the taste of the age into which he has been born.

✧ ✧ ✧

"I AGREE," writes Harold Nicolson, English critic, essayist and historian, "that the present phase of disintegrating belief is unpropitious to literature. I agree that the presence of a "Light Programme' (B.B.C. programme catering for popular taste) public is somewhat discouraging. I know that young people have been brought up to regard hope as silly and despair as grand. But the hour must be approaching when writers get bored with disillusion; when they begin to feel that affirmation, as a soil, is richer than denial; when they realise that integration requires more intelligence than analysis; and when they see themselves as the bright harbingers of a romantic revival. Yet if they conceive of their audience as composed either of their own relations, or of the great library public, they will be discouraged from this great adventure."

✧ ✧ ✧

NO WRITER of this generation, now in their early sixties, could be more sympathetic to the young than Mr. Nicolson. Yet he received an instant and angry riposte from a young writer who wrote that "for myself I believe in 'hope and affirmation' as strongly as Mr. Nicolson, but anybody expecting some latter-day Wordsworth to sing 'Bliss was in it that dawn to be alive' about Marshall Aid or N. A. T. O. has hopelessly misjudged the temper of the times, whose keynote is dour determination, not crusading gaiety."

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS IS NOT an English phenomenon alone. A distressed boredom with the heaviness of the times has pervaded the younger generation of writers in many countries. Twenty years ago the young, usually in violent opposition to their governments, had a sense of their own importance, and of their ability to affect contemporary events. Today young writers see colossal juggernaut States rolling against each other; they see society changing or stagnating according to absurd laws of its own, and they lack even the stimulus of rebellion. The existentialist movement in France insists on a sort of despairing individual courage in the face of a world which is impossibly "absurd." This spirit, after the first novelty has evaporated, is not likely to produce a very exuberant literature.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE last two quoted passages exhibit a disagreement on possible moods and tones. Even more severe must be the disagreement, or rather the mutual misunderstanding, on the economics of the writing profession. The two aspects are not easily differentiated, for it is a sad but obvious fact that a man who is paid three guineas for an occasional article has a different, and perhaps a less "affirmative", attitude to life than a novelitst whose books have caught the imagination of the "library public."

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT REMAINS TRUE and depressing is that the serious modern writer does not get the audience which he feels that he deserves. There are also serious, but bewildered, readers who never read the books which they think that they deserve. Some benevolent act of brokerage should be possible here.

An American Opinion: SPEAK ... AND CARRY A BIG STICK

India Shows The Way

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

IT IS NO SECRET that a variety of people in Canada are attracted by the Governor General's suggestion that consideration be given to holding some kind of a Dominion music and arts festival, probably in Ottawa, fashioned along the line of the Edinburgh Festival. It is also no secret that the first problem is to decide who would organize and sponsor such a festival, who would get it going.

It seems to The Journal this reveals again that the time has come when there should be some attempt to create a Federal ministry or academy or institution which either in government or with the aid of government would have as its field of interest the development of all our arts and cultures. It has been recommended for years but it seems to come no closer.

We might take note that in Delhi just this week the President of India is inaugurating a new body created by the Education Ministry to be called the Indian Academy of Dance, Drama and Music. Indian officials here report on the academy as follows:

"The academy will perform manifold functions for stimulating dance, drama and music in India. It will co-operate the activities of regional academies and promote cultural exchanges with other countries. It will encourage the establishment of theatre centres on the basis of regional languages and of institutions for giving training in arts of theatre.

"The academy will seek to promote research in the field of Indian dance, drama and music, and will establish a library and museum for this purpose. It will also publish literature, including reference books, such as illustrated dictionary or handbook of technical terms. Some other important functions of the academy will be to revive and preserve folk dancing and folk music; to sponsor regional and all-India music, dance and drama festivals; to give recognition to Indian artistes by awarding prizes; and to encourage the production of new plays through prizes and awards of distinction.

"In addition to the nominees of the central and state governments the general council of the academy also includes eminent artists nominated by the government of India."

An opportunity for some member of Parliament or senator to take up the challenge and begin a campaign to get Parliament and public attention to Canada's need of some such organization? The facts are known and there are plenty of fancies. And the Massey Commission most clearly recommended creation of a "Canada Council for the encouragement of the arts, letters, humanities and social sciences". It would seem that all that is needed now is a man of vision and energy to assemble the official and popular desires.

Perhaps the Governor General's suggestion for a festival will hasten the establishment of a Canada Council. Certainly the establishment of a Canada Council would facilitate the organization of the festival.

It Could Happen Here!

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

Just as everybody was going around congratulating themselves on a mild Winter, the roof fell in. To the satisfaction of Quebeckers at least, Canada's climate proved over the week-end that it can produce a first-class Winter snowstorm, whether or not it really is growing milder as the years pass. Of course there are those who will sniff that the weekend blow was nothing to the blizzards they remember. Maybe it wasn't but there was plenty of snow flying about and landing where it needed shovelling just the same.

Textile Recovery Remarkable

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

It is heartening to note that the Canadian textile industry is recovering from the slump which had befallen it in mid-1951. Richard Redler points out in the Montreal Financial Times that the upturn is reflected in the employment figures. From a peak of 106,500 in February, 1951, employment in the textile plants had dropped to a low of 82,000 by July, 1952. By last September it had climbed back to 90,000. At the turn of the year it was estimated at 96,000. This is a remarkable recovery, although the latest figure still remains a shade below the postwar average of 100,800 textile workers.

"Is it true that Gladys is going to sue Reggie for breach of promise?"

"She was going to, but she got to know that it wouldn't be worth while."

"No letters, I suppose?"

"It wasn't that. No money. She was on the point of filing a suit when she heard about Reggie pawning one!"

The film magnate wanted one of his stars to accept a reduction in salary, so he said to a junior partner: "You tackle him, Paul. You're better educated than what I am. You can give him a better line of talk than me."

The junior partner went off on his disagreeable job. When he returned, the magnate asked anxiously: "Well, how about it?"

"He acquiesced."

"Did he? The dirty dog!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease. (Matt. 10: 1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come . . . And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name.

And he said unto them, I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven. Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you . . .

In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes: even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight. (Luke 10: 1, 17-19,21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him . . . It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect. (Ps. 18: 30, 32.)

When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? . . Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet. (Ps. 8: 3, 4, 6.)

Scarlet and Gold

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

Khaki uniform for temperate or cold climates is barely fifty years old. Only fairly recently has it entirely replaced scarlet, blue or rifle green which continued to be worn alongside it for other than rough work.

The old army had coloured tunics of fine cloth, with facings and gold lace, stripes of varying width down the leg, gold belts or silk sashes for the officers, spurs for mounted ranks and headdresses in infinite variety. That was for review order, church or certainly for adornment rather than utility.

Then dinner was a parade and officers attended mess in jackets as attractive as, if shorter than their full dress, gold stripes on their overalls and girl spurs. And all the uniform fitted, really fitted.

Now all pretence apart, would not any soldier prefer to cut a dash in martial finery rather than be clad in the uninspiring and generally shapeless garments now ordained?

Matter Of Timing

(Curtis Bok)

In the field of censorship, it is largely a matter of what is agitating society at the moment: freedom of expression is always dimmest in the area of the fighting faiths. Let us not forget that Don Quixote was once burned because of the sentence: "Works of charity negligently performed are of no worth"; that within our lifetime an editor deleted the word "chaste" because it was suggestive; that Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn were once charged with corrupting the morals of children; that Jane Eyre was called too immoral to be ranked with decent literature, the Scarlet Letter a brokerage of lust, Adam Bede the vile outpourings of a lewd woman's mind; and that Walt Whitman lost his government job because of his Leaves of Grass.

GOVERNMENT BIRTHPLACE—Within the walls of this little white house, now strewn with rubble in Kingston, Governor John Graves Simcoe, of Upper Canada, first met with his executive council in 1792. Historic Simcoe House is the birthplace of representative government in Ontario.

Simcoe House Now Stands Empty And Unattended Its Rooms Dark And Musty

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Only rats now live in historic Simcoe House, birthplace of representative government in Upper Canada.

Within the walls of the little white house, now strewn with rubble, Governor John Graves Simcoe of Upper Canada first met with his executive council in 1792.

Many years later Kingston, city with a proud historic background, hailed Simcoe House as a shrine and took steps towards its preservation.

RECORDED ON PLAQUE

A plaque was erected above the doorway now broken and boarded. It read:

"In this house Governor John Graves Simcoe and his executive council met for the first time in 1792 and inaugurated representative government for Upper Canada.

"The house was moved to this site in 1935—its preservation has been made possible by E. Chown and Son Limited—Kingston Historical Society — Kingston Kiwanis Club."

their ancestors, Joseph Valliere.

UNUSUAL CONSTRUCTION

The old house has an ancient and unusual construction. Its But today behind the plaque the rooms of Simcoe House are littered with cardboard cartons, old rags and dirty papers. Sunlight streams through gaping cracks in the roof and the wind whistles through smashed windows.

Harry Hollywood, in charge of the civic skating rink built beside Simcoe House, told a reporter of seeing rats 18 inches long about the house.

As he spoke, a teen-age girl looked in at the doorway and asked: "When are you going to tear this place down? If you don't do it soon it will fall down."

MOVED THREE TIMES

But Simcoe House has an impressive history. R. A. Preston, secretary of the Kingston Historical Society, says the house was one of three brought to Kingston from Carleton Island, at the head of the St. Lawrence river, in 1783. The island was a British base and an attack by United States forces was feared. In Kingston the house was occupied by the garrison commander.

In 1888 the building was moved again to a second site within the city and finally in 1935 it was rolled to its present location—the former Kiwanis Square, a playground for children.

Local historians are "reasonably certain" that the executive council held its first meeting in Simcoe House but one family claims that the property where the first meeting was held was bought by one of beams or joists radiate like the struts in a barn, leaving open spaces which have been filled with rubble and mortar for insulation.

When the Kiwanis Club relinquished its lease on the playground to an oil company, it agreed to undertake movement of the house to a fourth site in Macdonald Park, near Murney Tower. High cost of the move has delayed the project but Kiwanis Club officials say that $1,500 has been set aside for the task and it will be attempted before the spring.

Meanwhile Simcoe House stands empty and unattended. In one of the lower rooms—there are two on the ground floor and three on the second—a colored print of the Fathers of Confederation lies trampled and torn in the dust.

Winter Cooling Mine Fever In New Brunswick

BATHURST, N.B. (CP)—Winter has cooled—but not killed — the mining fever in New Brunswick's northern Gloucester county, and the lure of base metals has drawn prospectors to all but five of the province's 15 counties.

The rush to claim mineral rights followed a January announcement of major lead-zinc-silver pyrite deposits near Bathurst. Hundreds of prospectors, many from other provinces, flocked to the area and housands of claims were staked. The Toronto stock exchange reacted with record volumes of sales led by issues with New Brunswick holdings.

Gloucester county staking continues on a reduced scale, with expectation of a spring upsurge in general mining activity after snow disappears.

A 500-foot shaft has been dug at one site, where miners are "drifting" on three levels to the ore body. Exploratory drilling continues on several other properties while preparation is made for drilling elsewhere.

STAKES ALL OVER

The mining fever reached such a stage that someone drove claim stakes on every tee and down every fairway of the Campbellton Golf Club. The staking, it turned out, was by a syndicate led by a club director and including several club members. The club has received legal advice that the claims may be invalidated if it can be shown the golf course comes under the category of "cleared land."

New Brunswick government officials have been cautious in their few official comments. A mines department official warned against optimism from the fact that prospectors are busy in 10 counties.

"Ninety per cent of them might find something worthwhile," he said. "Then again, 90 per cent of them might not find anything."

In his recent budget speech in the legislature, Hon. D. D. Patterson, provincial secretary-treasurer referred to the January announcement "of what is reputed to be a new important mining discovery" in the Bathurst area.

"There would seem little doubt that this development may be the spark to usher in a new era for New Brunswick," he added.

Recent staking includes nearly 500 claims in 28 square miles, the nearest about 40 miles from the Bathurst mining area. Eight companies, some well known in Canadian mining, are among those entering the field.

Companies with interests in Gloucester county include O'Leary, Malartic, Conwest, Roche Long Lac Noranda, F. W. Connell of Toronto and N. A. Timmins Corporation, Montreal. Groups headed by M. J. Boylen, Toronto, control sites named Brunswick, New Larder U and Keymet.

BELLIGERENT PHEASANT—Milkman Jack Crawford, of Weymouth, Mass., uses a carrier rack as a shield against attack from a pheasant that rushed out of nearby woods and tries to peck at him. For some unexplained reason, the bird chases all milkmen, but not mailmen or salesmen. And the hunting season can't come too soon for Crawford who becomes a target as soon as he parks his truck.

Found Partly Frozen, Watchman Said Better

STRATFORD (CP)—Found partially frozen in a three-foot ditch, Ormey Walker, 63-year-old night watchman, was reported improved in hospital here Tuesday.

He apparently slipped into the ditch, laced with barbed wire, while making his rounds at the Canadian Comstock Company here. When found Monday he was in a semi-conscious condition with his arms and legs frozen.

CALGARY (CP)—A prefabricated house complete with bathroom accompanied E. A. M. Vossen when he came to Calgary from Holland. The three-bedroom house cost $5,000 in Holland and transportation costs ran to about $1.200.

So we bought our "fridge" at the B of M...

My, how I wanted that thing. I got to dreaming about it and calling it "our refrigerator", though it still sat in the shop window. We saw it every Saturday night in the Acme Hardware as we walked home from the movies.

John said we couldn't afford it, and was dead-set against selling our one remaining bond or drawing on Aunt Jean's $200 inheritance we had tucked away in a special savings account to be forgotten except in absolute emergency.

"But, John," I wailed, "we can't go on losing food with that old worn-out fridge. And what about the repair bills you have to pay for it every few weeks?"

He just bit his lip.

That was two weeks ago.

* * *

Funny how things happen. Next day I read an item in one of those women's columns about "borrowing and saving" by Personal Planning at the Bank of Montreal. It was about a situation sort of like our own.

So into the local B of M branch I went. Showed the Manager the clipping from the paper, told him our situation exactly, and in ten minutes he said he thought we could work out the problem without too much trouble. He asked me to bring John in to discuss the full details. As we walked out of his office, he gave me a copy of "Personal Planning".

That book opened our eyes about our finances.

The very next day John and I saw Mr. Easton, the Manager. After a few questions to my husband about his job, his salary — about our bond and our "emergency" bank balance, he said he'd be glad to lend us the $350 needed for the fridge. He was satisfied we could pay off the loan in a year at $30 a month, and we arranged to transfer our special savings account to his office and to pledge our bond until the loan was paid.

Mr. Easton talked over the budget-plan John and I had begun to work out . . . said we were starting out right. "Even though you've got a bank loan," he smiled, "you're really saving your savings."

And that fridge . . . such a beauty. Already, John and I both call it "MY BANK".

Saving is the only way to move ahead of your worries, and stay ahead. And — sometimes — borrowing at the B of M is the best way to save. Find out how to save despite today's high prices. Ask for your copy of "Personal Planning" at your neighborhood B of M branch. It's yours for the asking.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The sanction of the Canadian Water Ski Association has come through for the newly-formed Peterborough Water Sik Association to hold the Ontario closed ski championships here Aug. 8-9. Local officials still have to obtain civic permission for this aquatic event. While it is usually confined to skiers of the province, the okay has arrived to include USA bona-fide residents, and judges will be appointed by the CWSA president, George Duthie, who is in charge of CNE athletics. Those winning championships here take part in the CNE Canadian competitions later in the summer, and possibly the world championships, too. The local organization is open to all interested from city and district.

* * * * * *

Water ski officers here are: President, Terry Hill; vice-prevy, Mrs. Norma Gordon; secretary-treasurer, Doug Laird; managing director, Alf Pink; membership director, Bill Thompson; director at large, Herb Knox. These were chosen by the association directors, who were elected at an open meeting recently. When local civic permission is received to stage the summer weekend meet, the executive will proceed with plans for it. Previous aquatic exhibitions held at Little Lake have proven popular with huge crowds present, and these water ski championships should go over big.

Petes In Post-Season Set

The puck-chasing Petes are primed for their post-season OHA series with Cobourg, first game being here tomorrow night. They return to the lakeshore centre Monday or Tuesday. Quite a number of group runners-up in intermediate and senior ranks entered this new series, and 'twas thought first that Orillia and Petes might meet up this way. However, Orillia withdrew and Cobourg was drawn to meet the Petes first in the Central Ontario area. This gives hockey fans of these towns a chance to see some more ice action ere spring really arrives. Petes plan to ice a full squad squad against the bolstered Cobourg team, which performs under playing coach Jim Munroe, former starry senior defenceman with the Eagles.

Though March 17th is a little way off yet, the local Shamrocks plan to continue their OMHA celebration in bantam "A" playdowns. After ousting Oshawa handily, they moved into Belleville the other eve and won 12-7 to tote a five-goal lead into the return match with the Quinte crew at seven tonight in Civic Arena. Pat Doherty coaches the Shamrocks, and the team might go quite a distance along the provincial playdown path this month. The game is followed by the return midget melee between Kingston and Joe Rochetta's local Aces, and it also ought to be a fine fray. The Peterborough boys' teams played before 800 fans here last start, and hope to fill the rink for their important twin bill tonight.

High Jinks By Big Hi Lee

Da Preem was never a fast man in the mitt ring and he isn't in the mat game today, but he's a huge guy, and he wrestled another giant here last p.m. in Hi Lee. It would be hard to find two bigger grapplers on the continent today in the same ring— men whose weight doesn't show around the middle. The former heavyweight fight champion won the main bout over Lee when Hi took a leaf from the book of Carnera and tossed a few punches at Referee Bert Maxwell. Bert didn't go for that, so he disqualified Lee. Then Primo tore after Hi and pounded him down just to make sure he was well beaten. Larry Moquin and Steve Stanlee served up a piping hot semi-final which went to a draw. Two bald gees, named Firpo Szybsko and Hardy Kruskamp, met in the prelim and Firpo won. Him, Firpo and Carnera— sounds like Old Fighters' Night, eh?

Petes' senior lacrosse club has posted its bond with the OLA for entry in 1953, and several other clubs are definitely in now. Rest should be in at a weekend meeting in Mimico. A recent CP dispatch said that Nanaimo Clippers of the British Columbia senior loop had signed a playing coach and six players from Ontario. Coach is Jack Gair of Hamilton, but no definite word has been released on the players, one being from Peterborough, two from Mimico and one each from Brantford, Brampton, Toronto Yorks. Brantford writer wonders what player from there is going west, saying: "It boils down to Arn Dugan, Ross Powless or Roger Smith." All three are on the local list. Dugan and Jake Wade are through for the season since Owen Sound erased Brantford.

Nardico Gets Lumps Losing To Pal Joey

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Joey Maxim, a cutie from the old school, gave Tampa's Danny Nardico an early boxing lesson Wednesday night but had to get off the deck from a seventh-round knockdown to win a unanimous 10-round decision at Miami Stadium. Maxim weighed 183½. Nardico 176½.

A right hand bomb by Nardico dumped Maxim on the floor for the first time in many a year toward the end of the seventh round after he had been teaching Nradico the art of the left jab. Pal Joey popped up about four but had to take the automatic eight-count. He held on to weather the storm that was Nardico's only threat.

Dr. Clark Wins Neill Trophy Over Harrison

In a well-played game Dr. R. Clark's rink came through to win the Neil Trophy 8-7 from Bert Harrison's rink. It was a close-hitting game, and was witnessed by a fair crowd. Clark was one down coming home, but made a beautiful takeout shot to lie two and win the game.

It will be J. Adams and F. Hollowell for the final for the Neill Consolation event.

First and Neill Trophy—G. G. Graham, P. A. Moore, B. W. Switzer, Dr. R. Clark, skip.

Runners-up—E. S. Poast, J. P. Watts F. Allison, B. Harrison, skip.

Today is the draw for the Sturgeon Trophy. It commences on Saturday evening.

Buffalo Defeats Providence 6-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons, the "never-say-die" club of the American Hockey League, defeated Providence Reds 6-4 Wednesday night and just about wiped out all hopes the Reds had of getting in the playoffs.

Th clubs traded goals in the first period. The Bisons broke the game up in the second session with three markers.

Cal Mackay paced the winners with two goals. Other Buffalo marksmen were Bob Fryday, Jim Conacher, Gene Achtymichuk and Lorne Davis.

Alf Baccari, with two, Barry Sullivan and Paul Gladu tallied for the losers.

Cleveland Barons shaded Syracuse Warriors 2-1. The victory gave league-leading Cleveland a four-point edge over second-place Pittsburgh Hornets.

Harry Pidhirny opened the scoring for Syracuse in the first period but two goals by Steve Wochy and Glen Sonmor were enough for the Barons' win.

Sandwich Gobbled In Senior B Playoffs

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Sarnia Kellan's Admirals defeated Sandwich East Hawks 13-5 Wednesday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior B round-robin playoff tilt at Windsor Arena.

Victory was the second for the Admirals while Sandwich East has yet to score a victory in the three-entry series.

Don Savage led the Sarnia attack with four goals. Dick Bestard, Jack McKenley, Harry Mosienko and Leo Houlihan each scored twice and Ben McCall added a single.

Chatham Golds is the third entry in the series.

SPLIT CLASS AA PACE

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Gaiety from the H and B Stables of Norwich divided Wednesday's featured pace at Dufferin Park with Canada Direct, owned by Ed Birtch of Smiths Falls. Vic Lutman handled Canada Direct who splashed to victory in the opening heat of the class AA event. Bill Harvey drove Mr. Gaiety in the closing heat.

WANDERER AT REST—Max Bentley, 33, centre-ice star of the Toronto Maple Leafs, rests at home in Deslisle, Sask., recuperating from his recent illness, with his wife Betty and their dog Shopsy. Bentley left the team last week. He said he would return for the playoffs if the Leafs wanted him and "when I feel good enough to play—and play a lot." He is suffering from a cold and a recurring back injury which has kept him out of play much of the season

Aitken Orfuns' President No Coach Appointed Yet

By DON GRANT

Peterborough Orfuns took the first step in their plans to make Peterborough once more a leading football centre in Ontario by electing Wednesday a strong executive to head the team during the 1953 season.

The 1952 executive and supporters returned Dr. Donald Aitken as president. He'll be helped by newcomer Gordon McGavin, a former Winnipeg football booster, who'll act as vice-president.

Once again Dr. Wilfred Preston will be club secretary and Denny Fitzgerald club treasurer, both returned by acclamation. Committee chairmen will be: ground and minor football, Stan McBride; medical care, Dr. Les Calvert; insurance, Bill Shadgett; schedules and games, Dr. Ralph Smythe; publicity, Bud La Branche; ORFU-CRU relations and Booster Club, Dr. Aitken.

This year the club will have two managers, Gord Beatty and Wally Farr. Beatty has officially retired from playing and his duties as team manager will be with the coach and players while veteran Farr will purchase equipment and organize a quarterback club.

Besides these a large number of Peterborough men have signified their intentions to support the club throughout the season by helping on various committees.

Who will coach the club is still not decided. The Orfuns are still attempting to bring back former coach, Frank Gnup, last year with Brantford Redskins in the senior ORFU. They've also been negotiating with Wally Masters, former Ottawa Roughrider mentor, and American players, just in case Gnup declines.

The next large undertaking will be the annual banquet which will be held March 12 at Club Aragon. Then about 150 players and supporters will officially end the 1952 season and start this year's. No speaker has been decided upon but the club is attempting to bring a well-known player or coach for the occasion.

Dr. Aitken announced that the trophy to be awarded to the Eastern Canada intermediates champions will be ready soon, probably this week. It has been named after former player, Earl (Doc) Spencley, killed while working as a volunteer at the Zacks building fire. The Orfuns, Eastern Canada champions, will be the first trophy holders.

Aces Defeat Kingston, 6-3 In First Of Midget Series

Peterborough Aces defeated Kingston midgets 6-3 in Kingston last night in the first game of their home-and-home OMHA midget "A" playdown series. The decision gives Joe Rochetta's local team a three-goal margin for their return match at 8:30 in Civic Arena here this evening. They play the second part of a twin bill, Belleville and the Peterborough Shamrocks clashing at seven. The Aces roared in from the start and took a 2-1 lead in the first period. After a scoreless 2nd stanza, Aces counted three more before Kingston got untracked to tally twice, and then the visitors banged in the final marker of the game. Play was generally clean and quite fast throughout, both goalies kicking aside a flock of hot shots.

STARTED IT OFF

Howland scored from Roy and Murphy for Kingston to start things off in the initial inning. Rich Brown evened it up later on a neat solo effort, and Terry Doris gave Peterborogh a lead on a fine passing play with Bill Godfrey. Doris, Paul Murphy and Pete Heffernan all clicked in the first five minutes of the third period, neither side being able to dent the goalies' armor in the middle heat. Burnett and Brown of Kingston whittled the count halfway through with tidy tallies, Ball setting up each play. Then Ferren whacked home the last counter from Don Chambers with six minutes left to go.

The Kingston boys tried hard and only good goaltending by Hickson kept them from hitting the rigging more often. All the Aces went well in this opener of the second playdown round, Aces having previously ousted Oshawa in a keen series. Teams:

Aces: Goal, Hickson; defence, Forestell and Baker; centre, Kane; wings, Heffernan and Floyd; alternates, Doris, Godfrey, Chambers, Rusaw, Murphy, Ferren, Brown and Nash.

Kingston: Goal, O'Neill; defence, McIntosh and Hampton; centre, Ball; wings, Sanderson and Burnett; alternates, Brown, Miller, Haggerty, Roy, Murphy, Robb, Hawkins, St. Remig, Howland and VanHoose.

Referees—Scrutton and Post.

First Game Margin Enables Marines To Win Cage Series

An eight-point lead carried over from the first game saved Doug MacPherson's Marines Wednesday night in their intermediate "B" basketball series with Oshawa Grads. The Marines lost the second game of the two-game points-to-count series, 67-65, but thanks to the eight-point margin from Saturday's 76-68 win won the round 141-135.

MacPherson's cagers will now enter the third round of the Ontario playdowns, meeting the Toronto district champions. The first game will be played Saturday in Toronto and the second back in Peterborough a week Saturday.

The Marings counted largely upon an excellent foul shooting to win the series. With the Grads leading in the game and on the round in the final minutes, the Marines' Ted Payne and Gord Burns sank foul shots to give the Marines the series.

Without their fast break, which was stemmed mostly by heady Pat Sheenan of the Grads, the Marines fell behind 19-13 at the quarter, then 40-33 at the half and finally 58-42 at three-quarters.

But personal fouls hit the Grads badly in the late stages of the third and in the fourth. At the same time the Marines switched to man-to-man defence, tying the Grads' offence, resulting in quick breaks for points.

Finally with two minutes to go and Oshawa up two points on the round (10 on the game), Ted Payne sank two fouls. Gord Burns sank two more and a field basket. Those points gave the Marines the series.

Both quintets recorded excellent foul shooting. The Marines made no less than 33 points out of their total 65 on foul shooting; they missed only 33 free throws. The Grads meanwhile made 24 free throws and missed only 19.

Just as the Marines suffered from personal fouls Saturday, the Grades lost Sheenan, Mroczek and Perry in the third quarter and Reddoch and Booth in the fourth with five personal fouls. The Marines once again lost Ab Stewart in the third and Hugh Dibben in the fourth.

Despite the strict refereeing by Howard Hempstead and Bob Dell, Marines' manager praised their work after the game. He said they were "good and square" adding that the Marines were well satisfied with their officiating.

Bill Edger again paced the Marines, this time more on set shots rather than his usual fast breaks, for 18 points. Gord Burns scored 11, mostly on fouls, and Ab Stewart 10. Dibben besides scoring nine, mostly on fouls, was outstanding on the rebounds.

Sheenan's long shots, well outside the Marines' zone defence, was the main difference between the teams in the first half. Besides breaking the Marines' zones that way, he scored a total of 12 points. Hill led the Grads with 13, also on long shots.

Lineups:

Oshawa Grads (67)— Riseborough, Reddoch 6, Gingerich 8, Mroczek 8, Wilson, Booth 10, Perry 4, Sheenan 12, Edwards 6, Hill 13, Patte, Ross.

Marines (65) Dibben 9, Frise, Northcott 8, Edger 18, Stewart 10, Burns 11, Payne 6, Gillespie 3, MacPherson.

Flyers Require Overtime To Edge Dukes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It wasn't as easy as the experts predicted when the three-favored Ontario Hockey Association Junior A teams Wednesday night won their first rounds of the playoffs.

It took Barrie Flyers an overtime period on home ice to defeat Toronto Marlboros 2-1 and Galt Black Hawks also needed overtime to down the visiting Oshawa Generals 5-4. Toronto St. Michael's, under less pressure, won 4-1 from St. Catharines Teepees in regulation time at Toronto.

Barrie now has a 1-0 lead in its best-of-seven semi-final series with Marlboros and St. Michael's and Galt have 1-0 leads in their best-of-five quarter-finals.

FIRST IN SECOND

After a scoreless first period in Barrie Billy Harris sent Marlboros ahead 1-0 at the eight-minute mark of the second. Little Tony Poeta tied the game for Flyers in the third. Don McKenney fired the winner one minute before the end of the overtime period. The Dukes play the Flyers in Toronto Saturday in the second game.

In Toronto, neither team scored in the first period. St. Michael's was ahead 3-1 by the end of the second and added another in the last. Captain Bill Dineen paced the Collegians with two goals. The others were by Ed Plata and Jack Caffery. St. Catharines broke Ed Chadwick's shutout when Brian Cullen scored in the second St. Catharines travels to Toronto for the second game Sunday.

TOSS-UP

Until Ken Wharram's overtime goal won for the Black Hawks, the game against Oshawa was a toss-up Rick Collin sent the Generals into a 1-0 first-period lead but John Muckler and Minnie Menard put Galt ahead. Oshawa again pulled ahead in the second when Bob Mader scored two and Bob Attersley one. Frank Bonello pulled the Flyers to within one goal of Generals. In the third period Menard slammed in his second of the night to tie it up for Hawks. In the extra period, Wharram scored the winning goal. Oshawa will be the scene of the second game Saturday.

Trojans Win, 26-24 Over Cage Penguins

Don Woods threw in a one-hand push shot through the hoop with just eigth seconds left to play at the YM last night to give Trojans a 26-24 "Y" house league basketball win over the Penguins. It was a keen contest throughout, just a tossup to the final whistle as both teams clicked all the way. Dawes of Peguins drew four personal fouls.

Trojans led 11-9 in the first quarter and it was 11-11 at the half. Groves accounted for nine of the Trojans' points to them, and Pearton two. For Penguins, Thompson was good for five, Hurley four, as Wyatt and Fowler each sank free throws.

It was nip-and-tuck through the last two quarters, with Woods' late basket spelling the difference. Ryonin led in the last half with five points for Trojans, as Baker got four, Groves three, Wood two and Pearton one. Thompson again sparked Penguins with five points Dawes tallying four, and Outram and Fowler two each. Teams:

Penguins: Thompson, O'Conner, Dawes, Hurley, Outram, Wyatt, Fowler.

Trojans: Pearton, Wood, Groves, Ryonin, Baker, Ibey, White.

Primo Carnera The Victor Over Towering Hi Lee In Main Grapple Bout

Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, used his fists to advantage at the Brock Arena last night to win the main mat bout over rough Hi Lee in a battle of the giants. Both towered far above six feet and both weighed nearly 100 pounds more than a husky 200-pound policeman, yet both were in good condition, especially the flat-stomached Lee. A big crowd turned out for the tussle, despite icy streets and sidewalks, and they saw two real lively bouts as prelims, with an interesting but slower main tilt as the big men depended more on their strength than agility. Lee was 297 pounds and Carnera 268, both going above the six-six height mark.

LEE WON FIRST

Lee won the first fall in 14 minutes with some of his well-known skull-duggery. He pinned the big Italian in 14 minutes with two rolling choke holds off the ropes after first hanging Carnera in the ropes and rasping his eyes. Earlier he got away with some hair-pulling for a time, though Referee Bert Maxwell kept things pretty well under control. Primo was slow but used his fistic ring lore at times to fake Lee out of position and throw the odd hard punch to the chops. The shaggy-maned Lee was unpopular with the fans as usual.

Carnera didn't waste much time in evening things up, downing Lee in five minutes when he caught Hi coming off the ropes with a sharp right hook to the jaw. Primo promptly falling on his prostrate foe as the crowd cheered. Da Preem came out of his corner fighting and threw some elbow smashes and tossed Lee with slams but later the heavier Arkansas grappler crowded the ex-fighter to the floor and worked on him before Primo regained his feet and took to the punches.

LEE DISQUALIFIED

The final fall came in just under seven minutes with Referee Bert Maxwell disqualifying Lee for slugging the ref as the latter twice tried to loosen Carnera from a hangman's hold in the hemp. The enraged Italian, after the bout ended, tore after Lee with his fists swinging and slugged him to the floor to pin him again for sure. Before that, Primo had Hi pinned firmly in a hard body-scissors, but the wily Lee worked out of it with screened punches to the midriff and choke holds. Primo then tossed him with slams till Lee worked his rival to the ropes and hung him up, knocking the ref aside twice when Maxwell tried to break it up.

Larry Moquin, 220, and the 235-pound Steve Stanlee in the semi-final staged a better bout than the final. It went to a time-limit draw and the fans yelled almost continuously through the fast stepping dished up by this pair. Stanlee was his strutting self and had a barrel of illegal ring tactics, but Moquin erupted in spots in his colorful fashion to even things up. There was plenty of mat work and also the wide-open catch-as-catch can stuff used in modern pro grappling. Each in turn tricked Maxwell into thinking the other was using the ropes for leverage, and each pulled the illegal throat scissors Stanlee twice threw Moquin through the ropes, but later Larry chased the villainous blond through the strands and went after him. Moquin's fists (beating a hot tattoo on Mr. America) bothered Stanlee, but the latter always came back with some more mat tricks to keep it hot and even.

Two baldies, Hardy Kruskamp (scaling 221) and 240-pound Firpo Szybsko—sporting a handle-bar moustache—served up a lively prelim. Hardy had to concede the fall in 22 minutes as the Polack clamped an iron curtain bearhug on him. Firpo played it rough to give his hairless opponent quite a beating for a space, but the other revived and they showed plenty for a time, using flying tackles to open it up, with Szybsko leaning a lot on the ropes. The fans seemed to like this match, but felt the wrong guy won.

C's Win Again In TVL Final Over Marmora

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)— Five goals in the first period, while the visitors were held scoreless, proved sufficient to give Campbellford their second straight victory in the best of four-of-seven series with Marmora in TVL Northend Division championship series in the local arena Wednesday night. The home team chalked at 7-4 win over Marmora who finished the regular schedule on top of the heap.

Campbellford nosed out Marmora 6-5 in the series opener in Marmora Monday night. A capacity attendance of over 1,000 fans jammed the Community Arena to see these two rivals in another classic.

The game was played on sticky ice, which somewhat hampered passing plays of both squads. It was not until early in the second period that Marmora pierced goalie Nelson's armour. In the final act, the vistors struck again but were unable to prevent Campbellford sharpshooters from matching their two early goals in this last stanza. A late goal by Doran of Marmora ended the scoring.

Referees Carson and Fitzpatrick, who handled the action very satisfactorily found it unnecessary to levy any trips to the cooler until the third period when a few timely sentences kept the game well in hand.

Campbellford—Goal, Nelson; defence Free, Baker; centre, Eady; wings, Craig, Payne; alternates, Blake, Herrington, Cole, Simpson, Jeffs, Wilson, Pace, Taylor.

Marmora—Goal, Killian; defence, Trumble, E. Leonard; centre, Doran; wings, K. Trumble, Lavender; alternates, Darrah, Maynes, D. Smith, Jones, Mantle, Stewart, Doyle, Gray.

Summary:

Asphodel Victorious In First Of Playoffs

NORWOOD— (ENS)— Tuesday night Asphodel and Downer's Corners had the first of their playoff games in the Norwood arena. The game resulted in a 17-2 victory for Asphodel. It looked like Asphodel's goalie, H. Stinson was going to have a shutout in the first two periods, but G. Barker and R. Clancy came up with two goals for Downer's Corners in the third period. D. Fredericks and E. Van Volkenburg for Asphodel both counted three goals, while L. Peoples, A. Wilford, N. Rogers and R. Horne counted two apiece. D. Smith, G. Coughlin, L. Wrightly each scored one. Though the game was fast and rough in spost referee C. Lobb handed out only six penalties, four to Asphodel.

Teams:

Downer's Corners: goal, H. McNab; R. Clancy, B. Humphries, G. Barker, K. Barker, B. McIlmoyle, K. Burns, J. Burns, M. Killen. S. Hall, R. Thomas.

Asphodel: goal, H. Stinson, R. Horne, L. Wrightly, G. Coughlin, D. Fredericks, L. Peoples, O. Brown, H. Walford, N. Rogers, A. Buck, E. Van Volkenburg, D. Rusaw, H. Mathews.

Chihawks Rout Rangers 4-1 Grab Third Place By Point

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks grabbed possession of third place Wednesday night, routing the tail-end New York Rangers 4-1, but their position may be only temporary as all National Hockey League teams see action tonight. The Black Hawks have a scant one-point lead over the idle Toronto Maple Leafs, whom they meet at Chicago in one of three games tonight.

In the other games, Detroit Red Wings, who are almost assured of the championship, will play the Rangers at Detroit. The second-place Montreal Canadiens will go against the Bruins, who are fifth, at Boston.

SCORES TWO

Jim McFadden led Chicago's attack against New York with two second-period markers, giving the Black Hawks a 4-0 lead. Bill Mosienko and Gus Bodnar counted in the opening period. Rookie Ron Murphy robbed Chicago goalie Al Rollins of a shutout about midway through the final period.

Only 4,372 fans saw the game.

With Detroit safely in first spot with 77 points and the Canadiens holding second comfortably with 69, tonight's NHL spotlight will be on the next three teams, whose positions are separated by only three points.

The last-place Rangers appear to be out of it.

Toronto has 58 points and will be gunning to overtake the Black Hawks. In the event the Maple Leafs lose, the fifth-place Bruins are in position to advance into a tie for fourth place with Toronto.

Sharkey Seriously Ill Not Told Of Pal's Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sailor Tom Sharkey, once the keenest ring rival of James J. Jeffries and later his closest pal, is seriously ill in hospital here.

So ill, in fact, he has not been advised of the death of Jeffries Tuesday night. The full significance of the demise of the old champion possibly would not be clear to Sharkey.

Sharkey will be 80 next Nov. 26.

Sailor Tom is still fighting the battle of life but in a feeble way. He entered the hospital last August, a penniless oldster who asked no favors. Financial aid from friends came in and it brought cheer to the man who gave big Jeff his two toughest fights

RIDERS GET WILLIAMS

REGINA (CP)—Stan Williams, two-way end with Dallas Texans last season, will play his football with Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union in 1953. The signed contract of the 26-year-old Williams, highly-recommended by Jack Russell, former star Rider end who left the Saskatchewan club to become line coach at Baylor University, arrived here Tuesday night.

Fourth Seeded Players Lose In Only Badminton Upsets

TORONTO (CP)—Fourth-seeded Bruce Benham and Dave McTaggart of Vancouver were eliminated from men's doubles play Wednesday night in the only upset of opening day at the Canadian badminton championships.

The Vancouverites, pre-match favorites to advance easily into the third round, were beaten 15-9, 15-12 by P. Ferguson and G. Conwath of Woodstock.

Otherwise, the seeded players led the way in all events.

The top-seeded singles stars—Don Smythe of Toronto, Darell Thompson and McTaggart of Vancouver, and Gordon Simpson of Montreal got through the first round on byes, then moved without trouble through the second and third.

Others who advanced into the fourth-round quarter-finals are Vancouverites John Bouck and Benham, Jack Muir and Bev Westcott of Toronto.

Two rounds of women's singles were completed, reducing the field of 30 to eight. Top-seeded Marge Shedd of Toronto and Clare Lovett, Joan Bardsley and Lois Reid of Vancouver all qualified without difficulty.

Others who advanced to the quarter-finals were Helen Doig and Norma McKean of Montreal; and Doreen Walker and Joan Hennessy of Toronto.

Marjorie Mapp of Montreal, last year's women's singles champion, did not enter the 1953 competition.

Ferguson was defeated in the third round of men's singles by G. Simpson of Montreal, 15-8, 15-3. H. Ransom of Woodstock went out to D. Smith of Toronto in the first round, 15-9, 14-18, 15-9.

F. Cartmell of Niagara Falls, Ont., won his first-round match from B. Jackson of Calgary, 15-6, 15-12.

In the third round of men's doubles, R. Smith and T. Pollock, Woodstock, defeated A. Phillips and T. Mathews, Winnipeg, 15-10, 15-2. Ferguson and Conwath lost to T. Elliot and B. McNight, Saint John, N.B., 15-6, 15-12 in the same round.

In the second round of women's singles, D. Walker, Toronto, defeated A. Hepworth, Woodstock, 11-9, 11-5.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Charlie Conacher practically clinched the National Hockey League scoring championship 18 years ago tonight when he scored three of Toronto's 10 goals against Montreal Canadiens. Conacher wound up the 1934-35 season with 57 points on 36 goals and 21 assists for his second consecutive scoring championship.

Manitoba Rink Unbeaten After 6 Rounds

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

SUDBURY (CP) — The curling history of 15 years ago is repeating.

In 1938 a little-known skip named Ab. Gowanlock brought a small-town rink from Glenboro, Man., to Winnipeg, won the provincial championship and for the first time took a non-Winnipeg crew to the Canadian curling championships.

That rink won the Canadian title, top event of the bonspiel season, in nine straight games.

This year, Gowanlock, now well-known, brought another small-town rink, this time from Dauphin, to the Manitoba championships, won, and came here to try for Manitoba's 14th victory in the event, now in its 24th year.

Ab, now 52, has a young rink and in pre-spiel speculation was expected to be among the contenders. Living up to predictions, the Dauphin four have won six straight games. Around bonspiel headquarters, Gowanlock is touted to win his second personal victory.

If he does, it will also be Manitoba's second victory in a row.

COOL SKIP

Gowanlock, one of the coolest skips in the game, piloted his rink to two close victories Wednesday.

In the morning fifth round the Manitoba crew edged Reg Stone's BC foursome 10-9 while at night he led them to a 12-9 win over Ontario, which for a time appeared as if it might be the spoiler of the round-robin event.

Manitoba won the morning game when Gowanlock threw in a perfect draw shot in the 12th end with the score 10-8, knocking out one Trail stone and holding the BC count to one.

In the evening round a blowup by the Chatham, Ont., crew in the middle ends gave Gowanlock the break he needed. The Ontario rink missed several knockout shots in the seventh, eighth and ninth, and Gordon Gilbert, vice-skip who shoots last, missed draw shots which had been sliding in perfectly earlier in the day.

The up-and-coming crew from Wednesday's play was the Montreal St. George's rink skipped by Ken Weldon, representing Quebec. They racked up two victories to give them a 4-1 record and shove them into second place.

QUEBEC WINS

In the morning the Weldon quartet knocked off Northern Ontario 7-5, the win coming in the last end. Going into the 12th the score was tied 5-5. Quebec had two in when Grant Watson, the Port Arthur skip, missed a draw shot which gave the round to the Montreal aggregation.

It was as close at night when the Quebec team came out on top of a 10-9 score with Len Haw's Calgary lads, representing Alberta, who lost 10-8 to Ontario in the afternoon.

In the night's sixth round the Weldon team steadied down and gave the Alberta crew a real battle. A two count in each of the eighth, ninth and 11th put the Montreal four into contention for the championship.

Two games—one in the fifth and another in the sixth round—required an extra end.

At night the British Columbia-Nova Scotia game went into the 13th with the score tied 8-8. Reg Stone, skillful B.C. skip, drew to four stones in the ring and made it for a one-point margin and a 9-8 victory.

THROUGH HOUSE

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island had put on practically the same show in the afternoon. Tied 8-8, New Brunswick had two in the house and Frank Acorn, the Charlottetown skip, missed his shot. It went through the house giving the Moncton rink a 10-8 win.

Saskatchewan split the day's play easily winning the sixth-round match with New Brunswick 17-6. But in the morning they lost to Barney Haines, the veteran skip from Bridgewater, N.S., in the last end.

Newfoundland had the afternoon bye, but in the sixth round lost its fifth straight game to Northern Ontario 10-16. Going into the final end, it was 16-4. Then Newfoundland, with the Port Arthur boys coasting, had six in the house after the final rock was tossed. PEI had the bye in the evening draw.

CHAMPIONS IN ACTION—For the first time since the Canadian curling championships began in 1927, Northern Ontario is host to the curlers. Eleven rinks are competing in the $1,500,000 civic arena at Sudbury, Ont., where play is shown under way. The arena was opened in the fall of 1951 for skating and this is the first time it has been used for curling.

Here And There In Sports

NHL DRAWS MORE FANS

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League announced Wednesday that after 178 games of the 210-game schedule, attendance shows an increase of 107,000—about 6½ per cent—compared with the same period last year.

Chicago had the largest increase, 86,000. New York was the only city showing a decrease, about 25,000.

Total attendance for each city was announced. Attendance at Montreal and Toronto was reported just about the same. Increases, in round figures, for cities in addition to Chicago are: Boston, 33,000; Detroit, 11,000.

NORTOWN TRI-BELLS WIN

TORONTO (CP)—Nortown Tri-Bells defeated Young Men's Hebrew Association 76-47 Wednesday night in the first game of a best-of-three series for the Toronto basketball championship. Winner will advance into the Southern Ontario finals against Tillsonburg Livingstons or Windsor Alumnis.

✦ ✦ ✦

ESKIES SIGN MORRIS

EDMONTON (CP) — Defensive guard Frankie Morris has been signed to a 1953 contract, Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced Wednesday. Morris came to Eskimos in 1950 after being with Toronto Argos from 1945 to 1949, during which time he helped them to three Grey Cup triumphs.

3-WAY FILM OF FIGHT

NEW YORK (AP)—The Jersey Joe Walcott - Rocky Marciano heavyweight title fight in Chicago April 10 will be filmed in three dimensions. The announcement was made jointly Wednesday by Jim Norris, president of the promoting International Boxing Club, and William G. Heineman, vice-president of United Artists.

Malaria Control

NEW DELHI, India (CP)—The Indian government is launching a national malaria control scheme in co-operation with the state governments and UN technical experts. Under the plan 75 control units will be set up, each protecting about 1,000,000 persons.

29 Sport Stars Dinner Guests For Seal Drive

TORONTO (CP)—Nineteen old-time and modern stars from 10 sports make up the list of notables for tonight's second annual sports celebrities dinner of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association.

Proceeds of the $25-a-plate dinner which serves as an opening publicity kick-off for the country-wide Easter seals campaign, go to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Revenue is expected to be about $15,000. At its first dinner the association raised $10,820.

Emphasis in the guest list is on the old stars. Among them are George Goulding of Toronto and Bill Sherring of Hamilton, track stars early in the century. Another is Willie Hoppe, for many years world billiards king.

Three old hockey stars will be on hand: Frank Nighbor, the Pembroke Peach whose deft poke-check contributed to success of the old Ottawa Senators in the National Hockey League and the former National Hockey Association; and defenceman Ching Johnson and left wing Busher Jackson, members of The Canadian Press NHL all-star team of 1931-32.

Other guests are: Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion; George Selkirk, George Toporcer and George McQuinn from baseball; Otto Graham of Cleveland Browns and Vince Mazza of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, football stars; Ernie Howard of Toronto who, 10 days ago, became the first Canadian to win the United States squash championship; Bobby Pearce, Joe Wright, Jr., and Jack Guest, Sr., Canada's three living Diamond Sculls winners; Marshall Cassidy, leading New York Racing official; Horton Smith, head of the Professional Golfers Association of the U. S.

Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener golfer who was chosen by the association as Ontario's outstanding athlete of 1952, will receive a plaque commemorating the award.

Seated among the guests will be 12-year-old Bruce McGregor, this year's "Timmy," symbol of the drive for funds for crippled children. Bruce, who comes from Vernonville, about 70 miles east of Toronto, won a five-year fight against paralysis.

WHALE OF A CATCH—Mrs. John Chambers holds her world record 11-pound, three-ounce bonefish caught at Whale Bay in Bermuda after a 40-minute battle. The Baltimore sportswoman used a 5.8-pound test line with a 10-pound leader.

Birmingham, Hotspurs Play To 2-All Draw

LONDON (Reuters)—The second division's Birmingham City fought Tottenham Hotspur to a 2-2 tie after extra time Wednesday in an English Football Association Cup quarter-final replay here.

Birmingham will make a third attempt to knock the first division team out of the competition next week. Their first game last Saturday ended in a 1-1 tie.

Results of other soccer games Wednesday:

ENGLISH LEAGUE
Division I

Liverpool 0 Bolton W. 0
Middlesbrough 1 Aston Villa 0

Tottenham Hotspur and Birmingham will meet in the second replay on the Wolverhampton Wanderers ground next Monday.

Better Manners

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—In a country where most men and boys go hatless, the Marist Brothers college here decided to make its boys wear hats. The principal of the college declared no boy could learn to treat women and elderly people with respect if he is always hatless.

ORGANIZED IN 1898

The Yukon Territory, with an area of 207,000 square miles, was organized as a separate territory in 1898.

Quebecer Heads Curlers' Group In Canada

SUDBURY (CP)—Emmett Smith of Bourlamaque, Que., was elected president of the Canadian Curling Association at the annual meeting Wednesday. He succeeds H.F Rankine of Saint John, N.B.

W. C. Boyd of Regina was elected first vice-president and R. A. Donahue of Halifax second vice-president. Walter C. Cowan of Toronto was re-elected secretary.

The association invited a group of 25 Scottish curlers to play 20 matches in Canada next season for the Strathcona Cup, awarded for international team match play. The Scottish curlers were invited to come to this country this winter but were unable to make the trip.

Members of the executive include: Northern Ontario, Sam Rothschild; Northwestern Ontario, E. W. Duncan; Ontario, A. M. Heron, Temiskaming and Northern Ontario, S. Francis.

THE GRIM FACE OF COMMUNISM is etched on the faces of these East German youths, parading for the FDJ in Soviet Berlin.

Stalin's German Children

Anti-Christ Campaign Directed By Russians To German Youth

By FRED SPARKS

BERLIN — (NEA) — "There is no God!"

("Es Gibt Keinen Gott.")

In school, in magazines and newspapers and at club meetings, children in Communist Germany today hear that denial of faith constantly repeated.

Still playing it cozy with religious older Germans Stalin's stooges direct their main anti-Christ campaign at the junior movement which has 7,000,000 members, six to 24.

Although eight out of 10 Soviet Zone citizens are affiliated with the Evangelical Church, its youth program has been crushed, its paper for children— "The Parchment"—no longer allowed to publish.

Offical alibi is "paper shortage," but there is no paper shortage for the Communist "Young World" which recently stated:

"Beware of traitors to the New Germany in the disguise of ministers and priests."

Cartoons show cleggymen egging on loathsome looking American GIs as the troopers "torture" North Korean babies.

Sunday school teachers find their work permits canceled. If they want employment they'll be sent to remote areas.

Youth club hikes are timed for Sunday mornings, cutting church attendance. Church youth centres find it impossible to obtain coal during Winter months.

Often this propaganda cancer erupts into ugly blotches of juvenile violence. Such as dead end Communist kids searching school mates for rosaries and destroying them. Or pitching rocks through stained glass windows.

Recently in Zeitz, a small Saxony town, 15 teen-age Communists attended Lutheran services to giggle through the sermon. A church offical bawled them out.

When the small fry sassed him he slapped one's face. A Communist executive charged the churchman with assault and he was convicted at a minor "show" trial.

This hoodlumism was recorded in "Young World," to encourage more.

"The strangulation of spiritual opportunity for the young is one way," the U. S. High Commissioner reported, "to weaken family influence as the child spends more time on Communist sponsored facilities."

As young Hans listens more to club Fuehrer and less to Father, he's hardly likely to heed eyewitnesses who remember Russian soldiers raping local frauleins and relatives still rotting in Soviet hell camps.

Soviet Zone Education Minister Paul Wendel reported recently that teachers who favor the West and perhaps even drink Coda Cola, have been purged and "the younger generation will be brought up in the correct Marzist atmosphere."

History books are naturally, being edited to insist Russia invented everything but the electric chair, which was made in Detroit, and that our Air Force alone created the jagged ruins still dotting Germany's countryside.

In a youth club in Communist Berlin I spoke to a 12-year old, neat as a starched napkin in his uniform. Every shred of juvenile jollity was missing as he snapped:

"I have been a Pioneer for three years and hope some day to enter the Luftwaffe. The Soviet Union will give us the best planes with jet power and we shall defend our Reich against America."

I longed for a woodshed and an old-fashioned razor strop and 10 minutes.

I heard the other side of tragedy in a refugee camp in West Berlin, reeking with the smell of too many bodies living in a single room.

A widow, whose husband and oldest son froze before Stalingrad, said: "I am going to Munich to live with my sister, if I have a life left. My Hermann joined the Communist Army and my 14-year-old goes to a special FDJ school and seldom writes because I refuse to stop going to church."

Th original come-on for small fry is state domination of sports. It is illegal for teams to compete use a pool, soccer fields or gym without FDJ approval.

With everything in Red Germany rationed but suicide, you can't buy a pair of track shoes, skis or ping pong balls except in FDJ shops.

If Moscow has its way every youngster will do a deep knee bend at the same time daily, with rifle on shoulder and chant: "Hoch Stalin!"

With sports so shackled any kid gladly joins unless he wants to play tick-tack-toe alone in the attic. Furthermore, Junior Germans take to uniforms, salutes and marching like American school-kids take to chocolate marshmallow nut sundaes.

They enter FDJ at six as "Pioneers" and in a few years learn to fondle air rifles, dot-dash the Morse code, duck "American" bombs, and other duties not taught in U. S. public schools.

At night they parade with blazing torches, singing of Fatherland and power, shaking the foreigner who recalls just such Wagnerian rites, under Hitler, that led this continent to shambles.

I visited one unheated Pioneer camp, spoltess but Spartan, where 10-year-olds stand guard duty around the clock.

The kinds looked healthy as blonde water buffalos but if anything similar was tried by the Boy Scouts back home Mama would swat the troop leader with her umbrella and drag Johnny home to a hot water bootle.

Tomorrow: "Girls! Be mothers of heroes!"

Buenos Aires, now the capital of Argentina, was founded in 1534 by Pedro de Mandoza.

"Known By Service and Quality"

Not Kids' Stuff Boy Finds In First Visit To Ship Howe

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

Mike decided to join the navy. He didn't tell his mother or father, about this decision. He didn't even tell them he was thinking about it. He just left home one March morning and instead of going to school walked to the bus station.

In his pocket was $10.50 he had earned delivering papers. This would buy his bus ticket to Toronto and pay his way, so he thought, until he was drawing navy pay.

Mike arrived in Toronto just before noon. He ate lunch in the bus depot restaurant and then started out for 9 Richmond St. E.— the navy recruiting office. He had cut the address out of a newspaper ad.

All went well with Mike until he came face-to-face with the recruiting officer. He was able to find the office alright and he had no trouble getting in. But as soon as he met the stern inquiring glance of the officer, he knew this wasn't going to be so easy.

"So you want to join the navy, eh."

This remark was followed by the question that Mike most feared.

"Just how old are you son?"

"17 going on 18, sir."

BIRTH CERTIFICATE

"You're sure about that? Have you got a birth certificate?"

"No Sir. I'm sorry."

"Well I don't like to doubt your word but you look a little too young to me for the navy." Where are you from?"

"Peterborough, Sir."

The officer seemed to be getting a big kick out of the whole affair and Mike, sensing this, did not feel too comfortable. The officer's next suggestion made him feel even more uncomfortable.

"What do you say to phoning your father and asking him about this."

"O please don't do that, sir."

"Why not," the officer asked.

"Well," Mike started to stammer.

"Maybe you are not quite 17, is that it," the officer suggested.

"Yes sir."

"Well just how old are you son," the officer said more kindly when he saw the expression on Mike's face.

"14 sir."

"Well now I think I know just the place for you. You just stay here for a minute, I'll be right back."

Mike didn't like the way things were going at all. But he thought he hadn't better try to get out until the officer came back.

He didn't have to wait long. The officer soon came in carrying what looked like a book of records.

"You said you were from Peterborough, didn't you?"

"Yes sir."

"Well they've got just the thing for you down there. Ever heard of the Sea Cadets?"

"O that's kids' stuff," Mike retorted contemptuously.

"You think so eh. Well you give it a try and I think you'll find it isn't what you call kids' stuff. How about it? Are you willing to give it a try?"

"I guess so," Mike couldn't help sounding disappointed.

"That's fine. Now, have you got enough money to get home?"

"Yes sir."

"Well goodbye then and good luck," the officer said putting out his hand.

"Just one more thing, son."

Mike turned back.

"You come back to see us in four years we'll be glad to have you in the navy then."

"O.K. sir," Mike said and went out the door whistling. After all four years wasn't very long.

Mike took the next bus to Peterborough.

JOINED SEA CADETS

When he arrived home he told his parents what he had done and to his amazement they didn't bawl him out. And they encouraged him in the idea of joining the Sea Cadets.

So Mike did. He found out when the next meeting was and went down to the Ship (the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Howe headquarters on George St.) that evening.

He discovered to his surprise that the recruiting officer had been right. It wasn't kids' stuff and it was fun.

He learned how to handle a rifle and spent hours at target practice. He learned knots, first aid and a lot of other necessary navy skills. In fact it wasn't long before he realized that being a sea cadet was the best possible training for a future career in the navy.

The following summer he had qualified as an able seaman and went to sea cadet camp at Georgian Bay.

Mike's premature attempt to join the navy and his resulting introduction to Sea Cadets took place six years ago.

Now Mike is a real sailor and is on active duty with the Royal Canadian Navy. He went back to the navy recruiting office soon after his 18th birthday.

Mike is one of the many Peterborough men in the RCN who graduated to the real thing from the city's Sea Cadet Corps.

During the Second World War, Peterborough had the highest per capita enrollment in the navy of any Canadian inland community. Of the approximate 1,600 Peterborough men in the RCN from 1939-1945, 90 per cent had been members of the local sea cadets.

However the Sea Cadets also have a great deal to offer boys who are not planning a navy career. The training they receive through the corps develops qualities that help make them good citizens—discipline, fair play and a sense of responsibility.

$2,000 SPENT ON CORPS

A large part of the Sea Cadets' equipment and expenses is financed by the Navy League. In 1952 the Navy League spent more than $2,000 on the Peterborough corps.

The Navy League considers the Sea Cadets its major contribution to Peterborough. However, it makes other contributions, which although not so direct, are equally important.

Mike, at this moment may be enjoying the facilities of one of the several hostels, clubs and recreation centres maintained by the Navy League in the principal seaports of Canada.

This week he may have received a ditty bag, woollen garments, a fur vest, reading material or games provided by the Navy League.

These types of services for men in the Canadian Navy have been provided by the league since before the First World War.

These activities and services carried on by the Navy League, both in organizations such as Sea Cadets and hostels and clubs for Canadian sailors have to be financed by voluntary contributions.

The Peterborough Branch of the Navy League is making an appeal for contributions through the Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign, March 6-18. In 1952 the Navy League received $1,000 from the fund.

A contribution during the campaign will help finance, not only the city's Sea Cadets, but may make it possible to send another ditty bag to a Canadian sailor, perhaps one to Mike.

UWO Gets Scholarship Of $1,200 For Geology

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The second annual J. P. Bickell Foundation scholarship of $1,200 designed to encourage students to enter the field of geology and mining was announced Wednesday at the University of Western Ontario.

The scholarship will be awarded on the basis of academic standing and financial need to a student entering geology after his first year at university.

Professor G. Harold Reavely, head of the department of geology, said similar scholarships have been set up at other Ontario universities by the foundation established from the estate of the late J. P. Bickell, Canadian mining magnate.

Obituary

MRS. HENRY WILLIAM DAVIS

Mrs. Henry William Davis, 73, 173 Edinburgh St., formerly of Toronto, and a resident of Peterborough for one month, died in the Civic Hospital, Wednesday, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Davis was born and raised in Burnham, England, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hudson. She leaves her husband, Henry William Davis, two daughters and four sons, Mrs. Elsie Miller of Toronto; Mrs. Gordon Duke of Toronto, Edward and Ernest Davis also of Toronto and David and Frederick Davis of Manitoba.

Mrs. Davis was a member of the Baptist church in Toronto. There will be a service tonight at the Nesbitt funeral home at eight o'clock. The Rev. N. E. Schlarbaum of the Eastern Bible Society will officiate. There will be a second service at the Elliot funeral home in Toronto on Saturday morning. Burial will be in the Mount Pleasant cemtery in Toronto.

Offers Restitution

BONN (Reuters)—Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, said Wednesday his country wants "to put a solemn end to the most horrible part of our history" by paying restitution for Nazi persecution of the Jews. The chancellor spoke in the Bundestag (lower house) at the first reading of a bill to ratify the German-Israeli reparations agreement.

Accuse Hungary

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslav foreign ministry Wednesday accused Hungary of provoking 167 minor border incidents during January. A note protesting the incidents was handed to the Hungarian embassy.

Violence Threat On Film Eases

SILVER CITY, N. M. (AP)—Possibility of violence over a controversial movie was like a dying fire today as peace officers held a tight rein on this southwestern mining area.

Townspeople were on their good behavior under the watchful eyes of a strong force of local authorities bolstered by more than 30 state policemen.

But a new ember began glowing Wednesday night when more than 500 persons attended an overflow meeting in a union hall at nearby Bayard.

Local 890 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, producers of the movie, "Salt of the Earth," struck at its critics with a harsh resolution asking for full police protection.

The movie has been labelled in Congress by Representative Harold Jackson (Rep. Calif.) as a "new weapon for Russia" . . . Communist sponsored, the union was ejected from the CIO because its leaders refused to swear they weren't Communists.

About 150 residents of the area delivered an ultimatum to the union Wednesday to get its movie crew "out of Grant county or go out in black boxes." The deadline was noon Wednesday, and a whistle was to be blown at 4 p. m. signalling an attack if the warning was not heeded.

Spring Training Briefs

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Jim Pendleton, a standout with Montreal of the International League the last two years, served notice today he is a serious candidate for the Boston Braves' centrefield berth.

Pendleton belted two home runs and a double, driving in five runs, as the "Keeleys" defeated the "Cooneys" 12-11 in the Tribe's first intra-squad game of the season Wednesday.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Monte Irvin of New York Giants is about ready to call his comeback a success after being out a year with a broken ankle. He ran at full speed Wednesday in an intra-squad game and said his ankle felt fine

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Ewell Blackwell, 30 pounds heavier than last season and with confidence to match, looks for one of his best seasons in 1953.

The six-foot-six pitcher, who joined New York Yankees last August, displayed signs of his old authority Wednesday during his first workout.

"I feel every bit as good as I did when I won 22 with Cincinnati in 1947," Blackwell said. He won four and lost 12 with the Reds and the Yankees last season.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Leroy (Satchel) Paige, the timeless righthander of St. Louis Browns, is working on another pitch to bedevil the opposition. Satchel is developing an underhand, or submarine, pitch.

"Sooner or later my fast ball will slow down a little, so I figger maybe this new underhand pitch will come in handy," Paige says.

Last year he won 12 games for the Browns. He "saved" 10 more.

Parnell Rolls High

R. Parnell had high three of 844 and top single of 366 this week in the Major Bowling League. Crowley's led teams with 3,542 pinnage, and Burtol's 1,363 single game score was high. Crowley's blanked Bickell, and Cherney's applied the brush to Studebaker. The 5-2 wins went to UE, Hollingsworth, Silents, I-G, Brewers, E & B, McLeod and Selkirk over Edwards, Sunshine, D & W, Revenoors, Examiner, OPP, Wonder and Herb's in that order. Clapper's took Burtol's -3 and Odeon did the same to Plazas.

Good scores included: W. Harris (325) 765, J. Goodson (328) 718, R. Mongraw 720, J. Dormer (345) 751, R. Pearson 749, H. Tone 733, F. Willison 722, A. Hunter (316) 779, H. Killen (329) 780, J. Barnes (303) 753, E. Downer (308) 762, A. Caccavella (301) 733, K. Wesenberg 710, and M. Mackay 740.

Use Of Leeches On Stalin Raises Eyebrows

LONDON (AP) — The news that the Soviet Union's top doctors are using leeches on stricken Prime Minister Stalin raised some western medical eyebrows today but caused no surprise in Russia.

The second medical bulletin on Stalin's condition said that for the second time "leeches were used to draw blood"—presumably in an effort to lower the patient's high blood pressure.

In Chicago, a spokesman for the American Medical Association said the blood-sucking worms were out-of-date both in the United States and Europe, but maybe the Kremlin doctors wanted to be sure that if Stalin died, no old-fashioned Russian could accuse them of not using every possible remedy.

Some observers doubted that Stalin was being subjected to the same kind of bite that used to deflate black eyes. Must be a mechanical leech, a surgical device for blood-letting, said these up-to-daters.

Not so, replied Associated Press correspondent Eddy Gilmore in a telephone conversation from the Soviet capital. The bulletin meant live leeches, which Russian doctors use frequently and consider highly successful.

Tie Up Subways

Paris (Reuters)—Paris transport workers pulled another in a series of surprise strikes today, tying up 14 subway lines for 45 minutes during the morning rush hour. It was the largest in the five-week series aimed at backing claims for higher wages.

Know the Date?

This was the historic year of decision . . . the year during which the world's first and second atom bombs were dropped at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, causing the Japanese to lay down their arms officially . . . it was also the year which saw Prime Minister Churchill President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin meet at Yalta . . . and this was the year the German Armed Forces surrendered unconditionally to General Eisenhower.

How Much Is YOUR EYESIGHT Worth?

In Peterborough City and County there are 90 persons who would pay almost any amount of money if it were possible that their sight be restored, as well as others whose sight has been impaired by accident.

These people, or a number of them, have become useful citizens through the service of the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind maintains contact with all people registered as blind — Services all those who are registered with them — Administers concessions, employment and maintains a "Home Teaching Service." At present there are six blind people employed in industrial firms in this city.

The Peterborough Branch sponsors a year-round recreation program including social evenings, bowling, fishing trips and a picnic.

WHAT CAN I DO?

A large number of busy Peterborough men and women are giving generously of their time and money in helping this worthy cause. Remember "Those In Darkness" need your financial help to become useful citizens again.

"No pictures?" asked the little girl, as the blind Braillist showed her how to decipher the dot system that is intelligible to the trained fingers of blind readers throughout Canada. Braille books, magazines, and personal letters are ink print to the blind.

Typewriting has proven a successful method of writing to friends, school notes, essays and examinations and even in business. The regular touch system is taught in the home by the Blind Home Teacher for The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. It is part of the training made possible by your support of the present campaign. If the canvasser misses you, please send your cheque.

Theft Charges Face Agent

TILLSONBURG (CP)—Alex R. Walker, dismissed as local agent by the Canadian Pacific Railway earlier this year, was arrested Tuesday on 16 charges of theft and uttering in connection with loss of some $35,000 by Tillsonburg and district residents.

He is charged with keeping money that he was given, mostly by recent immigrants, to pay for passage to Canada for their kinfolk in Europe.

The charges, 14 of theft and two of uttering forged documents, were laid by individuals.

Fewer Australians Listen To Broadcasts Of Federal Parliament

By LOUIS L. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Fewer Australians are listening to broadcasts of their federal Parliament, because the programs are too long.

This is the statement of Richard Boyer, chairman of the Australian broadcasting commission. In the 20th annual report of the commission, just tabled in Parliament, Mr. Boyer said the time occupied in broadcasting Parliament has risen by more than one-third in the last year.

While the federal House of Representatives is in session, one of the "national" or ABC stations in each area broadcasts it continuously, regardless of what other programs were arranged.

AID TO ELECTORATE

"The commission is of opinion that the institution of parliamentary broadcasts was a wise one, and that the service it performs is a highly significant contribution to the better information of the electorate of a democracy," says the report. "We feel that it is a proven technique which should be continued, but are also of the opinion that a revision of the total broadcasts of parliamentary sessions should be undertaken in the light of our experience since 1946.

"A discrimination as between those sessions of Parliament which make good broadcasting and those which do not is admittedly difficult and any limitation of broadcasts from the House might well necessitate some re-arrangement of House procedure. The commission feels however that some such revision would be in the interests not only of the national service but of Parliament itself, and would certainly increase the level of parliamentary listening in the ultimate.

"Australia, with New Zealand, is a pioneer in this use of the broadcasting medium and its experience has not gone unnoticed in other countries. It is principally the large periods of time occupied by sessions, which make difficult listening for the ordinary setholder, which have deterred Parliaments abroad from following us in this experiment. With the general approval of the principle, and with the results which it may well be claimed have followed parliamentary broadcasting in this country, it would be unfortunate if an excessive use of it were to discredit the practice among our own listeners and observers abroad. . . ."

"ESSENTIAL" SERVICE

In addition to full broadcasts of the House of Representatives, the ABC also broadcasts a weekly talk by the premier and opposition leader of four states. The other two states have not bothered to accept the offer.

Leader of the federal opposition, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, protested any suggestion that federal Parliament broadcasts might be cut. He said it was essential the public be given the opportunity to listen to all business in Parliament.

To this Mr. Boyer replied: "It is easy to broadcast—it is hard to have a broadcast listened to."

Krupp's Empire Broken Up; To Sell Holdings

BONN, Germany (AP)—The vast Krupp industrial empire which armed Germany for three wars was broken up Wednesday. Alfried Krupp agreed to sell his family's coal, steel and iron holdings and never return to these industries.

Krupp, who served 2½ years as a war criminal, will receive $47,600,000 for the properties he sells. In return, the Allies will give him sole control of the rest of the family holdings, estimated to be worth $95,000,000.

The holdings he retains will still leave him one of Europe's greatest manufacturers of steel products. They include plants making everything from pots and pans, pipes and plumbing, trucks and locomotives to ocean-going tankers.

Once worth nearly $500,000,000, the sprawling industrial empire was confiscated by the Allies when Krupp, now 44, was convicted by a U.S. war crimes tribunal in 1948 of using slave labor and plundering occupied countries. Sentenced to 12 years, he was freed in 1951 by former U.S. high commissioner John J. McCloy as an act of mercy.

The plan to sell off the coal, steel and iron properties was worked out directly with Krupp by Britain, U.S., and France. The West German government declined to guarantee that Krupp would not try to buy back into these industries.

IRAN RIOTS CONTINUE—A huge portrait of Iranian Premier Mossadegh is carried througg the Teheran's riot-torn streets. Meantime, the premier called out tank-supported troops to quell the Communist mobs who are defying his control.

FLYING FISTS IN IRAN—A wounded Communist rioter is carried off Teheran's streets by fist-waving supporters who are turning a bloody demonstration against Iranian Premier Mossadgh. He told all Americans to stay off the streets and called out tank-supported troops for a showdown with the Communists.

OFFICE JOBS

LONDON (CP)—A total of 42,000 applied to the London youth employment service during 1952, and the current report shows that 10,000 girls chose office work compared to 2,000 boys. The remainder chose jobs elsewhere than in offices.

Ambulance Men Aid Delivery

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two ambulance drivers Tuesday night assisted in delivery of a baby girl who was born on the back seat of an old model car parked next to the emergency entrance of Hotel Dieu Hospital.

The drivers, James Pitre and Gideon Vermette, were about to enter the hospital on a routine call when confronted by Abie Colone, 35, who told them his wife was having a baby and pleaded for help.

Excitedly he explained his wife was in his car parked nearby.

The drivers got a stretcher from their ambulance and ran to the car. They decided it was too late to try to move Mrs. Colone into the hospital.

It was only after the baby was born that one of the group thought of going into the hospital for assistance. Later nurses arrived and took the woman and her daughter into the emergency room.

Young People Discuss New Canadians

SPRINGVILLE— (ENS)—The Young People's Union met at the home of Ivan Rowan.

"Brotherhood and the Welcome Extended to New Canadians" was the topic selected by Lila Seymour and her group. Reports of conversations between Canadians and newcomers from Poland, Latvia, Jugoslavia and other war-torn countries were read by Eleanore Bowles, Joan Dunn, Margaret Hooten, Myrtle Seymour and Carl Preston.

Gordon Clifford read the scripture and George Bedford conducted the recreation.

Eleanor Bowles presided for the business session. Miss Margaret Ramsay is to be guest speaker Sunday evening at the home of Myrna and Lila Seymour. She will tell of her experience last summer travelling with the caravan and conducting Sunday schools from Havelock to Quebec.

CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN—Gai-Lilli of Bethom, N.Y., a pedigree boxer owned by Frank L. Thomas, rests after giving birth to a litter of 12 puppies, an ordeal which lasted 13 hours. A. G. Clark, attending veterinarian, claims the large litter is unusual for boxers. The normal litter is between four and six. All but one of the puppies survived.

Communists Try To Change Nationalism Of Africa Into Tumult And Anarchy

Across East Africa, from Cairo to Kenya, the Communists are trying to sow the seeds of chaos. one of the most strategic areas is the Sudan, soon to hold elections which will decide its future. William L. Ryan, the AP's specialist on news of communism, tells in this second of three articles about the important East African sector in the cold war.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Communism is working day and night to transform earnest nationalism into turmoil and anarchy in this vast, hot expanse of strategic territory.

The Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, big as all Western Europe together, plays a prominent part in world communism's calculations.

So far the Reds have attracted many students, teachers and workers, and lately have turned propaganda guns on the peasantry.

A high-ranking Sudanese says their whole policy is to "promote anarchy and chaos."

Their agents make every effort to muddy the waters in the current surge for self-government and to fan antagonisms.

Many of the people realize their country could not isolate itself completely from outside help. A substantial number stand for "Dominion status" with Egypt. Some want similar status with Britain. Others advocate a temporary United Nations sovereignty.

But the Communists are agitating for a program which would cut the Sudan off completely from the outside world and leave it completely helpless.

To do this they play heavily on the hatred of the very word "imperialism," demand immediate cessation of the joint rule of Britain and Egypt, and agitate for the immediate withdrawal of both Britons and Egyptians. Non-Communists say such a program would lead to a chaotic condition approaching anarchy.

There is good reason to believe the inspiration for the underground "Sudanese movement for national liberation" launched in 1946 came from Communists in Egypt.

There are only 700 proved Communists in Northern Sudan but guesses are that Communists really have a strength of 40,000.

The government says:

"Communism is incompatible with Islam (the Moslem religion) and most thinking Sudanese reject it, but its doctrines tend to deceive the have-nots who, in their ignorance, believe a grasping imperialism accounts for the differences in present standards of living observable between their own now rising circumstances and the standards established and maintained by the Western world only through generations of hard work."

Certainly in this part of the world communism places its accent on youth. A relatively large number of university and secondary students and faculty here and in Egypt openly profess communism, support Red demonstrations and help foment strikes for Communist political aims.

The northern Sudanese intellectual considers himself and his fellows fully capable of governing Sudan. He blames the British most of all for keeping him down. And among this crust of intellectuals alliances are made with Communists depiste Islam.

Communist broadcasts from Prague and Moscow reach the relatively few young intellectuals and apparently have a telling effect.

Another evidence of Moscow interest in the Sudan is the activity of the World Federation of Trade Unions, a Communist transmission belt with headquarters in Vienna.

The communists apparently finance themselves here from contributions of members and sympathizers and sales of the party newspapers, printed underground.

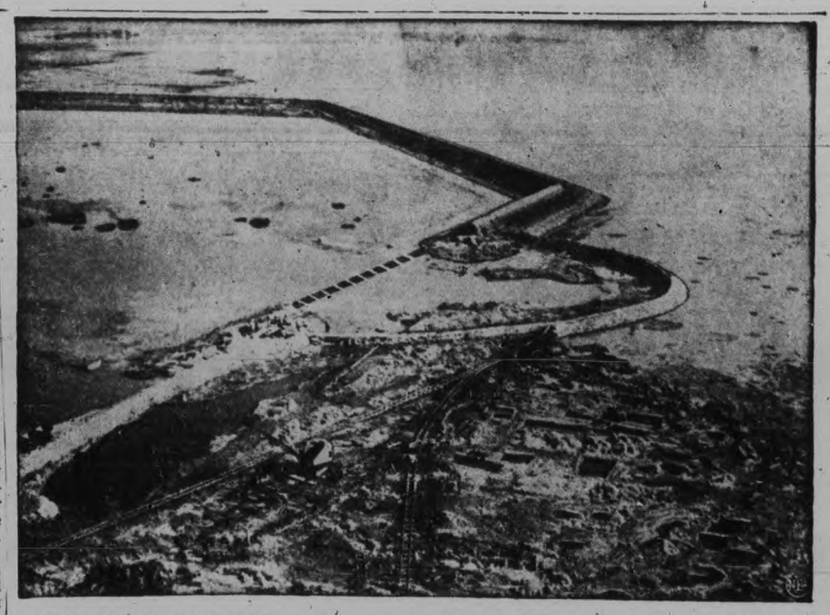
SIGN HALIBUT TREATY — Canada and the United States have signed a treaty opening the way for additional open season for halibut fishing in the North American side of the Pacific Ocean and Bering Sea. It is the third revision of the first halibut fisheries convention between the two countries, signed 30 years ago. Seated, left to right: William C. Herrington, special assistant for fisheries and wildlife to the U.S. under-secretary of state; D. C. Bliss, charge d'affaires of the U.S. embassy at Ottawa, who signed for the U.S.; Prime Minister St. Laurent; Fisheries Minister Sinclair, and Veterans Minister Lapointe, both of whom signed for Canada. Standing, left to right: H. F. Feaver, Canadian chief of protocol; W. L. Rodman, of the U.S. embassy, Ottawa; L. D. Wilgress, Canadian under-secretary of state for external affairs, and Stewart Bates, deputy minister of fisheries.

PCs Bid Fails To Get Them Defence Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative bid for further reports on defence department administration was voted down Wednesday by the Liberal majority in the Commons, 151 to 59.

It was the latest stage in the battles arising out of the Currie report on the army works services. The Conservatives have been seeking to get other reports to buttress their charges that the department is inefficiently and extravagantly run.



Associate Defence Minister Campney said Wednesday the new bid would take so much time, occupy so many officials and cover so much territory that it would be virtually impossible to answer it.

WANTED ALL

It was a request by E. D. Fulton PC-Kamloops) "for a copy of all reports, findings, recommendations or other conclusions of all investigations or surveys made since June 30, 1948, dealing with the army works services, the Royal Canadian Ordance Corps, and-or the administration of the department of national defence on which said investigations or surveys $1 or more was spent."

Mr. Fulton offered to restrict this to reports made on the department by people outside the department but Mr. Campney said he couldn't accept such a change on the spur of the moment. The vote was then called on the original motion.

All three opposition parties and two independents supported Mr. Fulton. The Liberals voted against him.

THE FORCE OF THE SEA—This aerial view shows dramatically how raging North Sea waves smashed through Holland's dikes to create the forst flood in the nation's history. This one is at Waarde. The dotted line shows where a huge length of dike was washed out. Countless sandbags were used in the wide semi-circular temporary barrier, seen at right, to help prevent any further damage by waves whipped up by gale winds.

Sees Revolution When Stalin Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, U.S. ambassador in Moscow during the Second World War, Wednesday predicted revolution in the Soviet Union when Prime Minister Joseph Stalin dies.

Forecasting a "mad scramble for power" in the U.S.S.R. after Stalin's death, the retired admiral told an interviewer:

"Once there is a break the people of Russia will fall away from communism and revolt."

He added: "I don't think anything can be worse than it has been as far as the Russian people and we in the Allied world are concerned. Things in the U.S.S.R are simply ripe for a change."

Standley said he expects the contending parties for power in the U.S.S.R. will be V. M. Molotov, whom he described as the "political heir-apparent to Stalin" and Georgi M. Malenkov, characterized by the admiral as "a cold-blooded rising star" and "fair-haired boy" in Soviet inner circles.

Saddened Reunion

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—Eleven members of the Peter Yaholnitsky family gathered for their first reunion in 26 years, to attend the golden wedding anniversary of their parents. Mr. Yaholnitsky died the following day.

Mackintosh Forecasts U Enrolment Increase

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Registration in Canadian universities will increase by between 50 and 60 per cent in 1957 or 1958, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, forecast here Wednesday night.

Dr. Mackintosh, discussing the future of Queen's with the London branch of the Alumni Association of that university, said the sharp rise in enrollment will be due to the increased number of births during the war years.

"A number of universities are going to have to make up their minds between now and then what they are going to do about this increase," the educationist said.

Hospital Bequests

TORONTO (CP) — An elderly spinster who died in Guelph Nov. 25 has left approximately $200,000 to be divided equally between the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto General Hospital and Toronto Western Hospital. Other bequests from the $248,883 estate of Eleanor Johnston go to relatives. Miss Johnson, a resident of Toronto for many years, moved to Guelph shortly before her death.

Korean Boy Friend Of Singer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Little Joe, a Korean mess-boy, rates as the No. 1 boy friend of the blonde Vancouver singer Lorraine McAllister. Joe says he's 12, but probably is only about nine years of age. He had to be 12 to work for the Canadian Army in Korea as a civilian helper. That's where he met Lorraine, in the sergeants' mess of the Lord Strathcona's Horse Regiment.

A letter from "Skoche Joe" (Little Joe) is one of the treasures among the fan mail received by the singer since she returned from a visit to Korea to entertain the troops. She recalls that Joe was pretty shy, but she toop him on her knee, talked to him and gave him a snapshot of herself. She told him to come to Canada some day.

Joe beat off a few kidding sergeants to keep the picture. His letter turned up here recently. It reads like this:

"Dear Lorraine:

"How are you. I am fine. I like your picture and I want to go to Canada to get education as like you. You wrote My Little Friend Joe on your photo but I think of you as my sister. Please give me letter. Don't forget my name is Joe. I shall keep your picture with me all the time ok.

"Skoche Good Boy."

Flu Closes Schools

DUNDAS (CP)—An influenza epidemic in this town near Hamilton forced the closing of schools Wednesday. Dr. C. L. Bates, acting medical officer of health, ordered the Dundas High, Public and Separate schools to close until Monday because 350 students—one-quarter of the enrolment—are sick. Dr. Bates urged parents to keep their children away from public functions.

May Sterilize Rats

TORONTO (CP)—It may soon be possible to sterilize all rats in city sewers by radioactive isotopes. Then the present generation of rats could be left to die of old age, Dr. D. C. Brunton, president of Isotope Products Limited, said Wednesday in an address to the Electric Club of Toronto.

Husband, Wife Die

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Herman Guse, 83, died in hospital here Tuesday night, six weeks after fracturing a hip. Within an hour, his wife, 83 last Saturday, died at the home of her son, John, in nearby Sullivan township.

Habitual Criminal

TORONTO (CP)—Samuel Stone, 37, who has been in Kingston penitentiary for 14 of the last 15 years, was sentenced Wednesday to an indeterminate penitentiary term as an habitual criminal. Judge J. A. Shea of York county court also sentenced Stone to three years for unlawful possession of narcotics. He previously was sentenced to four years on two other narcotics charges.

Traffic Fatality

SIMCOE (CP)—Charges of careless driving and driving while his ability was impaired were laid Wednesday against Sam McNeilly, RR 3, Port Dover, driver of the truck in which Alfred Barlow, 42, of Nanticoke, was killed earlier in the day. Barlow died of a broken neck after the truck went out of control and flipped over in the ditch on No. 6 county road, about five miles northeast of Port Dover. McNeilly was not hurt.

Child Killed In Car

KITCHENER (CP)—Philip Benn, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Benn of Preston, was killed Wednesday night when his father's car broke through a guard rail and fell 15 feet down a bridge-approach embankment. Mr. Benn was seriously hurt.

Commission Chairmen Called To Committees

TORONTO—(CP) — The Legislature's committee on commissions decided Wednesday to ask the chairmen of three provincial commissions to come before it to answer questions on their operations.

The three are Arthur Walsh of the liquor control board, Judge W T. Robb of the liquor licence board, and Magistrate Tupper Bigelow of the Ontario racing commission.

Playful Wrestle Ends In Schoolboy's Death

SELKIRK, Man. (CP)—An injury suffered in a playful wrestling match in a school basement caused the death Tuesday of a 17-year-old boy from nearby Kirkness.

Kenneth Cox was about to wrestle with a friend in a test of skill but as he reached out to grasp his opponent he fell and struck his head on the basement floor, coroner Dr. W. S. Reid said.

The injury did not appear serious. Later at his home he complained of feeling ill and his father took him to a doctor who diagnosed a brain haemorrhage.

Dr. Reid said the boy was rushed to hospital in Winnipeg but it was too late to save him.

IRANIAN RIOTERS toss a policeman into the air in front of the Royal Palace in Tehran during a weekend demonstration against Premier Mohammed Mossadegh when it appeared that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi was about to be forced to leave the country. Factions supporting both sides roamed the streets shouting their slogans and throwing stones. The aged premier later appeared to have gained the upper hand with the arrest of 70 retired and active army officers, some of whom were accused of haranguing the mobs that shouted for "Shah or death."

Elgin County Wins In Judging

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Elgin county took top honors in the inter-county junior seed judging competition at the Middlesex Seed Fair and Food Show Wednesday, the first district contest in the 15-year history of the fair.

The winning team comprised Clifford Campbell and Doug Small of Iona Station and Leon Dennis of St. Thomas. They obtained 1531 of a possible 1800 points.

Middlesex and Kent counties tied for second place with 1496 points. Runners-up were Huron, Lambton, Perth, Essex and Brant, each with a three-man team in the field.

James B. Bryan and Sons, of RR 6, St. Marys, captured the Alex M. Stewart and Son Trophy for the individual competitor obtaining the highest number of points in the grain classes open to 11 Western Ontario counties participating for the first time this year.

Skating Star Wins Dog Showman's Award

GUELPH (CP)—Skating star Suzanne Morrow of Toronto won a new kind of award Wednesday.

A week after her retirement from skating competition, she showed her German shepherd dog at an Ontario Agricultural College dog show. She was judged reserve grand champion dog showman at OAC.

D. W. Barrie of Galt, a second-year student in the diploma course, was named best all-round showman at the 29th annual college "Royal."

Glen Johnston of Moorefield was judged champion livestock showman. Garnet Norrish of Moffat was reserve grand champion.

Auto Taxes Exceed Industry's Wages

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian automobile workers were paid less in 1952 to build motor vehicles produced in Canada than the federal government collected in sales and excise taxes on them, D. C. Gaskin, president of the Studebaker Corporation of Canada and of the Canadian Automotive Chamber of commerce, said Wednesday.

He told the Advertising and Sales Club here that federal taxes totalled $138,487,863 while the 36,000 workers in the industry were paid $131,992,273.

He said 84 per cent of Canadian automobile driving is essential.

Thomson Chain Buys 3 Weeklies

TORONTO (CP)—The Thomson Publishing Company, which publishes 15 newspapers in Canada and one in the United States, has bought three weeklies in Ontario.

The weeklies are the 79-year-old Brampton Conservator, the Weston Times and the New Toronto Advertiser. All have been published by Charters Publishing Company which now will expand its facilities at Brampton and concentrate its remaining publishing operations there.

The Charters company also announced sale of the West Toronto Weekly to Sam Wilson, a long-time employee and lessee of that publication.

Sale prices were not announced.

The Charters name has been associated with the Conservator since 1890. Clarence V. Charters is president of the Charters Publishing Company and Reginald M. Charters is vice-president and general manager. They will continue to print a number of weekly, monthly and periodic publications and handle commercial printing at Brampton.

The Thomson company will take over its three new papers later this year. Roy H. Thomson, president of the company, said in a statement that each will be autonomous insofar as editorial policy is concerned.

Mackersy Appointed Imperial Bank Head

TORONTO (CP)—L. Stuart Mackersy Wednesday was appointed president of the Imperial Bank of Canada, and John S. Proctor was appointed general manager.

Mr. Mackersy has been general manager, and succeeds I. K. Johnston, who died recently. Mr. Proctor was assistant general manager.

Mr. Mackersy was born in Scotland, joined the bank at Red Deer, Alta., in 1911, and later served with it in Vancouver, Nelson, B.C., Edmonton and Winnipeg before coming to head office in Toronto in 1943.

Triumvirate May Rule After Stalin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Walter Bedell Smith believes that when Stalin dies his power probably will be divided among three men—Molotov, Malenkov and Beria.

The former U.S. ambassador in Moscow, now undersecretary of state, expressed his opinion three years ago in a book called "My Three Years in Moscow."

It was learned reliably at the state department that Smith still feels the same way.

The general wrote in 1950 that V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and L. P. Beria seemed to be sharing the major part of the power delegated by Stalin.

"My own belief," Smith said, "is that when Stalin dies his power will be divided among these three. . ."

Molotov is deputy premier and former foreign minister; Malenkov is secretary of the Soviet Communist party; Beria is chief of the secret police and of atomic development.

Wild Foxes

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — The Prince Edward Island government has decided to put a bounty on wild foxes, of which it is estimated 20,000—red and silver types—now are running wild. The bounty was granted because the wild foxes have been raiding poultry flocks.

Early Start

DUBUC, Sask. (CP) — Spring signs: One farmer here reported his turkey hen made a nest in an outside haystack and has been laying regularly since January. Another farmer found a sparrow's nest with three eggs.

Here's Good Advice for All STOMACH SUFFERERS

This Man Had Sick, Burning, Upset Stomach, Became Very Nervous, Irritable, Got Headaches, Rheumatic Pains. Tells How Syntona Helped Him. Recommends It Highly.

Here is good advice for all sufferers from stomach trouble. Syntona Herbal Compound has helped thousands of men and women suffering from weak, nervous, upset stomach. It may well be the means of helping you, too. Mr. John Fitzsimmons, 215 Edinburgh Street, London, Ontario, tells his experience with Syntona as follows:

"My stomach kept giving me trouble quite some time ago and kept getting worse as time went on.

Couldn't Eat

"After awhile I was having so much gas with pains and burning in my stomach that I had no appetite to eat my meals. What little I did eat soured in my stomach afterwards. There would be a burning pain in the pit of my stomach and I'd get sick, bilious attacks. I became very nervous irritable, got splitting headches, and had to be taking laxatives all the time. Rheumatic pains set into my back, limbs and muscles.

First Real Relief

"The things I was taking didn't seem to be doing me any good, so after a friend told me about Syntona I decided to try some. Now it can be said that this medicine has given me the first real relief I've had from this condition. I can eat again without having all that distress afterwards. I am free of headaches and other pains, and I certainly feel different. Instead of being nervous and all tired out from morning to night I now feel more relaxed and have more energy.

"I can recommend Syntona very highly to anyone suffering as I did."

How It Acts

Syntona is made from 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots and acts on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels improving their action. It helps to clear excess acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Perfection on Ice

Thrills come fast and often in "ice-boating." Skimming at breath-taking speeds over frozen Ontario lakes is a new sport for many winter vacationists—a new favourite with many of our southern visitors. Such sports-loving visitors bring added prosperity to our province. Let's treat them with true hospitality. John Labatt Limited.

Mexicans Mark Flag Day With Speeches, Fireworks

By JEAN E. STENTON

MEXICO CITY. — From early morning till late at night February 24, Mexico celebrated Flag Day with parades, bands, speeches and fireworks.

* * * *

At 5:45 a.m. I was awakened by what sounded like gunfire. Remembering that the Zocalo in times past had been the scene of political upheavals, I was out of bed with my camera and at the window before my eyes were open. In the darkness I saw a long line of troops passing my hotel behind a bugle band and running alongside them was a ragged peon tossing giant firecrackers into the air.

* * * *

Mexican fireworks are a work of art and last much longer than ours. These flame-colored firecrackers soared high in the air and when they finally exploded sounded like gunfire. In a short time larger ones were set off in the Zocalo itself and as the noise echoed around the square it seemed like an artillery duel. The flashes against the dark sky heightened the sensation. All the time in the background bugles were blowing and troops marching.

* * * *

As soon as it was daylight you could see every building and every lamp post had the red, green and white Mexican flag or colors on it. In the centre of the Zocalo at the flower-bordered flagpole was a huge crest and a large Mexican flag.

* * * *

TROOPS LINE SQUARE

As crowds began to gather, unit after unit from the National Palace paraded up the street and lined the sidewalks surrounding the plaza and ringed the flagpole in the Zocalo. The President of Mexico spoke from the National Palace, stressing the importance of this national day which has only been celebrated for about 12 years.

* * * *

After the President's speech, there was a big parade up town to another plaza where special ceremonies were held in honor of Guerrero, one of Mexico's heroes.

* * * *

This scene was repeated all over the country in the towns and villages. On my way to Teotihuacan, I saw all the rural schools decorated with flags and the children were either having ceremonies at the schools or were being taken to nearby points for speeches, etc. In the town of Teotihuacan, all the children from the toddlers to entrance age pupils marched from the main plaza to a stadium at the end of the town. Here they were joined by soldiers from a nearby barracks, also adults for special ceremonies. When it was over the children were given a holiday.

* * * *

Late in the afternoon in Mexico City they were still celebrating. The great bells in the Cathedral were ringing impressively and another parade was taking place. This time the great flag which had hung in the Zocalo all day had been taken down and it was being carried as a canopy by hundreds of men, women and children who walked underneath, cheering. They marched several times around the square behind drummers.

* * * *

As darkness fell, the city ended the special day with more fireworks, the crowds finally dispersed and things returned to normal.

Centre Fund Makes $6,480 In Interest

Memorial Community Centre revenue last year from bond and bank interest was $6,480.40, and the expenditure was "nil".

Interest on bond investments and bank account from the beginning up to December 31, 1952, amounted to $47,208.44.

Total subscriptions to the Centre Fund were $200,155.26; bringing total receipts to $247,363.44.

There are interesting items in the financial statement of the Memorial Community Centre fund to the end of last year as prepared by City Treasurer A. S. Couper, and audited by Edward Humpage, CA.

A letter to the council Monday night by Maurice E. Ketcheson, doughty demander of belated action, requested that he be supplied with a copy of the Centre financial statement for 1952.

PUBLISH STATEMENT

"I think we might as well publish the statement so that everybody will know what the financial facts are," said Mayor Waddell. It will probably appear in the Examiner today.

"It will recall that expenditures in other years than 1952 amounted to $11,729.93. They were: architect's fees, $9,900; testing soil, $750; miscellaneous expenses, $1,079.93.

No expenditure was incurred last year.

There is also the potential credit of $75,000 to be raised by debentures whenever the money for construction is needed. This borrowing was authorized by the ratepayers back in the hopeful and sound money days when the Fund was subscribed.

Inquest Unable To Decide Cause Of Explosion, Fire That Killed Quaker Worker

Origin unknown. This was the verdict of the coroner's jury called for an inquest into the death of Angus Ferguson who died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 11:30 p.m., January 12, 15½ hours after an explosion in the Quaker Oats feed mill inflicted second-degree burns on him from head to foot. Also injured were five other men working with him on the eighth floor of the building, a bare three minutes after the machinery had been set in motion for the week's operation of the mill.

Evidence by a long list of witnesses, including experts from government departments, took more than four hours in what Dr. H. G. Carleton described as "probably the longest inquest I've had in my 26 years as coroner."

ADJOURNED FOR SUPPER

Beginning at 2.30 Wednesday afternoon, the inquest was adjourned at 5 o'clock and resumed at 7 p.m. The jury retired at 8.45 and returned at 9.15 with its verdict attributing Ferguson's death to burns caused by the explosion, "the origin of which is unknown to us."

Attached to the verdict was a recommendation "that the Quaker Oats Co. might investigate the possibility of further screening to prevent foreign objects from entering the feed processing machines."

Consensus of witnesses was that the flash which led to Ferguson's death and described by Hilliard Davis who suffered burns about the head and arms as a "big ball of fire" was one of a series of simultaneous explosions set off by a spark which ignited a minute quantity of grain dust suspended in the air.

Although Harry Jordan, an engineer on the fire marshal's staff suggested the possibility that the spark was generated by static electricity, most witnesses were agreed that the probable source of the explosion was a spark caused by the friction of metal against metal.

Chief evidence of the latter theory was the discovery following the explosion of a 10-inch length of metal shaft in a "gyro-whip" or sifter on the floor where the explosion occurred.

INQUEST UNABLE TO DECIDE

Planning Board Gave Permission For Duplexes

The authority directing City Engineer Chalmers to issue a permit to Ross Greenley for the building of double duplexes at the corner of Caddy and Ludgate Streets is found in the report of the city planning committee Thursday, February 5.

Residents of that neighborhood have petitioned the council asking for an investigation of the circumstances which permitted the work to be begun.

The minutes record that those present at the meeting of the city planning committee were: Hubert Sills, acting as chairman, Ald. H. T. Rehill, Ald. H. S. Longhurst, Mayor H. F. Waddell, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Ernest C. Braund, James Craig.

The application of (Ald.) Gordon H. T. Farquarson requesting approval of Mr. Greenley's application for permission to erect two double duplex residences at the corner of Caddy and Ludgate Sts. was heard.

The decision of the town planning committee is recorded in a motion by Mr. Braund, seconded by Mayor Waddell, that Mr. Greenley be granted permission on the understanding that each building is to contain a four-unit dwelling house, and that the City Engineer be authorized to issue a building permit, since this seems a desirable use for this particular piece of land.

RULING ON BASEMENT

The building permit issued by Mr. Chalmers shows the insertion of this stiuplation: "The basements of these two four-unit dwelling houses will not be used for habitable purposes.

The permit was issued on February 10. On account of the slope of the land in that Caddy Street area, it has been said, recently and months ago it caused difficulty for buliding which virtually ruled out the one-storey house at that corner. Some time ago it was reported that Arnold Steele was abandoning the corner on account of the extent of footing he would have to put in and for the item of cost also.

The action of the planning committee was based on their conclusion that the Greenley duplexes appeared to be suitable to the unusual surface conditions at the corner property.

Nothing in the plans of the buildings which were submitted by Mr. Greenley to City Engineer Chalmers was at variance with the permit at that stage.

Labor Council Backs Licensing Of Electricians

The Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC) have backed up a demand from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers that all Ontario electricians be licensed.

This was endorsed by delegates to the labor council on Wednesday night. The executive had actually given the labor council's support when an application was made to the Peterborough City Council by the Electrical Contractors Association of Ontario.

On recommendation from the Board of Works the city council turned it down.

Henry Nokes, secretary of the labor council, said that licensing "would raise the standard of electrical safety throughout the province."

A bill proposing a uniform license for Ontario will go before the Legislature later this month.

The request for the labor council's support came from Local 1655, IBEW, through the local's secretary, Ed McIlwain.

Wednesday night the labor council decided to ask the Provincial Federation of Labor and the Peterborough District Labor Council (CCL) for support.

REFERRED CLINICS

During February 159 people were X-rayed at the four referred clinics held at the two city hospitals. The clinics are sponsored by the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association.

ATTEND COURSE

Frank Gooley and Tom O'Connell have been appointed the two representatives of St. Peter's High School to attend the regular weekly instructional periods conducted by the Peterborough Civil Defense Committee.

VISITING PETERBOROUGH

Thirty junior farmers from the Uxbridge section of Ontario county are coming to Peterborough Monday. They are going to Canada Packers at 10 a.m., and will also visit De Laval and Quaker Oats Company during the day.

CHECK PARKING METERS

Peterborough motorists have been warned to be on their guard by city police who are making a close check of parking meters following reports that several cars have been parked recently without the drivers inserting sufficient money in the meters.

PENNY-A-DAY

Collections from the Penny-A-Day campaign now taking place in city schools total $415.56—$13.52 more than the total at this time last year. Wednesday's collections amounted to $93.75. This division of the Red Cross and Community Fund has an objective of $600.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

On April 4 the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council will mark their first anniversary and they are planning to have a dinner to celebrate the occasion. Committee members in charge are E. E. Young, Local 432 of the International Alliance of Theatre, Stage Employees; Cecil Searles of the Musical Protective Assoc.; and Jack McEwen of the Peterborough Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union. Top Trades and Labor Congress speakers are expected for the evening.

Court Claim For Fire Loss Dismissed

Norwood Family Asked Damages For Home, Contents

A $7,500 damage action brought against John Lutes, operator of the American Cedar Co. of Norwood, was today dismissed in Supreme Court by Mr. Justice King.

Mr. and Mrs. John Curtis and their son Frank Curtis claimed it was negligence on the part of Lutes that on June 19, 1952, allowed a fire to sweep through his cedar post yard on the outskirts of Norwood and then spread to their property. A clapboard house, a barn and the contents of the building on the Curtis property were destroyed.

Piles of cedar posts were stacked on the five-acre Lutes property that was located west of the Curtis property. Evidence was given that there were piles of cedar bark and peelings up to seven inches deep between the piles of posts.

Both properties front on Highway 7. On the American Cedar Co. land there is a small office near the highway with a burning pit nearby.

ARGUED RESPONSIBLE

Through their counsel, William C. Grant, the Curtis family argued that the company was responsible for the fire spreading on four main grounds

One, the burning pit was too close to the piles of cedar posts;

Canada, US Must Work To Sell Latin America

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Canada and the United States must look to their laurels if they are to hold their trade advantages in Latin America, James S. Duncan of Toronto said today.

Canada, he said, has done well—her sales to Latin America have risen from $18,000,000 in 1938 to $275,000,000 in 1952 while sales by the United States were nearly $300,000,000 a month.

However, Germany's exports to Latin America, which were only $3,200,000 in 1948, were $369,000,000 in 1951.

Mr. Duncan, chairman and president of Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., big farm-implement industry with world-wide operations, was a member of Canada's recent trade mission to Latin America. He addressed a joint luncheon of the Canadian and Empire Clubs.

LOOSER TIES

Each war, he said, has resulted in loosening the ties of Latin America with Europe, and in an increase in the importance of the United States in its trade. However, since 1950, there has been a tendency "to revert to the old trade pattern because of Latin-America's growing dollar shortage."

There is, said Mr. Duncan, a great opportunity for Canada to continue to expand her trade with Latin America, and he believed today's trade will seem small 10 or 15 years hence.

KNOW COUNTRY

"It can only be done by becoming thoroughly acquainted with the country in which we wish to do business, the language of its people their currency problems, their regulations, habits of thought, idiosyncracies (and we have just as many of these as they have), with their tastes, their fashions or their fancies," he said.

Today, said Mr. Duncan, more than half of Canada's sales to other countries are to the United States.

"This has its hazards. A sharp recession in the United States would result in almost immediate and drastic curtailment of their imports."

Accordingly, Mr. Duncan urged that Canada widen her markets, sell more to the sterling area and to such other available markets as Latin America.

CARRY QUEEN'S TRAIN—Lady Mary Baillie-Hamilton, 18, is one of the six girls chosen for one of the trickiest jobs of the Coronation—carrying the Queen's 20-yard train down the aisle of Westminster Abbey. Lady Mary, the daughter of the Countess of Haddington, former Sarah Cook of Montreal, is pictured in her coming-out gown of white tulle embroidered in irridescent sequins.

ROBES MISTRESS—The Duchess of Devonshire, 33-year-old Mistress of the Robes, will train the six girls chosen to carry the Queen's 20-yard train down the aisle of Westminster Abbey.

A-Chief Compares Furnace With Household Cookstove

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's atomic chief lectured Parliament Wednesday on how to cook a roast in the world's hottest oven.

Dr. C. J. Mackenzie also touched on how to prepare radioactive fish, mosquitoes and weevils as he told the Commons atomic energy committee about Canada's march into the radioactive age.

First witness to appear before the committee as it began a detailed study on Canada's atomic program, the head of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. stated:

1. Canada has put millions of dollars into atomic development, but the benefits from radioisotopes may alone be worth all the money spent.

2. Three new Canadian-built cobalt "bombs" for cancer treatment will be ready for installation in a few weeks. They will go to hospitals in Winnipeg, Chicago and Minneapolis.

3. Demand for isotopes was growing and would continue to grow. Before the Chalk River, Ont., atomic furnace broke down last December, isotope shipments had been stepped up to 50 a month. This was in addition to about 500 shipments a year from commercial laboratories.

The cooking lesson developed as Dr. Mackenzie touched on isotope manufacturing. One method of producing them, he said, was from radioactive ash, the fragments from the fission of uranium 235, which is pure, high-priced uranium refined from ore.

The other method was to wrap the chemical to be made radioactive in a container and expose it to neutron bombardment in the furnace.

"This is much the same principle as that in the cooking of a roast—the hotter the oven the shorter is the time required to cook it," said Dr. Mackenzie.

That was why the Chalk River furnace was considered the world's hottest—the high neutron flux cut down the cooking time.

The isotopes were used as tracers in chemical, biological or industrial processes. Weak solutions of cobalt 60 isotopes were being placed on the hard shell of the pine weevil to find out where it hibernates. Fish and mosquitoes were being tagged the same way to find out more about their living and breeding habits.

Loses Foot

TORONTO (CP)—John Spencer, 16, tried to hitch a ride on a freight train through a Toronto suburb to a skating rink. As he grabbed the ladder of a boxcar, he lost his grip.

His skating pals, Ronald Shurtleff, 14, and Albert Sexton, 15, told police they watched John fall under the train. His right foot was cut off by the wheels.

Can't Say If Cities Qualify For Video

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann and Transport Minister Chevrier were unable to reply immediately Wednesday when asked in the Commons if seven cities applying for television licences would qualify for licences under government policy.

The question was asked by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre). He referred to an announcement Tuesday that the CBC board of governors will hear representations March 27 on applications for privately-owned television stations in Hamilton, London, Windsor and Sudbury, Ont.; Quebec City; Saint John, N.B., and Sydney, N.S.

Dr. McCann, who reports to Parliament for the publicly-owned CBC, said he knows nothing about the applications. They were made to the transport department.

New Threats Of Violence Rise As Citizens Aroused By Leftist Union Movie Makers

SILVER CITY, N. M. (AP) — Peace officers tensed as a new threat of violence arose today over the controversial movie, "Salt of the Earth," being filmed in this southwest New Mexico mining area.

The state police force was placed on the alert after Sheriff Owen Matthews reported 150 townsmen at nearby Central had decided to warn makers of the film to "get out by noon or go out in black boxes."

The sheriff notified state police chief Joe Roach that a 10-man committee had been appointed at the meeting to deliver the ultimatum to the movie-makers, who have been accused in Congress of making the film under Communist auspices.

Matthews asked that state police reinforcements be sent to back up local officers. Roach answered that he would have 30 to 40 officers on hand in the area before the noon deadline.

R. E. Trujillo, commander of the New Mexico department of the American Legion, urged residents to let state and federal authorities handle the matter.

"Certainly no one recognizes the imminent dangers of a communist philosophy more than the Legion," Trujillo said. "We, as American citizens, must not allow ourselves to be placed on a par with Communist police action methods."

Despite the threat, Clinton Jencks, international representative of the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, which is producing the movie, declared:

"We are not going to back down because of any informal threats. We will be on the job at our usual shooting schedules."

Tuesday Jencks' eye was blackened by an irate citizen who objected to the movie. He filed a complaint of assault and battery against Earl Lett, stocky 42-year-old druggist.

Lett owned up cheerfully to the attack. He said:

"I grabbed him by the coat so he couldn't get away and let him have it."

Jencks was attacked as residents barred camera crews from using the town of Bayard for a scene background.

The mine-mill union was tossed out of the CIO some time ago because its leaders refused to swear they weren't Communists.

Rosaura Revueltas, Mexican movie star who had a leading part in the film, attended the Soviet-sponsored international film festival in East Berlin last summer. She is held by the immigration service in El Paso on charges she entered the U. S. illegally.

Redpolls Come Back To Canada

(New York Herald Tribune News Service)

MONTCLAIR, N.J.—Two redpolls, birds of the finch family which normally stick to Northern Canada and Alaska, have hitch-hiked a winter cruise to South America. The birds are now heading back toward redpoll country on board the Santa Barbara, Grace Line ship due in New York March 16.

The news was received in an air mail letter from Lima, Peru, to Mrs. Robert Arny of Montclair, president of the Federated Naturalists of New Jersey. The letter was from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schnitzer of Elizabeth, bird watchers who sailed from New York on the Santa Barbara Feb. 10—at a time when New Jersey bird watchers were agog over a large and unexplained flight of redpolls down from Canada.

A dozen redpolls, presumably from this flight, were blown out to sea and landed, exhausted, on the Santa Barbara off Cape May. Most of them blew overboard and were lost, but the Schnitzers managed to rescue two. They put them in a cage and turned them over to a ship's officer, who promised to bring them back to the Northern Hemisphere. They also banded the birds.

So far as Mrs. Arny knows, they are the first redpolls to cross the equator.

Prudham's Right To Sit Questioned After CNR Deal

OTTAWA (CP) — The right of Mines Minister Prudham to sit in the Commons may be questioned by the opposition.

A reply tabled in the Commons Wednesday disclosed that a company headed by Mr. Prudham has bought $100,000 worth of property from the government-controlled Canadian National Railways in Edmonton.

The purchase raised the question of how close members of Parliament may come to the government in business dealings. They are subject to forfeiture of their seats for certain forms of direct transactions with the government under the "independence of Parliament" clauses of the House of Commons Act. The same provisions apply both to cabinet ministers and ordinary members of Parliament.

One legal authority gave an offhand opinion that the purchase would not affect Mr. Prudham's status as a member of the Commons.

CLEAR LEGALLY

A cabinet member said it would appear that Mr. Prudham is in the clear legally, and that the only question involved is that of the property of the deal.

The question of propriety, he said, hinges on whether a member of Parliament got a "special consideration," in this case on the price. But, he added, the price paid by Mr. Prudham's company seemed to be above the normal price.

Information on the purchase was given in reply to questions by Douglas Harkness (PC - Calgary South) and Ray Thomas (SC-Wetaskiwin).

MAY RAISE QUESTION

Mr. Harkness told newspaper men he may raise the matter in the House, but that he hadn't yet had time to decide what course he will follow.

The sale to Prudham Building Supplies Ltd., involved 1 9-10 acres of CNR property in Edmonton including the old CNR station and freight shed. The sale was made this year by negotiation. No tenders were called.

Mr. Prudham, member of the Commons for Edmonton West, is president of the company and its controlling shareholder.

In an interview, Mr. Prudham said he had not consulted the cabinet before the purchase was made, but had been given to understand later it was not out of keeping with his cabinet job.

STRAIGHT BUSINESS

Mr. Prudham said the transaction was a "straight business deal," which had been under negotiation since 1946, before he came to Parliament. He said his company had always hoped to buy the CNR property, across the Calgary-Edmonton highway from its lumber yard but on the same side of the highway as its main holdings.

"We consider we paid more than anyone else would have," he said, declaring that the Prudham company's need for more space had sent up the sale price of railway property.

An appraisal of the property by an independent firm, said Mr. Prudham, had set the valuation at $88,300, including $56,150 for a disused station building and $5,000 for an old freight shed. The city of Edmonton's valuation of the property and buildings was $31,026.

In opening proceedings, members voted 151 to 59 against a Progressive Conservative motion for further reports on defence department administration. The bid was sponsored by E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) who sought information on defence department inquiries dating back to 1948.

In the budget debate, Alistair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) charged Finance Minister Abbott had presented a "capitalist budget" as his Feb. 19.

The relief went to large corporations and to wealthy taxpayers.

"It is the kind of budget I would love to fight an election on," said Mr. Stewart.

George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley) urged the federal and provincial governments to act to protect the dairy industry from the manufacture of dairy product substitutes from oils.

J. W. Murphy (PC-Lambton West), representative of a tobacco-growing constituency, said the four cent reduction in the excise duty on cigarets was not good enough.

Near Flood Level

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Four major Alabama rivers rose near or above flood levels today, but clearing skies averted any serious threat of inundation. The Coosa, Warrior, Tombigbee and Alabama poured muddy torrents across lowlands in the wake of six days of steady rain.

Increase In Saskatchewan Gasoline Tax Expected To Give Province Surplus Of $89,950 In Fiscal Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan's CCF government announced Wednesday night it plans to raise the gasoline tax by a cent a gallon to 11 cents. The $1,100,000 new revenue will give Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines a surplus of $89,950 on current account in the next fiscal year.

Mr. Fines' budget, brought down in the Regina legislature, estimated current revenues of $70,515,810 and current expenditures of $70,425,920. The figures in 1952-53 were about $4,000,000 lower.

Capital expenses, not included in the budget estimates, will total $17,300,000, plus $23,000,000 in advances to the provincial power and telephone corporations.

Debate in the other sitting legislatures was on less important subjects:

Nova Scotia—Agriculture Minister MacKenzie said Canada's outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease and lower beef and pork prices caused a $6,000,000 drop in Nova Scotia farm income last year.

Prince Edward Island — R. R. Bell, Progressive Conservative opposition leader, said capital and credit are needed by P. E. I. agriculture. He urged a land-settlement scheme similar to the one in Quebec.

New Brunswick—the legislature's corporations committee held three argumentative sittings on a provincial dental act which would regulate dentistry, strengthen examination regulations and stiffen penalties for illegal practice.

INQUIRY ASKED

Manitoba — Dr. S. O. Thompson (LP-Gimli) called for an anti-combines investigation into what is described as price-fixing by Lake Winnipeg fish companies.

Alberta — Premier Manning announced the Alberta budget will be brought down Friday night. Paul Brecken (PC-Calgary) criticized the Social Credit government on grounds it gave insufficient help to the municipalities.

British Columbia — The Social Credit government and the CCF opposition were embroiled in a "Currie report" incident because the CCF obtained from an undisclosed source an advance copy of a speech by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

The gasoline-tax increase provided in the Saskatchewan budget will produce an estimated $1,100,000 which will be used for highway construction, Provincial Treasurer Fines said in his budget speech.

A report on provincial-municipal relations submitted to the government several years ago had recommended a two-cent increase in the gallonage tax. Other recommendations of the Britnell-Cronkite-Jacobs report had been put into effect. Now it was proposed to implement the gasoline-tax recommendation, but to the extent of one cent instead of the recommended two.

BAR THROWN

C. Grant Gibson, an engineer with the Ontario Department of Labor said that the bar might have been lodged in the machinery for as long as a year and when it finally became dislodged, propelled to the top of the verticle conveyor at 400 feet a minute and thrown against the metal casing with sufficient force to produce a spark.

How the 10-pound piece of solid metal got into what was referred to as an enclosed feed system was "definitely a mystery," according to Fred Ash, Quaker Oats' general operating manager.

In his own opinion and that of the staff of the Peterborough plant, it must be assumed that the explosion was caused by a spark, origin unknown, Mr. Ash said.

"A lot of people have gotten the idea that the explosion occurred when a switch was turned on or some equipment was started," Mr. Ash said, "but all the equipment was running when the explosion occurred. Ferguson was in the centre of one of the most intense heat areas and the initial explosion could have occurred on the third floor."

STARTED IN THIRD FLOOR

That the explosion occurred on the third floor and was carried up through the "elevator leg" spreading through the eighth floor was the opinion expressed by Alvin Townsend, district manager of the Donald Inspection Co., Toronto, which conducts inspections for the Insurance Adjustment Bureau.

"I feel that the explosion was caused by a metallic spark but I cannot say absolutely what caused it," Mr. Townsend said.

Describing the operation of the feed mill in detail, Mr. Ash said that on the Friday previous to the explosion the mill had been shut down and thoroughly cleaned in accordance with the company's regular program.

When work was resumed Monday morning, some of the 10 milling systems began operating at seven o'clock and others, including the feed mill, at eight. The machinery was all running but empty of grain when the explosion occurred, at which time Ferguson was dumping dust wheat bags into a bin.

Simultaneous explosions occurred at several locations from the second storey to the eighth, where the largest explosion took place, but it was not known whether it was this one which originated thet series, Mr. Ash said.

There was evidence of a "blow" on the second floor at the bottom of one of the series of eight elevator "legs." It was discovered that the pulley had been rubbing against the side of the "boot" at the base of the leg and had caused considerable wear on the sides of the buckets in which the grain was conveyed to the eighth floor.

Consensus of company officials was that a small isolated puff was started by a spark which dislodged dust particles, causing the series of larger explosions, Mr. Ash stated. Some of the employees had thought they heard two explosions, he said.

Source of the spark was not believed to have been the electrical system, he said. Emplayees were not allowed to carry contact matches and were permitted to smoke only in smoking rooms at designated times. There was no evidence of foreign materials in the systems which fed grain from the other sections of the plant into the feed mill and which were protected by magnets.

"This eliminates all the causes we could think of except the striking together of two pieces of metal," he said. This could have been the elevator pulley rubbing on the side of the boot or it could have been the piece of shaft found in the sifter.

Other instances of metal friction given by Mr. Ash were: Replacement of covers on the metal bins on the eighth floor, metal truck wheels running over metal floor plates, or metal heel plates on shoes.

Questioned by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Mr. Ash said that if one of the bucket elevators in the bank of eight were running idly there would be no way of shutting it down without stopping the others. Some of the electric motors had open windings. All electric lights are dust-proof and metal shovels were used in the feed mill.

PROBABLY CARELESSNESS

Asked if anyone attempting to commit sabotage could have dropped the piece of metal shaft into the system, Mr. Ash said that he thought the presence of the bar in the system was more likely due to carelessness.

Albert Bonney, chief maintenance engineer at the plant, said that if the bar had been noticed it would have been removed and brought to the attention of the department concerned.

He said that the degree of wear on the boot at the bottom of No. 2 leg was "to the extent that we would like to have corrected it if we had seen it but it was not visible on a normal inspection."

Hydro Inspector Fred Hardwicke, when asked what he had to say about open windings on electric motors in areas where dust tends to collect, answered that he had made an inspection just prior to the explosion and had found the equipment in order in keeping with Hydro regulations which required that hazardous situations had to be marked.

He said that Quaker Oats had bought considerable electrical equipment since it had become available in the last two years and that the company's reputation for co-operation with the hydro commission was "100 per cent."

Harry Jordan of the fire marshal's office said that a spark from static electricity could be prevented either by grounding machinery or bonding it, that is connecting the parts with metal strips.

He said that the Quaker Oats had not noticed any trouble with static electricity and had relied on the moisture in the air to dispel it. About 50 to 60 per cent relative humidity was required to guarantee that no static spark could occur.

The possibility of static sparks is higher in winter due to artificial heat which decreases the humidity, he said, although there was nothing to indicate that the explosion had been caused by a static spark.

He said that the National Fire Protection Association had recommended in its code that grain bins should be vented to the outside.

CLEANED EQUIPMENT

Austin Bridgewater, group leader at the plant, said that he had cleaned the gyro-whip on Friday afternoon about three o'clock and if the piece of metal shaft had been in it then he would have noticed it. He suggested that the bar could have been in a bag of material bought by the company, dumped into a bin and drawn into the whip.

George Price, employed by Quaker Oats for 26 years, who found the piece of shaft, said that he had never seen anything bigger than a nail in the gyro-whip. A similar observation was made by Cameron Bothwell.

Grant Morrow, feed mill foreman, said that although the feed system was a closed one, it was not sealed and there was a slide eight inches wide between the top of the whip and the elevator leg, which could be opened to adjust a pair of valves but, short of someone deliberately putting the piece of shaft through the opening, it could not have got through by accident.

He said it was highly improbable that it could have been blown into the system by the explosion. Ingredients were not screened when put into the bin, he said in answer to a juryman's question.

Howard Herschall, district representative for the department of labor, said that the company was noted for its good housekeeping practices and safety procedures. He said that in his investigation he had not been able to pinpoint the cause of the accident nor any specific act of negligence which might have caused it.

RECOMMENDATIONS

He said he had made seven recommendations in connection with the explosion which might cut down hazards. He mentioned the metal lids on the bins, the idle running elevator legs, the open wiring on motors and starters, metal runways, a defective bin light, the piece of metal shaft and "quite a concentration of heat in the system."

C. Grant Gibson, an engineer with the department of labor, said that in his opinion the origin of the explosion was a spark caused mechanically in the vicinity of No. 2 or No. 8 elevator legs.

Asked by the crown attorney if he had any criticism of the company not calling the fire department until 10 a.m., two hours after the explosion occurred, Mr. Gibson said that the fire was only a flash fire and the injured men were not left in the burning building so that it was not a subject of his investigation.

"Didn't you ask the fire marshal's department to bawl out the fire chief for not being on hand?" Mr. Bradshaw asked.

"I had no knowledge of it at all," he retorted briskly.

"You have no criticism of either the company or the fire department?"

"No criticism whatsoever. I wasn't in contact with the fire marshal's office until the investigation."

Mr. Gibson suggested that in order to prevent a similar explosion in the future "it might be wise to put a one-inch mesh screen in some places in the circuit. He said that the company had embarked on a program of installing quite a radical type of bin vent which it was hoped would prevent dust getting out into the work-room.

Dr. Carleton commended the witnesses for the way in which they gave their evidence.

"They have all given their evidence in a straight-forward manner without trying to hold back anything," he told the jury. "I'm sure that this must have impressed you as it has me."

In addition to the recommendation the jury added to their finding: "The task of the jury has been made much easier due to the clarity of the witnesses as brought out in evidence."

Members of the jury were: John Comstock, 430 Gordon St., foreman; C. E. Graham, 599 Harvey St.; John Allen, 215 Reid St.; Russell Riches, 223 Rink St.; and G. E. Welbourne, 792 Armour Rd.

Bell's Palsy May Last Months Before Recovery Is Complete

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

In response to a letter from Mrs. E. P., this column will be devoted to a discussion of Bell's palsy.

In order to explain this condition, it is necessary to say first that there are 12 nerves which come directly out of the brain. These nerves are numbered; for example, the seventh, also called the facial nerve, serves some of the skin and muscles of the face.

Bell's palsy is a condition which involves this nerve. The most striking feature of the illness is a paralysis of the muscles of one side of the face which produces a drooping or sagging of the lip and an inability to close one eye.

As a result, the two sides of the face do not look alike even when at rest; the difference becomes more conspicuous when motions like wrinkling the forehead or smiling or laughing are attempted. Also, it may be difficult to close the mouth and saliva or food may escape out of one corner.

Bell's palsy frequently comes on suddenly and is associated with some pain. The pain may leave rather rapidly and then there may be no sensations except perhaps mild tingling. A change in sensation from pressure or the prick from the point of a pin is common. The sense of taste over the front portions of the tongue is often likely to be affected.

This condition may be the result of injury such as a cut or a gunshot wound. The difficulty may follow the extraction of a tooth, although why this should happen is not well understood. Infections of various sorts, especially those in the upper part of the nose or throat, frequently precede the onset of this type of nerve paralysis.

General diseases such as mumps, shingles, scarlet fever, or influenza are additional possibilities, as are many other conditions, both rare and common. In many cases, however, no definite cause can be discovered.

This nerve paralysis is a form of neuritis, and, as in most other forms of neuritis, recovery is the rule. The outlook, however, depends to some extent upon the cause.

CAUSE GOVERNS TREATMENT

Treatment also depends upon the cause, if that can be discovered. In those varieties which follow an acute infection, time is perhaps all that is needed. In other cases some special operation or treatment is indicated.

The application of heat around the ear area may be helpful. If the paralysis is slight and if there is nothing to make it seem undesirable, electric treatments may help. Active movements of the face in front of a mirror are recommended from the beginning.

Bell's palsy may be considered an uncomfortable condition which often lasts for months but which usually clears up entirely.

Welsh Language Faces Extinction

New York Herald Tribune News Service

LONDON—The Welsh language, which has suffered a "catastrophic decline" since 1900, now is in the "utmost danger" from television, according to a report by the Central Advisory Council for Education in Wales.

Any extension of television in the Principality's schools must be accompanied by a revival of instruction in the Welsh language, teachers who are bilingual, and an adequate supply of textbooks, the Council warns.

Bilingual instruction throughout Wales and Monmouthshire is "the only feasible way in which our culture, the rich and ancient heritage of Wales, can be saved and kept alive for posterity," the Council says. It reports that a survey shows only 2.5 per cent of the children now can speak Welsh in districts where everyone spoke it 50 years ago.

Crokinole Party Held

CAVAN— (ENS) — A progressive crokinole party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson Friday evening when 11 tables were played.

Winners of first prizes were Mrs. B[illegible] Fee of Peterborough and [illegible] Argue. The booby prizes were won by Mrs. C. Petterson and Lloyd Nelson. Mr. Yonkers won the chair prize.

The hostess, assisted by the ladies of the community served a delicious lunch.

FUR AUCTION—A veteran buyer at a Montreal fur auction looks over a pile of beaver pelts before they go under the hammer. A trend seen in recent auctions is a lessening demand for long-haired furs.

Built Toronto Harbor Civil Engineer Retires

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Wilson, 70, district federal engineer for a large section of Ontario, will retire from his government position Friday.

In charge of the area between the Bay of Quinte, North Bay and Lake Nipissing and down through Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario, he was responsible for construction of harbor facilities in Toronto and Hamilton in recent years and built the lift bridges over the Burlington canal.

Although official retirement age in his department is 65, the Toronto-born Mr. Wilson stayed on an extra five years. Now he plans to go into business for himself as a consulting marine engineer.

100% Increase For Residents Of High School District

Number one topic of conversation among ratepayers in the Norwood High School District is the more than 100 per cent increase in the 1953 budget.

Last year the levy for maintenance of the three secondary schools in the district was $22,091.97. The 1953 levy will be for $50,000, an increase of $27,908.03.

The debenture levy remains the same over a 20-year period—$29,981.70 annually.

One of the big increases was instruction costs which includes teachers' salaries. It went up from an actual expenditure of $30,332.90 in 1952 to an estimated expenditure of $41,000 in 1953.

School supplies are up $2,600 and there is a small increase in a number of other items.

Another big chunk of the increase is transportation costs. In 1952 $23,587 was actually spent on transporting some 250 pupils. This year the cost is estimated at $28,000.

Following is a summary of the 1953 budget in the Norwood High School District:

	Equ. Assessment	Pct. Levy	Debentures	Maintenance	Total
Asphodel	$1,159,951	28.04	$ 8,406.88	$14,020	$22,426.88

Alnwick Couple Honored At Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A party of close friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broadworth Monday evening in the form of a surprise party.

The occasion was their 18th wedding anniversary and Mr. Broadworth's 38th birthday.

The evening was spent in playing cards.

A presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Broadwotrh of a set of crystal ware.

Mr. Broadworth was reeve of Alnwick township for the past two years and for a number of years a member of Alnwick township council.

At the nomination meeting for the 1953 council, he declined to accept the reeveship for another year.

At the conclusion of the card games and presentation the ladies served lunch.

HER EASTER STYLE IS ON SLIMMER LINES

Choice For A Subteener

The role of the subteener in the Easter fashion parade is not a minor one. She'll be as well turned out as her mother or older sister, in clothes designed cspecially for her years and wardrobe needs.

Coat and suit fashions for sub-teen girls are gradually revolving toward the slimmer line. This line may not be entirely apparent at first glance since there are boxy jackets in suits and fluid, controlled fullness in toppers and full-length coats. But the trend is unmistakeably there and will be felt on Easter Sunday.

Our sub-teener (above) has chosen chalky white in a dressy topper for her promenade. This has the loose, fluid silhouette just mentioned with narrow front and controlled fullness at sides and back. Pink seed pearls are scattered on the collar for this spring's jewelled touch. Buttons are delicate mother-of-pearl, fabric is a wool crepe basket weave.

The cardigan coat is a fashion for all ages this spring and is shown for sub-teeners, too. This is a slim silhouette as is the boyish coat this year. Suits often have the bulky or boxy top combined with narrow skirt.

Calgary Woman Collects Earrings As Hobby

CALGARY (CP)—Women everywhere like to collect things—recipes, antiques and possibly husbands. Mrs. S. R. Farquharson of Calgary collects ear-rings—the bigger the better.

A harpist in the Calgary Symphony Orchestra and president of the symphony board, Mrs. Farquharson has been collecting earrings since she was 17 and now has more than 50 pairs. If they aren't big enough to be impressive she remodels them to meet her style specifications.

Mrs. Farquharson does the designing. But it's her husband who does all the work.

Working with tweezers, pliers and magnifying glass, he follows her directions and the result is something to startle the passerby.

"I bought my first pair of earrings when I was a student at the Brantford, Ont., Conservatory of Music," Mrs. Farquharson said. "They were tiny pearls and I had to wear them discreetly, with my hair pulled down over my ears, because nice girls just didn't wear ear-rings in those days."

TAKEN ON TRIPS

When she goes on a trip the earrings have a special box and every pair goes with her.

Included in her collection is a pair of Maltese crosses from her mother. However, these aren't worn since Mrs. Farquharson hasn't had her ears pierced and the crosses go with pierced ear lobes.

Also in the collection is a pair of jet "chandeliers" from France, others with hand-painted china medallions with matching pendant and some fashioned in more traditional styles and studded with stones. These are classed as antiques.

Then there are the concoctions or "junk" as Mrs. Farquharson prefers to call her more unusual ear-rings.

There are huge gold loops, four-in-one rhinestone and pearl affairs which dangle to a length of four inches, four-inch red hoops and huge plastic flowers.

DOROTHY DIX:

Hasty Remarriage Results In Neglect Of Second Home

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem is a desperate one, and I hope you can help me. I have been married less than a year, and have a six-week-old baby. The first three or four months of our marriage were wonderful. My husband says he loves me, as I do him, and we get along fine except for one thing. He got a divorce just before I married him, and he has three small children. Lately he has begun to miss them very much. To satisfy him I took one child with us and had her for a month. His ex-wife wanted to visit her all the time, so after an argument I sent the child back. I would have kept her if the mother had stayed out of the picture.

Now my husband has taken a job in another city to be nearer the children. He sends me money but that isn't enough; I miss him terribly I thought our own baby would make up for the others, but he still seems to love them above everything. Do you think if I adopted one of the other children, it would help matters?

MRS. S. R.

ANSWER: The keynote of your difficulty lies in the words "he got a divorce just before I married him!" Your husband apparently rushed into his second marriage, and now his heart is still with his first family. Knowing the circumstances surrounding your husband's divorce would aid in reaching a workable solution Lacking this information, my immediate advice would be to consult a marriage or spiritual advisor to whom all facts could be presented.

REMARRIED IN HASTE

If the second marriage had not followed the first so closely, your husband and his first wife might have been reconciled. Perhaps he's not fully conscious of this possibility himself, but there is no doubt that he is still very much aware of his original family, and is torn between both his households. His place now certainly is with you. He should stop teetering between two families, settle down with one and concentrate his responsibilities where they primarily belong right now. The other three children should be permitted visits to him according to court order or divorce agreement. Forget the adoption question; separating the children would not be a good idea.

Your husband should return to his hometown, and curtail his attention to his ex-wife.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Quite some time ago I wrote asking your opinion of my situation. I have never seen my letter in the paper. I'm in my 20's, and am very fond of a married man. I have been seeing him regularly, and though I've tried to change my feelings toward him, I find my affection increasing. The situation is becoming serious and I'd like your advice.

M. J.

ANSWER: Had you given me your address, a personal reply would have been sent you. As for seeing your letter in the paper, the same question has been dealt with so often, and so emphatically, in this column, that no reader can be in doubt of my stand. You're kidding yourself when you say you have tried to break your attachment. No love, particularly a clandestine affair, is broken by continuing to see the man. You are deliberately feeding your love. You aren't looking for advice; you're seeking justification, and you'll never get it from this column.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: After several years of widowhood, and at the age of 50, I married a man 70. The trouble is he doesn't want to go anywhere and I like to go places and have a good time. I get so blue staying at home.

MRS. RHODA T.

ANSWER: You can scarcely expect a man of 70 to enjoy gallivanting. He's earned the right to rest by the family hearth. In fact, he probably married you to get home comforts. Better learn to make the best of it.

Warsaw W.A. Gets $40 From Social

WARSAW— (ENS) — The Women's Association of the United Church met with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. H. Payne opended the meeting with "Tis Winter Now" and hymn 148, followed by the Lord's prayer repeated in unison. The devotional was taken by Mrs. Sherwood Payne, the theme being "Spirit of Prayer."

The treasurer reported $40 proceeds from the pancake social. The flower convener reported three cards sent to the sick and 28 visits were reported by the members in homes and hospitals. The roll call was answered by "New Ways of Rainsing Money."

Miss Clara McCracken gave a reading. Miss Georgina Moore favored with several selections on the accordion. Mrs. Stan Payne conducted a contest on Romance answered with the name of a flower.

The meeting closed with "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and the Mizpah benediction.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Harold Ray, Mrs. Stanley Payne and Mrs. Norman Payne.

GA Take Tests

Twenty-seven members of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church met in the parish hall Tuesday afternoon. They are completing tests for badges and chevron work and all tests results and practical work is to be sent to WA house in Toronto before April 18th. As part of the physical fitness badge work the girls tried three tests in table tennis with Mrs. C. Boate in charge. Four tests in basketball were conducted by Bob Kingston and after the tests a lively game took place which he refereed. Drawing a floor plan of the church has been completed for churchmanship badge. This Friday, the girls will meet at the YWCA for a swim test. At seven o'clock that evening they are to go on a hay-ride which is taking the place of the long-postponed sleigh ride.

Church Couples Portray Old West

A little of the old West crept into George Street United Church Wednesday evening in the person of "Wild Nell" in "The Pet of the Plains." This skit formed part of the entertainment for the monthly meeting of the Mr. and Mrs. Club, and the parts were ably played by members of the club.

The meeting opened with a singsong, followed by a skit entitled "Darwin's Mistake," which was also greatly enjoyed.

Devotional period followed, with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller in charge. Report of the great success of the Valentine tea highlighted the business session. Mrs. Stan Gilmore was presented with a gift in appreciation of her part in convening the tea, and Mrs. Don Gillespie received a prize for selling the most tickets.

Mr. Scott Macfarlane entertained at "20 questions," while the players of "Wild Nell" were setting the stage. Group games followed the skit, and a lovely lunch was served at the close.

MR. DOUGLAS BOYD of Richmond Hill is to be the speaker at this Friday's studio meeting of the Women's Art Association. He is one of very few Canadian-born artists working in precious metals who has not an ancestral background in the art, or training in one of the old lands. A designer craftsman of established standing, he will talk on "The Romance of Silver." He has gained international as well as national recognition and was the maker of a silver cigaret box presented to Queen Elizabeth.

Ready-To-Make Clothes In Heavy Demand

LONDON (CP)—From London to Glasgow, ready-to-make clothes are rocketing to favor with women on a budget.

Through big stores and well-known fashion magazines, women can buy cut-out dresses, blouses and skirts for little more than the cost of the cloth. The service sometimes includes made-up buttons and belt, matching reels of cotton and binding.

Sales have increased to such an extent that one Leeds store is giving a fashion boost to the sew-it-yourself styles. Girls behind the counter will wear models made up in the workrooms, selling and advising on the sewing of similar garments.

Most popular ready-to-sew clothes in Glasgow are found in the children's wear departments. Corduroy shorts and pyjamas already cut out cost 5s each. A girl's cotton frock is priced at 7s 6d—at least one-third less than a made-up article.

Toronto Woman 103rd Birthday

TORONTO (CP)—Granny Jeffries' birthday party Tuesday was a "bang-up" affair. She was 103.

At Toronto's Maynard Convalescent Home, Mrs. Mary Anne Jeffries, known to her many friends as "Granny," received guests from early morning until late evening.

After all these visits, plus her share of two birthday cakes, staff members thought granny might be too tired to do her supper justice. But at 5 p.m. Granny spread her serviette and was ready for supper.

Granny attributes her long life to hard work and to all the persons she says have been "so good" to her.

Canadian Girls Win Guides' Awards

TORONTO (CP)—One of the highest honors for Girl Guides has been earned by two Canadians, guide council headquarters announced Wednesday.

The girls are Norah Collins, 18, of Kenora, Ont., and Margot Parkes, 17, of Montreal. Both will receive Juliet Low memorial awards presented by the American girl scouts, entitling them to a trip to Switzerland for an international encampment next summer.

Leadership ability and an interest in all phases of Guiding are needed to qualify for the award, named for Juliet Low, who was instrumental in introducing Guiding to the United States.

CATHERINE PARR TRAILL

The Catherine Parr Traill Chapter, IODE, held a business meeting following the meeting of the Peterborough unit of the Canadian Cancer Society, in Memorial Hall, Lakefield, on Monday evening. The regent, Mrs. J. A. Arnott, expressed her appreciation to all those who had assistedt with the skating revue recently sponsored by the Chapter.

Further plans were made for the cooking school which is coming to the village under the sponsorship of the Women's Institute and the IODE. Mrs. Donald Hendren and Mrs. Arnott offered to assist with the necessary preparations.

Treasurer Mrs. Kenenth Morris reported the proceeds from the sale of home baking to be $44.40 and from the ice revue $62.46.

An invitation was extended to Chapter members to attend the Municipal Chapter dinner to be held in Peterborough.

Arrangements were made for the transportation of a polio patient to the YWCA for swimming during the month of March.

Mrs. L. Quackenbush invited the members to her home for the April meeting, at which conveners for the year will be chosen.

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

Colored pictures of Trinidad and Bermuda were enjoyed by the members of the Major Bennett Chapter, IODE, on Tuesday evening. These were shown by Miss Jean Hammond, who had taken them during a recent vacation to these islands.

After the bringing forth of the standard by Mrs. Jack Skitch, the business meeting was conducted by Regent Mrs. Donald Murray.

Mrs. B. E. Metcalfe moved to send five IODE coronation books to the adopted school at Burleigh Falls. Provincial Chapter in Hamilton has urged all IODE members to purchase these books.

The chapter donated $50 to the flood relief fund.

Services at home and abroad convener, Mrs. T. Gaskell, reported five dozen diapers, eight sewn articles and four knitted articles have been shipped. Two letters and five cards of acknowledgement were read from people receiving overseas parcels.

A sewing meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. F. G. Parsons on Tuesday, March 17.

Mrs. J. L. Evans, empire and world affairs convener, read an interesting article on "Symbol and Solidarity."

Mrs. R. Huggins reported that she and Mrs. T. Atkinson had attended the YWCA annual dinner as chapter representatives. Mrs. Gaskell's report on the Valentine ball showed that it had been a very successful event.

Lunch was served at the close by Miss Betty Castle and her committee.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER

The Peter Robinson Chapter, IODE, meeting Wednesday night at the YWCA opened with the flag being brought forward by Mrs. J. Heffernan and the national anthem played by Mrs. L. Mitchell. Regent Mrs. P. C. Sanders then opened the business discussion.

Two ladies proposed for membership and accepted are Mrs. J. Fortner and Mrs. H. Dinsdale. Mrs. F. Dobson was formally received into the Chapter.

The visit of Mrs. Joan Copeland of Violet House on the evening of May 19 at Trinity Hall was confirmed. It was decided to send four IODE coronation books for senior rooms and coloring books for primary rooms to the adopted school at Apsley. Also, the coronation books are to be put in the city collegiate libraries.

Clothing was brought to the meeting to be sent to flood victims of Britain by Miss D. Burgess, and the meeting voted a donation of $100 to the flood victims' relief fund.

Mrs. Sanders and vice-regent, Mrs. J. Johnston were chosen delegates to the convention at Hamilton in April.

Madame Lenart, a graduate cosmetician from Hungary, and her daughter gave the ladies a most interesting demonstration and talk on care of the skin and proper use of cosmetics. Mrs. A. Malby was the model for a complete make-up.

Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald and her group served refreshments at the close.

Mintz-Fallis

BETHANY (ENS)—A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday at Bethany when Isabel Fallis of Bethany became the bride of Warren Mintz of Bancroft. The Rev. James Hampson of the United Church performed the ceremony at the bride's home.

Mrs. Mintz wore a navy afternoon dress with navy and pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. William Dixon of Toronto was her attendant, also wearing navy, with navy and black accessories, and corsage of pink carnations. Mr. Dixon was the groomsman.

Supper was served to their guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Card, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Maxwell, Mr. Percy Vader, Mr. Bernard Storey, Mr. Harold Storey, Mr. Walter Fraser, all of Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Downie and Miss Sandra Downie of Raeboro; Mrs. Harold Bannon, Omemee; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McMaster and Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan of Bethany.

The couple left on a motor trip to Huntsville, Ottawa and Belleville. They will live in Bethany.

Indian Woman Shows Signs Of Gaining In Importance

CALGARY (CP)—Willa Broderick, social service worker for the Indian affairs department, says that Indian women in Alberta are gaining importance in the tribe.

While always before in history the Indian woman has been the slave in the family, she is just now beginning to develop her reticent, insecure personality.

Miss Broderick claims the Indian woman is showing signs of general advancement and many appear more eager to make their way in the white man's world.

The Indian economic system however still remains on a "feast and famine" basis, with families spending all their money, eating all their food, and generally making no plans beyond the immediate future. But, says Miss Broderick, "we are trying to teach the younger Indian generation to establish a more economical system."

In one case she noted one Indian woman was encouraged to can fruit and vegetables, only to find that the family used up their entire winter canning supplies within two weeks while fresh food was still available.

The Indian family unit, however, is slowly changing, making it less inclusive of in-laws. While the crammed tepee with several family generations still exists, it is gradually being replaced by more and more well-cared-for cottages.

W.A. To Serve Lunch At Sale

BETHANY (ENS)—The Women's Association of the United Church met in the Sunday school room, with Mrs. Mansell Finney presiding for the devotional period. Mrs. Herb Coppins gave the scripture lesson thoughts and led in prayer. Mrs. Walter Rowland reported a re-arrangement of the five groups. Plans were completed to serve lunch at the farm sale of Otto Spencer on March 11.

The program was in charge of Mrs. T. J. Jackson, who gave a reading, "Practice What You Preach." Mrs. W. Rowland gave some items on the Lord's Day Alliance Act with a plea to keep Sunday as a holy day. Mrs. Herb Coppins gave a reading, "With One Accord They Began to Make Excuses," a humorous account of reasons some people use for not attending church. Miss Elsie Richardson recited "The Cremation of Sam McGee."

Mrs. R. Carr gave the topic, "The Working Christian." "James Russell Lowell wrote, 'Show me a place on this planet ten miles square where a man may live in decency, comfort and security, supporting and educating his children, a place where age is reverenced, infancy respected, womanhood honored and human life held in due regard . . . and I will show you a place where the gospel of Christ has gone before and laid the foundations.' All of us enjoy the fruits of living in a Christian community, whether or not we are active church supporters. Most of us will agree that if the church disappeared the decent things in the community might eventually be submerged by other things. Yet so many sit back and let the other fellow do the work. We cannot be true Christians without working at it. A recent analysis of census figures show that the adherents of Canada's ten largest religious denominations make up 96 per cent. of the country's population, which shows that Canada is predominantly a Christian country.

"Perhaps the assumed indifference that many people carry towards religion is not truly representative of their innermost feelings. We in Canada have little knowledge of the difficulties of the early Christians. We take for granted the truths they had to fight for."

Lunch was served by Mrs. T. J. Jackson, Mrs. Herb Coppins and Mrs. Ralph Preston, with Mrs. Thomas Jennings expressing the thanks of the members to the hostess group.

Jacques Cartier planted cabbage, turnips and lettuce when he built a tiny fort at Quebec in 1541.

PCVS

Speakers at the PCVS Home and School Association meeting Wednesday evening was Professor R. J. McAndrew of the University of Toronto. In introducing him Miss Marie Hicks explained that he has been registrar of University College for the past 25 years and was previously professor of French.

Mr. McAndrew first gave a brief outline of how the colleges in Toronto became united as a university now more than 100 years ago. He then outlined the growth of education from the time of the renaissance when it was a privilege of the few.

With education now open to everyone, he divided people into three categories: first, the gentle gentle; second, the gentle ungentle; third, the ungentle gentle.

Those in the first class are born to means and have the taste to acquire education, are able to travel and widen their knowledge, and are also willing to serve the community and the country. To the second class he relegates people born to advantages but whose taste run to disreputable channels —the wastrels. In the third class are the majority of people, and the one most desired at the university. They are not born to wealth or privilege, but wish to acquire education and are willing to serve the community.

The professor feels students are not working to their capacity and also that teachers are asked to do too many things outside of teaching. He thinks the Home and School Association should protect the teachers in this.

He said that too many students are going to university only for the contacts that are available and too few are real students. He would like to see a return to the rugged individualism and "work for pride in their workmanship."

Professor McAndrew likened educational process to a "gazebo", a sort of platform which give a birds-eye view that enriches life. He made a great plea for raising the standard of education and closed with this statement, "Excellence of achievement is the best guarantee of achieving excellence."

Mr. Jacob Low expressed the appreciation of members to this speaker's contribution to their program.

The meeting was opened by the Choral Club singing "O Canada" and they also rendered four other numbers. Barbara Woodcock was the conductor in the absence of Mr. Curtis and Marion Crawford, president of the club, introduced each number.

President Mrs. P. A. Martyn was in the chair. Principal Mr. C. S. Browne spoke briefly, bringing greetings from the staff.

Mrs. H. J. Long read the secretary's report on Home and School work to date. Mr. J. H. Moebus briefly outlined the secondary school conference which he and Mr. Clysdale attended recently at Ryerson Institute as delegates from the Association.

Mrs. Lloyd Raper distributed the nomination papers and explained the nomination procedure.

The Choral Club girls were served refreshments by the executive after their songs.

At conclusion of the meeting, tea was served in the gymnasium where social conveners Mrs. J. Law and Mrs. J. Goodson and their committee had a tea table prettily decorated with shamrocks and other St. Patrick's Day motif.

10th Annual So-Ed Closes With Banquet

Closing banquet of the 10th annual So-Ed program in Peterborough was enjoyed Wednesday evening by 125 persons. The banquet was served in the YWCA recreation room and the pleasing arrangements were the work of a special banquet committee. Decorations were on the Canadiana theme of maple leaves and beavers with tiny flags at each plate and red, white and blue tapers highlighting the tables.

Lovely spring flowers were on the head table at which the guests were chairman Bill Sawyer and Mrs. Sawyer, Rabbi and Mrs. Babb, Miss Leta Brownscombe of the YMCA and Mr. James McClenaghan of the YMCA which are combined in the So-Ed presentation each year, Mr. Alex Sinclair of the Recreation Commission, Miss Esther Thornton, treasurer of So-Ed, Mr. Bill Piercy, and the entertainers of the evening, Dr. Ralph Honey and Mr. Don Crawford with Mrs. Crawford.

Dr. Honey and Mr. Crawford called their contribution "A little bit of Canada." The latter rendered several of the Robert Service poems and Dr. Honey recited "Little Albert" and other pieces.

A quartette of Bob Grant, Bill Sawyer, Stan Jones and George Berthen did some four-part harmony on old songs and had the audience join in. Mr. Grant and Mr. Jones also led a sing song and Miss Esther Meiklejohn was the pianist.

Dancing to recorded music followed the dinner.

On the committee in charge were Misses Nancy Walsh and Marion Oddie, Stan Jones, Mrs. Marion Thomas, Bob Grant and Wesley Chow.

A So-Ed continuation meeting is to be held next Wednesday evening at the Y with all interested persons invited.

Mrs. E. Northey Hostess To WMS

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. Elmer Northey was hostess to members of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Seventeen members answered the roll call given by Mrs. Herbert Kemp.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. Alfred Dunford and the scripture lesson was read by Miss Ora Dunford.

The study book, "Along African Trails," was capably dealt with by Mrs. P. H. Darling, who reviewed the chapter on infant mortality in Angola.

The president, Mrs. H. J. Brown, presided for the business period and thanked all those who had cooperated by helping with the meetings and the work during her illness. The financial report was given by Mrs. Bruce Charlton, who reported a balance of $25.88. Mrs. E. G. Orr read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. Frank Darling reported on some articles needed by the supply secretary and Mrs. P. H. Darling reported on the bales recently packed for shipments overseas.

Assisting the hostess at the tea hour were Mrs. E. J. Millage and Mrs. Orr.

Mount Pleasant Institute Meets

MT. PLEASANT (ENS)—The Women's Institute met in the hall with several ladies from Fairmount present. The president, Mrs. E. McLean, opened the meeting by singing the Ode.

The program was in charge of Mrs. E. Lawson and Mrs. S. Tully. Mrs. A. Bland read a poem, Mrs. G. Ruth a reading, Mrs. D. Lawson a reading. Mrs. E. Lawson gave a synopsis of the institutes's work for the past 50 years and Mrs. Gordon McLean contributed a very interesting paper on citizenship.

The meeting closed by singing of The Queen followed by a dainty lunch served by Mrs. H. Tully, Mrs. Neyton Fee and Mrs. C. T. Morden.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN CALLADINE of Peterborough cutting their wedding cake. The bride is the former Thelma Baker. —(Choate Studio Photo)

Thelma Baker Weds John Calladine

The marriage took place at Knox United Church Saturday afternoon of Thelma Vera May Baker to John Leslie Calladine.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. G. Douglas. Music was by Organist Mr. E. Potter. Before the bride entered, Miss Glady Langton sang "I Love You Truly," and during the signing of the register she sang "Because." The church was decorated with spring flowers.

The bride wore a gown of ice blue satin, modelled with portrait neckline, outlined with imported Cheevy lace, hand-dyed to matching shade. The long fitted sleeves were finished with points over the hands, and the very full skirt flowed into a long cathedral train. Her flowing veil of matching blue tulle illusion was caught to a tiny bonnet-shaped headdress of matching satin and net. She was carrying a bouquet of Bettertime roses.

Miss Edith Walker, maid-of-honor, wore yellow taffeta, having a nylon marquisette yolk, and a feather headdress to match.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Leahy, in mauve, and Miss Theresa O'Brien, in light green, the frocks styled of nylon net over taffeta. They also wore matching feather headdresses, each carrying a cascade bouquet of spring flowers.

The groom was attended by Mr. Lloyd Weagants of Belleville. Ushers were James Calladine and Keith Fontaine.

For going away, the bride chose a pale blue dress with pink and brown accessories, and wore a corsage of pink carnations on her fur coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Calladine will live at 285½ George St.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serve It With A Festive Flair

The new second wife of a doctor-friend of ours, who is strictly a meat and potato man regardless of his training, said that she was so glad when Lent came because it was such a sound reason for not serving meat to her high church husband seven days per week.

She is a good cook—an excellent one—and variety in cooking is the spice of her life—after the joy of her late-in-life marriage, of course! We were mulling over really posh dinner menus without meat, and she is going to serve the soup and the cheese croquettes you will find below, that are my idea of carriage-trade food.

CORN AND ALMOND CREAM SOUP

Four cups whole milk, 2½ cups cream-style corn (1 20-oz. tin), 1 medium onion chopped, 1 stalk celery chopped, 1 bay leaf, 4 tablespoons each butter or margarine, flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon each paprika and celery salt, ½ cup chopped or shredded blanched almonds, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup heavy cream. Heat the milk and corn together in top of double boiler until very hot. Saute but do not brown the onions and celery in the butter along with the bay leaf, until the vegetables are soaked with the butter and limp—about 10 minutes over very low heat. Stir in the flour until smooth, then stir in the hot milk and corn mixture, stirring until thick. Fish out the bay leaf. Gently heat the almonds in the melted butter until they are tinged with gold. Add to soup, reserving a few to sprinkle over top. Add the heavy cream and heat through. If desired reserve a little of the cream and whip it. Put a blob on top of each serving of soup and sprinkle this with the sauteed almonds. Absolutely scrumptious. (The fatsos are going to hate me.)

CHEESE CROQUETTES

One-half pound grated cheddar cheese, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ⅛ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons water, ½ cup sifted dry breadcrumbs. Mix cheese, soft crumbs, 3 beaten eggs, Worcestershire sauce, salt and cayene. Form into balls. Dilute the 1 egg with the water and roll the cheese balls in it, then roll in dry crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat at 375 deg. Fahr. until delicately browned. Skim out and drain on unglazed paper. Serve hot with

Tomato Sauce: Simmer ½ tablespoon choped onion and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley in 2 cups canned tomatoes for 20 minutes and then strain them. Melt 4 tablespons butter or fat and stir in 4 tablespons flour and some salt and pepper, then stir in the tomatoes until thick. (This is a good sauce to serve over a couple of poached eggs on toast when you have to get a quick supper ready.)

Some time ago I gave you a recipe for Mother's Celery Dish and I'm going to give it to you again soon for it is a favorite with us. But the following recipe is a little like it and uses more cheese, and macaroni instead of broken crackers.

CELERY AND CHEESE DISH

One and one-quarter cups grated mild cheese, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 cups milk, 1 cup boiled celery (outer stalks and leaves), 1 cup boiled macaroni, salt and pepper. Combine cheese, beaten eggs, Worcestershire sauce and milk, and beat until light. Combine celery, and macaroni and spread in bottom of greased baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with the cheese-egg mix. Stand dish in pan of hot water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until set, which takes about 40 minutes. For special occasions turn out on platter, pour over some cheese sauce and garnish with ½ pound sauteed mushrooms.

Home and School Association News

OMEMEE SCHOOL

Education week was marked by an open house in Omemee school, in conjunction with the March Home and School meeting.

Doors were open at 7:45 for inspection of the pupils' work in the class rooms. Parents and other interested folk were received by the teachers and the room mothers. A hobby show was another interesting feature, the display included beautiful work in many lines—leather work, fancy knitting, novelty wood work, oil paintings, crocheting, tatting, pottery work and needlepoint.

The High School contribution was an interesting study in the relation between the English language and Latin. A chalk profile sketch on the blackboard was done by a Grade 9 student.

In the public school, art comprised a large part of the display. Sometimes, with the older pupils, the subjects were suggested by social studies or health, but simple love of natural beauty seemed to prompt much of the display. The seniors did an extra touch in paper mache puppets, and the intermediates had a very commendable social study display on Mexico. The latter's silhouettes of their own profiles were interesting. A combined effort of the Juniors to demonstrate with picture cutouts the animal, vegetable and mineral kingdoms was quite effective as was also their sugar bush camp scene in plasticine. Self expression in Grade I art was evident and their safety patrol set up in plasticine was good.

The president, Mrs. Stephenson, called the meeting at 9 o'clock. Fllowing the opening exercises, Mr. C. Moss, music instructor, spoke on reasons for teaching music in school. He upheld it for its cultural value, saying it was related to history, geography and social studies and it was universal in the sense that music of any country can be appreciated in any other country. As a demonstration of one phase of his teaching, seven girls from grades IX and X sang three songs: "The Miller of Dee," "March of the Men of Harleck", and "Now is the Month of May". The choristers were: Marilyn Hart, Ruth Morrison, Jeanette Rich, Audrey Borgford, Temple Morcombe, Eileen Zufelt and Marilynne Green.

The president announced that, as the first Monday in April was a noliday, the meeting would be postponed one week; also that the members would receiving nomination ballots, to which, she hoped, they would give their immediate attention. Mrs. Northey reported $25.25 had been realized from the recent bake sale. Miss Lamb's room had highest parent attendance.

Being Education Week, the Board of Education had been requested to be represented at the meeting to give some information on educational management and financing. The chairman, E. V. Dowson, and the secretary-treasurer, Harry Sisson, complied with the request. Mr. Dowson discussed Education Week with open night, as it appeals to the children,

British Women Are Finding Skirts Cheaper, Attractive

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Skirts are cheaper and more attractive than ever in British stores. For £5 you can buy a pleated nylon affair and for £2 to £3 a good tweed or worsted may be obtained.

It's easy to team a circle skirt of chestnut shantung with camisole top in lime, gold or beige grosgrain, ribbed sleeveless jumper in black spangled with gold, a nylon blouse and shortie jacket—adding alternate straight skirt in grey denim.

Topmost price of any one piece would be 55s 9d for a shortie jacket in linen with gilt naval buttons. Most tops can be found at 25s to 45s. A strapless bra-cum-suspenders belt for smart silhouette under sheer blouses costs 15s 6d.

There are, in fact, countless possibilities in giving last year's suits and skirts the latest schoolgirl look from Paris. This year's range of separates giving that one-piece look are wide and moderately-priced.

Many fashion writers however complain that British stores do not realize to the same extent as those in North America that women are naturally lazy in fashion ideas. They pounce with pleasure on attractive outfits already teamed for them, rather than think out their own style—and find the various pieces.

Britain's color council, advisory body to the clothing trade colors, says it's an uphill job, for instance, to get stores to stock gloves, bag, hat, coat, dress and suit all in one color—and advertise the fact. Most working women in Britain content themselves with contrast accessories—they haven't time to trek from store to store to match up a complete outfit.

FRIGIDAIRE Porcelain Pair

Only the Frigidaire Automatic Washer has Live-Water Action!

Here's the washing action that gets the "deep-down" dirt no ordinary washing action can touch! Yet it's gentle on nylons, rayons, woolens. Clothes are in water all the time . . . not half-in, half-out. And the new fresh-water, Float-over Rinse gets out every trace of soap and soil, floating it up, away and out! See a demonstration!

New Filtra-matic Clothes Dryer leaves no sticky lint, heat or humidity!

This new and different automatic dryer takes the water out of the clothes — keeps it out of the air. And does it without costly plumbing fixtures or venting! No more sticky lint on the walls. No more steamy moisture in the air or on windows. And the Lifetime Porcelain finish on cabinet and drum will keep it beautiful for life!

6—In Memoriam

BAYLISS—In loving memory of Edward Bayliss who passed away one year ago today.
One year has passed, dear father
Since you were called away
How well do I well remember
That sad and weary day.
You suffered much, you murmured not
We watched you day by day
We cried and prayed that your dear life
Would not be taken away.
—Sadly missed by his daughter Yvonne.

MEEHAN—In loving memory of a dear son, Kenneth Ross Meehan, killed in action March 5, 1945, buried in Neijmegen, Holland.
Our thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
We seem to see in the soft dim light,
A face we loved the best,
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
—Mother and John

7—Card of Thanks

Mrs. James Dunn and family wish to sincerely thank their friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent and sudden bereavement, especially Rev. C. G. Boyd, Rev. M. Kaye, Peterborough Brinton Carpet and S. S. Kresge management and staff, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Davies.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Scriver and family wish to thank the ladies of Trinity United Church, the Hastings Branch No. 106 Canadian Legion, and all the friends and neighbours, for the beautiful flowers, fruit and cards received by Mrs. Scriver while a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.—The Family.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to Bishop Berry, Monsignor Butler, Rev. Fathers, Rev. Sisters, attending doctor, nurses, C.G.E., relatives, Lions Club, neighbours, playmates, friends, each and every one for many acts of kindness, Masses, beautiful floral offerings, expressions of sympathy, during illness and death of our darling Suzanne.—Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gregg and family.

Two Cars Collide Little Damage Done

A collision at George and McDonnel Sts., at five p.m. Wednesday caused damage estimated at $85 to a car owned by Charles Sargison, Havelock, and driven by Leslie Would, 49, 21 Aylmer St., and $50 to a car owned by Mrs. Jennie Spurway, 142 Wolsley St. and driven by Charles Abbott, 40, Bridgenorth. Abbott stopped at George St. and was proceeding slowly across the intersection when the collision occurred.

Court Claim

Two, bark and other refuse was scattered around the burning pit;

Three, the company failed to have the means to contain the fire;

Four, proper supervision was lacking.

Mr. Justice King said there was no evidence on how close the piles of cedar were to the fire; no evidence of bark being around the pit itself; no description of the depth or size of the pit or how the burning was carried on; and there was evidence that the company did have at least one supervisor on the premises.

"The whole gist of the plaintiffs' case is that the defendant was negligent in respect to the starting of the fire on his property, or in allowing that fire to spread to the property of the plaintiffs," said Mr. Justice King. "It seems to me the plaintiffs have outlined the circumstances under which the fire occurred . . . and have then taken the position that from such evidence the court should infer there was negligence on the part of the defendant . . . It's not as simple as that."

Mr. Justice King conceded that the company may have been guilty of negligence, but the onus was on the plaintiffs to prove it, and this wasn't done. So he dismissed the case with costs if demanded by defence counsel Arthur Fair, QC.

John Curtis, Norwood garbage collector, said he noticed smoke coming from the pit at least a week before. On June 19 he was behind the stable on his own property about 10 a.m. and noticed fire "rising out of the pit."

Shortly afterwards he saw the fire on the manure pile on his property and then it spread to his stable.

"I didn't go to the house until I got my belongings out of the stable," said Mr. Curtis. "Then I went up to the house and couldn't get in for fire . . . Somebody put me out of the house."

A strong west wind quickly whipped the flames across the two properties—so fast that Mr. Curtis conceded he couldn't remember what happened after that.

Francis G. Kennedy, a Toronto office manager, was driving along the highway at the time. He got out of his car and helped a man on the company property to save a tractor. He testified that when he first saw the blaze it was 50 to 75 feet southeast of the office (away from the pit).

DISCREPANCY

Mr. Justice King pointed out this discrepancy as to the original location of the fire. There was no evidence on how the fire started or who lit it, he said.

(As Mr. Fair did not call any defence witnesses there was no speculation from company officials on this point.)

Mr. Justice King said it was an "unfortunate occurrence," particularly for the plaintiffs, but he could see no other way of disposing of the case. He said that he found all the witnesses telling the truth to the best of their abilities, and the plaintiffs "had failed to do thems 'ves justice" in setting out their estimates of damages.

He assessed their damages at $1,000 for Mr. Curtis, $1,700 for his wife Martha who owned the house and barn, and $265 for their son Frank, who is a hydro employee and lost his clothing and other possessions.

Car Could Move Man Was Driver Jailed 7 Days

Horace Dickson of Keene was sentenced to seven days in jail for drunk driving today, and fined $50, and $2.50 costs, when he pleaded guilty to a second offence drunk charge, with an alternative of one month in jail to run consecutively with the first sentence.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, said that ownership of the vehicle Dickson was driving had not been ascertained and no impounding order was issued.

PC Arthur Beardsmore said he discovered Dickson trying to start the car on a hotel parking lot off George Street at about 6 p.m. on Saturday. The car was in gear and jumped forward whenever Dickson touched the starter.

Dickson said that the generator hadn't been working and the battery wasn't in any condition to get the engine going.

Magistrate W. R. Philp said that Beardsmore's evidence showed that the car was not incapable of being moved and that Dickson was therefore in control of the vehicle as specified in the Criminal Code.

OBITUARIES

MRS. MARY ELLEN WOLFF

Mrs. Mary Ellen Wolff of 452 Donegal St., a resident of Peterborough for the past 60 years died today at her home following a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Latittia Elizabeth Rusaw, 82, a resident of Peterborough for the past 45 years died today at the Civic hospital following a prolonged illness.

She was born and raised on Pelee Island, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Ray.

She was the widow of the late Joseph Nelson Rusaw who predeceased her 12 years ago. Mrs. Rusaw leaves two daughters and two sons, Mrs. A. S. Ferguson (Jane), Mrs. R. McNabb (Lucy), Arthur and Clifford Rusaw, all of Peterborough, and one brother Bert Ray of Warsaw.

She was a member of the St. James' United Church. Mrs. Rusaw is resting at the Kaye funeral home, and the service will be Saturday. Burial will be in the Norwood cemetery.

JOHN GALBRAITH LIVINGSTONE

A fitter at the Canadian General Electric Company for the past seven years and traveller for a manufacturing firm before that, John Galbraith Livingstone, 70, died suddenly on Wednesday at his home, 182A Hunter St. W.

Mr. Galbraith was born in Caradale, Scotland, son of the late Duncan Livingstone and Mary Galbraith, and came to Peterborough 31 years ago from Portage la Prairie. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. M. Bak (Audrey) of Paterson, N.J. and a son Lloyd of Peterborough. There are three sisters, Mrs. K. Healey of Sheridon, Man., Mrs. B. Stewart (Maggie) and Mrs. J. McEachern (Flora) and a brother Alex, all of Pine Creek, Man., and a second brother, Dougald of Meagn, Sask.

He was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church and of the IOOF.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Belleghem funeral home. The Rev. M. P. Poole will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

65 Missionaries Stay

HONG KONG (AP)—Roman Catholic headquarters said today 29 foreign Catholic missionaries left Red China in February, leaving only 65 still under Communist control. Three came voluntarily and 26 were expelled.

Wrong Color

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Her husband insisted on serenading her with the song, "Beautiful Brown Eyes," Mrs. Ruth Haughey complained in a suit for separate maintenance Wednesday. Trouble was, said Mrs. Haughey, 47, her eyes are blue.

Jewell Designer Speaker Handcraft Guild

Peterborough Handcraft Guild meting was held at the YMCA Wednesday evening when Mr. Meredith Miller was presented as speaker on the history and design of heraldic jewellery.

Mr. Miller began with the statement that the making of fine jewelery is the last of the handcrafts in the world still done by hand. He was speaking of expensive and treasured items he explained, as costume jewellery is machine-made. He stated, however, that "hand-set" does not necessarily mean it is a good piece of jewellery. It may be that there was no other way to set the particular piece.

If you wish to buy really expensive jewellery, you do not buy diamonds, rubies or emeralds, but matched pearls. Mr. Miller surprised his listeners somewhat with this statement, but quoted the fabulous prices paid for each type of jewel to prove it. Rubies and emeralds are three times as valuable as their weight in diamonds, he added.

He said the late Mrs. Vanderbilt who died recently in New York, had the most valuable private collection of jewels in the world, and that Queen Mary has the most valuable royal collection. She is perhaps the only royal person who can wear all her own jewellery for the various state functions.

Mr. Miller opined that much of the jewellery worn at the forthcoming coronation will be paste, and that it will be very difficult to tell which is which. He had several true stories to tell which proved that the average jeweller cannot tell the syntheties from the real.

With Mrs. R. B. McWilliams as his model, Mr. Miller displayed some of the fine jewellery he has designed recently including several two-way suites, a Russian collar of aquamarines and brilliants, and a rhinestone tiara and drop earrings. Then Mrs. McWilliams modelled the ruby suite which he prepared for a Toronto store display during the visit last year of the then Princess Elizabeth. It includes a tiara, earrings, necklace, stomacher and bracelet. Mr. Miller then added the traditional court headdress for coronation guests of three white plumes and the 27" court veil. Also displayed was a beautiful fan made of 22 white ostrich plumes.

At this meeting Mr. Albert Croasdale, musical director in the collegiates, entertained with his unusual style of piano playing. An interesting part was "What you can do with one tune" and he played "Old Black Joe" as he would when accompanying a singer, then as a waltz, a jazz fox trot, an Irish jig and a dead march. Another piece was played with one hand and his chin.

Guild president Mrs. E. R. Frost presided for a business session during which it was decided to hold an "open house" at the Dixon House on May 6. Preceding this there will be a supper and annual meeting for members.

She made it clear that the Handcraft Guild is planned to embrace all crafts in the city, not just those carried on at Dixon House, and asked that any craftsmen or women consider membership, for which the fee is quite low.

A travelling exhibition called "Canadian hand-mades in leather" is to be sponsored here on April 1, and will probably be shown in the Public Library. Some excellent work of the Peterborough Guild members was on display during the meeting, and it was suggested that some might enter in a forthcoming exhibition in Montreal.

Mrs. A. Parker had the privilege of thanking the entertainer and the speaker, the latter having been introduced by Mrs. C. C. Pilon.

Refreshments were served under convenership of Miss June Fraser and a social time and discussion of crafts was enjoyed.

News Of Tibet 'Quake Six Months Late

HONG KONG (Reuters)—First details of an earthquake in Tibet, said to have killed 55 persons and toppled 870 buildings, came out of the "Forbidden Land" today—six months after it happened.

The New China News Agency said that the central government of Communist China sent relief to the victims and the destroyed buildings now have been rebuilt.

The area was 100 miles north of Lhasa, the capital of Tibet. Casualties included 157 injured.

to the teachers, to the parents and others. He explained the functions of the school board, how they were appointed etc., and the duties of the department of Education. Mr. Sisson spoke on grants, dealing first with public school. He discussed the change in grants since 1944, how they are calculated and how the percentage rate is determined. He showed how absenteeism affects the grant, and how the mill rate is determined. Reasons for the great difference between public school and high school mill rates were explained, also how the high school grant is calculated.

Mrs. Zufelt moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Moss, the girls who sang, Mr. Dowson, Mr. Sisson, the teachers and pupils for their co-operation, Mrs. Ruttle who had charge of the hobby show, those bringing the exhibits, the social committee, and any others who contributed to the success of the evening.

Doughnuts and coffee were served.

Queen Mary's Health Continues To Improve

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mary is continuing slight improvement from a gastric ailment which has kept her in bed for more than a week, aides reported today.

The 85-year-old Queen grandmother had "a very good night" they said. She is being attended by physicians at her home, Marlborough House.

Cattle Breeders Review Year Of Progress

Some excess of efficiency of cars or drivers, or a combination of both, got most of the members of two groups up the icy slopes of Classic Hill to the Normal School at the top of Aberdeen Ave. Wednesday night.

But, a score or more had to park at the lowest level of approach, and trudge the rest of the way up the sidewalks.

They were members of the Peterborough division of the Maple Cattle Breeders Association meeting in the assembly room, and the young men and women of the new Junior Farmers choir who met in one of the classrooms downstairs and out of hearing. Their director is Charles Allen, and as a result of the progress the chorus has been making they decided to enter the Kiwanis Festival.

They are also on the program of the Central Ontario Spring Show Thursday March 19 at the Exhibition grounds.

Warned at the Empress Hotel, visiting officials from Maple decided in discretion on approach to the meeting place by taxi. They were: President Frank Stark of Halton county, Veterinarian Dr. D. C. MacKay, Secretary-manager G. W. Keffer and Treasurer A. E. Snider of Maple.

105 ATTEND

The attendance of 105 Peterborough farmers clinched the executive's good opinions of their membership in this county.

Peterborough directors, Harry Kennedy and Stewart Whittington, were re-elected by acclamation.

"It is certainly encouraging," said Mr. Stark on his first presidential visit, "to come down to Peterborough and see so many of our members out on a night like this. It shows the fine spirit of our farmers in this county, and I do want to tell you how much we appreciate the special effort it took to drive miles into the city and up this hill."

The financial statement by Mr. Snider showed a profit of $28,505 in 1952.

Thirty-four farmers of Victoria county attended the sectional meeting at Lindsay Wednesday afternoon. The directors elected were James Graham and Roy Patterson.

Jailed for 10 Days

Calvin Cruikshank, 49, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. He told Magisttrate W. R. Philp that he was born in Wingham and was hitch-hiking to Ottawa when he arrived in Peterborough Wednesday. He took the fail sentence.

Theatre 'Adopts' Leaders Of Safety Patrols

Representing 12 schools in Peterborough 260 public school students, members of the school safety patrols Wednesday afternoon were guests of the Paramount theatre.

The occasion was that the Paramount theatre was "adopting" for one year, all the school safety patrol leaders. Once a month they will be guests at a Paramount show.

The children were presented with chocolate bars as they entered the theatre, compliments of Borden Chocolates and the Pepsi-Cola Co. and Wrigleys, donated gum and pop to the kids. Sgt. Gordon Puffer, representing the Chief of Police, threw the gum to the children.

There was a lucky draw and Constable Donald Mackay presented cans of Ovaltine to the winners. They were: Dianne Martin of Prince of Wales School, Leona Marshall of Queen Mary's School, Karen Neal of Central School and Terry Welsh of the Queen Elizabeth School.

Also given away in the lucky draw were a girls and boys wrist watch, donated by the Western Clock Co. The winners were: Anne Anglesey of St. John's School, and Gordon Pound of King Edward School.

George Malby of the Prince of Wales School and Karen Neal of Central School presented to Constable Mackay, a shirt, socks and a tie, donated by Blacks' and Selkirk's Men's Clothing stores.

A. E. Cauley, manager of the Paramount theatre presented to Constable Mackay and Sgt. Puffer, the legal adopting papers, which legally adopted the patrol leaders under the care of Constable Mackay.

Handling Of News On Stalin's Illness Indicates Division Among Russian Leaders

William L. Ryan, Russian-speaking specialist on world communism, gives these views on Stalin's illness and what it presages.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PARIS (AP)—Moscow seems to be playing it straight with the story of Stalin's illness, and this in itself indicates there is division and uncertainty among the rulers of the Soviet Union.

If there were perfect concord among the powers of the Kremlin—that is, if there were someone at the top whose authority was unquestioned—it seems unlikely that Stalin's illness, apparently his final one, would have been announced so quickly.

The stroke was sudden. Indian Ambassador K. P. S. Menon saw the Soviet leader only a few days ago and reported him in apparent good health.

Soviet authorities held up the announcement of his illness only two days. For most Soviet leaders, such a grave illness is usually announced in the obituary.

Maybe the would-be heirs were unable to hold the news up long and feed such a profound shock to the Soviet public in small doses. While one faction may be pre-eminent at the present time, the chances are it is far from secure in its pre-eminence.

As at the time of Lenin's death, there is every chance for a struggle for the mantle of leadership even though Stalin has appeared to have chosen Deputy Premier Georgi M. Malenkov as his successor. But the man who succeeds Stalin will need a mighty buildup.

Stalin was all-powerful in a way Lenin never was. Those under Stalin have been virtually robots. Under Lenin there were many who were not—Trotsky, Bukharin, Kamenev, Zinoviev and Stalin, himself, to name a few.

In a struggle for power, it would be dangerous for the Soviet Union if Stalin lingered on, only just alive. This would permit the rumor mills to get in motion as they do quickly in totalitarian countries. It would generate a feeling of insecurity among the people and, above all, among members of the Communist party, high and low.

In a country like Russia, such a feeling could lead to an explosion.

If Stalin hovered between life and death, there would be suspicion, gossip and quarrelling in advance of the succession, instead of a sudden stroke which could present the country with an accomplished fact—a new leader.

But for a new leader to seize power before Stalin actually has passed on would be dangerous, like blasphemy to those in the party and state who believed in Stalin's role as a demi-god.

So it seems likely that behind the scenes there will be a struggle for power, if, in fact, it is not already in full tilt. Malenkov thus far may be assumed to have the upper hand, but to keep it he may have to out-Stalin Joe. A situation like that could lead to fearful bloodletting.

If Malenkov proves a winner, the West can look for a most cautious regime while he consolidates himself and his adherents—a regime, in fact, which could be almost conservative. Malenkov would take no chances with his power.

His adherents are among the younger element in the Communist party. Stalin is the last of the powerful old Bolsheviks. Others who hold more or less honorary positions in the hierarchy do not matter. The rest of the Bolsheviks were purged out of existence by Stalin himself to secure his own power.

Even the word "bolshevik has been dropped officially. It is a word which suggests revolutionaries. But in a society where a small privileged class—6,000,000 or 7,000,000 Communist party members—has entrenched itself, revolutionaries are no longer wanted.

As it was with Lenin, so it is with Stalin. There are many in the party, no doubt, who will welcome his passing just as Stalin apparently welcomed the death of Lenin. He was impatient for power. Those under him now are impatient.

But more than ever now if Malenkov wins out, the Soviet Union may be expected to take no chances with a step which might lead to the cataclysm of a war, which it might not survive. His fifth columns will continue their work through the world. But Malenkov is a man who likes a cheap victory and will retreat when it is necessary to make himself wholly secure.

Executioner Shot

HONG KONG (AP)—The Pro-Nationalist Chinese newspaper Sing Tao Jih Pao reported today that a man who sent more than 1,500 persons to firing squads in Red China was himself executed. The paper said Liu Shao-yao, former deputy director of the Communist peoples court in Toishan, was charged with blackmail.

Boost Jet Efficiency

LONDON (Reuters)—The Rolls Royce company Wednesday disclosed that it has increased the power of its jet aircraft engines more than 25 per cent by introduction of a "reheat" system. The reheat process injects fuel into the tailpipe of a jet unit to utilize excess air. It increases jet efficiency at high speeds.

Dr. T. S. Cullen Dies At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (CP)—Dr. Thomas S. Cullen, Canadian-born gynaecologist who established the world's first department of medical art at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in 1910, died Wednesday after a career that coincided with the golden age of medicine. He was 84.

The eminent surgeon and pioneer "Tom Cullen of Baltimore" whose achievements were described in a biography by Canadian Judith Robinson, published in 1949.

Thomas Stephen Cullen was born in 1868 at Bridgewater, now Actinolite, Ont., the son of a Methodist minister. Actinolite is 55 miles east of Peterborough. In 1891, with a degree from the University of Toronto medical school, he arrived at Johns Hopkins hospital when the late Sir William Osler, also Canadian-born, was its medical chief.

At the hospital Dr. Cullen made his share of contributions to the advance of surgery. He published five text books on gynaecology.

In poor health for the last several years, Dr. Cullen suffered a stroke last Saturday.

Surviving besides his widow are two sisters, Mrs. James E. Beatty and Mrs. R. A. Daly, both in Canada.

Rain Falls Short Of Flood Threat

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Torrential rains lashed over western Ontario last night, dumped close to 1¼ inches of water, but stopped short of creating a flood threat to district streams.

The storm hit London and travelled east through Thamesford, Ingersoll, Woodstock, and worked its way unchecked through the Delhi, Tillsonburg and Brantford areas.

In London streets ran curb-deep in water.

At Thamesford rain sent the Thames river surging two feet higher than its normal level within a few hours overnight. But residents said there was no threat of flooding.

Delhi and Tillsonburg both reported rain lashed farms and water filled streets, but said that streams had risen but little.

Much of the water is believed to have seeped away through the lightly frozen ground resulting from an open winter.

No storm damage was reported.

Province Will Shoulder Portion Of Cost Of Educating Mentally Retarded Children

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial government announced Wednesday it will shoulder some of the burden of educating mentally retarded children.

Education Minister Dunlop introduced in the Legislature a bill to give financial assistance to parents who are paying for the special education of backward children in addition to regular school taxes.

Provincial aid would cover children not capable of entering auxiliary school classes but not helpless enough to become wards of the government. Auxiliary classes are for "slow" children who can learn regular school lessons at a rate slower than normal.

At present, retarded children receive no education or are in classes organized by groups of parents, usually conducted by a retired teacher.

Groups of this kind, currently operating or under organization in six centres, argue that it is unfair to charge them school taxes when they are already paying individually for their children's education. Cities where groups have started or are pending are Toronto, Hamilton, London, Sarnia, Windsor and Kirkland Lake.

Mr. Dunlop said he will probably appoint a commissioner to visit these cities to find out how many children are attending special classes and what kind of aid is needed most.

Dr. Dunlop also submitted a bill to permit dismissal of teachers without appeal to a board of review. He said such dismissals would occur only when a teacher is deemed too undesirable to finish out the term of his contract, usually at the end of a school year. The minister said he will exercise this power only with approval of the local school board concerned.

Speaking during the throne speech debate, A. J. Child (PC—Wentworth) said the government should protect home buyers who are at the nercy of "unscrupulous building contractors who chisel at every opportunity."

Mr. Child, a Hamilton business man, said one contractor in Hamilton collected $30,000 in down payments and vanished. Only a few excavations were made on home sites before he disappeared.

He suggested contractors be licensed in the same way as subcontracting electricians and plumbers.

W. J. Grummett, house leader for the two-man CCF representation in the Legislature, said the government should give northern mining communities a larger share of taxes collected from mines.

The Cochrane South member also recommended that a research council investigate the whole field of edible oils to learn their effect on farmers' welfare and the health of the public.

He recommended salary increases for guards at provincial jails, and for provincial police. Mr. Grummett said higher pay is the only enticement to the type of men necessary for a good force.

"Dissatisfaction among the guards spreads to the inmates," he said. "Every case of trouble in provincial institutions can be traced to this source."

Attorney-General Porter, discussing the government's plan for unifying essential services in the Toronto area, said control of the Don jail, court houses and registry offices would be shifted from the city to the metropolitan council governing the whole area.

English Street Names Disappear In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—English street names in Quebec are gradually disappearing.

There now are 53 streets in the city with English names. There will be only 50 when the city's administrative committee finds French names for Churchill, Roosevelt and McNaughton streets.

The latest change in the process of eliminating English street names was the changing of Churchill-Roosevelt Boulevard to Laurentian Boulevard.

Most streets with English names are in the city's Upper Town district.

Mr. Garson made the denial following verbal and written testimony by the League for Democratic Rights, the Congress of Canadian Women and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America before a special Commons committee.

The league has been described by Mr. Garson in the Commons as Communist-inspired. The electrical workers union was expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor several years ago as being Communist-dominated.

Stalin's Death Would Imperil Peace: Buck

TORONTO (CP) — Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, said Wednesday the death of Premier Joseph Stalin would be a severe loss to democracy and would endanger world peace.

In a statement issued as head of the Labor-Progressive party, Buck said the situation following the death of Stalin would be "insidiously utilized by those elements hostile to the Russian leader and they would increase their efforts to aggravate the cold war."

C. S. Jackson of Toronto, president of the electrical workers, and Mrs. Rae M. Luckock of Toronto, president of the congress, both indicated belief that the U.S. put pressure on Canada to tighten treason and sedition laws.

JOSEPH STALIN DIES

STALIN DIED THURSDAY after suffering a paralyzing brain haemorrhage Sunday night. He went into a deep coma Wednesday night as more sections of his brain were affected by haemorrhaging. Yesterday he collapsed and died.

Led Russian State For 29 Years, No Successor Seen

MOSCOW (AP)—The body of Prime Minister Joseph V. Stalin, felled by a stroke and heart failure at 73, was removed to Moscow's Hall of Columns today to lie in state. A funeral service befitting one of the most powerful men in history is in preparation.

The Soviet "Man of Steel," who ruled over one-sixth of the earth's surface and dominated one-third of its people, died last night in the Kremlin four days after being stricken. Death came at 9:50 p.m. (1:50 p.m. EST) and was announced to the Russian people eight hours later. Stalin lay paralyzed and in deep coma at the end.

NO HINT OF SUCCESSOR

There was no hint as to who would succeed this man, who led the Soviet Union's 200,000,000 people for 29 years and called the plays for Communists the world over. But a joint statement from the Communist party and the government called for continuation of such policies as strengthening the armed forces, increasing vigilance at home and tighter bonds with communists abroad.

The statement said the body of world communism's fallen leader would lie in state in the beautiful Hall of Columns in Moscow's House of Trade Unions—only a few hundred yards from the great Lenin Mausoleum in Red Square where the body of the founder of Russian communism lies embalmed for posterity in a glass coffin.

A committee of top Soviet leaders was appointed to arrange the funeral but its date was not announced. Nor was there any word of Stalin's final resting place.

The death of the man who sparked the development of Russia from a near-feudal farmland to a great industrial power exceeded only by the United States was first announced by Moscow radio at 4:07 a.m. today, local time, in a broadcast beamed to Soviet provincial papers.

Two hours later, Moscow radio's star announcer, Yuri Levitan, told the saddened country that its chief had died. Levitan twice read both the official announcement and the final bulletin from the 10 Kremlin doctors who had been in constant attendance on Stalin since his stroke Sunday. The radio then played the solemn last movement of Tschaikowksy's "Pathetique" Symphony.

The official announcement said: "There has ceased to beat the heart of comrade-in-arms and genius-continuer of the cause of Lenin, the wise leader and teacher of the Communist party and the Soviet people—Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin. The death of Stalin, who gave all his life to dedicated service to the great cause of communism, is the heaviest loss for the party and workers of the Soviet nation and for all humanity."

It was issued in the name of the Communist party's central committee, the council of ministers government cabinet and the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet.

PEOPLE STUNNED, GRIEF STRICKEN

The Russian people appeared stunned and grief-stricken by the news. To many, Stalin had seemed like a father. "Excuse me," said one Muscovite chauffeur of his own tears, "he was a real person."

All over Moscow, black-bordered Red flags snapped in the cold wind at whipped the snow-blanketed city. Thousands of ya[illegible]ing or owning a[illegible]ere being hung on buildings and homes.

The House [illegible]e for some[illegible]ere the bier of virtually every dead Soviet leade[illegible]as be[illegible] placed to be viewed by the people—was made ready to receive Stalin's body. A huge portrait of the dead leader hung above the main doors.

Stalin's fatal brain haemorrhage struck him Sunday night in his Kremlin apartment, leaving him unconscious and with his right side paralyzed. Despite the efforts of the doctors, his condition steadily worsened. Thursday his physicians announced his heart was faltering. "At 2150 (9:50 p.m.) hours, with cardiac heart failure growing, J. V. Stalin died," the final medical bulletin said. He never regained consciousness.

LAST MONTHS BUSY FOR STALIN

The last months had been a period of intense activity for the Soviet chief. He wrote his latest work, "Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R."—a 25,000-word partial blueprint for Russia's economic future—and took a leading role in last fall's big Soviet Community party congress.

Last Nov. 7 he spent long hours reviewing the huge parade marking the anniversary of the 1917 revolution that brought the Communists to power in Russia. He made several public appearances at the Bolshoi Theatre and recently received the Argentine and Indian ambassadors in Moscow.

Despite widespread foreign speculation in recent years about his health, Stalin in his recent appearances had impressed all who saw him that he was hale and vigorous for a man of his years.

STALIN DIES—(Continued on Page 2)

Instability Great In Soviets

Organization Stronger But Struggle For Power Is Certain

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW
(London Observer Service)

LONDON (By Cable)—The death of Stalin comes at a moment when the Soviet Union is showing greater signs of instability than at any time of peace since 1938.

Less than six months ago the summoning of the long-delayed Communist Party Congress and government reorganization in connection with it, suggested at last that the Kremlin had surmounted its postwar difficulties and was finding itself on an even keel. The reorganized Communist Party gave the country a government machine far better suited to survive the catastrophe of Stalin's death than the ramshackle system of committees its replace. Malenkov as supreme party boss under Stalin appeared to have strengthened his position immeasurably and to be heading straight for succession.

Then with a sudden outbreak of purges beginning this year the whole situation underwent a change and was fluid once again. One underlying reason behind the purges was almost certainly a renewed struggle between Malenkov, the party manager and Beria, the head of the police. There is only one thing these two men would seriously quarrel about—the issue of personal power.

NOTHING TO SHOW

There is nothing at the moment to show which of them is likely to come out on top or whether in the supreme emergency now confronting the Soviet government, they will be able to call a truce to their rivalry and work together.

Further, there is nothing to show whether Molotov, for so long publicly exhibited as Stalin's chief deputy, will emerge again from the background, to which he has been lately consigned, and take over nominal leadership. At no time since the war has the topmost hierarchy of the Soviet Union been so obscure and ill-defined.

Thus, speculation cannot take us very far. The most we can do is to consider what sort of government is most likely to be called into being and pick up the burden

Commons Passes Record Budget For Peacetime UK

LONDON (Reuters)—The House of Commons passed Prime Minister Churchill's £1,636,760,000 ($4,582,928,000) record peacetime defence budget Thursday night.

Churchill then announced he would ask Parliament later to approve retention of conscription for another five years.

The members threw out by 295 votes to 254 a Socialist opposition amendment asking the House to merely take note of the program and urging the present two-year period of conscription be reviewed every year.

The Labor party wanted the House to "take note of" the program instead of directly approving it in a move to pacify its own left-wing, led by the absent Aneurin Bevan, which wants the arms bill slashed.

Churchill had told the House "if we were only to extend the period year by year it would discourage our friends abroad and might well encourage the other ones."

He said it would be disastrous to cut the two-year conscription period. There could be no relaxation in the arms program "at this critical but formative, grave but not unhopeful moment."

Parliament will in fact later this year be asked to keep conscription going for another five years, he announced. The course of events at the present moment "gives no ground for expecting an early reduction," he said.

The prime minister said Britain's present defence effort is the "absolute maximum" of which she is capable.

Ammunition Shortage Bared In U.S.

Gen. Van Fleet Says Even Grenades Lacking At Times

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has booted the U.S. army's lid of secrecy off the hush-hush talk of ammunition shortages in Korea—and the alarm reverberated in Congress today.

The Senate's armed services committee wants to know if military planners are responsible for the shortages which, Van Fleet said, have included even hand-grenades needed for close-in mountain fighting.

However, the army's chief of information, Maj.-Gen. Floyd Parks, told reporters later that defence department records showed no hand grenade shortages in Far East depots. Parks did not discount possible local shortages "due to distribution difficulties," but said there were enough grenades stocked to last 90 days under normal conditions.

ALLIES AHEAD

At the peak of fighting last fall, Parks said, Allied artillery outfired the Reds 5 to 1.

One senator, who asked that his name not be used, quoted Van Fleet as saying shortages have been felt for the last 22 months and will not be entirely wiped out until sometime this summer.

Van Fleet's testimony Thursday—called "shocking" by two congressmen—captured so much interest that he was asked to appear again today before the Senate's armed services and appropriations committees.

SOFT-PEDALLED

There have been rumors and reports for some time of ammunition shortages in Korea but the military has soft-pedalled comment on security grounds.

Van Fleet in his public and private testimony said it has not been corrected entirely even though he reported shortages to the defence department during a period of 22 months—all the time he was commanding the 8th army.

Senator Harry Byrd (Dem. Va.) wrote to Defence Secretary Charles Wilson demanding an explanation and asking who was responsible. Byrd said: "To me such a situation extending over 22 months represents criminal inefficiency."

May Lay Charge Of Manslaughter In Hockey Death

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — Police Chief Walter Elliott said today he will recommend that a charge of manslaughter be laid against Walter Fines of Aurora in connection with the death of Robert Gillies of Collingwood after a hockey game.

Gillies suffered fatal head injuries after being checked into the boards during the game here Wednesday night.

Chief Elliott said he had already taken up the matter with acting Crown attorney Boyd Seagram of Aurora.

"I have pointed out that in my opinion there is more than sufficient evidence to warrant laying this serious charge," the chief said.

Thursday night the chief said he had sworn statements from many persons who were close to the incident. They included both referees and a goal judge.

"These statements all indicate that Fines' attack on Gillies was deliberate," he said today.

Gillies suffered a fractured skull when he crashed head-first into the boards during the Ontario Hockey Association junior C playoff. He died a few hours later in an ambulance on his way to a Toronto hospital for brain surgery.

Jet Shatters Window

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—A motorist's windshield was shattered Thursday as a jet aircraft flew over his car near Pretoria. Traffic officers say this is the fifth case of shattered windshields since jet planes began operating from a military airport near the road to Preioria, the nearby capital.

West Europe Fears Russia May Scrap Wariness, Plunge Into Full-Scale War

By PHIL CLARKE

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe reacted with fear and uncertainty to the news today that Stalin is dead. Except for loyal Communists, there was no shedding of tears. But neither was there jubilation. Most Europeans took the news grimly, with only a few expressions of hope for a letup in the cold war. The biggest worry expressed everywhere was that the new ruler—or rulers—of Russia might scrap Stalin's wary cold war policies and possibly plunge the world into a shooting conflict.

Western diplomats studying the official death announcement found scant clues to who takes over now.

But the announcement, signed by the Central Committee of the Communist party, the U. S. S. R. Council of Minsters and the Praesidium of the Supreme Soviet—Russia's three most powerful bodies—made it clear there is no new bid for friendship with the West.

CONTINUED BUILDUP

The announcement promised a continued buildup of the Soviet army, navy and intelligence services to deal "a decisive rebuff to any aggressor." It added pledges of friendship with China and other Communist satellites and with workers of capitalist and colonial countries.

Some Western observers saw signs of a possible crack in Communist unity in Moscow in the announcement's call for an all-out "struggle against internal and external foes." But many feared any such disunity might heighten the danger of war rather than lessen it.

1,100 Canadians Sail For Korea

SEATTLE (CP)—A new major rotation turnover is underway for Canada's forces in Korea.

More than 1,100 soldiers are crossing the Pacific today, the biggest movement from this port for some months. They will relieve men who have had a year's service in Japan and Korea.

They sailed recently, military secrecy shrouding the actual departure day and the name of the United States Army troopship carrying them to the Far East.

The men are members of the 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, Camp Petawawa, Ont.; No. 56 transport, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Camp Borden, Ont.; Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, Camp Borden and the 59th field squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, Camp Petawawa They will relieve units of the 25th infantry brigade in Korea.

Some of the Canadians are volunteers for a second tour of duty, including Sgt. Bill Johnson, RCR, a veteran of 14 years service.

Charge Instructed Convey Condolences

OTTAWA (CP) — The external affairs department announced today that the Canadian charge d'affaires in Moscow, Robert Ford, has been instructed "to convey the condolences of the Canadian government to the Soviet government," in connection with the death of Premier Stalin.

In the absence of External Affairs Minister Pearson, the undersecretary of state for external affairs, Dana Wilgress, "is also conveying the condolences of the Canadian government to the charge d'affaires of the Soviet embassy in Ottawa," the announcement added.

Quebec Curlers Still On Top

SUDBURY (CP) — Ken Weldon's Quebec rink won its seventh straight game today in the Canadian curling championships. This win keeps them on top of the standings with only one draw left.

Second place Manitoba won their morning game and since they have a game in hand, Quebec must win the afternoon round today against a tough Saskatchewan rink. A loss to the westerners would force a playoff tonight.

Quebec downed Charlottetown 10-6, while Manitoba's Ab Gowanlock had all he could do to skip his Dauphin rink to a 10-6 win over Alberta.

Saskatchewan edged Ontario 10-9, and Northern Ontario downed Nova Scotia 11-8, while New Brunswick drubbed Newfoundland 14-9. British Columbia drew the bye for this round.

Violence Flares In Pakistan City

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP)—Martial law was declared today in this strife-torn city of 849,000.

Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Azam Khan, area commander, was named to take over the city administration.

Riotous mobs had paralyzed the city from daybreak in intensified anti-government and anti-Ahmedya sect demonstrations.

The demonstrations came in the wake of clashes with police Thursday in which at least six rioters were killed and several were injured.

The demonstrators are demanding that the Ahmedya sect be stripped of some of its power and proclaimed a minority group and that Sir Zafrullah Khan, Pakistan foreign minister and an Ahmedya leader, be called upon to resign.

City schools and colleges were ordered to remain closed all next week.

Stalin Remained A Georgian To End of His Days

There Lay The Influence Of His Barbaric Caucasian Blood

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW
(London Observer Service)

The man who became the leader and master of all the Russians was born in the hill-village of Gori, near Tiflis, on December 21, 1879. His name was Yossif Vissarionovich Djugashvili, and his father was a cobbler. He remained a Georgian to the end of his days, speaking Russian with a heavy accent; and there can be little doubt that in his apparently total disregard for human life, in the unnecessary cruelty with which he carried out necessarily harsh actions and in the brooding vengefulness which he brought to the punishment of all who had ever crossed him, there lay the influence of barbaric Caucasian blood.

In Gori, he was sent to the local church school, and he was gifted enough to pass on to the theological seminary at Tiflis in preparation for the priesthood. At that time every student with an independent turn of mind throughout the Russian Empire was bound to catch the revolutionary fever. Young Djugashvili caught it. In 1899 he either ran away or was expelled from the seminary, and from then on, under a variety of names, he exhibited in adversity the ruthless and slow tenacity of purpose which later distinguished his struggle for supreme power. In those days he had nothing to look forward to but persecution, exile, torture, and the probability of a miserable end. He was, in fact, exiled several times; he took the most cruel physical punishment without murmuring; he made many arduous escapes, returning always to underground work, which marked him off in his own eyes from many of those who sought sanctuary abroad. He became a Bolshevik in the first days of that party's inception in 1903; and, although his respect for Lenin was profound, he was a Bolshevik by temperament and conviction, and not only, as so many of the old revolutionary leaders were, by force of Lenin's personality. With the overthrow of the Tsar in March, 1917, he returned with Kamenev from Siberian exile to Petrograd to take over from the young Molotov the highly efficient local party machine and prepare the ground for the arrival of Lenin. With Lenin's October revolution he became at once one of the leaders of the new regime, as Commissar for Nationalities, the minority races of the USSR.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to discover the truth about Stalin in the early days of the revolution. There are two legends, each as false as the other. His enemies, headed by Trotsky, make him out to have been a crude opportunist, for whom Lenin had only the most limited use, and with whom he ultimately broke off relations.

His supporters, with the whole propaganda machine of the Soviet Union at their disposal, and setting about their business with a total disregard of truth (involving the deliberate falsification of many documents and the suppression of others which could not be falsified), glory him as Lenin's right-hand man and chosen successor. It is enough to say that he was a larger figure while Lenin was still alive than Trotsky allows, but still very much a secondary figure. He was not made by Lenin. He made himself. The means he employed to further his own ends were frequently evil. There can be no doubt at all that, at least from the moment when he became the party's general secretary in 1922, he was possessed with an ambition for power as such. But the lust for power and statesmanlike vision are not mutually exclusive, and Stalin had them both.

His task, as he saw it, was to carry out the revolution as proposed and planned by Lenin. This amounted to nothing less than the forced industrialization of one of the most backward agrarian communities in the world, then exhausted and confused beyond conception by intervention, civil war, and famine. Lenin had had to postpone his plans and, with the New Economic Policy of 1921, keep the revolution marking time while the country recovered itself. With Lenin, obviously a doomed man in 1922, and, in fact, with only two more years to live, Stalin saw his chance.

It is probably true to say that he was in fact the only man at that time who saw the real nature of the task and who had the strength of will to undertake it. He was not seduced by turbulent ideas of immediate world revolution with which the emigres, above all Trotsky, had nourished themselves for so long.

FORMIDABLE OPPONENT

He fought Trotsky with such bitterness partly because he recognized in this brilliant and volatile rival the most formidable obstacle to supreme power, but partly also because he genuinely believed that Trotsky and all those who with him put world revolution before the recovery and consolidation of Russia were heading for disaster. It was only with Trotsky out of the way in 1927 that he felt free to proceed. By now he had grouped round him some of the younger men who had been overshadowed by the old Bolsheviks — Molotov, Kirov, Ordznonikidze, Zhdanov, and Andreyev — and with these he began his drive. At the end of one of the most relentless and terrible struggles in the history of the world the peasants were

A TRIUMVIRATE of these three men may rule Russia now that death has claimed Stalin. Favored by most observers if one man should inherit the mantle of absolute rule in Russia is Georgi Malenkov (right), secretary of the Communist party. At left is Lavrenty Beria, head of the dread secret police, and between the two is Vlascheslav Molotov, once thought to be Stalin's successor, but now less likely.

Stalin's Death Certain To Slow Policy Changes

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)Changes in Soviet leadership following Premier Stalin's death seem certain to slow down the making of basic new foreign policy decisions promised by the Eisenhower administration.

By President Eisenhower's own estimate, the situation facing the U. S. government in the future—involving questions like a cold war, peace or new outbreaks of hot war—is so unpredictable that its attitude can only be one of sharp watchfulness.

Furthermore, in the opinion of other high government officials, this uncertainty may continue for many months.

State Secretary Dulles, at the time of his nomination for the No. 1 cabinet spot in the Eisenhower administration, said he would promptly undertake a review of U.S. policies all over the world. Dulles said that might take a year. He said many policies might be retained, but he hoped that new and better ones could be found in most instances.

NEW APPROACH

The critical Far Eastern situation growing out of the communization of China and the Korean and Indo-Chinese wars is clearly one place where the administration is committed to produce some new approach if at all possible.

Dulles spoke at a time when the U. S. had to assume that Russia would continue pretty much on the same familiar lines indefinitely under the leadership of an aged but apparently healthy Joseph Stalin.

That assumption now has been destroyed.

The impact of its destruction on U. S. and Allied interests depends primarily, of course, on what happens in Moscow with respect to the choice of a successor, and the policies of the new strong man and the extent to which he is able to make them effective.

STALIN'S RESTRAINT

Some persons high in the new administration are known to have regarded Stalin as a moderating influence on aggressive Soviet policies. They feel some apprehension that his removal from the scene is likely to make things worse, not better.

Soviet experts in the state department, intensively studying the new situation, have decided it may be as long as a year or more before the policy lines, or even the security of the succession itself, are clearly established.

During that time Eisenhower and Dulles presumably will want to keep the U. S. in a flexible position.

Served In District Anglican Minister Dies

A former minister at Port Hope and Gore's Landing, the Rev. Thomas Lowe, 74, retired Church of England clergyman, died Thursday in Hamilton.

Born near Ottawa, he was ordained in 1906 at St. George's Church, Kingston, and the next year came to Gore's Landing where a new St. George's Church had just been completed in July. It took the place of the church which was first built in 1848. Mr. Lowe served in the Perrytown parish, consisting of Gore's Landing, Harwood and Perrytown, until 1911.

He also preached in Port Hope, Elora, Winona and Toronto.

Ask If Stalin's Widow Survives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Is Prime Minister Stalin survived by a widow?

The Moscow bureau of The Associated Press, in reporting the death through censorship said:

"Stalin is survived by his son, Lt.-Gen. Vassily Stalin, and his daughter, Svetlana. His wife, Nadejda Alliluieva, died in the early 1930s."

But there have been reports in the West that Stalin was married sometime after Nadejda's death to Rosa Kaganovich, sister of the only high-ranking Jew in the Kremlin hierarchy, Lazar M. Kaganovich.

Nadejda was the mother of both children. Svetlana is reported married to Mihail Kaganovich, Rosa's nephew. Stalin's first wife, Katerina Svanidze, died of pneumonia in 1917.

Detroit Blaze Razes Six Stores

DETROIT (CP)—Damage was estimated at $300,000 in a fire which destroyed six stores and threatened a terminal of the city-owned transportation system Thursday in the north-central Highland Park district.

Traffic was blocked and streetcars were held up for more than an hour until jumper rails were installed over hose lines.

Firemen said the fire apparently burned for some time inside one shop before it burned through the roof at 5 a.m. and spread to other nearby buildings. The blaze, fanned by a high wind, was brought under control at 7 a.m.

Police officials said preliminary investigation indicated the fire started from defective wiring in the United Shirt Distributors, Inc., store.

Failed To Feed Children, Jailed

WALKERTON (CP) — Gerald Liddle, 29, and his wife, Ethel, 26, were sentenced Thursday to two years less a day definite and a year indefinite on charges of neglecting to provide the necessities of life for their five children.

The charge was laid when a post-mortem revealed that the Liddles four-month-old son, John Charles, had died of malnutrition.

The Liddles also were sentenced to a year concurrent on a charge of inflicting unreasonable treatment on their children.

In sentencing Mrs. Liddle, Magistrate O. E. McClevis said he was not trying to cause her any hardship. He recommended her transfer to an institution where she would be taught how to keep her home and raise her family.

He said he would also recommend her release as soon as officials there were satisfied she had become competent as a homemaker.

Stalin Dies

A resume of the Russian leader's fatal illness, broadcast by Moscow radio, said the brain haemorrhage was caused by high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries. Paralysis of the right side, loss of consciousness and breathing difficulties appeared the first day.

These difficulties "assumed a grave nature" at times during the night of March 3, the resume continued. From the start of the illness, the Russian leader also suffered disturbances in the blood circulation system including high blood pressure, flickering pulse and dilation of the heart.

CONDITION DETERIORATED QUICKLY

From the first day of the illness, it said, Stalin's temperature rose and a high white blood cell count was registered that "may have pointed to the development of inflamed lesions in the lungs."

The account said that his condition deteriorated generally Thursday with constant attacks of severe heart and circulation difficulties. An examination discovered an "acute disturbance" in the blood circulation of the coronary artery, "accompanied by focal changes in the heart."

"On the afternoon of March 5, the condition of the patient deteriorated rapidly, respiration became shallow, the pulse rate reached 140-150 beats per minute (normal is about 72; and the pulse pressure dropped."

USED ANCIENT, MODERN METHODS

The resume was signed by the 10 doctors who had tried to save the life of the Russian chief. They were headed by A. F. Tretyakov, recently named Soviet minister of health.

The doctors had used a variety of treatments including oxygen, camphor compounds, caffeine, glucose, penicillin and even the age-old employment of blood-sucking leeches, still used frequently by Russian doctors to reduce blood pressure.

Stalin's illness was announced first Wednesday mornng, Moscow time, 48 hours or so after he was stricken. Thereafter two more medical bulletins were forthcoming before the final announcement of death and the review of his illness.

Black-bordered editions of Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, and all other journals in the Soviet Union published the news of the prime minister's death today, along with a large portrait of Stalin in military uniform, the last medical bulletins and the announcement that the body would lie in state.

Along with these, they published the proclamation of the party and the government appealing for unity and increasing political vigilance and calling for a spirit of "implacability and firmness in the struggle with internal and foreign enemies of the U. S. S. R."

Most of the statement reiterated policy lines that have been long emphasized in Soviet declarations, indicating that the government plans to continue the essentials of Stalin's foreign and domestic policies.

It declared that both the party and the government stood for strengthening the Soviet armed forces to "constantly heighten our readiness for a crushing response to any aggressor." But it also called for the development of international cooperation and business ties with all countries.

It asserted the Soviet Union would tighten bonds with Communist China, the peoples' democracies and workers in capitalist countries and would continue policies of strengthening peace and fighting against preparations for a world war.

The newspapers announced the official commission appointed to arrange Stalin's funeral is headed by Nikita Khrushchev, secretary of the central committee of the Communist party.

Instability

Stalin has laid down. One thing is clear: no single individual can immediately inherit Stalin's mantle in all its glory. It was cut to be worn by Stalin and Stalin alone. It was not until long after he had achieved supreme power than even Stalin permitted himself to assume the outward trappings of power. For example, he was quite content to allow first Rykov, then Molotov to act as prime minister until the very eve of war. The Stalin legend was not made in a day, and will not be inherited in a day.

MORE EFFECTIVE

It was clear from the reorganization of the party last October and the transformation of small Politburo and Orgburo into the much larger and looser presidium that Stalin was trying to set up a machine which would allow effective government by committee. Molotov might be prime minister once again and Malenkov might be general-secretary of the party. But neither would be for the time being the great leader. They would have to rule by majority votes in presidium until such time as one of them proved himself able to take on the attributes of supreme leader and come to dominate others by sheer force or will and personality. The Russian people would then find themselves with a new little father whom they could adore.

Almost certainly the attempt will be made to carry out this general intention. The question is whether it can possibly succeed without Stalin to hold rival pretenders together in an unwilling partnership. A great deal depends on some of the new men about whom we know little. If either of the Big Three, Molotov, Malenkov or Beria can command allegiance of an outstandingly strong party inside the presidium then the task will be be comparatively easy.

COULD BE CONFLICT

But if some of the obscure figures such as Bulganin or Kruschev start trying to play their own hands then the conflict may become open and intense.

What do Russians feel about Stalin and his succession? Although in the hearts of millions now in Russia, Stalin's death will kindle a sudden flame of fierce joy and millions more will mourn the man who, driving them to the limit, taught them to realize their own strength. In later years, for such is Russian nature, he can be regarded even by some of those who had suffered most at his hands as the stern sentinel and protector standing between the ordinary man and the bullying of police and bureaucrats. Apart from him there are no popular heroes in the Soviet Union. This extraordinary man would stand no light beside his own. Molotov regarded as the faithful servant; Malenkov as the quintessential party boss; Beria as the man behind prisons and labor camps, deportation and midnight arrests.

LONG TIME

It will be a long time before any of these can hope to build himself up as a new great leader and wise teacher of Stalin legend. Only naturally popular figures are to be found among those wartime soldiers now relegated to obscurity, above all Marshal Zhukov. If Zhukov wished to make a bid to set up a military dictatorship with or without assistance of the key figures in the central committee party now would be his time.

But in fact no dramatic changes are likely. The government machine is very strong; the entrenched bureaucracy reaches everywhere; the police have limitless power. The Russian people know this. They also know what came after the great predecessors of Stalin: Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great. When a strong hand was loosened the country fell prey to every kind of weakness and reaction. My own feeling is that although Stalin had borne so harshly and cruelly upon the lives of so many millions, a widespread feeling in Russia will be regret at the loss of an evil they know and fear, of an evil they have not yet met. All most Russians will allow themseves is a hope that the transition from the leadership of one supreme and quasi-divine dictator to a dictatorship of lesser mortals will be managed without the dreadful calamities which marked Stalin's own rise to power.

OBITUARIES

SISTER ST. LEO

Sister St. Leo, of Mt. St. Joseph Convent, died today in St. Joseph's Hospital following a short illness.

The Rev. Sister, the former Agnes Moran, was raised and educated in Codrington, daughter of the late Philip Moran and the former Mary O'Neill. She has resided in Peterborough for the past 44 years and has spent most of her time teaching music at the convent.

She was a member of the Community of the Sisters of the Order of St. Joseph. Sister St. Leo leaves two brothers, Leo Moran, of Alberta, and Patrick Moran, of Toronto.

The body is resting at the convent until Monday morning, when requiem mass will be said at 9.30 in the Convent Chapel. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

LOUIS VINCENT McCOY

Louis Vincent McCoy of Timmins and formerly of Peterborough, died in Timmins Thursday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. McCoy was born in Campbellford, son of the late John McCoy and Margaret Christie and has lived in Timmins for the past six years. Formerly he lived in Peterborough and Campbellford.

An employee at the Quaker Oats Co. for 41 years, Mr. McCoy was a supervisor in the packaging department for the 16 years before he retired in 1944.

He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Frank Thompson (Aileen), Timmins; one son, Charles, Peterborough; one brother William, Van Dyke, Mich.; and one sister, Mrs. E. Wolfe, Windsor. His wife, the former Ada LaBarge predeceased him.

The body will arrive in Peterborough on the 11:30 train Saturday for funeral Monday from the Angesley funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 10:30 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Signing Order On Bulletin Said Significant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The announcement to the Russian people of Prime Minister Stalin's death was signed by the central committee of the Soviet Communist party, the Soviet council of ministers, and the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet Council.

The order is significant. The central directing body of the all-powerful Communist party—above and beyond the government—came first. Stalin was secretary-general of that group.

Next came the council of ministers. This is the administrative body of the government which Stalin himself headed as council president or prime minister. Unlike the party, it is a part of the government itself, specifically recognized by the 1936 Russian constitution. It corresponds closely to a cabinet in a democratic government, with the ministers heading the chief administrative departments, such as foreign affairs, defence, navy, finance and so on.

Members of the council of ministers are elected by the Supreme Soviet. The constitution makes that body the highest agency in the Russian state. It has two houses, the Soviet of the Union and the Soviet of Nationalities. Its members are chosen in what the Russians term popular elections, but its resemblance to a democratic Congress or Parliament stops there. About all the high body has been permitted to do under the dictatorship is to approve what the top party and government command has already decided.

Since the Supreme Soviet meets only twice a year, the Constitution set up another body to represent it during adjournment. This is the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet—unlike anything known in the West. The president of the praesidium is Nikolai Shvernik, generally treated as the nearest equivalent to the president of the Soviet Union. Stalin also was a key member of the praesidium.

While the Communist party is top dog in Russia, the high party leaders and those who hold the top jobs in the government are, with a few exceptions, the same people.

PONDER NEWS

The news two days ago of the Soviet leader's grave illness gave Europeans ample time to ponder its implications, and today's early morning announcement that the Russian leader was dead came as no great shock.

Many had speculated that Stalin already was dead when Moscow first announced his illness and that the obituary was being delayed to give the Russian people a chance to brace themselves.

But the final announcement breaking over Europe in the winter dawn, carried with it cold foreboding.

A report from Bonn said West Germany received the news of Stalin's death with new fear. Millions of Germans hated him, but they counted on his shrewdness and patience to avoid a hot war in Europe.

GRAVE

Italy's anti-Communist Premier Alcide de Gasperi said, "The unknown for tomorrow remains grave."

Government leaders in Scandinavia, mindful perhaps of the nearness of the Russian bear, delivered public statements politely praising Stalin.

Comment by British newspapers ranged from fears of greater tension to hopes for agreement between Russia and the West with Yugoslavia President Tito sitting in, perhaps, as a mediator.

The privately-operated radio Free Europe warned anti-Communists inside the Iron Curtain to keep cool and avoid drastic action despite Stalin's death.

Commentaries beamed to the East by transmitters in Germany and Portugal cautioned that the dictator's exit does not mean immediate liberation, and that premature resistance would be suppressed mercilessly.

FORMAL EULOGIES

Diplomatic representatives of most countries presented formal eulogies to Stalin and offered their sympathy to the Russian people.

India's Prime Minister Nehru cabled Moscow that Stalin's "services to his people in peace and war brought him unique renown and his death removed from the contemporary world a personality of exceptional gifts and great achievement."

Newspapers and lesser people gave full vent to their feelings, describing Stalin in terms ranging from "tyrant" to "patriot."

Editorial comment ranged from the London Times' description of him as "the man of steel" to the Conservative London Daily Sketch's brushoff: "Let no tears be shed—the world is well rid of him."

Reaction To Stalin's Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the flash on Prime Minister Stalin's death reached radio station WGMS Thursday night, the playing of a recorded version of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony had just been started.

Instead of interrupting the program, the announcer read the bulletin over the music.

The first four notes of Beethoven's Fifth are three shorts and a long (...-), the same as the morse code pattern for "V."

In the Second World War they were widely used by resistance forces in Europe as a symbol for victory.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution expressing hope for the early liberation of the Russian and other Iron Curtain peoples was introduced Thursday by Representative Charles Kersten (Rep. Wis.)

Kersten said in a statement:

"After Stalin's death we should use this interval of internal conflict at the very core and centre of the world-wide communist operation to win the cold war" by aiding in liberation of those under the control of the Kremlin.

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel's president and government will not send condolences to Moscow on the death of Prime Minister Stalin since diplomatic relations between the two countries were severed last month and no communication between Tel Aviv and Moscow is possible.

ROME (AP)—Palmiro Togliatti, Moscow-trained leader of the Italian Communist party, delivered a eulogy on Stalin in Parliament today. He said the Russian leader was a giant whom the world will never forget.

"An entire century will be identified with his name," he said.

After the oration, the Chamber recessed upon Togliatti's request.

VIENNA (AP)—The radio stations of Eastern European satellite of Russia carried announcements of Stalin's death every half hour this morning.

Budapest, Prague and Bucharest stations broadcast the Tass announcement of the Soviet leader's death, played solemn music and repeated calls to the satellite peoples to display "unity and vigilance in world communism's loss."

LONDON (AP)—Belgrade radio—the voice of Marshal Tito's anti-Soviet Communists — carried no mention today of Stalin's illness or death.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union flag flew at half-staff today at the Russian's United Nations delegation headquarters, 680 Park avenue, in tribute to Joseph Stalin. A black ribbon also hung from the flagpole.

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Mario Segato, Italian astrologer, predicted in December that Stalin would be struck down in February and have to give up leadership.

His pronouncement also predicted "much confusion in the Russian political field, and many difficulties for the man who will succeed Stalin."

VIENNA (AP)—Austria's pro-Western chancellor, Dr. Leopold Figl, issued this comment today:

"The Austrian people and their government learned with shock of the death of Generalissimo Joseph Stalin. Generalissimo Stalin had dedicated his work to the people of the Soviet Union for scores of years. He was one of the most significant personalities of our era. The Austrian federal government and the Austrian people express their sincere sympathy on the loss which the people of the Soviet Union have suffered through the death of Generalissimo Stalin."

Russian troops occupy one-fourth of Austria.

Trading Hits Lowest, Prices Weaken Further

TORONTO (CP) — Stock market trading today reached its lowest point since Dec. 29 and prices weakened.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,587,000 shares.

Uraniums improved slightly from early losses but New Brunswick base metals continued weak.

Industrials held firm as steels and refining oils gained and utilities and banks weakened. Most price changes were small.

Senior golds were mixed but losses in juniors depressed the list. Broulan Reef and Madsen slipped. Holding companies were firm as Inspiration and Frobisher added small amounts.

Higher-priced base metals mixed but others showed a majority of losses. Steep Rock, Cassiar and International Nickel slipped while Eastern Metals, Silver Miller and Falconbridge gained.

Gunnar led uraniums upward after noon with a fractional gain and Chimo and Nesbitt-Labine also rose. A scattering of other uraniums showed penny losses. New Larder U slipped.

Western oils weakened as General A, Gridoil and Scurry slipped. Canada Southern and Fargo added pennies.

New RoK Divisions

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark's Far East headquarters disclosed today the formal activation of two new South Korean infantry divisions, the 20th and 21st. This brings to 14 the number of Republic of Korea divisions, with a strength of approximately 200,000 men. In addition, thousands of Korean service troops are attached to ROK and Allied divisions.

Labor Congress Attacks Federal Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor today attack the federal budget in its annual submission to the cabinet.

Calling it a "business dividend" budget, the 370,000-member congress also said the sales tax of 10 per cent should have been reduced and the personal income tax exemptions raised.

The "business dividend" reference concerned Finance Minister Abbott's description of the budget tax reductions as a "social dividend." It apparently referred also—though the CCL brief did not say so—to a section in the budget boosting tax exemptions on income received from Canadian company dividends.

The new income tax schedules, the congress said, provide a saving of $5 a year for a married wage-earner whose income is $2,500. If he had two children, his tax saving would be $2 for the present year.

DELIVERED TO CABINET

The CCL brief was delivered to a cabinet group headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent from a delegation under A. R. Mosher, congress president. It represented CCL convention resolutions and the ideas of a meeting of a CCL council here in the last few days.

Some of the major points in the CCL submission:

There should be a national health insurance plan, and the least that can be done at the moment is establishment of a parliamentary committee to study the idea and make recommendations;

Unemployment insurance benefit payments should be increased without increasing workers' payments into the $863,000,000 insurance fund held by the government;

Subsidized low-rental housing should be provided;

The scope of the federal labor code, now taking in a restricted range of inter-provincial industry, should be widened to include the automobile, oil, steel, packing-house, forest and gold-mining industries.

Car Slides Into Train Lindsay Man Escapes

LINDSAY (ENS) — Lorne Smith, Lindsay, co-owner of a meat market, escaped with only minor injuries Thursday noon when his car skidded out of control and slid into a slow moving freight train at the Mariposa station level crossing.

Mr. Smith, a recent arrival from Britain, was driving his car along county road 6, when he saw the Toronto train, driven by Engineer Ernie Rainbow, of Lindsay, on the level crossing.

He applied his brakes but could not stop, and the car hit the mail car of the train, just behind the tender. There was considerable damage done to the car, but Mr. Smith escaped with minor injuries.

Constable J. Hall, of the Lindsay OPP, investigated.

Both Drivers Blacked Out Judge Puzzled

Judge John de N. Kennedy admitted he was puzzled Thursday afternoon after hearing evidence in a motor accident case in which George W. Hutt of 143 Rubidge St. was plaintiff and Edward Ayrheart, 33, of Keene was the counter-claiming defendant. The action is being heard in county court.

Two factors made the case an unusal one:

Ont, both Ayrheart and Hutt blacked out when their cars collied at Zion Corners in Otonabee township last June 20, and neither can tell exactly what happened because of amnesia.

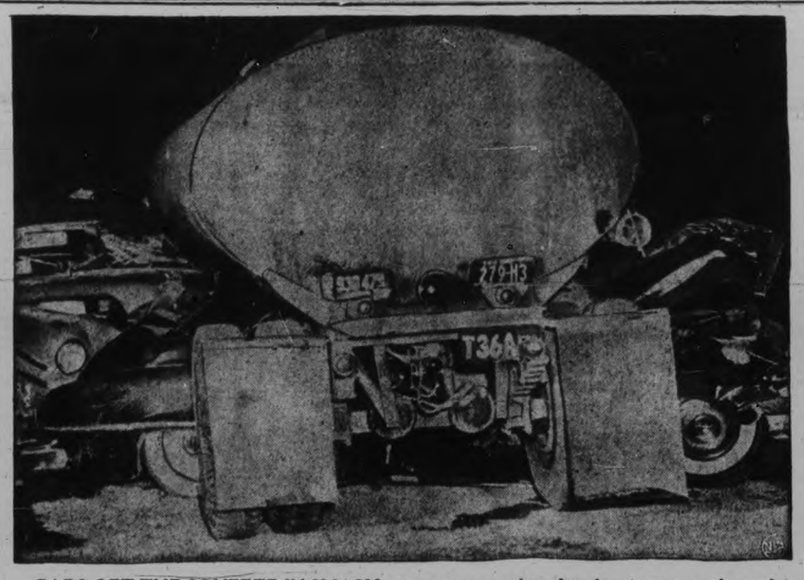
Two, the collision was at the intersection, described by both parties as "very dangerous," and Judge Kennedy, though reserving judgment, was inclined to think it was the lay of the road rather than human error that was the chief cause of the accident.

UNIQUE CASE

Judge Kennedy said that the case was unique in his experience.

"At present I feel that neither of the parties was negligent or both parties were negligent," he said.

Judgment was reserved while William C. Grant, counsel for Hutt, and Michael Sullivan, counsel for Ayrheart, looked up precedents in law records.



Evidence was that Hutt, a busdriver for Ivan Fletcher was driving his car north on the Old Keene Road about 8 p.m. June 20. He started to make a left turn at Zion Corners and was struck by a southbound car driven by Ayrheart who, with a carload of passengers was going to a stag party at Hiawatha. Ayrheart is a CGE foreman.

Hutt was temporarily knocked out by the impact; so was Ayrheart and a front-seat passenger in the Ayrheart car, Jack Merrett, 33, of 363 Leslie St. In the witness box none of the trio was able to describe what happened at the time of impact.

Both Ayrheart and Merrett were taken to St. Joseph's hospital with minor injuries and Hutt received a couple of cracked ribs, a cut hand, and other injuries that required medical attention.

Altogether Hutt is claiming about $400 damages and Ayrheart is counter-claiming for $1,005.

Zion Corners is 200 feet south of the peak of a long slooping hill on the Old Keene Road, and is recognized as a dangerous intersection, both parties admitted.

CARS GET THE SQUEEZE IN SMASH-UP—Believe it or not, Raymond Marchetti, of Long Beach, Calif., walked away from this smashup with only a crushed hand, but his car didn't get off as easy. His car wound up squeezed under the six-ton truck, and is now a very "low-slung" model. The smash-up damaged a second car, whose driver, Donald York, suffered only minor facial cuts. The truck driver was uninjured.

Hope To Ease Parking Fines

COBOURG (ENS) — Work started Thursday on the redecoration of the outer police office. An ancient rolltop desk was taken out some time ago. It may now be in a museum, for it was the largest and longest desk of its kind ever seen around these parts. The counter was torn out, cracked and worn floor covering was lifted and carpenters have started to nail up wood strips to receive wallboard which is to be panelled around the walls; and just so Chief H. Pearse will not feel that he should move from his inner office to the fine new outer one, the Chief's own office will also be modernized. New desks are going to be installed and the entire setup will be looking so attractive that it will almost be a pleasure to go in to pay a parking ticket. At least town officials hope so.

Stalin To Lie In State Close To Shrine For Lenin

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, announced today that Stalin's body will lie in the House of Union's Hall of Columns, in the centre of Moscow only a few hundred feet from the Red Square resting place of Lenin.

The beautiful, crystal-chandeliered hall, once a ballroom of a noblemen's club, is the traditional place where Soviet leaders lie in state for viewing by the populace. It was there that Lenin's bier was placed after his death in 1924.

Pravda announced the commission which would organize Stalin's funeral was headed by Nikita Khruschchev, another top party leader, and included Lazar Kaganovich, Nikolai Shvernik, Alexander M. Vasilevsky, M. A. Yasnov, N. M. Pegov and P. A. Artemyev.

Today's edition of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, was bordered with thick black lines.

The front page included:

A large quarter-page portrait of Stalin in his uniform as generalissimo of the Soviet Union; a proclamation of the Communist party's central committee, the council of ministers and the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet calling, in effect, for a continuance of Stalin's policies; the last medical bulletin issued prior to Stalin's death, describing his condition as of 4 p. m. Thursday Moscow time, the final bulletin describing his death; the notice of the formation of the funeral commission, and the notice that the body would be placed in the Hall of Columns.

First Aid Saves The Life Of Badly Scalded Boy

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

Grace Foster was starting the breakfast dishes.

Her husband, Don, had left for work and her three-year-old son, Tony, was playing contentedly on the kitchen floor.

Grace was just reaching for a tea towel when she screamed in horror.

"Tony look out!"

His mother's warning came too late.

Tony was jumping up and down near the stove and his swinging arm struck the handle of a saucepan. The pan overturned pouring boiling water over him.

Grace flew across the room to the youngster and picked him up.

After a shriek when he first felt the water hit him, Tony collapsed on the floor and now he lay almost lifeless in his mother's arms.

Still holding him, she rushed to the phone and called the operator.

"Will you get a doctor. Hurry There's been an accident," Grace gasped when the operator answered.

"What's your name and address madam?"

The steady unruffled voice of the operator calmed Grace and she was able to give the requested information. She hung up with, "Please hurry, my little boy's been scalded."

Grace took Tony into the bedroom and carefully laid him on the bed. Every time she looked at him she had to clench her teeth to keep from going into hysterics.

Suddenly she thought of something else she could do. She ran back to the phone. Mr. Williams would know what to do.

Mrs. Williams answered the phone after it had rung twice and Grace started pouring out the story in a jumble of words and sobs.

"Just keep calm, Mrs. Foster and keep the youngster covered," Mrs. Williams said encouragingly.

"Carl's at work, but I'll call him and he'll come right over. And don't worry about Tony. He'll be alright."

"That's fine for her to say not to worry. He's not her son," Grace muttered to herself as she rushed back to the bedroom.

Tony was in the same position as she had left him. The side of his face and neck were red. And when she opened his shirt she saw his chest and back had been scalded too.

She pulled out a bureau drawer and frantically hunted through an assortment of odds and ends for scissors.

REMOVED SHIRT

As soon as she found them she started cutting Tony's shirt and undershirt and carefully eased them off. This done she lifted him up and pulled back the covers. The youngster's slow breathing was the only sign of life as she covered him up.

"O Tony! Where is the doctor?" she sobbed again fighting hysteria.

Just then she heard the front door open and Mr. Williams' voice.

"Where are you Grace?"

"In here. In the bedroom."

"I'm so glad you're here," Grace greeted him. "Tony hasn't moved since the water hit him."

"Well now, let's have a look at him," Mr. Williams said as he went over to the bed and examined Tony.

"It's a bad scald alright and it looks like he's suffering from shock. Have you any baking soda in the house?"

"I'll get it."

"Bring some water too," Mr. Williams called after her.

As soon as she returned Mr. Williams applied a mixture of baking soda and water to all the scalded parts of Tony's body.

"I'm going to call Don and see what's keeping the doctor," Grace went to the phone.

Her husband said he'd be right home. But the operator was having difficulties trying to get a doctor.

"We're trying to locate a doctor for you madam. We'll get one there as soon as we can."

Grace hung up and hurried back to the bedroom.

Mr. Williams had bandaged Tony and covered him up by the time Grace got back.

"There's not much more we can do but keep him warm until the doctor comes," Mr. Williams told her.

Don arrived in a few minutes, but the doctor didn't arrive for another hour and a half.

Mr. Williams stayed and treated Tony until the doctor came.

When he did come he rushed Tony to the hospital. Tony's parents found out later that their son was in very critical condition.

The youngster was in hospital for several weeks before he was well enough to go home.

* * * *

Tony is much older now. But he still has scars on his neck and chest to remind him of his close escape. Because of this escape, Tony has a soft spot in his heart for a certain organization in Peterborough—the St. John Ambulance Corps.

He knows now that the man who treated and looked after him until a doctor could come was a member of this organization.

Tony is just one of the hundreds of Peterborough people who have been given first aid since the organization was formed in the city in 1929. Mr. Williams is just one of many members of this organization who have voluntarily taken training to be of service in such emergencies.

For more than 30 years St. John Ambulance members have attended fairs, exhibitions, sports and other public events, standing by to give aid in case of emergencies. They have also been ready to swing into

Stalin

Forty-eight hours before Stalin died, the news that he was fatally stricken aroused a storm of comment and guesswork—all of it utterly futile. It is childish to suppose that the death of the Russian dictator will rapidly and radically alter Russia's policies, foreign or domestic. Whatever changes are to be will come gradually, and the pattern will not be clarified for some months. It is needless, also, to assume that these changes will necessarily be for the worse. Whoever Stalin's successor may be, his first task will be to plant himself firmly in the saddle and to make sure of the loyalty of the men around him. If it is his intention to make war, he will hardly be likely to do so in a hurry.

* * *

Josef Stalin's life is amply recorded elsewhere in this paper. His career has been a great one and we cannot deny him the title of a great man. Bloody-minded, treacherous and ruffianly though his progress to supreme power was, he also showed other qualities which marked him as a great statesman. He was courageous, he could inspire fanatical faith, and he was a remarkable judge of men. He seems also to have had a rare measure of personal charm; many a visitor from the democratic countries came from an interview with Stalin impressed against his will. The cartoonists of a score of nations chose to portray him as a craftily smiling enigma, and there can be no dispute that, in his wartime alliance with the free nations against the Fascists, Stalin achieved one of the most astounding confidence tricks in all history. It will be an long time before we can estimate how great a man Josef Stalin really was. It is understood, of course, that we use the word "great" to signify a man of great capacities, rather than a man of admirable character.

* * *

Speculation about the future of Russia at this moment is wasted time. But it may be that the death of Stalin severs the last strong link with the Russia of the Revolution, and the Russia which made even a pretence at Communism as Marx or Lenin thought of it. The Russia of the future—the Russia of today—is a state ruled by tyranny indistinguishable from the tyranny of Ghengis Khan, except that this modern tyranny has all the resources of modern technology behind it. Russia has been a despotism ever since it had any unity at all. It was a despotism under the Romanoffs, and the Revolution in which so many great hopes were reposed, served only to set another despotism over it. Russia has never been friendly toward the West unless she wanted something; Russia has always been a vast, inassimilable lump belonging neither to East nor West and imperfectly civilized according to either Eastern or Western ideas. The threat which Russia presents today is the same in character as the threat which Russia has always presented; the difference is in extent, rather than in nature. Let us not be so foolish, therefore, as to suppose that the death of Josef Stalin will alter Russia appreciably. Russian history shows plainly that Russia does not alter.

Opportunity Of The Community Fund

Citizens of Peterborough again ask themselves and others to donate to the Red Cross and Community Fund. The central fact about the Fund is that it is a community fund—of the people, for the people, by the people of this city. It is the annual way we of Peterborough look after our own. It is a charity, a service and self-interest. Tonight the canvassers, our fellow-citizens, begin their appeal for subscriptions to the Fund. The opportunity to give should meet with a warm, generous and ready response.

The campaign is one instead of eleven. Through donations to the Community Fund, eleven welfare organizations are supported. Canvassers call once, not eleven times during the year. Campaign costs are minimized, and having given generously once—or having subscribed through a payroll—the citizen of good heart need not be troubled further by financial appeals for these eleven major civic welfare services.

The payroll deduction plan will appeal to many persons as the most convenient and easiest method of contributing adequately to the Community Fund. The donation is spread over a period of time, suitable to the donor and indeed also to the organizations depending on his money for their successful operation, for theirs is a twelve-month service and financial need. The payroll deduction plan allows many persons the chance to give as well as they would wish to these eleven welfare agencies, a generous impulse which they might not be able to afford through a lump sum payable in only one week. It allows givers to budget for their gifts.

The Red Cross and Community Fund is not a cold and humdrum affair because the appeal is made every year. Nor should citizens deny themselves the warmth which unselfish generosity sheds on a giver because it seems routine. No gift worth the name is routine, no matter the number of years it is made. And the money donated to the Fund bears human interest, and indeed creates capital—the capital which is and will be the living tissue of Peterborough as a community; the people in want or trouble helped, the ill succoured, the children saved and raised in health of body, mind and spirit.

A Commendable Move In Education

We are glad to see that an amendment to the Education Amendment Act, now before the Legislature, will provide government assistance toward the education of children of limited mental capacity. At present there are classes for what are called retarded children, which means children who are dull, but capable of learning enough to take care of themselves and earn a living in work which does not make great demands on them. Indeed, we have been told that there are types of mechanical work in which these children do better than more alert and restless ones. And there are institutions to which children can be confined who will never be able to care for themselves at all. But between these two groups—the dull and the markedly defective—there is a group of children and adults who cannot be taught in the existing classes, but who are not by any means incapable of learning certain skills and some care for themselves.

Something should be done for them, in common humanity both to themselves and their parents. But they require special attention from teachers particularly gifted in such work. Infinite patience and kindness, and an understanding of what the child's potential capacity may be, are wanted in this sort of teaching, and these things are not met with everywhere.

It is a sad blow for a family to have a child who is in this group, but it is a misfortune which cannot, at present, be corrected. But love and patience can do much for them, and while they will never be independent, they can at least be happy. Special training for them is bound to be costly, but we feel that it is an expense to which society is obligated, and their numbers are not so great that the burden can be oppressive. We commend the Minister of Education and his colleagues for introducing this amendment, and we hope that nothing will happen to prevent the achievement of this necessary reform.

Our Radar Defence

In this district as elsewhere in Canada there is a lively interest in the radar screen which is being thrown across the land between the population of Canada and the U.S. on the one side and the Arctic wastes on the other. On the northern side lies the continent's virtually undefended frontier, and beyond it Russia.

The network of radar towers is being erected under a joint and heretofore secret U.S.-Canadian agreement. Canada is paying a third of the cost—estimated at some three hundred million dollars—the U.S. two-thirds. The U.S. retains ownership of all the equipment which it has installed. The stations have been manned by soldiers of both countries. There are two types; one to detect approaching aircraft; the other more elaborate, to detect planes and also direct and co-ordinate defensive operations. The location of both types is secret; so also is the number of radar stations already in operation.

Rip Kirby's Friends

As an experiment this week we dropped the Rip Kirby strip from our page of comics. We received so many calls of enquiry and protest that we have put it in again. We are glad to do so, if so many people like it.

Newspapers are perpetually being offered new comic strips, most of which have some claim to attention. The only way in which we can find out what our readers like is to take out a strip which we are carrying, and substitute one of the new ones for it. If there is a protest, we are happy to return to the original. If the new strip takes the public fancy, we adopt it, instead.

We are always happy to hear from our readers on these matters. We publish the comic page to please you, and if we are not successful in that, we like to know about it.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Sell Bacon To U.K. At Loss," says a headline. We have searched the map in vain for Loss, because it seems to have one of the busiest markets in the world.

On January 31 the total savings deposits in Canadian banks were just a few measly millions less than five billions. And if we had known a statistic was being forged, we would have rushed our latest deposit to the bank in time to put it over the hump.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Why is Yonge Street in Toronto called Yonge Street? Who was Yonge?

ANSWER: Governor John Graves Simcoe had a military man's interest in the opening of roads through the territory of Upper Canada for which he had responsibility as commander-in-chief; he was also concerned with their commercial use, to improve communications and open to new settlement the areas not accessible by water routes.

Until 1793 the roads in Upper Canada (Ontario) were little more than Indian trails and portage trails between navigable waterways. Simcoe had two major road-building projects; an east-west road and a north-south road. The first was Dundas Street, the second Yonge Street.

"Governor's Road" as Dundas Street was commonly called, had been partly blazed before 1793 following Simcoe's plan but it was seven years before it was open from York to Ancaster as part of the highway built by Asa Danforth. Augustus Jones had an early hand in surveying this road, as did a Captain Smith. It was named for Henry Dundas, Secretary of State in the Imperial Government.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIMCOE'S second important road project was Yonge Street, named after Sir George Yonge, Minister of War in the British Cabinet. (Simcoe, as Lieutenant-Governor, was of course appointed by the British Government.) Augustus Jones partly surveyed a bush road in 1793-94. In 1795 Simcoe ordered Jones to open the road to Lake Simcoe and work began towards it in 1796 when it was surveyed the whole distance. Between 1799 and the War of 1812 much money and labour were put into the road to make it more than a trail among stumps and mud.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THOSE DAYS the word "street" was tantamount to saying "road." Certainly to confine the name "Yonge Street" within the boundaries of Muddy York would then have limited it to a few hundred yards lined by wooden buildings.

Interesting that history is coming full-circle. Yonge Street is again not merely a street within a town, but a road through the country. The highway north from Toronto through Aurora and Newmarket is known in those parts as "Yonge Street"— as of old, though it is far from the corner of Yonge and Queen where Peterborough people find themselves window-shopping.

As the industrialization and urbanization of southern Ontario continue, perhaps we shall again know the entire road from Toronto to Lake Simcoe as Yonge Street—and not by a Provincial highway number. A good thing—highway numbers are drab ways to name important roads, as the Department of Highways is coming to realize. We have a Queen Elizabeth Way. Let us have again a highway named Yonge Street; a good and historical name.

DEAR ALHPHA: Thought you might like to know there is a trout fly known as Tup's Indispensable. Used in it are hairs from a ram. The fly, of course, was first developed in England, and has a reasonable popularity in Canada. It is mostly used as a dry fly.

RESPONSE: My thanks for this philological addition to tupping lore.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALPHA: Something has me puzzled and I turn to Alpha for an answer. I am a history lover and cannot understand why our Queen takes the title of Defender of the Faith. This is what history tells when Henry VIII was in power. He was a Catholic and a very dear friend of the Pope at that time. They saw eye to eye on all religious subjects, so much so that the Pope gave King Henry the title of Defender of the Faith meaning the Catholic Faith. All went well until King Henry grew tired of his wife. He threatened to leave the Catholic Church but the Pope let him go rather than grant his request for a divorce. The King left the Catholic Church and established a new religion, the Church of England, that is the Church to which I belong, although we now call it the Anglican Church and some of our members want to call themselves Catholic which God forbid . . .

ANSWER: (The letter goes on in similar vein for a couple of pages): I say to the sincere writer of this letter: Why should the Queen not have the title 'Defender of the Faith'? Because it was given to one of her ancestors by the Pope is no reason for denying history its quirks. Why should the British throne not accept for its own, and make its own, a distinctive, general title, no matter why it was given. The Queen is defender of the faith— her faith and the faith of the Church established by English law.

As for the word "Catholic." It means "universal." The C of E is a universal church, though less numerous than the Roman Catholic church. There are Churches of England in Florence, Bombay, Trinidad, Hong Kong, Mexico and Montreal. The right wing of the C of E believe that it is the true Catholic church, and that Rome broke away from it, not it from Rome. I shall not enter into a discussion of this.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALHPHA: Had the privilege of hearing the excellent Community Concert artist—the violinist. During intermission one of our listening neighbours asked this question. "Have you ever seen or heard of a left-handed violinist?" We all agreed this was a question for Alpha.

ANSWER: There is no insuperable reason why a left-handed violinist should not achieve greatness, but I know of no virtuoso who plays with his left hand. No change in the instrument is needed. It would have to be strung in th opposite order. (E, A, D, G,) and the bridge reversed.

I understand that the first violinist of the Budapest String Quartet bows with his left hand, it having been injured beyond ability to finger deftly.

It is likely that so-called left-handed people who study the violin become right-handed with the instrument since methods of instruction and the professors make no special provision for left-handed bowing and right-handed fingering. Why should they? A person who eats with his left hand does not suffer schizophrenia from having to bow with his right.

COUNTRY NOTE: March did not come in like a lamb but a lamb came to Bellee Acres with March. The weather was so cold that he nearly died, and Gamma, my helper and co-owner of the flock, took the little fellow to his mother's kitchen for the week-end. The lamb was brought back to the fold Monday so that he would not become so addicted to the bottle that he would refuse nature's nipple. He is now quite happy and robust.

It is the third live lamb delivered to the eight yowes. The second arrived a few days earlier. All three are budding rams. Probably it's the influence of the late war. They say that after a major war, male births (always more numerous than female since the male is physically the weaker of the species) become even more frequent. Nature's remedy for unnatural slaughter of males? . . . The full moon last Saturday should have spelled the end of winter and the beginning of spring. Anyway, it caused full spring high tides in sunny sea-side resorts which Peterborough people frequent in large numbers far south of the border.

LIKES RIP KIRBY

Sir: I hope you are not planning to discontinue the little story of "Rip Kirby." Most of your subscribers, including myself find it very interesting. It is one of the best on the comic page and we have missed it this week.

Sincerely yours,

HOCKEY DESERVES BETTER

Sir: Johnny Russelle sure hit the nail on the head when he called our arena a barn. I am another, that follows the Petes and it is a pleasure for me to take my wife to Belleville, Kingston or Oshawa, where we can sit in comfort and enjoy a hockey game. But when I ask my wife to go to the arena she says "No thanks, I don't want to be tramped to death." So there you are Mr. Editor I'm sure there are hundreds like me, that have to go to the games alone. So let us all unite and demand a public meeting, and maybe we will get some fast action on the Memorial Centre. Johnny and Jimmy and the players deserve a lot of credit for keeping hockey going. So let everyone get behind them and demand some action.

A LOVER OF HOCKEY.

CELESTIAL COMPENSATION?

Sir: Is there a law—law of celestial compensation regarding the earthly venture of children? I've oftened pondered this weighty question. Some children come into the world quite easily and are also very welcome while for others it is truly a bed of thorns.

What I mean by a law of celestial compensation is— Do the murdered children; the unwanted and neglected children get another chance at life. I sincerely hope so for it helps me to preserve my sanity in a brutal world for just recently—in a forest in British Columbia they uncovered the hatcheted interlocked skeletons of two modern "Babes in the Wood" thinly buried under the leaves.

FRED HORN.

NO PLAN, NO PERMIT

Sir: I would like to voice my protest along with the other people mentioned in your account of a petition by Caddy Street residents in regard to erection of apartment buildings on Caddy St. I too have looked in vain for a visible building permit, to ascertain what type of building was being erected. I built my own house on this street, and when excavation began, the building inspector came and asked to see my permit. I went into the tool shack and when I came out with the permit, he instructed me to nail it up outside in a conspicuous place. Consider this in light of the article in your paper where petitions claimed on investigation no permit had been issued, also that no plans had been submitted to City Hall. Apparently authorization was given by town planning committee and Mr. Chalmers to erect a building of unknown type, size and construction. I understood a permit could not be issued, without a complete set of plans deposited at City Hall.

Why has this special privilege been granted at this time?

A year ago, I was associated with a group who were going to erect a fairly large building in the city. The basement plan drawing was completed, although the rest of the plans were not. We were anxious to get started as the contractor was on the job, and the frost out of the ground. We took the basement plan to City Hall hoping to get permission to start excavating and start basement walls. This was refused; the reason given was that it would be necessary to know what was going on top of the basement walls.

This was reasonable enough, and so we had to wait.

I feel that a protest would have been voiced sooner if a permit had been visible, so that the petitioners were aware of the construction of buildings. Various rumours circulated, none of them correct.

The disregard to the safety of children was very apparent. There is no guard along the sidewalk and at one time, a high pile of 12 inch cement blocks stood at the edge of the sidewalk. If these had tumbled, due to soft earth underneath, some child could have been crushed, right on the sidewalk. Also piles of sand and gravel, which had a fire burning to keep sand soft, is also dangerous, right at the edge of the sidewalk.

I am surprised at the apparent disregard to the rights and safety for the people of this subdivision, but this lack of plans and permit, stuns me.

FAIRNESS TO ALL.

TOLD HIM SO

They all told him it couldn't be done.
He just smiled, and went right at it.
They all watched breathlessly as he tackled the thing that couldn't be done.
And sure enough it couldn't.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jesusalem, saying, Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread. But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition? ....

Ye hypocrites, well did Esaias prophesy of you, saying, This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me....

And he called the multitude, and said unto them, Hear, and understand. Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man .... For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: these are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man. (Matt. 15: 1-3, 7, 8, 10, 11, 19, 20).

✧ ✧ ✧

Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life. (Prov. 4: 23.)

Bees On The Warpath

(Letter in London Times)

Sir: During the East African campaign of 1914-18 it was a comparatively common occurrence for columns on the march through bush to be attacked by wild bees which had made their nests in hollow trees.

A well-known instance was at the battle of Tanga on November 4, 1914, when our troops were attacked by bees which had been disturbed by the firing. After the action a story was widely circulated that the Germans had connected trip wires to bee hives so that they should be overturned by our troops.

In his book, "My Reminiscences in East Africa," General von Lettow-Vorbeck, the German commander, remarks: "Years afterwards I was asked by English officers whether we had used trained bees at Tanga, but I may perhaps now betray the fact that at the decisive moment all the machine-guns of one of our companies were put out of action by these same "trained" bees, so that we suffered from this new 'training' quite as much as the English."

On several subsequent occasions troops with whom I was marching were attacked by bees. One of these was during our march from Bagamoyo to Dares-Salaam, when a bush fire was started by someone throwing a cigarette end into the grass during a halt.

This disturbed a nest of bees and some of the men were severely stung. I remember removing more than 50 stings from one man's head and neck.

A constable may soon arrest without warrant anyone whom he believes to be carrying an offensive weapon; an offensive weapon is defined as "any article made or adapted to cause injury, or intended by the person having it for such use."

Communists' Work In Africa Aims At Nullifying Value To West As Base

William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, is a Russian-speaking specialist on the news of communism. For the last month he has been applying his background knowledge to the situation in East Africa. This is the last of three articles telling of Communist efforts in all the vast strategic area from Kenya to Cairo.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

CAIRO (AP)—A vast expanse of East Africa, stirring restlessly with the growing pains of intense nationalism, is being subjected to underground Communist attack with the apparent aim of nullifying its value to the Western world as a base.

Trained observers agree that the Communists seek to produce turbulence wherever possible in Egypt, the Sudan and Kenya, to drive away Western influence and leave the potentially rich area helpless for Soviet plans of the future.

Premier Gen. Mohamed Naguib says Egypt "would have been in the hands of the Communists today" if his army movement had not taken over the government when it did.

"The lowest classes might have been led to destructive aims" had his tightly organized group of officers not overthrown King Farouk, Naguib told me.

COUP CHECKED REDS

Naguib's coup may have checked the Communists and given hope to Egypt's under-fed masses, but it's dangerous to think the Communists are beaten.

In the next few months the Communists may be expected to work with a fever born of desperation to discredit the Naguib regime. If it can be undermined and overthrown in violence, the organized minority of Communists might be able to bring about turmoil and anarchy and eventually turn Egypt into a Middle East "peoples democracy."

Naguib is only 52, but the pace of the last six months has made him look more like 65. He did not appear to be of the stuff from which dictators are made but rather the model of what the army movement says it wants Egyptians to be: patriotic, devout, moral, courageous in war and honest and straightforward in peace.

PRO WESTERN

Despite hard words spoken in public over negotiations with the British concerning the Suez canal area and the Sudan, he is more pro-Western than any Egyptian who has led the government for a long time.

At the lower levels of the population the devotion to Naguib appears to amount to idolatry. As the scale goes up this sentiment tones down to admiration, and finally among a sizable group of pasha beyes and politicians who have been displaced it is mere lip service. Among Communists the name of Naguib is poison.

100 REDS JAILED

Up to 100 Communists are in custody now, rounded up in connection with an alleged plot to overthrow the regime, but nobody knows whether the real leaders have been caught.

The banned newspaper Red Flag is published regularly from underground.

The strength of Communists in the universities has caused alarm here. They have even infiltrated Al Azhar, biggest and oldest Moslem university in the world. The ...ts of the Moslem religion are opposed to Communism, but Al Azhar students include many from the unstable elements of Egyptian society.

There are 35,000 students in four big government universities. Of these at least 1,000 are hard-bitten Communists and 7,000 others compose a leftist fringe.

Many of these students have no future. There are 17,000 law students now who will compete for extremely few jobs. This is the hotbed which offers a political training ground for the Communist party of Egypt.

Possibly 80 per cent of Egypt's population is illiterate, and easily stirred to violence and riot.

$23 YEARLY INCOME

At the last census the average peasant had an income of about $23 a year. He does not own his land, animals or even his miserable mud hut. The country has 2,000,000 unemployed.

The undernourished, disease-ridden masses offer a happy hunting ground for Communists.

The Naguib regime has plans for raising agricultural and industrial production, for improving transportation and power, for more irrigation, for dividing up large estates among the peasants. But these plans are long-range and Egypt's needs are immediate.

Already, Naguib said, Communists are attacking his proposed land reform, telling the peasants they will be worse off than ever.

STALIN, RUSSIA'S "MAN OF STEEL"

At six, Joseph Dzshugashvili (Stalin) attended school in his native Gori, Georgia.

Ardent disciple of Lenin, Stalin had become prominent in the revolutionary movement.

Police picture of Stalin who at 31, was exiled to Siberia three times for anti-Czarist activity.

As moderns saw Stalin, the most feared, most powerful ruler on the face of the globe.

Stalin's favorite picture is posed with Nikolai Lenin, father of the Soviet Union. Prior to his death in 1922, Lenin warned Trotsky to beware of Stalin's impulsiveness.

Stalin and Trotsky became bitter enemies. Trotsky, shown above reviewing his Red army, insisted on immediate world revolution. But, Stalin's power forced Trotsky's exile. He was murdered in Mexico in 1940. Stalin is shown beaming at Nazi foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, lower photo, after signing non-aggression pact in 1939. This enabled Hitler to start World War II, feeling secure about his eastern flank. Twenty-two months later Germany attacked Russia.

In an atmosphere of "goodwill" Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt met at Yalta to discuss the conduct of the war with Germany and policies to follow after her defeat. Stalin strengthened Russia's hand in the Far East by getting Sakhalin, Kuriles and a lease of Port Arthur. Chinese Eastern Railroad and the Manchurian Railroad were to be operated by a joint Soviet-Chinese company. Stalin also won the right to dismantle German factories along with the right to extract reparations from that war-torn land.

After the Axis powers were defeated the spirit of comradeship began to ebb in Europe, as Stalin through "popular fronts" started his imperialistic expansion. When Czechoslovakia fell through Communist intrigue, the West knew the die was cast. . . Soviet expansion must be stopped. The West through the U. S. instituted the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan and ECA. They worked in Greece, where Stalin-backed guerrillas were beaten, and in France and Italy where Reds were defeated at the polls.

But in Asia, Stalin fared much better. Chiefly because of the weakness of the Nationalists and the failure of the Marshall mission to reconcile Chiang and the Reds, Mao Tse Tung, a Stalin trained Communist, overran China. In February, 1950, the Soviet-China Mutual Aid Pact was signed, top photo, in Moscow. Through Stalin's insistence Red puppets have UN forces tied up in the Far East, lower photo. The grave question facing the democratic world today is whether his successor will continue his aggressive policies.

Lord Ismay Sees Little Red Change

HAMILTON (CP)—Lord Ismay, secretary-general of NATO, said Thursday night that NATO leaders do not expect a change of power in Moscow to lessen Russian efforts to split the western nations.

He did not mention Stalin's death, announced over Moscow radio almost as he spoke. But after referring to a possible change in Soviet leadership he said:

"Persistent efforts to drive a wedge between us are certain. There is nothing Russia is more anxious to accomplish."

Lord Ismay's address to the Canadian Club ended a busy day. He arrived in New York in the morning, said goodbye at Montreal to the 3rd RCAF fighter wing which is en route to Europe, and visited Ottawa.

He said NATO's 14 nations are "the best, if not the only hope of peace."

Lad Swallows Toy Bear's Eye

BRANTFORD (CP)—Speedy action by two doctors is credited with saving the life of seven-month-old Theodore Ernst who had swallowed the eye from a toy panda bear.

The child was taken to hospital Wednesday with the eye lodged in his throat and his trachea punctured by the barbed spike on the back of the eye. X-rays showed air had entered the baby's chest cavity and was surrounding the heart and lungs.

The doctors quickly removed the plastic eye and stemmed the bleeding which threatened to choke the child.

The baby's condition was described by hospital authorities Thursday as "serious, but improving."

Car Ditched, Escapes

ORILLIA (CP)—A slow-moving train Thursday tossed a car driven by Jack Oldfield, 51, of Rathburn 20 feet into a ditch. Oldfield was knocked unconscious but later was able to walk from the scene. His dog "Lucky," riding with him, escaped unhurt from the wreckage.

Church Caretaker Made Freeman

SUDBURY (CP)Nicholas Haggerty, for 20 years a church caretaker here, has been honored by a Scottish town for the money and gifts he has sent at every festive season for many years to help the community's old folks.

Mr. Haggerty, who has lived in this district for 32 years, recently returned from a visit to his home town of Irvine in Ayrshire. He brought back a parchment stating that, in recognition of his services to the aged and poor, he has been made a "Freeman of the Royal and Ancient Berg."

Now 69, Mr. Haggerty lives at nearby Burwash where he works for the Ontario department of public works.

Oldest Twins Claim

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Newest rebuttal of Woodstock's "oldest twins in Canada" claim comes from Upper Stewiacke, N.S.

Mrs. S. G. Cox and Mrs. Ruth Archibald are still going strong at 90 years of age. Originally, this southwestern Ontario town claimed its Smith twins, aged 82, were the oldest in the country.

Set Up Reserve AA Unit

PENETANGUISHENE (CP)—Establishment in Penetanguishene of one of four troops of the 166th battery, 55th Light Anti-Aircraft Reserve Regiment, has been authorized. The troop, three officers and 75 men, will have headquarters in Penetanguishene post office and train in the new Midland armory.

Fishermen Escape

DIGBY, N.S. (CP)—Three fishermen escaped to safety Thursday across wind-lashed rocks when their 58-ton Halifax fishing craft was driven ashore and battered to bits on the shoals at nearby Herring Cove. "We escaped with our lives and that's all," said Capt. Frank Walsh of the Lena, a 61-foot craft.

Falls, Not Stoning Caused Girl's Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—Injuries suffered in falls were blamed Thursday for the death of 2½-year-old Glenda Bedford who died in hospital Feb. 28.

Her body was a mass of bruises when she was taken to hospital from the home of Mrs. Beatrice Person with whom she was boarding.

Mrs. Person told police some of the bruises were caused when sadistic playmates stoned the child and others in falls from her crib and down a basement stairs.

A coroner's jury found that Glenda died "an unnatural death from injuries most likely the result of falls."

Golden Jubilee

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—This southern Saskatchewan city will celebrate its golden jubilee this year. Celebrations are being planned to start on June 28.

Empress Salvage To Cost $500,000

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters)—Raising of the burned hulk of the liner Empress of Canada in harbor here will be the biggest salvage operation ever tackled in Britain, the Liverpool harbor board manager said Thursday.

It will take a year and cost more than $500,000, Sir Ted Hodges said.

About 200 men, including 10 diving parties, will be employed continuously in the operation.

The 20,325-ton Canadian Pacific liner was gutted in a dockside fire late in January. She keeled over and sank. When raised, the hulk will be sold for scrap.

Twelve tripods will be built on the liner's upturned hull, to be connected by steel cables to winches ashore. Salvage pontoons will be fitted to the upper deck to give the ship buoyancy, while counterpoise weights of about 2,000 tons will be fastened near the keel.

Presents
Travel and Adventure Series
TUESDAY, MARCH 10, AT 8 P.M.
LECTURE NO. 5
"VALLEY OF THE HUDSON"

RECOGNIZED FOR his outstanding photography and interesting humorous narration, Julian Gromer will come to us with the travelogue that he considers to be one of his best. In vivid color he will take us the length of the mighty Hudson River, from its mouth of the Atlantic Ocean to its source in the scenic Adirondacks in upper New York State.

JULIAN GROMER

We will see Coney Island, the Statue of Liberty and we will spend a lot of time in New York City—both day and night. We will visit a number of famous spots—the majestic Palisades, grim Sing Sing prison, cement mills, war boats, ocean liners, Bear Mountain Bridge, the Military Academy at West Point, and at Hyde Park we will visit the old Roosevelt home with its lovely garden.

At the "North Pole" we will visit Santa's workshop, complete with reindeer, story-book buildings, toymakers and other helpers. Fascinating industries are always a part of a Gromer film, and in this one we will see the picking and canning of cherries, the manufacture of Smith Brothers cough drops, the making of color pigments and the creation of wallpaper. At famous Lake George, we will see how New Yorkers spend their vacations camping on picturesque little islands.

This is a picture that will end all too soon for the photography is perfect, the music soothing and the humor and narration excellent. It will add up to a most enjoyable and entertaining evening with Julian Gromer. Don't miss it.

Aces And Shamrocks Move Into OMHA Semi-Finals Ousting Belles And Kingston

Peterborough bantam and midget "A" hockey teams survived another OMHA round here last night before 600 fans to advance into provincial semi-finals against Toronto Marlboros. The bantam Shamrocks defeated Belleville 9-7 to take the series by a 21-14 score, while the midget Aces drew 3-3 with Kingston but won their round 9-6. Both were fast, fairly clean contests, the first one seeing Belleville rally strongly toward the end of the game, and the second tussle being marked by a third-period comeback by the Peterborough boys after Kingston had the round score whittled to a one-goal lead for Aces. The reverses eliminated Belleville and Kingston from further competition this season.

AN EARLY LEAD

Pat Doherty's local Shamrocks racked up a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals by Gary Darling, Pat Baker and Larry Lonsberry, the latter also aiding on one. They had a 3-1 edge in the second, Lonsberry hitting the twine twice and Baker once on a pass from Pete Stewart. Lonsberry had a big night for the winners. Bob Hull, who starred throughout in an iron-man performance for the Quinte crew scored once in the second frame. He came back to rap in three in a row in the third on fine solo dashes. Bill Foster got two for Belleville and Bob Wanamaker one. Lonsberry, Darling and Bill Mahoney tallied for Shamrocks in the third, Darling aiding on two in a neat effort, and Mahoney and Frank Daly one each.

Belleville drew six of the 10 penalties in a well-handled game. Play was speedy and exciting, with both goalies kicking out a lot of hot rubber. Lonsberry and Darling stood out for the winners, with Hull and Foster starring for the losers. Teams:

Belleville: Goal, Wright; defence, Hull and Spafford; centre, Beeby; wings, Robb and St. Louis; alternates, Foster, McLean, Wanamaker, Rowbotham, Pollard and Musgrove.

Shamrocks: Goal, Riel; defence, Lonsberry and Haig; centre, Darling; wings, Pace and Coombes; alternates, Daly, Lustic, Jay, Armstrong, Mahoney, Baker, Stewart, Kimball and Tetlock.

Referees, E. Woodcock and J. Semark.

A CLOSE FRAY

Joe Rochetta's local Aces and the Kingston midgets fought to a 1-1 tie in the first frame, Bert Roy scoring first for the K's, and Bernie Ferren evening it up late in the period on a passout from Paul Murphy. Kane's tripping penalty didn't cost anything. Fred Rusaw of the Aces counted near the frame's end, but it was called back, Referee Locke claiming he kicked it in.

Paul Murphy of Aces was off for tripping in the second stanza when Hubert Ball slapped in Bill McIntosh's pass to give Kingston a 2-1 lead on the game. Later Bill Forestell went over the wall for slashing but Goalie Len Hickson came up with some smart net work to hold the visitors out. It was rougher and fairly even toward the end of the chapter.

JUST ONE DOWN

Early in the third, Ted Hawkins scored from Lyle Burnett to put Kingston but one goal down on the round. Jack Kane of Aces went off for interference, followed by Dave Brown of the K's for elbowing. Both were back when Hawkins got it for interference, and Bill Godfrey finished off fine combination in close with Terry Doris to sink the disc. Hawkins was back but Burnett was away for charging when Paul Murphy scored again for Aces from Ferren and Rusaw on a good passing play inside. Haggerty was gated later for holding, followed near the close by Godfrey and McIntosh for high-sticking. Teams:

Kingston: Goal, O'Neill; defence, St. Remy and Howland; centre, Ball; wings, Burnett and Sanderson; alternates, McIntosh, Brown, Wheeler, Hampton, Haggerty, Roy, Murphy, Hawkins.

Aces: Goal, Hickson; defence, Beaubiah and Brown; centre, Godfrey; wings, Doris and Naish; alternates, Murphy, Rusaw, Ferren, Kane, Floyd, Heffernan, Baker and Forestell.

Referees, W. Post and I. Locke.

Quebec Quartet Leads Curling, Manitoba Team Defeated Twice

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—A Montreal rink skipped by Ken Weldon, making its second straight try for the Canadian curling championships, led the pack "going home."

With only today's two rounds left, Weldon, who piloted his St. George four to five victories in last year's championship, won his seventh straight victory Thursday. The only defeat for the Montreal quartet came in the first round when they were dumped 14-5 by British Columbia.

The Quebec provincial champions' string of seven wins set a record for a Quebec entry. Quebec has never won the top curling event.

Highlight of Thursday's three rounds was the defeat of Ab Gowanlock's Manitoba rink in the morning by Quebec and at night by Grant Watson's Northern Ontario four.

The two losses broke an unbeaten string of six straight victories for the Dauphin rink and left them in second spot in the standings after the ninth round. Gowanlock, who won the silverware in 1938 with a Glenboro, Man., rink, is shooting for his second personal victory and the second consecutive win for Manitoba, which has won 13 of the 23 competitions written into the records.

BEAT MANITOBA

The Montreal rink defeated Manitoba in the morning round on the last end. With the score tied 7-7, Quebec had a rock almost on the button and protected by two guards. Gowanlock laid his first throw almost touching the Quebec stone and lying shot. Then Weldon repeated the same shot, easing his rock just a fraction closer to the button.

Gowanlock's second rock was wrecked by one of the Quebec guards and the Montreal rink won by a point.

It was almost the same story at night, when Northern Ontario led 12-9 going home. Don McEwan, the Port Arthur rink's viceskip, threw his stones through the house, giving Manitoba two biters.

When Watson came up in clean-up spot, his first stone put one in and knocked one Manitoba rock out. Gowanlock, on his last stone, had to knock out two to count enough to force an extra end. He tried a runner, a shot he rarely misses, but it went through the house with almost a foot on either side to spare.

EASY WIN

Quebec had little trouble with Nova Scotia in the afternoon game. After Barney Haines, veteran skip of the Bridgewater quartet, drew in a perfect stone to count four in the first end, the game was all Weldon's. It was 8-5 after the sixth and ended 14-7.

In the ninth-round game the Quebec team rolled in one in the first and second ends before New Brunswick scored one in the third. A three for Quebec in the fourth and a four in the sixth served up the game and the Moncton rink went down 14-6.

Manitoba's only victory of the day came in the afternoon eighth round when they drubbed winless Newfoundland 22-5. The Dauphin rink piled up a 10-2 edge after six ends and 17-3 lead after nine.

BIGGEST SCORE

The biggest score of the round robin was piled up by Reg Stone's British Columbia entry. The third-place westerners walloped winless Prince Edward Island 25-7 in the afternoon round.

In the morning, the Trail rink raked over New Brunswick 12-5, but at night missed some crucial stones to bow 18-11 before Saskatchewan, which had the afternoon off.

Alberta, tied with Nova Scotia in fifth place with a 5-3 record, ran up an easy 17-7 win over Newfoundland in the morning and was edged by Northern Ontario, 9-8, in the afternoon. The Calgarians had the bye at night.

Watson won the game for the stone near the button and one well back on the ring, Len Haw, skip of the Calgary crew, missed his second last shot and Watson drew in another guard. Haw then attempted a draw, but left the stone near the button, counting one for the Port Arthur rink.

ONTARIO WINS

Ontario won two of its three games, defeating New Brunswick 8-7 in the eighth round and Prince Edward Island 11-7 at night. In the afternoon the Chatham rink was trimmed by Nova Scotia 8-5.

In the morning, Saskatchewan defeated P.E.I. 9-5. The Delisle rink, skipped by Jimmy Hill, had a three-point edge going into the eleventh, but a two count in that end gave them the boost they needed and in the 12th the Charlottetown crew got one.

Haines piloted his Nova Scotia representatives to a 20-8 win over Newfoundland at night. It was the Rockey Rockwell rink's eighth straight loss.

CIRCLE GETS CROWDED—Twelve of a possible 16 rocks are "in the house" and another lies just beyond the far circle during play in the Canadian curling championships at Sudbury. British Columbia counted three in this particular end and went on to defeat Newfoundland in the game. Left to right: Roy Stone, vice-skip; D. S. McGibney, second, and H. McKay, lead, all of the B.C. rink.

Dinner Raises $30,000-Plus For Lame Kiddies

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario sportsmen raised some $30,000 for crippled children Thursday night and put the opening punch into the country-wide Easter seals campaign.

Some 600 persons attended the second annual sports celebrity dinner of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association and made a direct contribution of some $15,000 through the $25-a-plate admission fee. All proceeds went to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

As the dinner ended, manager Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs, treasurer of the society announced that an anonymous donor had offered to match the dinner proceeds with a contribution of his own.

ONE GIVES $600

The spirit of generosity extended to the celebrities who had come to help the cause. One donated $600 in cash. Another donated his expenses, which had been paid by a Toronto sportsman.

The 20 guests rolled back more than 50 years in sports reminiscences. But the crippled-children theme ran through every talk, climaxed by an eloquent plea from George Toporcer, former baseball player and manager who lost his eyesight a little more than a year ago.

There were cheers for guests like Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion; hockey stars like Frank Nighbor, Ching Johnson, Nels Stewart and Busher Jackson; footballers Otto Graham and Vince Mazza. But the biggest ovation was for "Timmy," symbol of the Easter seals drive.

COURAGEOUS RED-HEAD

This year Timmy is 13-year-old Bruce McGregor of Vernonville, some 70 miles east of Toronto. The red-headed youngster, who won a five-year fight against paralysis and now can ride a pony and play some games, sat at the head table beside Horton Smith, head of the U.S. Professional Golfers Association.

The celebrities shook Timmy's hand as they spoke. Toporcer felt the boy's face and mop of hair with his hands. Since Wednesday was the lad's 13th birthday, there was a birthday cake and gifts—windbreaker, an autographed baseball and an autographed hockey stick.

OTHER GUESTS

Other head table guests were: George Selkirk, Canadian-born outfielder, and George McQuinn, former big-league player now coaching Quebec Braves, from baseball; Ernie Howard of Toronto, who won the U.S. Squash championship last week; Willie Hoppe, for 47 years world billiards champion; Billy Sherring, who won the marathon for Canada at the 1906 Olympic Games in Athens; George Goulding of Toronto, some of whose records as a walker still stand as world marks; diamond sculls winners Bobby Pearce, Jack Guest, Sr., and Joe Wright, Jr.; and Marshall Cassidy, secretary of the Jockey Club of New York.

A plaque was presented to Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ontario open and amateur golf champion who was selected by association members as Ontario athlete of 1952.

COBOURG STAR — "Sleep" Dawe, youthful Cobourg puck ace who is on Boston Bruins' NHL list, is one of the lakeshore Legionnaires who will see action against the Petes here tonight to open their best-of-five OHA post-season series. Second game is Tuesday in Cobourg.

Upsets Slip West From Men's Shuttle Singles

TORONTO (CP)—The final of the senior men's singles in the Canadian badminton championships will be an all-eastern competition. The West's hopefuls were upset in the quarter-finals Thursday night.

Four Vancouver stars, two of them top-seeded players, fell before easterners in major upsets.

Don Smythe of Toronto, the 1953 titleholder, will likely be the big gun for the east. He stopped Vancouver's John Bouck in the quarter-finals 15-7, 15-12.

Toronto's Bev Wescott ousted Daryl Thompson of Vancouver, seeded No. 2, 15-9, 17-16, while Jack Muir jolted Vancouver's Dave McTaggart in a gruelling match, 15-6, 8-15, 15-10. Gord Simpson of Montreal polished off Vancouver's Bruce Benham 15-5, 11-15, 18-14, to enter the semi-finals tonight.

IN SEMI-FINALS

Earlier in the day defending champion Jim Carnwath of Woodstock, Ont., moved through two rounds of junior men's singles to reach the semi-finals.

In the senior women's singles it will be a battle between Vancouver and Toronto in the semi-finals. The Vancouver victors were Joan Eardsley and Lois Reid while the Toronto stars are Marjorie Shedd and Joan Hennessy.

In the women's doubles semi-finals Barbara Ince and Joan Warren of Toronto will meet Clare Lovett of Vancouver and Maureen Bray of Toronto. Marjorie Shedd and Joan Hennessy tackle Joan Bardsley and Lois Reid in the other bracket.

Fifteen-year-old Jean Waring of Calgary reached the final of the women's singles consolation. Miss Waring defeated Anne Kennedy of Montreal, 11-6, 12-9, in the semi-finals.

Ken Noble, youthful Vancouverite, won the men's consolation final with a 15-7, 15-13 victory over G. Tyrell of Montreal.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A prominent downtown business man stopped by yesterday to give us what he termed "a long-range suggestion to solve this Memorial Centre business." Urging early action, he suggested that the committee forget Morrow Park as the site, due to possible hitches in the Morrow Trust holding the project up even longer. "I suggest that a farm be bought at the edge of the city," he said, "as a site for the Community Centre and also for a community golf course. I'm thinking in particular of a large farm owned by the Peterborough Lumber Company on the east side of the canal and running south from the bridge. It's actually in the city, is plenty large enough, has good footing and might be purchased quite reasonably."

* * * * * *

Elaborating, this business man pointed out that community golf courses have always paid their way, and that there are some 2,000 golfers here now and many more would play if smaller fees could be had. Also, he said, there are many hockey players and thousands of fans who require a good arena, which could be used for other purposes, as well. He said: "There should be no transportation problem there, any more than Morrow Park or where the present little arena is, and don't forget the city is expanding all the time on all sides. Many cities have an arena on the outskirts and folks attend in large numbers. It is a long-range view, and such views are usually scoffed at by short-sighted people at first, but often adopted later.".

* * * * * *

Let's Have Some Action

We think it is a good thought coming from a successful man, and feel that the Centre committee should at least inquire into the property concerned, its price, etc. And right away. No doubt the committee has been stalling along in the hopes that costs would go down, but that appears out of the question for a long time to come. A city of more than 40,000, and gradually growing toward the 50,000 mark in population, deserves a Community Centre comparable to those in Oshawa, Belleville and Kingston. This site suggestion and the recent offer to build by Timber Structures deserve immediate consideration by the committee members, all capable men but lacking the drive in this case to complete a propect long overdue.

Hockey action returns to Civic Arena tonight with the first game of the OHA post-season playdowns for runners-up. It's between Cobourg Legionnaires and the Petes at 8.30, return tilt being in the lakeshore town next Tuesday. Petes expect to be at full strength for the series, and the bolstered Cobourg crew may supply stiff opposition. They very well could with such puckists in the lineup as Jim Munroe, Cliff Maundrell, Clark Somerville, Sleep Dawe, Dave Casey and the rest. There won't be too much more hockey seen here this season, so this is a tasty tidbit for local puck fans.

Minor Clubs Keep Going

Two tidy puck tilts at the arena last p.m. before a goodly gallery and both local OMHA squads came through. Pat Doherty's bantam Shamrocks beat Belleville 9-7 to win the series 21-14, while Joe Rochetta's midget Aces tied Kingston 3-3 but won the round 9-6. In the bantam game, Larry Lonsberry of Shamrocks and Bob Hull of the Quinte crew stood out as rushing defencemen who scored four goals each. Gary Darling and Pat Baker clicked for two each for the winners, and Bill Foster two for Belleville. Local snipers in the midget melee were Bernie Ferren, Bill Godfrey and Paul Murphy, as Ball, Roy and Hawkins hit it for the K's. Some neat goaltending seen by the rival netters in both games. The victors now move into OMHA bantam and midget "A" semi-finals 'gainst Toronto Marlboros.

A good junior baseball meeting last night here. Dr. Cliff McKee will represent the local club at the OBA annual in Simcoe this spring. Lakeshore League annual will be March 27 in Bowmanville, two or three delegates going from here. Team will be in the Lakeshore League again, and plans are being made to bolster it considerably. Shockey Mein is manger, no coach being appointed as yet. Among officers chosen were: Honorary president, Hugh Campbell; president Dr. McKee; vice-prexies, D. A. McGillis and Ray Tanner; secretary, Ray Pammett; treasurer, J. C. Foster; executive committee, Mrs. Eric Frizzelle, Alex Sinclair, Tommy Holyman and Joe Kearns. There may be one or two more to list later. It sounds like a solid setup to bring the good juniors along in a strong circuit and might well be the salvation of senior ball in this borough in the future.

Flyers Trip Hershey As Fielder Nets Two

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guyle Fielder got two important points in the last period to help St Louis Flyers to a 5-3 victory over Hershey Bears Thursday night and gain a tie with Eddie Olson of Cleveland Barons for the American Hockey League scoring lead.

With the score tied 3-3, Fielder passed to Motto McLean and then held off a Hershey defenceman while McLean potted the winning goal.

In the final minute, the Bears took out goalie Gordon Henry and Fielder slid the rubber into the empty cage at 19:50 for the clincher.

Fielder and Olson now have 72 points each.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The Rev. William McDonald, honorary chaplain of our club, has donated a beautiful trophy to be played for on Saturday, March 28, between 14 ladies' rinks and 14 men's rinks of schedule calibre. We believe that this contest will be making curling history; we have looked back through record books and scrap books and can find nothing like it

The nearest to it is the mixed rink event where you have two ladies and two men on one rink. No doubt this 'spiel will draw a large audience and the result will be of keen interest to all curlers.

If there should be more than 14 men's rinks entered, and we have no doubt there will be twice that number, the committee will draw for 14. There will be an entrance fee of $5 per rink.

MEN'S SCORES

W. R. Rutherford 7, R. Best 10; R. Williamson 9, H. Bradburn 8; M. Wells 10, W. Moorehead 7; J. Fanning 10, G. Clark 8; J. Adams 8, W. Harvey 6; L. Ackford 6, J. Hall 5; G. Gobel 5, G. Green 8.

London Cagers Win Intermediate Playoffs

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Riverside United defeated London Wolf's 45-42 here Thursday night but the Forest City cagers won the two-game, total-point Ontario Amateur Basketball Association intermediate A playoff series by six points. Score for the series was 103-97.

The London team will open a two-game, total-point quarter-final series with Kitchener-Waterloo Y Stags at Kitchener Saturday.

London won the series opener 61-52.

Mary Flaherty Leads

Mary Flaherty had high three of 715 and Lil Crocker top single of 300 this week in the YMCA senior Girls' bowling circuit. Tigers and Lucky Strikes whitewashed Hurricanes and Corvettes, while Aces and Glens took four points from Commandos and Bombers.

Good triples included L. Crocker 695, Betty Pogue 680, Dorothy Woods 683, M. Whiteside 650, Mary Gimblett 627, Marion Knights 617 and Ollie Searles 602. Neat singles were: M. Flaherty 268, M. Simmons 265, A. Reid 257, B. Pogue 253, M. Knights 244, Irene Penrose 243, O. Searles 241, P. Menard and D. Woods 239 each and M. Whiteside 232.

Jim Henry of Boston who racked up his eighth shutout of the season as the Bruins blanked Montreal Canadiens 5-0.

Johnny Peirson of the Bruins who scored two goals and figured in two others in the same game.

Gordie Howe of Detroit who scored twice and notched three assists as the Red Wings trounced New York Rangers 7-1.

George Gee who got a goal and an assist as Chicago Black Hawks downed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1.

Confederation Wins

Queen Mary and Confederation intermediates dished up one of the fastest school hockey games seen this season at the arena on Thursday. Confederation won it 3-1 after 45 minutes of fine, clean hockey. The win in this semi-final game puts the southend boys into final against King Edward, and that playoff will be next Tuesday.

After a scoreless first frame, Cromie put Queen Mary up, but Nichols promptly tied it on a play with Pulkinghorn and Outwater. Parry then gave Confeds a lead, and in the third period Nichols notched one more. The joust was well-handled by Referee E. Drury with but two penalties a side. Both goalie shone. Teams:

QM: Gatfield, Reader, Routley, Matthews, Cromie, Rishor, P. Dorrington, B. Dorrington, Bignell, Kearney, Dunham, Rendel.

Confed.: MacArthur, Outwater, Kinniburgh, Nichols, Pulkinghorn, Henwood, Kimball, Ruttan, Parry, Knox, Stevenson.

Gordie Howe's 90 Points Set New NHL Record As Wings Win Over Rangers

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gordie Howe broke a record at Detroit Thursday night, but the news in Boston is that the Bruins are still capable of playing winning hockey. It was reasonable to expect that Howe would shatter his own National Hockey League scoring mark before the season ended, but the rejuvenation of the Bruins came as a welcome surprise to their home-town followers. Their 5-0 victory over the second-place Montreal Canadiens came after a rough seven-game road trip, in which they picked up only a couple of ties and slipped from third to fifth place. In one evening, they climbed back into a tie with Toronto for fourth place—the lowest play-off position.

They did it with the willing assistance of the third-place Chicago Black Hawks, who knocked off the Maple Leafs 3-1.

Howe picked up two goals and three assists as Detroit Red Wings came close to clinching the league title with a 7-1 victory over New York's last-place Rangers. That gave Gordie 90 points—four more than the previous mark of 86, which he set in 1951 and equalled last season.

NEAR RECORD

Howe's two goals ran his bag for the season to 45, five short of Maurice Richard's NHL mark.

Linemate Ted Lindsay matched Howe's two-goal effort. Johnny Wilson, Alex Delvecchio and Red Kelly were the other Detroit scorers while rookie Aldo Guidolin robbed Terry Sawchuk of a shut-out in the last period.

The Bruins welcomed back Dave Creighton, out since New Year's night with a broken leg and observed captain Milt Schmidt's 35th birthday as Johnny Peirson scored twice and helped out on additional scoring efforts by Fleming Mackell and Bill Quackenbush. Rookie George (Red) Sullivan counted the remaining Boston tally.

The Hawks, winning their second game in as many nights, took an early lead on goals by George Gee and Bill Mosienko, Jimmy McFadden adding an insurance marker in the second frame. Eric Nesterenko was the lone Leaf marksman.

All clubs are idle tonight.

ORFU Offers 4 Rule Changes

MONTREAL (CP)—Four major rule-change recommendations have been submitted to the Canadian rugby rules committee by the Quebec Rugby Football Union, it was learned Thursday.

The rules committee, headed by Dave McCann of Ottawa, will meet in Edmonton March 26 to prepare a slate of proposed changes for presentation to CRU authorities during a three-day meeting.

QRFU recommendations are:

1. Unlimited downfield blocking by players in the line of scrimmage.
2. Limited substitution. Players to be permitted to leave and re-enter the game only twice in each quarter.
3. Forward pass not required to cross the line of scrimmage, eliminating loose ball in play on fumbled screen pass.
4. On third-down pass, incomplete or intercepted in the end zone, ball to go to defending side at point of third-down scrimmage.

Two World Champions Help Against Canadian Skaters

CLEVELAND (AP) — A United States team including two world's champions opposes a team of 12 Canadian stars in the North American figure skating championships opening here today.

Hayes Alan Jenkins, 19-year-old Akron, O., college boy, wears the men's crown, and Tenley Albright, 17, of Newton Center, Mass., is queen.

Each will be seeking an initial North American title in the two-day competition. Jenkins was third in the last North American championships at Calgary in 1951. The biennial event alternates between the two countries.

The United States team, chosen by a committee of the U. S. Figure Skating Association, numbers 14. Youngest of the U. S. skaters is 12-year-old Caroll Heiss of New York, entered in women's figure-skating.

Jenkins, a sophomore at Colorado College, will be skating on familiar ice at Cleveland Skating Club. He has been a member of the club here since he was nine.

Miss Albright, U. S. champion last year and silver medalist at the 1952 Olympics in Oslo, is completing her last year at Manter Hall sschool in Massachusetts and intends to begin studying at Radcliffe next fall, preparing to be a doctor.

Both 'teen-agers took top laurels last month in the world competition at Davos, Switzerland.

Figure-skating titles in the North American will be scored 60 per cent on figure-skating tests to be held today, and 40 per cent on free skating performances Saturday night. Thus the final winners will not be known until completion of the Saturday night program.

Here is the line-up for today:

8:30 a.m., men's figure skating. U. S.—Hayes Jenkins, Cleveland Skating Club; Ronnie Robertson, Broadmoor Skating Club, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Dudley Richards, Boston Skating Club. Canada — Peter Firstbrook, Toronto Skating Club; Charles Snelling, Granite Club of Toronto; Peter Dunfield, Toronto Skating Club.

1:30 p.m., ladies' figure skating. U. S. — Tenley Albright, Boston Skating Club; Caroll Heiss, New York Skating Club; Miggs Dean, Detroit Skating Club; Margaret Anne Graham, Tulsa Figure Skating Club. Canada — Barbara Gratton, Toronto Skating Club; Dawn Steckley, Oshawa Skating Club; Yarmila Pachi, Minto (Ottawa) Skating Club; Vevi Smith, Toronto Skating Club.

14 SIGNED BY TI-CATS

HAMILTON — (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union announced Thursday night that 14 players, three of them imports, have been signed for 1953.

Heading the list are Bernie Custis, starting his third season with coach Carl Voyles; Vito Ragazzo, pass-catching outside of William and Mary College fame; and Tom Koller, a running half also from William and Mary.

Outside Tip Logan, Art Darch, a middle who saw little action last year; and halfback Merle Hapes, returning to the game as a Canadian after a two-year layoff, have signed. Among the Canadians are several of the 1952 junior Tiger-Cats, including inside Pete Petcoff and Frank Dilks, plunging half.

Among the unsigned are Eddie Bevan, last season's big holdout; Dick Brown and Vince Scott. Halfback Blake Taylor has not signed. Some sources say he is worried about his eyesight.

MAYORS PLAN RACE

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Mayor Jimmy Creighton of Brandon, former National Hockey League star, will return to competition on arena ice March 14—but not as a hockey player. As a special attraction at the Boy Scouts' ice stampede, Mayor Creighton plans to race Harry Veiner, galloping mayor of Medicine Hat, Alta. He challenged the Alberta mayor, and Mayor Veiner advised the Scouts' Association Thursday he is accepting the challenge.

Farmer's Income Grows Yearly Says Gardiner

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner says the return to Canadian farmers is going up from year to year as production and prices increase.

Mr. Gardiner entered the budget debate Thursday in the Commons to take issue with opposition statements that farmers face a dark future because of surpluses and loss of markets.

The only agricultural surpluses, he said, are 11,000,000 pounds of New Zealand beef and 76,000,000 pounds of canned pork. They would be disposed of eventually.

The government was not "getting worried" about markets.

When a market for one product disappeared, farmers had switched to other products.

Canada's agricultural production for the six years prior to the war compared with that for the year following the war showed this picture:

WHEAT BOOSTED

Wheat production average up 162,000,000 bushels in the post-war years; pork production up 360,000,000 pounds; beef production up 270,000,000 pounds milk production up 1,600,000,000 pounds and egg production up 110,000,000 dozen Prices on the five products, he said, average at least 65 per cent higher in the six years after the war.

Before resumption of the debate, Labor Minister Gregg said the government is willing to intervene in a Vancouver grain handlers' strike which has tied up five elevators. The labor department, he said, is watching the situation and will be "happy" to move in "at the first sign that such mediation will bear fruit." About 25 employees are on strike.

FARMER WORSE OFF

In the debate, Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) said Mr. Gardiner had tried to picture the farmer as better off than ever before. The fact was that the farmer's position was "worse than at any time in the last 10 years."

The government's floor price policies were "almost a total failure." There was a floor price of 38 cents a dozen on grade A large eggs. Yet poultrymen in his constituency could get only 18 cents a dozen.

John Dickey, parliamentary assitant to Production Minister Howe, took issue with the claims of some opposition members that the government has been awarding contracts on a cost-plus basis.

MOST BY TENDER

More than $255,000,000 worth of defence construction contracts have been awarded in the last two years, said Mr. Dickey, and the vast majority have been negotiated under open competitive tender.

In a cost-plus contract, the cost was not fixed in the contract and the profit the contractor would obtain could increase as the cost increased whether it was because of higher prices or inefficiency.

Sixteen of 871 contracts awarded in the last two years were of the "cost plus fixed fee" type, Mr. Dickey said.

In these the contractor agreed to accept a fee based on an estimated cost and the fee remained the same whether the final cost increased or not.

They were granted only in cases where the need for security prevented competitive tenders or where the work was in such an inaccessible place that tenders from only a limited area could be accepted.

9-Year-Old Winner Of £3,000-Added Cup

CHELTENHAM, England (CP)—Gallant old Knock Hard won the £3,000 added Gold Cup at Cheltenham, Britain's "mecca of steeplechasing," Thursday.

Knock Hard, a nine-year-old owned and trained in Ireland, was riden by top Irish jockey Tim Molony. The Irish horse finished five lengths ahead of the favored Hallowe'en, owned by the Contessa di Sant Elia with Galloway Braes third.

The second choice, Dorothy Paget's Mon Trembiant—said to be named for the Canadian winter resort—was fourth in the 12-horse field which contested the event of three miles and two furlongs.

3rd Degree Conferred By Millbrook IOOF

MILLBROOK (ENS)—A team of Millbrook IOOF lodge conferred the third degree on candidates from Lakefield, Otonabee, Peterborough and Millbrook lodges in the Millbrook lodge hall on Tuesday evening. Eric Fallis, Millbrook noble grand, was in charge. There were about 70 in attendance. At the close of the lodge work a pancake and sausage supper wa sserved in Millbrook's new restaurant.

West Douro Victors

DOURO (ENS)—West Douor defeated East Douro 6-2 at Warsaw to open their best-of-five rural hockey finals before a good crowd. Martell starred for the winners in scoring four goals. He and Meldrum tallied in the first period while W. Moher counted for the other side. Martell and Woodgate hit the mesh in the second, with E. Leahy scoring for East Douro. In the third, Martell counted two more. Teams:

West Douro: Rosenburg, R. Allen, Woodgate, Martell, P. Moloney, Johnston, J. Allen, Bullied; Leahy, T. Moloney, Meldrum, J. Moloney, O'Brien.

East Douro: Keating, B. Heffernan, Condon, J. Heffernan, Farley, D. Sheehan, E. Leahy, W. Moher, C. Sheehan, F. Moher, G. Sheehan, Byrne, O'Grady.

Referee, Puffer; linesman. Lonsberry.

OPERATION "LEAPFROG" — For the third time, Canadian squadrons of Sabre Jet planes left on the first lap for Europe on Thursday to strengthen the RCAF Air Division overseas. The aerial trans-Atlantic mass movement left St. Huberts airfield on Thursday afternoon, and here a dozen jets trailing black smoke fly over the field.

Local Juniors Win In Millbrook Play

MILLBROOK— (ENS) — The midget-sponsored night in the local arena saw a hockey bill-of-fares that included peewee, midget and a junior-intermediate game. Pewees opened the festivities with the locals bowing to Port Hope 5-1. For the lakeshore lads it was Rose scoring a pair, and Highfield, Berkison and Friar getting singles. Tuffy Earle got the Millbrook counter. Millbrook drew five penalties to Port Hope's one and there is an inverse ratio angle here between goals and penalties that the local boys might ponder over. You don't win them in the penalty box.

Millbrook midgets also fell by the wayside by an identical 5-1 score with Scott's Corners annexing the heavy end of it. For the Corners, Carr and Minnie each scored twice with Moore getting the odd one. Olan registered the Millbrook marker.

Line-ups:

Millbrook — Forsyth, Argue, Lowery, Palmer, Guthrie, Olan, F. Anderson, G. Fallis, Friar, E. Anderson, Kennedy, Thompson.

Scott's Corner: Seymour, Carr, Minnie, Moore, A. Sargeant, Lark, Hewitt, Johnson, Fair, Sargeant.

A LIVELY GAME

Piece de resistance of the evening was the Peterborough Oddfellows juniors tangle with the Orono intermediates which the Liftlock city crew bagged by a 9-8 decision. For Orono, Robinson scored three goals, the Wests split four, and Twillinger notched one, while the Oddfellows side of the score sheet read— Kearns from McDougall, McDougall from Kearns, Kearns from McDougall, Clapper from McDougall and Kearns, Kearns, Kearns from McDougall and Doris, McDougall from Doris, Kearns from Mortimer and McCracken from Coyle.

Kearns who doesn't tower over anyone in height or tip the Toledo to any point of strain, was the standout performer in the fast, clean struggle. This classy little lightweight, whose name can be spotted in the line-ups of every spotr except carpetball in his production activities settles for any part of the net that the goalie leaves uncovered. North TVL scoring statistics credit him with 23 points in eight games while the top scorer required 17 games to chalk up 41 points. Penalties were practically non-existent and even Doug. Mortimer failed to get the two-minute breath restorer he was trying for when he engaged Flintoff of Orono along the boards in something that looked like the first lesson at Arthur Murrays.

Goal— Rowe, defence Twilliger, Flintoff, forwards, W. West, R. West, Mercer, alternates, Robinson, Armstrong, Miles.

Peterborough: goal, O'Brien, defence, Wilson, Frizzelle; forwards, McCracken, Coyle, Heffernan, alternates, Kearns, McDougall, Clapper, Mortimer.

SENIOR A PLAYOFF DATE

STRATFORD (CP)—The second game of the Senior A OHA finals between Owen Sound and Kitchener will be played in Kitchener March 11. The balance of the schedule is still to be arranged.

RCMP To Show Musical Ride During U.K. Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP has been invited to display the famed "musical ride" of its horses before the Queen during their Coronation visit to Britain, Justice Minister Garson said in the Commons Thursday.

Mr. Garson said the musical-ride troop, which will take part in the Coronation parade June 2, has been invited to appear in the royal tournament at Olympia Stadium in London in the presence of Queen Elizabeth.

The troop also will appear at some agricultural fairs and fulfill other engagements which Mr. Garson did not specify.

"It is clear that there is a very considerable demand for its attendance," Mr. Garson said, "and it is proposed to accept as many engagements as can be filled."

TIME FOR PRACTICE

The horses are due to arrive in London May 8—giving them time for acclimatization and practice before the June 2 Coronation—and to sail for home July 7.

The command performance of the mountie troop will mark the second time that the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh have seen the musical ride. It was staged for them in Regina during their tour of Canada in the fall of 1951.

Mr. Garson told the Commons that 46 RCMP horses will be sent to the Coronation.

They will provide a full mounted troop that will lead the Canadian contingent in the Coronation procession and a mounted escort for the carriage of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

West's Geology Favorable To Finding Oil

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

Western Canada has almost every known type of geological structure favorable to the discovery of oil, says the current monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The letter contains a "Western Canadian petroleum review" prepared in Calgary by the bank's petroleum and natural gas division. Here are some quotes from it:

"Western Canada is just entering the preliminary stage of exploration. Its sedimentary basin is approximately three times the size of Texas, a state that has a history of more than 50 years of active oil production and has been the scene of more intensive exploration than any other area in the world.

"Nevertheless, Texas maintained the number of holes drilled in 1952 at 170,000, compared with 2,150 in all of Western Canada in the same year. So it will be seen that the surface is barely scratched. . .

OVERTAKE MEXICO

"By overtaking Mexico this year, Canada is on the threshold of assuming the rank of third largest oil-producing country in the western hemisphere. It will then rank seventh in the world, preceded by the United States, Venezuela, Russia and three countries in the Middle East.

"As an example of what the oil industry already means to Alberta, the province could retire its total funded debt from present cash reserves, and its cities are leading those across the nation in rate of expansion."

The review says the objective of 300,000 barrels of crude oil delivered at Sarnia, Ont., would seem to "entail a large-scale duplication of the original interprovincial pipe line (from Edmonton to Superior, Wis.)" Also:

"It does not appear economically feasible to deliver Western Canadian crude at the Atlantic seaboard in competition with foreign crude. Canada's ultimate objective of becoming self-sufficient must therefore be achieved by exporting a volume sufficient to offset imports.

"Its market in the United States seems likely eventually to centre mainly in the Pacific Northwest and the area around the Head of the Great Lakes."

CCL Scores CBC For Attitude To Organization

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC has adopted a "deplorable and reactionary attitude" towards union organization of its employees, the Canadian Congress of Labor said today.

The congress, in its annual submission to the cabinet, accused CBC heads of breaching the spirit, if not the letter, of the federal labor code in an alleged attempt to influence a collective bargaining vote in December.

WON VOTE

The vote was ordered by the Canada labor relations board to determine whether a majority of employees in a CBC bargaining unit wanted to be represented by the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians (CIO-CCL), which eventually won the vote and certification.

"Just before the taking of the vote," the congress submission said, "The CBC, over the signature of the general manager and the assistant general manager, sent a letter to each employee which was obviously intended to induce them to vote against the union of which a majority of them were members.

"The action of the CBC in this respect was a violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act, and we wish to protest in the strongest possible terms against such tactics."

(Donald Manson was general manager and J. A. Ouimet assistant general manager of the CBC up to Dec. 31. At that time, Mr. Ouimet became general manager.)

OBITUARIES

ANDREW McGEE

A farmer most of his life in Asphodel township, Andrew McGee died suddenly Thursday at his home on Queen St., Norwood, at the age of 71.

Born in Asphodel township, he was a son of Andrew McGee and Katherine Elliott. He was educated in Donegal public school and was a member of Norwood United Church as well as an honorary elder. He was also a member of Belmont LOL 277.

Most of his life until he retired seven years ago was spent farming in Asphodel township except for five years in Seymour township.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ethel Jane Metcalfe and one daughter, Mrs. Clayton Buchanan, Norwood. He also leaves seven sisters, Mrs. William McMillan (Mary), and Mrs. Wesley McMaster (Ada) of Norwood; Mrs. James Lobb (Jennie), RR 1, Norwood; Mrs. Herbert Martin and Miss Annie McGee of Toronto; Mrs. Bert Cuffe (Olive), RR 1, Warsaw; and Mrs. David Dickie (Maude) of Campbellford. Three brothers predeceased him, Allan, William and Edward.

The funeral service will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. under the auspices of LOL 277 at his home, the Rev. H. G. Wright of Norwood United Church officiating. Burial will be in Norwood cemetery.

CALEB W. COON

HAVELOCK— (ENS) — Caleb W. Coon, 93, Havelock's grand old man, died early Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Free at Campbellford.

His death, which followed an illness of two months, came as a shock to the residents of Havelock where he has been held in high respect for the 62 years he has lived here.

Mr. Coon was born in Cramahe township, Colborne district, and was a son of the late William Coon and Elizabeth Tanner. He was a millwright by trade and worked in his father's sawmill which is still operating. He moved to Havelock shortly after his marriage to Margaret Ann Senney who predeceased him in 1929.

His first employment here was in the sawmill of James Wiseman. He was also town constable for several years. He was a member of the Havelock United Church and had been a member of the Board of Trustees for many years. In earlier life he was active on the official board and board of managers. Until the past two years he had been in good health and active. He was the last of a family of 12 children.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. George Free (Mayne) of Campbellford and a son, Carman of Havelock; three grandchildren, Mrs. Arden McLean of Port Credit, Douglas Free of Toronto and Jack Free of Ottawa; three great grandchildren, Margaret, Grant and Linda McLean of Port Credit. Miss Mary Seeney of Havelock is a sister-in-law.

The funeral will be held Saturday with service in the Havelock United Church at 2.30, conducted by the Rev. R. G. Newman. Burial will be in Maple Leaf Grove cemetery.

WILLIAM O'TOOLE

William O'Toole, 312 Maitland St. died today at his residence following a short illness.

Mr. O'Toole was born in Asphodel township son of the late John O'Toole and Margaret Lonergan and has lived in Peterborough for the past 35 years. Formerly he resided in Douro township.

An employee of the CGE before he retired seven years ago, he was a member of the Quarter Century Club of the CGE. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral parish.

He leaves his wife, the former Martha Leahy; two daughters, Mrs. Ted Hoar (Lillian), Lindsay; Miss Florence O'Toole, Peterborough; four sons, Lawrence, Gerald and Bernard, all of Peterborough; Clement, Montreal; and one brother, Nicholas, Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Monday from his former residence to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

MORE ABOUT—

Joe Stalin

broken by the wholsale liquidation and deportation of so-called kulaks and starvation of the rest. At the same time more peasants and unskilled workers were being licked into shape in the factories and on the great schemes of capital construction.

The instrument which Stalin used to force through his plans was the Communist Party which itself suffered constant purging from above as individauls faltered in face of the suffering they were called upon to inflict.

The instrument used for this purging was the G. P. U. under Yagoda, and thenceforward Stalin depended upon the support of this organiztaion to which he owed far too much for the health of the country. This whole period, from 1928 to 1931, was a crisis of supreme magnitude, in which one man, Stalin, staked the future of the U. S. S. R. upon his own strength of purpose, realising that there was no choice between forcing the way ahead or total collapse. Stalin won. And in 1931 he came forward for the first time as the recognised leader of the Russian people—though still only the party secretary— with his historic warning that the country had just ten years to get itself into shape to defend itself against the mechanised armies of the capitalist West.

He still had with him some of the finest of the old Bosheviks, but in that same year the accession of his most trusted lieutenant, Molotov to the Premiership established for the first time a link between the party, as personified by Stalin, and the constitutional Government. It was not until ten years later, on the eve of the German invasion, that Stalin took that office for himself, thus at last formally identifying the party with the State in his own person.

The years between belong to Russian history, the years after to world history. Stalin achieved his purpose, and in 1941 he transformed himself almost overnight from the scourge of Russia into the revered defender of the status quo. His first preoccupation had been to create a Socialist Russia strong enough to resist attack from Germany and Japan, and at the same time to gather all power into his own hands. But gradually he found himself working with increasing singlemindedness for the glory of Russia as a great power, regardless of what happened to Socialism, with himself as her supreme master. This was the task which broke the hearts of some of his most loyal colleagues, who, to arrest the juggernaut which seemed to them to be smashing their country to moral and physical destruction, were driven to conspiring against him.

Their plots—some plots—were discovered; and Stalin's response was to visit the Russian peoplee with what was perhaps the most apalling terror in history, out of which arose the great trials which shocked the world. The whole affair was permeated with the spirit of the vendetta. Everyone who had ever given offence to Stalin was cruelly destroyed.

By the end of it all an incalculable proportion of the highest talent in the land, including the greater part of the senior Army staffs, had been purged away. Yagoda, the head of the GPU, who knew too much, had himself been liquidated, and the orgy of murder was not brought to an end until Yagoda's successor, Yehzov, had long overreached himself and was himself liquidated and replaced by Lavrenti Beria, who, in Stalin's name, ruled over a country shocked and riven to the core. But one thing was plain. Stalin could now proceed to build himself up as the invulnerable father of the Soviet State. He did so, even during the period of the purges, preparing the Stalin Constitution which was to be his monument in the eyes of the outside world. As such, he won the war.

Throuhgout the whole of his leadership the turning of Russia into a first-class industrial and military power proceeded apace, and with this went education, building, and the development of cultural consciousness, which transformed the face of Russia and improved the lives of many millions (though far from all) immeasurably. Stalin's outstanding gift, which only faltered during the period of the purges, seems to have been an instinct which told him, and him alone, just how far he could drive the Russians without breaking the heart of the nation. Peter the Great had had that gift before him. And both men knew that the Russian people, as a nation, could stand everything provided they were kept on the move—and that if they overstepped themselves, which both Peter and Stalin frequently did, the only thing to do was to step still farther.

To the outside world since 1939 Stalin has been the enigmatic leader of a new great power: first the sinister dictator who unchained the German fury on Poland after the Molotov-Ribbentrop pact, and who brutally overran Finland; then the mighty warrior and victor, the strategist without nerves who held back the reserves at Stalingrad until past the eleventh hour, and the invulnerable statesman who met the chief representatives of Great Britain and America on his own terms in Moscow, in Teheran, and Yalta.

Community Fund Began In 1941 Kiwanis Told

Alex Elliot, QC, chairman of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, gave the members of the Kiwanis club an insight into how the Community Fund originated here in Peterborough and how it functioned, at their weekly meeting at the Empress hotel, Thursday.

The founders of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund which was established in 1941 were no doubt prompted by the desire to avoid the waste of money and time involved in the multiplicity of appeals, he said.

The original founders of the organization, were the late Judge S. L. Smoke as president, vice-presidents, the former Mayor James Hamilton and Mrs.H. R. H. Kenner, treasurer, Thomas Mackay, and the late John E. Sullican as secretary.

COLLECTED $120,639

In the first year of the campaign $120,639 was collected through 88,874 conscriptions. This year the objective is $95,000.

The constitution provided at the beginning that the organization would be managed by a board of directors made up of one representative from each of the member agencies. At present theer are 11 agencies in the fund, and the St. John Ambulance Corps was added in 1952.

Once an agency has become a member of the organization, it must refrain from any fund raising activites, and can do so only with the approval of the board of directors. There have not been any fund raising drives carried on by any of the member agencies.

The medical profession this year has been put on the special name list, since they are considered to be in a higher income group. Lawyers, real estate agents dentists and insurance men still remain in the same group as before.

The payroll deduction plan is becoming more widely used in the city for collecting donations, for it eases the load on the donators.

Mr. Elliott was introduced by James Lillico and was thanked by Art Bacon.

It's Hard to Believe

But it's True!

Four important practices pioneered by State Farm Mutual save members millions of dollars over ordinary insurance costs!

- With State Farm's original—different—insurance plan you pay the cost of a local agent's sales commission only once. After that you pay only for insurance; a real saving every time.
- Careful drivers are the ones State Farm aims to insure... fewer accidents keep costs down.
- State Farm's unique semi-annual method of preparing premium notices enables State Farm to gear rates to members' recent driving records. In the last four years, rates have been reduced more than $18,000,000.
- All these company advantages are shared mutually, and the savings which result benefit State Farm members.

Actors Recreating Stage Roles Have Best Chance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Do actors who recreate their stage roles have an unfair advantage in Oscar races? Vivien Leigh thinks so.

The English actress last year won her second academy award, for playing Blanche Dubois in "A Streetcar Named Desire."

"It really came as a surprise to me," she remarked. "I honestly didn't expect to win. I think I had an unfair advantage over the other actresses in the race. After all, I had done the role for eight months on the stage in London.

"In fact, all of us in the picture had an advantage. Gadge (Elia) Kazan had directed the play, and Marlon Brando, Kim Hunter, Karl Malden and I had all played in it.

"There really ought to be two categories in the acting division—for those who have done stage roles and those who create their roles for pictures. By doing a play for months, you can get into a role and perfect it. It's a lot more difficult to be handed a script just before you begin to shoot a picture."

That argument has been heard before, since such players as Jose Ferrer, Judy Holliday and Miss Leigh in recent years have won Oscars for roles they played on the stage. It will no doubt be heard again, since stage stars Julie Harris and Shirley Booth are up for awards March 19.

Despite her arguments, Miss Leigh is holding on to her new Oscar, plus the one she won for "Gone With the Wind."

She is in Hollywood to complete her role in "Elephant Walk," for which exteriors were filmed in Ceylon.

CONSUMER INDEX DROPS — Living costs in Canada as reflected by the new consumer price index dropped one-fifth of a point during January to 115.5 from 115.7. It was the third successive monthly decline. The peak of 118.2 was reached in December, 1951, based on 1949 prices equalling 100. However, the old cost-of-living index, based on 1935-38 prices equalling 100, increased by one-half of a point to 184.9 from 184.4. It was the second consecutive monthly increase in this index. The bureau said the divergence was because the new yardstick shows seasonal changes in food-buying habits while the old index does not. Its peak was 191.5, December, 1951. The dotted lines show the United States' consumer price index which stood at 190.7 at December 15, 1952. These indices measure percentage changes in prices in each country but should not be used to compare actual levels of prices between the two countries.

Boat Saves Driver

DIGBY, N.S. (CP)—A truck hit a boat here and saved its driver from possible drowning. George Newcombe was driving his truck onto a pier Thursday when the vehicle went out of control and plunged over the end. But the truck hit the fisheries patrol craft Limanda and the rear of the vehicle remained on the wharf. Newcombe climbed out uninjured.

Borge Headlines CNE Stage Show

TORONTO (CP)—Victor Borge, Danish-born comedian and pianist will headline the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand show for $30,000 this year. Jack Arthur, producer of the show, said Thursday night no contract has been signed but he is confident Borge will appear.

Borge is the third artist asked to star at the annual show. Bob Hope wanted too much money and George Formby, English comedian couldn't come.

A supporting comedy attraction for this year hasn't been found, the producer said. Bert Pearl, Canadian radio comedian, hasn't been well and Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster aren't interested.

Arthur said the 1953 show will be 95-per-cent Canadian.

Convicted Of Fraud

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 33-year old Seaforth contractor, William J. Morrison, was convicted Thursday of fraudulently obtaining nearly $100 in cash and merchandise from two elderly Newbury residents. Tried on two charges, Morrison pleaded innocent but was convicted by Middlesex county judge Ian MacRae and sentenced to concurrent terms of one year for each offence.

Massey To Receive Degree From Western

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor-General Vincent Massey will receive an honorary degree from the University of Western Ontario at London, during a nine-day visit to eight Western Ontario centres, Government House announced today.

Mr. Massey will leave Ottawa tonight by train for London where he will attend the convocation Saturday celebrating the 75th anniversary of the university.

He also will visit Chatham, Windsor, St. Thomas, Aylmer, Tillsonburg, Niagara Falls and St. Catharines.

Those receiving degrees at the London ceremony also include Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, primate of the Church of England in Canada; Dr. D. W. Logan, principal of the University of London, Eng.; and Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto.

The 65-year-old governor-general will address the convocation. Later at Huron College he will officiate, in his capacity as Chief Scout for Canada, at a Queen's Scout recognition ceremony. In the evening he will attend a dinner tendered by University officials.

On Sunday he will read the first lesson at the academic university service in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Mr. Massey will be in Chatham March 9 where his schedule includes inspecting a guard of honor from the Kent Regiment and a sight-seeing tour of the city and industrial area before going to Windsor in the evening.

At Windsor, he will inspect Queen's Scouts and Girl Guides and place a wreath at the cenotaph. At the international boundary of the Ambassador Bridge the mayor and members of Detroit city council and other officials will be presented to Mr. Massey. He also will visit the Ford Motor Company plant and the Chrysler Corporation factory.

Returning to London March 11, Mr. Massey will make brief visits by automobile to St. Thomas, Aylmer and Tillsonburg where he will meet civic officials and inspect honor guards. At St. Thomas he will be tendered a civic reception.

Mr. Massey will be in Niagara Falls March 13 where he will meet civic officials, visit the new hydro development and make a tour of the Sir Adam Beck Niagara generating station.

The governor-general will wind up his tour March 14 with a visit to St. Catharines where he will meet members of city council, civic boards and their wives and address Ridley College students.

He will return to Ottawa March 15.

Urges Interest In Conservation

TORONTO (CP)—The 200 member societies of the Ontario Horticultural Association were urged at the annual convention here Thursday to take a greater part in conservation work.

Seven hundred representatives of the provincial societies' 32,000 members attended the meeting. F. A. Lashley, provincial superintendent of horticultural societies, said membership in individual organizations ranges from 25 to more than 1,200 and that Waterloo has more members than all Toronto societies combined.

He said provincial funds for grants to societies have been increased to $20,000 a year from $15,000. So far only four groups—Waterloo, Kitchener, Guelph and Chatham—had qualified for the maximum grant of $500.

Mrs. William McCann of Thorold was presented with the trillium pin, awarded annually to the woman making the greatest contribution to the association's work.

Salsberg Lays 3-Hour Siege To Toronto Bill

TORONTO (CP)—Noisy protests and biting personal remarks were hurled across the floor of the Ontario Legislature Thursday during a three-hour attack on the government by J. B. Salsberg, Labor-Progressive member for Toronto St Andrew.

Mr. Salsberg, only Communist member in the legislature, accused the government of "blackjacking" Toronto-area municipalities into accepting its plan to unify essential services in the Toronto metropolitan area.

Promising that he would have more to say today, Mr. Salsberg sat down shortly before adjournment with government supporters telling him to "end the filibuster" and "save his breath."

He said the metropolitan plan was devised for the benefit of real-estate interests. He said they sought to combine the assets of the 13 municipalities to guarantee against financial failure of any one community.

NAME-CALLING

At times the debate degenerated into name-calling between Mr. Salsberg and cabinet ministers, particularly Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar and Attorney-General Porter.

Mr. Porter heckled Mr. Salsberg consistently during the session. Once he asked him to "be a man" and withdraw a remark concerning Mr. Porter's conduct of the planning and development department before he became attorney-general.

"It's time the attorney-general stopped being an infant," Mr. Salsberg said. "His remarks will be read with humor by our public school classes."

Mr. Dunbar shouted down the speaker when Mr. Salsberg implied the minister was not in control of his department.

"You can't push a lie like that down my throat," Mr. Dunbar said.

NOISIEST

The debate was the noisiest of the session. Speaker Rev. M. C. Davies several times rapped for order and cautioned Mr. Salsberg to confine his remarks to discussion of the metropolitan bill.

W. J. Stewart (PC—Toronto Parkdale) demanded withdrawal of a statement that Premier Frost was holding a whip over the Toronto members to ensure their support of the bill.

"I didn't mean it as an aspersion," Mr. Salsberg said. "It's only a figure of speech."

"It's no figure of speech in Russia," said the attorney-general.

Before the debate, government ministers submitted several measures for first reading, including:

1. An act governing theatres, which would allow children 14 and over to attend movies in the evening unaccompanied by adults. The present age limit is 16.

FIRE SEASON

2. An amendment to the Forestry Act giving the minister power to set dates for fire seasons in the province's forests. The fire season now is from April 1 to Oct. 31 and extensions can be made only with cabinet assent.

Mines Minister Kelly said changes may be made in a proposed amendment allowing aerial prospecting leases to be granted on tracts of land up to 100,000 acres.

The Prospectors and Developrs Association of Canada has said individual prospectors should have some safeguard against individual companies obtaining prospecting rights on huge areas.

The bill is intended to provide authorization for airborne prospecting. It provides that 90 per cent of the land under lease would be returned to the province when the surveys were completed.

The prospectors association said the amendment is a threat to the livelihood of the independent prospectors association and the government should guarantee they would not be squeezed out by large companies.

Education Minister Dunlop introduced a bill to ensure faster action in teacher-school board disputes. It would reduce from a year to 30 days the period in which the minister must decide whether a board of review should be appointed to investigate a dispute.

Political Row Disorganizes B.C. Legislature

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A political row disorganized the British Columbia legislature Thursday.

Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Social Credit education minister in British Columbia, argued with Liberal leader E. T. Kenney. The fuss was over Mrs. Rolston's comment that Mr. Kenney had implied his party would support a CCF government in B. C. if the occasion arose and keep it in power.

The flare-up between Mr. Kenney and Mrs. Rolston, and a grandmother, was one of the hottest of the present session. Three times Mrs. Rolston withdrew statements at Mr. Kenney's demand.

Her reference to possible Liberal support of a CCF administration was a reference to a speech the Liberal leader made last month. He said if the minority Social Credit government fell, the CCF should be given a chance to form a government without an election being called.

PROTESTS

Mr. Kenney protested Thursday that Mrs. Rolston had no right to draw implications from what he said previously. At his request she withdrew. Twice she withdrew other statements which Mr. Kenney said were misquotations.

At Halifax, the chief commissioner of the Nova Scotia liquor commission refused to answer a question in the legislature's public accounts committee. The committee will decide Friday whether he should be called before the House to answer a charge of contempt.

The New Brunswick Legislature received a government bill to change the method of collecting provincial tobacco tax so revenue does not drop as a result of reduced federal duty on cigarets. The tax has been collected as a percentage of retail price.

SCHOOL CHANGES

Premier Jones announced in the Prince Edward Island Legislature changes in school studies to provide more practical training in agriculture.

In the Manitoba House, W. A. Kardash, Labor-Progressive member for Winnipeg North, was described by R. W. Bend, member for Rockwood who supports the Liberal-dominated coalition government, as "ready to cut the country's throat."

The speaker refused Mr. Kardash's demand for a withdrawal, on grounds the statement referred to the Labor-Progressive party and not to the member as an individual.

HEALTH RESOLUTION

In Regina, the Saskatchewan Legislature adopted unanimously a resolution urging Ottawa to introduce at once a national health insurance program. The resolution also asked the federal government to provide for provincial administration of any health plan.

Debate was started on a resolution asking Ottawa to call a federal-provincial conference to establish a national marketing plan for livestock, dairy, poultry and other products.

The Alberta Legislature defeated by a vote of 48 to 5 a motion by the Liberal opposition urging legislation to protect the province's supply of natural gas and to safeguard the consumer as to price.

Before the vote, Attorney-General Lucien Maynard of the Social Credit administration said further gas export will be allowed only after approval by the petroleum and natural gas conservation board.

RCAF Jets Ready For Ocean Flight

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP)—The first RCAF wing ever to be based in Germany in peace time is poised for the 4,000-mile hop to its new quarters at Zweibrucken, Germany.

Three of Canada's F-86E Sabre jet squadrons lined up Thursday at air defence command headquarters here for a ceremonial review, preparatory to taking off next Monday for Goose Bay, Labrador.

Defence Minister Claxton told the assembly that Canada's plane production is "months ahead of the target date."

Lord Ismay, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, joined Mr. Claxton in bidding farewell to the pilots.

Mr. Claxton said Canada's contribution of Sabre jets to the RAF was ahead of schedule and, after the original order is completed, Canada "will likely send more."

The squadrons—413, now at Bagotville, Que., 434 at Uplands near Ottawa and 427 at St. Hubert—will form the third Canadian jet wing in Europe. The other two wings are in England.

In the lead plane for the hop, officially named Leap Frog Three, will be Sqdn.-Ldr. Lyte Gervais, Ontario-born commander of 427 squadron.

Too Many Members At Board Meeting

AYLMER, Ont. (CP)—It was a case of too many South Dorchester township representatives here Thursday night at the March meeting of the East Elgin district high school board.

When a pair of township appointees, one previously unseated, the other his replacement, turned up, board officials decided to call off the meeting until the situation could be clarified.

Fred R. Barnum, board member and lawyer, was asked to get an opinion today on the problem for the department of education.

Principals in the mixup are Charles Clarke, Springfield township appointee of 1952-53 [illegible] removed from the post last month on the grounds his services were no longer required, and Frank Lamb, Springfield, named as his replacement Monday.

Board chairman Wes Davis, Aylmer, said a decision on the question would be of vital importance to all area school boards in the province.

PaymentRefused By Townships For Fire Service

HAVELOCK — (ENS) — The clerk notified the Havelock council Tuesday night that the Belmont and Methuen township council had paid fire service for one call only, suggesting that the Havelock council send the other three accounts to the persons concerned. The total amount not paid is $175.

The clerk was then authorized to send the accounts for fire services to the person concerned, stating that Belmont and Methuen council refused payment.

It was decided that the whole council or a representative attend the planning and development convention in Toronto.

The council also thought it advisable for the whole council or a representative to attend the hearing regarding the town of Hespeler withdrawing from the county.

Delight saving time will commence in Havelock, commencing Sunday, Appril 26.

1904: Escaped from Siberia.

1905: Met V. I. Lenin for the first time.

1907: Met Leon Trotsky for the first time; organized holdup of the bank of Tiflis, in which millions of rubles were stolen for the party.

1908: Arrested again and forced to gun a gauntlet of soldiers who beat him with rifle butts.

1911: Selected for a party committee by Lenin, his first major job.

1912: With V. M. Molotov, founded Pravda, the Communist party paper.

1913: Began four-year forced exile in Siberia.

1917: Helped engineer Bolshevik revolution and became a member of the Communist party central committee.

1922: Become secretary-general of the committee.

1924: Lenin died and Stalin becomes contender for leadership.

1927: Won dominant place through purges and exiles of other contenders.

1933: U.S. Recognizes Soviet Union.

1936: New Soviet constitution adopted.

1937: All major opponents purged.

1939: Sent his armies into Finland and signed non-aggression pact with Nazi Germany, unleashing the Second World War.

1941: Directed defence against German invasion and took over direct government control in addition to his indirect control as party chief.

1943: Attended Tehran conference with Roosevelt and Churchill.

1945: Attended Yalta conference with Roosevelt and Churchill and later the Potsdam conference with Truman, Churchill, and later Attlee.

1946: Consolidated control over satellite neighbors.

1949: Celebrated 70th birthday with national observances.

1950: Signed mutual aid pact with Red China chief Mao Tze-tung.

1952: Pledged Soviet support to world's Red parties in a speech closing 19th Communist party congress; expressed willingness to meet with Eisenhower to ease world tensions.

1953: Jan. 21, made last public appearance at memorial ceremonies for Lenin at Bolshoi Theatre, Moscow; Feb. 17, received last foreign visitors, Indian ambassador K. P. S. Menon and Indian winner of a Stalin peace prize, Saiffudin Kitchlu.

March 1: Suffered paralytic stroke.

Stalin's German Children

Red Role For German Girls To Be Mothers Of Heroes

By FRED SPARKS

BERLIN (NEA)—"Girls of East Germany! Prepare for you greatest role—to be mothers of heroes!"

I heard a blonde woman, built like an office safe, wind up a lecture with that shouted line in a Communist hall in East Berlin.

The crack about "be mothers of heroes" would shake older German women. They were the mothers of 6,000,000 dead heroes.

But this was a teen-age, all-fraulein audience. They sat ramrod straight on hard wooden benches, wearing the blue shorts and blue blouses of the Free German Youth (FDJ), the Communist outfit that runs East Reich kids from birth to barracks. Little fanatics, their eyes were shining with belief, like cotton pickers at a revival meeting.

Stripped of ideological gibberish, Frau Lecturer made these basic points.

The party wants you to provide "political companionship" for FDJ brothers and East German soldiers.

Have lots of children who will love the Soviet Union and soldier against the imperialist Americans.

The compulsory lecture circuit is one way Communist Germany's teen-agers are constantly told: A girl can't really love a "reactionary" even if he's got Einstein's brains and Buster Crabbe's shoulders.

(Imagine President Eisenhower insisting Republicans marry only Republicans—and please only have boys because the Army needs men.)

If an FDJ girls sashays steadily with a suspected conservative she'll be warned. If she persists, and perhaps hints engagement, she'll be muscled out of the movement.

This will promptly pickle her college chances, for the sprawling FDJ bureaucracy puts the final finger on all school enrollments.

In West Berlin's grim refugee centre on Kuno Fische Strasse, 25-year-old Ruth Schneider, secretary of purged and jailed East German Foreign Minister Dertinger, told me how she was caught between "that boy" and bolshevism.

Her unfortunate former boss was one of those moderate European leaders who tried to compromise with Red leadership. In a few months he'll probably have a chance to try and compromise with the executioner.

After Dertinger was handcuffed, Ruth's fiance, a youth movement "activist," suggested how "clever if she swore the Foreign Minister was an "American agent"—as charged.

Ruth cried that as a good Catholic such lying treachery was impossible, and begged him to marry her and flee to the West.

He walked out of her room and her life.

Convinced he would denounce her as "reactionary," Ruth crossed into West Berlin on the "freedom express"— the subway that linked the divided city. She still loves the guy.

There is an escape hatch for any correct Communist who discovers, only after marriage, that his wife is a class enemy, deep down.

In Werder, near Potsdam, Frau Gertrud Jahnke wife of the young Communist prosecutor of Brandenburg, told the court her husband spent his nights with an FDJ office girl. She wanted divorce and ample alimony.

Herr Jahnke admitted his double love life, but said Frau had pro-American ideas, hated Moscow, sent the children to church and perhaps held several shares of General Motors.

The judge studied the recently enated "Law of the Family," which practically injects the party line into feeding formulas. He allowed divorce but found Frau Jahnke guilty and cut her off without a Red mark, stating:

"Frederich Jahnke is a Marxist, class conscious and an atheist. His wife is accessible to church influences.

"In a progressive, democractic state a marriage is not only governed by intimate intercourse and felt slippers near the warm stove. First is political readiness.

"The court concludes that the reactionary attiude of Mrs. Jahnke caused her husband to turn from her .... and to take up with a female colleague in order to further himself in his spiritual education."

Interpreter Eases MDs' Problem With Eskimo

TORONTO (CP)—Doctors at Toronto general hospital have stopped talking sign-language to Paulosie. They've found an interpreter.

Paulosie, 20-year-old Eskimo hunter from Richmond Gulf, Que., on Hudson Bay, was flown here for an operation. A .22-calibre bullet from his own gun had struck his eye.

Doctors used signs to tell Paulosie they planned to operate. He came through the surgery well.

Now they have called on Rev. D. H. Whitbread, who knew Paulosie from his 2½ years' service at Port Harrison. Dr. Whitbread speaks Paulosie's Eskimo dialect.

Cobbler's Son, Stalin Rose To Rule World's Communism

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Joseph Stalin, the son of a cobbler, emerged out of the chaos of the Russian revolution to master the forces unleashed by the upheaval — and become the undisputed ruler of the Soviet Union and the world communist movement.

He fought his way to the top by sweeping aside his revolutionary comrades, among them Leon Trotsky, after the death of Nikolai Lenin. Ever since 1927 Stalin has held the reins, but it took the purges of the 1930s to make his grip secure.

Such was the fury of the struggle to consolidate his rule that Stalin determined to perpetuate his empire by eliminating those conditions which might foster a new succession fight at his own death

The summoning of an all-union Soviet Communist party congress last October, for the first time since pre-Second World War days, indicated that perhaps the machinery of succession had been set in motion; for the dictator was approaching his 73rd birthday.

Stalin himself had made the keynote address at the previous congress 13 years earlier, but this time the honor was given to Georgi M. Malenkov, a young a vigorous protege of Stalin.

As if he were preparing to take a back seat and watch younger men carry on the dictatorship he had forged, Stalin appeared at the congress to delegates' wild cheers but did not immediately address the group. Instead he set the mood of the sessions with a 25,000-word lecture on political economy published on the eve of the first meeting Oct. 5. It sounded like a valedictory.

Stalin's rise to the throne of communism was accomplished in the face of what seemed overwhelming odds in favor of Trotsky, who had been commander-in-chief of the Red armies during the revolution and who had appeared much closer to Lenin than Stalin.

But Stalin in 1922 became secretary of the Communist party and promptly started using the post, controlling party machinery, as a lever for prying himself into the ailing Lenin's place. Two years later Lenin died, and Stalin and Trotsky were in open conflict over the party leadership.

Stalin won the support of Gregory Zinoviev and Leon Kamenev, two revolutionary stalwarts, and Trotsky was defeated. He was exiled in 1927.

The reward for Zinoviev and Kamenev came in 1936. With 14 others, they were brought to trial in Moscow. All confessed that the 1934 assassination of Sergei Kirov, a friend of Stalin, was a plot to wipe out Stalin and other Soviet Union leaders. The 16 defendants soon were executed. Other old Bolshevik leaders were ensnared in more of the famous Moscow purge trials. Stalin had become supreme; he was ready to lead Russia without internal opposition through the pre-Second World War days and the global conflict itself.

He took his country into a friendship agreement with Nazi Germany and thus freed international communism's bitter opponent, Hitler, for his wars of conquest. Stalin had his own conquests then too—in Finland, the Baltic states, Poland and Romania.

In December, 1940, Hitler turned on his former partner. Stalin found himself an ally of Britain and later the United States. Stalin became one of the "Big Three," holding conferences with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill. The Russian dictator had been lifted to new heights of power.

Churchill once said of Stalin: "He is a man of massive, outstanding personality, suitable to the sombre and stormy times in which his life has been cast; a man of inexhaustible courage and will power, and a man direct and even blunt in speech . . . Stalin also left upon me the impression of a deep, cool wisdom and a complete absence of illusions of any kind."

The anti-Axis partners successfully concluded the war, but in a few years the Western Allies in the wartime coalition were arrayed against the master of the Kremlin.

Stalin's power, meanwhile, had extended from Russia across Europe to the Elbe. The countries of Eastern Europe were puppets in his hands. He saw the Chinese Communists drive to complete domination of mainland China.

Joseph Vissarionovich Djugashvili, the son of a Georgian shoemaker and a serf mother, was at his zenith as Joseph Stalin. His 70th birthday Dec. 21, 1949, was the occasion for extravagant celebrations around the Communist world. There was a flood of adulation — 70 freight carloads of gifts from conquered East Germany alone — for the dictator whose name means "steel."

It was the climax of a revolutionary career started when he was just 15 years old, and an unsatisfied theological student. He had organized strikes during the late 1890s, written pamphlets, and between 1902 and 1913 endured jail eight times and exile to Siberia seven times. It was in Siberia that Stalin received his first note from Lenin.

Lenin and his Bolsheviks in the October, 1917, revolution ousted the government of Alexander Kerensky, who had come to power in the confusion following the March, 1917, overthrow of the czar.

Mexicans Mark Flag Day With Speeches, Fireworks

MEXICO CITY. — The Palace of Fine Arts here, a beautiful white marble building, houses one of the finest theatres in the world. But it is best known for its famous glass curtain by Tiffany, which cost $50,000 (Mexican) and is the only one of its kind in the world. It is made of 1½ million pieces of crystal glued together in a symphony of color.

* * * *

Designed by Dr. Atl, noted Mexican artist and the man connected with the Atlantis story, the curtain has the lovely scene in colour of the two volcanoes, Popocatepetel and Ixtaccihuatl, with trees, cactus, flowers, etc., completing it.

* * * *

Every Sunday morning at 9:30 the curtain is shown to the public. By means of special indirect lighting the audience sees a sunrise over the volcanoes. It is a most beautiful sight and takes about 30 minutes for the complete sunrise. It begins with the clouds scudding across the dim outlines of the mountains, shows the mist gradually lifting and the volcanoes growing brighter by the minute with a golden hue. It is a scene I have watched from my window several times and the artist has caught it perfectly.

* * * *

The ceiling of the theatre represents the Muses of the Arts and is a fine piece of work. The interior of the building is decorated with marbles and woods from all over Mexico and the combination is effective.

* * * *

THEATRE AND MUSEUM

The Palace houses both a theatre and a museum. The theatre was originally intended for opera and other functions of the Diaz aristocracy and hence seats only a few thousand people. Now it is used for concerts, plays, opera and large public meetings. An artist who has performed at the Palace has considerable prestige.

* * * *

The National Museum of Plastic Arts was inaugurated here in 1947 and will be housed in the Palace until the new building is constructed in Chapultepec Park.

* * * *

Begun in 1900, the Palace has been something of a problem for the architects. When about half completed, the enormously heavy structure began to sink in the spongy subsoil. Already it has sunk more than five feet below the original level.

* * * *

The Bronzes at the four corners of the Esplanade facing the Palace each in the form of a pesagus, represent music and tragedy.

PALACE OF FINE ARTS in the Mexican capital took 27 years to build. It houses the work of Mexico's famous artists and symphony, opera and other concerts of high calibre are held here. Because of the spongy subsoil, there has been considerable difficulty with parts of the building sinking. (American Airlines Photo)

Cars In City Slip, Slide On Icy Roads

Brakes Lose Effect On Slippery Streets In Rash of Crashes

Icy pavements were blamed for a number of minor motor accidents the last couple of days.

Damage to a car driven by R. Kirkpatrick, 28, 133 Eastbourne Ave., Hamilton, was estimated at $160 when he was in collision with a sedan delivery owned by Lawrence Blanchard, 538 McKellar St. and driven by James McTeague, 19, 782 George St. Damage to the Blanchard vehicle was estimated at $75.

McTeague, who was driving south on Reid St., applied his brakes for the traffic light at McDonnel St. but the truck skidded on the icy surface and came to a stop 78 feet past the intersection beside the opposite curb.

Kirkpatrick, who was driving in the opposite direction on Reid St., was unable to pass the McTeague vehicle because of the line of approaching traffic and when he applied his brakes he skidded into the other vehicle.

SLID ON HILL

Walter G. Lean, 16, of Lakefield, was driving west on Parkhill Rd. about 1:30 Wednesday morning and had started up the hill to reach Monaghan Rd. when the rear wheels of his car began to spin and it slid backwards down the hill

There was a truck coming behind him and so, to avoid a collision, Lean took to the ditch and his car was stopped by the guard rail at Hamilton Park, causing $25 damage to the rear of the car.

A collision between a panel truck driven by Norman J. Farthing, 31, 238 Wolsley St., and a car driven by Miss M. C. Cox, 45, 314 Rubidge St., at Aylmer St. and Aberdeen Ave., at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, resulted in $90 damage to the car and $80 to the truck.

When Ralph James, 54, Omemee, driving south on Reid St., slowed down for the Parkhill Rd. intersection at 7 a.m. Thursday, Keith Lowes, 24, RR 1, Omemee, driving behind him, applied his brakes but, owing to the icy street, slid into the rear of James' car, damaging the bumper on his own car.

Mrs. Verna Young, 42, 621 Donegal St., was driving south on Water St. just before 9 a.m. Thursday when she applied her brakes to stop in the line of traffic approaching Charlotte St. and slid sideways on the ice, and collided with a parked car, owned by J. Melbourne Bertrand, 54, 172 Charles St., Belleville. Damage was $25 to Bertrand's car and $15 to Mrs. Young's.

Stopped Car Hit By Transport Truck

Rholeen Clark, 516 Water St., was not injured when she was thrown against the dashboard of a car in which she was a passenger, just before 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

She was just about to alight from a car driven by James H. Drummond, 41, 39 Lee St., who had pulled into the laneway west of the Peterborough Lock plant on Simcoe St., when the car was struck from behind by a transport truck driven by John A. Pilling, 28, 247 McGill St.

Pilling had pulled past the laneway and was backing into it when the accident occurred. He told police he didn't see the car and didn't know he had struck it but applied his brakes when two nearby men called out to him to watch out for the car.

Car, Bus Hit Auto Driver Hurt

Frederick J. Temple, 69, 1189 Clonsilla Ave., was admitted to Civic Hospital this morning suffering from a broken ankle, minor bruises and slight shock.

Temple was driving to work at the hospital where he is employed when his car collided almost head-on with a city bus driven by Hugh Arnold, 33, 438 Rogers St. shortly before 8 a.m. east of Victory Cres. on Charlotte St., within sight of the hospital.

The rear end of the Temple car was lifted slightly off the pavement by the impact and the front was wedged beneath the left front portion of the bus. The front of the car was pushed in resulting in damage estimated at $1,000. Damage to the bus amounted to about $400.

PC Rogert Muldoon, who investigated, said that the steering wheel of Temple's car "was bent around like an umbrella." Also investigating were Constables Gerald Emmons and Don Mackay.

No-one else was injured.

Faces Life Term

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. air force said today a sergeant charged with offering to sell secret facts about the U. S. HIS FRONT TIRE blew out and a high gusty wind Thursday didn't help him, but 73-year-old Frank Stapley of Stirling managed to miss two trees along the side of Highway 28 north of Young's Point before he clipped off a pole and came to rest against a fencepost.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Tire Blows, Car Clips Off Pole

A blowout in his left front tire caused Frank Stapley, 73, of Stirling to swerve into the ditch, three miles north of Young's Point on Thursday afternoon, and snap off a telephone pole. Stapley stepped out of his small English-model car with only a shaking up.

Stapley, a woodcutter, was going home for the weekend when he had a blowout about 4.30 p.m.

The 1949 model car, going south on Hihgway 28, swerved over in the wrong side of the highway and continued along the east shoulder and ditch for 150 feet. It snapped off a telephone pole and went another 25 feet before coming to a stop.

About $250 damage was caused to the car, mostly to the front end.

Stapley was alone in the car and received only a shaking up.

OPP Constable George Louth investigated.

Had Yen To Fly Cobourg Girl Still Aiming High

COBOURG, (ENS)—A girl in Cobourg had a yen to fly. She was fascinated by planes and whenever a movie about airline hostesses came to town she always made it a point to see it—twice Her name is Gertrude Maria Karley, daughter of Mrs. Karley of Swayne St. and the late George Karley.

While she wanted to be an airline hostess, Gertrude wished to be able to fly a plane herself. She worked hard at her job as dental assistant in Cobourg and took a course at the Oshawa Flying Club, getting her pilot license and wings last November at Oshawa. With her license came a cheque for one hundred dollars from the Dept. of Transport.

Gertrude Karley

Just recently she went to the States, got a job as dental assistant, plans to get some more hours flying time, with the ultimate intension of getting a job with an airline. Gertrude told her mother in a recent letter that she will eventually make a bid for a job as airline hostess but when she does get it, she will have a sizeable accumulation of solo flying hours.

BORN IN MONTREAL

Gertrude Karley was born in Montreal 22 years ago and lived in Cobourg for 15 years where she attended St. Michael's Separate School and the collegiate institute.

She soloed in her sixth hour with the Oshawa Flying Club and did a cross-country with her instructor to Muskoka checking off the places as they passed over them. She soloed from Oshawa to St. Catharines and after landing there and refueling, took off for another landing at Toronto Island. She passed all her tests with flying colors.

Hit-Run Accident

Another hit-and-run driver caused minor damage to a parked car at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Archie Hall, 71, of 249 Park St., parked his car in front of his home at approximately 10:30 p.m. About three-quarters of an hour later he heard a bang and went out onto his verandah but noticed nothing unusual.

Thursday morning Hall found that his left front fender had been damaged.

Rental Cars To Be All '53 Models

Jim Donnelly of Call-a-Cab and Hertz Drivurself says they are using all 1953 models now at their same low prices.

For example, five or six people can go to Toronto and back for $23.00.

Jim figures rentals should be brisk as he thinks spring must be here because all the teams have quit playing hockey.

Library Circulation Increases Over '52

The Peterborough Public Library had an increase in circulation of 233 in February as compared to the circulation figures for February, 1952.

William Graff reported at the Library Board of Directors' meeting Thursday that the total circulation for the month was 24,882.

The circulation increase this year to date as compared with the same period last year was 4,158. The total circulation for January and February was 49,057.

The record circulation for the month was 397.

A total of 343 films were borrowed for 158 showings to an aggregate audience of 13,630.

The library auditorium and committee rooms were used by 24 groups and organizations for meetings.

Province, Ottawa Approve Plan For Bridge At Gannon's Narrows

Causeway, Bridge Estimated at $206,000 To Span 1,500 Foot Neck of Water County Council To Meet For Approval

Both provincial and federal authorities have now given the go-ahead signal for the building of the long-talked-about causeway at Gannon's Narrows, 15 miles northwest of Peterborough. Complete with a 200-foot overhead bridge—high enough above the water to let boats on the Trent Canal system pass to and fro—the revised project will cost an estimated $206,000. Gannon's Narrows is a neck of water, 1,500 feet wide, between Buckhorn and Pigeon Lakes.

The proposed causeway, replacing the now antiquated and dangerous wooden bridge, would span the narrows between Ennismore township on the south and Harvey township on the north.

The Peterborough County council have still to approve it and this will be done, probably at a special meeting later this month. If an agreement is signed with provincial and federal authorities before the end of the month then the Department of Transport will hand over the $99,000 already included in their estimates for the fiscal year 1952-53. The fiscal year ends March 31.

Members of the County Council's roads committee are pleased with the progress that has been made since adjournment at the inaugural meeting in January.

NEW PLAN

Early in February, just when it seemed that an impasse had been reached in discussions with Department of Transport engineers and officials in Ottawa, Jack Keen, county engineer and road superintendent, came up with a revised plan that seemed to resolve the outstanding difficulties and also drastically cut costs. This week that basic plan, with other modifications suggested by Arthur Sedgwick, chief bridge engineer of the Department of Highways, was approved by the Department of Highways.

The Hon. George Doucett examined the plans and found them satisfactory. He promised an 80 per cent subsidy on the Ontario government's share of the causeway. The main item of interest to Mr. Doucett's department is the $104,000 earmarked for rock will.

The Department of Transport looks after the interests of the Trent Canal system and previously pledged $99,000 which could be used either for a swing-span or for an overhead bridge.

"Actual cost of construction is estimated at $203,000," said Mr. Keen. "But by the time legal fees, interest on borrowed money from the bank and other incidents are included, it should total about $206,000.

"Don't forget this is only an estimate," warned Mr. Keen.

Mr. Keen's basic plan to cut construction costs was to eliminate the two 100-foot spans, resting on two huge concrete abutments and a centre pier, out in the middle of the narrows. He proposed substituting a single 200-foot span—one side anchored to the Ennismore shoreline and the other resting on a concrete abutment in the rock fill of the causeway proper.

CHANGES MADE

This suited the federal authorities but Mr. Sedgwick and Mr. Keen made further cost-reducing revisions.

The 200-foot steel bridge will rest on steel H-piles driven into the Ennismore shoreline at one end, and on a heavy concrete pier built on the rock-fill at the other end. At both ends of the bridge the approach will be on a 70-foot beam span anchored to a concrete abutment.

"This means greater stability for the abutments, both on the rock fill and on the Ennismore shore," said Mr. Keen. "It also means less concrete and less rock fill—in other words less expense."

Original estimates on the cost of building a causeway with an overhead bridge had gone well over $300,000. County council did not want a project that costly and the Department of Transport did not want to pay over $99,000

This new plan permits the Department of Transport's section to be built for $99,000 which pleases the county council; and there will be a fixed, high-level bridge instead of a swing-span which pleases the Department of Transport.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

4-H Clubs Should be a Community Interest....
Ten or Eleven Clubs in Peterborough This Year....
Holstein Association Dinner in April... Maple Cattle Breeders Report Continuing Expansion....
McInnis Urges More Selling Effort.

The annual meeting in Ottawa this week of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs is a reminder of their improved prospect in Peterborough county for the new season beginning early in April.

Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative, expects ten clubs here this year, four of them east of the Indian River sponsored by the recently organized Junior Farmers of East Peterborough.

The Canadian Council directs the activities of 4,440 clubs whose aggregate membership exceeds 58,700 boys and girls of the rural communities of the nation.

The Council is composed of representatives of Departments of Agriculture, with S. C. Wright, Prince Edward Island, president: also representatives of many of the industrial, commercial and financial companies and other persons from all parts of Canada.

Actually, provincial departments of agriculture give prominent place in their extension programs to the 4-H Clubs. But, there is also this important background of Canadian support which emerges prominently in the financing of the national interprovincial competitions during an entire week of the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

BEGIN IN HOMES

Down at their grass roots 4-H Clubs and their membership depend on the stimulating spirit of rural homes in which parents recognize the advantages which the local clubs afford to their children.

That is the aspect which is emphasized here and elsewhere by the extension representatives of the provincial Department of Agriculture, Mr. Paterson and Mr. Best. At the same time there should be the parental vision of the great company of Canadian farm youth with whom their children become associated.

It is significant to note that the main speaker at the Ottawa convention Monday was Albert Hoefer of Ithaca, N. Y., whose subject was "Making 4-H Club Work a Community Effort." The implication of the title is plain,—that these groups of rural boys and girls engaged in calf and grain and forestry clubs should not be left only to their leaders and to their homes, but should be recognized as deserving and receiving place in their neighborhoods.

In thousands of farm homes thoughout Canada 4-H Clubs will be mentioned in coming weeks as boys and girls are offered the opportunity of membership. That is where the sprit of parents is fundamental.

Ken Best is thinking of ten or eleven Clubs in the county this season. They are—in west Peterborough: one beef club, two dairy calf clubs, one grain club, a swine club, and forestry club. The grain and forestry clubs are already in action, the grain group from last year. There is also a Junior Farmers' farm machinery club.

CLUBS AROUND NORWOOD

Centering around Norwood and the sponsorship of its new association of Junior Farmers may be one dairy calf club, one swine club, one grain club and a tractor maintenance club. There might be an additional beef club.

One change which may become effective this year is a suggestion that boys and girls need not own their calves outright, that their club entries be owned by the family. Mr. Best mentioned the possibility in a family of three of four children of 4-H Club age, owning a new calf each year, of having possession of nine or ten cattle at the end of three years. By that time they would have a herd nearly as important as that of the head of the household.

Briefly, Mr. Best is requesting parents to begin thinking now of the 4-H Clubs, with their ideals of heart, head, hand and health, and with decision of approval as soon as the call comes for organization.

Consigning Herefords

Eastern Ontario Hereford breeders who are consigning animals to the bul sale in Toronto Wed. March 11 include: L. J. Ashmore, Lindsay; Col. F. E. Birdsall of Birdsall; Chas. Fisher and Son of Bailieboro; G. N. Graham of Udora; Homer Hawkey, Indian River David Kerr, Peterborough; J. R. Nokes, Manila; Alan Linton, Cobourg; George F. Oliver, Dunford; Marvin Smith, Cavan; James W. Winterbottom, Woodville. They are each sending one or more bulls to the sale which begins at 11 a.m. after the show which opens at 8 a.m.

Aberdeen-Angus breeders, showing and selling the same day, include from this district: E. C. McDowell of Cavan and Ronald Marquis of Sunderland.

SALE MAY 29

Encouraged by the price success of their sale early last summer, Eastern Ontario Hereford Breeders Association has arranged to hold this year's sale in Peterborough on May 29, as reported by Mr. Hawkey. It is expected that at least all the breeders who consigned entries to the sale a year ago will be represented again in the district sales ring.

Trip To Washington, D.C.

Elgin Holstein Breeders are sponsoring a trip into the United States, leaving St. Thomas March 16 and returning on the 20th. They will travel by train to Washington. On the 18th they plan to visit two large Holstein herds, one of them the famous King herd of 600 head at Gaithersberg. Also on their itinerary is the U.S. Department of Agriculture's research centre at Beltsville, Md.

✦ ✦ ✦

Holsteins Average $281

Twelve of the 61 Oaks Holstein herd of E. L. Strobridge, Brantford, were bought for delivery to the U.S., at the dispersal sale Feb. 28. General average was $281 for an aggregate of $17,665.

Top price was $700 for Amy R.A. Salax, six year old grand champion of Brant County Black and White Day, 1952, on the bid of M. C. McCloskey, Queensville, Ont.

Second highest price was $610 by Cameron Grant and Son of Fort Edward, N.Y., for a three year old daughter of "Sovereign." Grant and Son took five head in all, including a four year old at $410. J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ont., purchased a granddaughter of Markham at $535, the highest price of the day for a bred heifer.

✦ ✦ ✦

Shorthorns At Lindsay

The catalogue of Victoria County Shorthorn Association lists 23 entries for their 43rd annual sale at Lindsay Exhibition Park, Tuesday March 17. Nine are bulls. The consignors are: M. J. Jenkins, Little Britain, six head; Mr. and Mrs. C. Lee. Omemee, five; Ross Flett, Oakwood, three; Cecil Westlake, Beaverton, two; and one each from the herds of H. M. Dack, Brechin; Ross Davidson, Janetville; Clarence Duggan, Brechin; Lloyd Fowler, Woodville; Wilbur Lane, Oakwood; John Sims, Cameron; and Charles Short, Seagrave.

✦ ✦ ✦

Durham Shorthorn Sale

Durham County Shorthorn Breeders' sale at Blackstock on Thursday March 12 begins at 1.30. Consignors are: John Rickard, Newcastle, four head; R. Parrott and Sons, Myrtle Station, two; Colwell Bros., Blackwater, two; Carl J. Wright, Blackstock, five; Baker Farms, Hampton, three; A. W. Wright, Nestleton, four; E. F. R. Osborne, Newcastle, three; Garnet Rickard, Bowmanville, three; F. E. Pugh, Uxbridge, two; and one each from L. Richardson and Son, Ashburn, and R. Richardson, also of Ashburn; M. A. Gilroy, Beath Farms, Oshawa, H. J. Miller, Claremont.

✦ ✦ ✦

Transferred To Hastings

Melville T. Merrill, dairy herd supervisor in Peel has been transferred to Hastings county by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Merrill, Campbellford.

✦ ✦ ✦

Exporting 140 Jerseys

Don Begg, president of the Elgin Jersey Breeders' Club, reported at its dinner last week that 140 Jerseys will be leaving Elgin county during the early part of March. Some of them are from Middlesex. They were bought in recent weeks for delivery to the United States in anticipation of the resumption of export March 1.

✦ ✦ ✦

Co-Op Meeting

Vern Campbell will be chairman, as president, and also "guest" speaker at the semi-annual meeting of Peterborough Co-Operative Services at the Empress Hotel, Tuesday, March 10, beginning at 8 p.m. This is a business meeting and the president intends to discuss the affairs of the Co-Op as they have been showing improvement. Lunch will be served after the business session.

✦ ✦ ✦

Dinner Date April 7

Here is an April date to remember. Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Association are holding their annual dinner Tuesday, April 7, at Brookside on No. 7, Highway, opposite the Burnham property just east of the city. The women of St. James United Church are undertaking the catering.

Farmers Must Sell

"It has been said with a good deal of truth that salesmanship is a lost art in agriculture. It's time we all got back on a business basis."

That was the advice of Charles McInnis, Iroquis president of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, in a talk at the Middlesex Seed Fair in London, Wednesday.

Time was, he said, when the primary producer sold his own wares. Not any more. He sells to a processor, sometimes to his own disadvantage. Certainly, in many instancese he has "lost touch" with the ultimate consumer.

Mr. McInnis explained details of the marketing agency which has been set up by the hog producers of the province with the implication that they were doing their best to practice what they preach.

Forums Pay Tribute To Little Red School As Consolidation Grows

Farm Forums applied their ideas and experience to the engaging subject of Monday night's broadcast: "Is equality in education possible?" A major question was whether rural children have as good educational opportunities as town and city children. And also, what should be done to encourage more young people to enter the teaching profession.

Westwood Forum — 35 members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Breckenridge. Mrs. R. Y. Cameron was leader.

Invited for the occasion, Mr. K. O. Birkin, Inspector of Public Schools for East Peterborough, congratulated Asphodel on amalgamating into one school area covering the whole township. Larger units of administration help to equalize opportunities and also taxes.

Mrs. W. W. Graham, secretary's, report is quoted in part: "We have been able to concentrate our school populace into three schools instead of six. This means that in the present teacher shortage we have cut our requirements in half."

The children benefit from better equipment and larger classes.

Mr. Birkin described some of the newer schools in the inspectorate and their equipment, and some of the benefits derived—in particular, qualified teachers more willing to stay in districts with good, well-equipped schools.

The curriculum is supposed to be the same for the rural and urban schools, but, as Mr. Birkin points out, in the ungraded rural school the time devoted to one subject per week can be only 20 minutes, while in a two-grade classroom it is 75 minutes, and one grade, 150 minutes. This is hardly equal opportunity. He favors the two-grade classroom for its increased orpportunities for the brighter student to get ahead, the duller ones to have double instruction in poor subjects.

Paramount in importance is the teacher. A good teacher can do a good job with, or in spite of, poor equipment, but a poor teacher does a poor job with the finest of schools and equipment. To encourage more and better people to enter the profession, we must look to salaries, working conditions and living conditions. In this day of automotive transport, centralization presents no problem in attendance, and does offer a hope of better salaries and better schools and equipment, with consequently better teachers more willing to remain at rural schools.

Central Smith—With 13 attending at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Archer: "We think the children in our rural community have as good an educational opportunity as city children. For example, they are more self-reliant and have a greater chance to see how things are done by their parents towards making a living. We account for this by the fact they have smarter parents, and the children themselves are not polluted by movies, etc.

"AN AWFUL MESS"

"We also think that education in our province today is in an awful mess. It is hard to induce young people to enter the teaching profession when wages are so high in factories with fewer years of preparation; but from the viewpoint of doing something constructive, there is hardly a greater opportunity than that offered by the teaching profession."

Stewart Hall—Eighteen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Deyell. Guest : P. D. Windrim, Public School Inspector. ("Peterborough Collegiate is sending more young people into Normal School than any other of its size in the province.")

60% TEACHERS MARRIED

In their opinion, a rural child gets a good all round education, and shows a more receptive attitude than the city children; the environment is better, and where there is a good board of trustees they are alive to the situation and pick good teachers. One of the comments was: "Sixty per cent of the teachers in the inspectorate are married women. To encourage more young people to take up teaching: Divide the Normal School course into primary, intermediate and senior groups so that a student does not have to spend time on a group he or she is not interested in. Increase salaries. Improve school conditions."

Pine Grove—Thirty-two at the home of Ernest Garbutts, with Chester Hamilton leader: "One group said rural children's educational opportunities were not so good as in the cities.

The other side gave an affirmative answer, that the children in our community have almost an equal standing with town pupils. Reason was because we were close to a village and town. What our children do not get in the Public Schools they will soon pick up when they get to High School, which is readily available. All governing bodies connected with education at all levels from the rural trustees up to the provincial Department of Education should strive for a more uniform salary scale between city, town, village and rural teachers. Mr. Stevens, principal of Lakefield High School, was present and gave a talk on the subject of equality in education."

36 AT DONEGAL

Donegal Forum — Thirty-six at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leeper. Opinion was divided in rating rural and urban educational opportunities. One side argued: "Normal children in rural schools benefit just as much as city children. They get manual training, music, National Film Board pictures, travelling libraries. Rural children often do better in high school because they get to bed earlier and do their homework, whereas the town child is apt to be hard to keep at home, are usually better behaved and, therefore, spend more time working; learn much of the work of higher grades by listening. School area boards have done much to equalize education. A kindergarten for beginners would do much to start them off on the same foot as city children." As to encouraging young people to become teachers: "Pay the farmer more for his produce, and then raise teachers' salaries. Have a salary schedule. Bridge the gap between the salaries of urban and rural teachers.

"The rural teacher does the most work, so why get paid less. Provide good boarding places. Teach your children to appreciate school. Send children to school happy, well fed, clean and unrushed. Don't let teachers get married (not meant seriously). Quit criticizing teachers, let their free time be their own to spend as he or she pleases."

Springville — Twenty-nine at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Whitfield. "The Little Red School is still an important factor in the shaping of human destiny. Through the years it has served the community well. We grant its system of ventilation, lighting, heating, etc., could be improved, and its surroundings made more attractive, but with our qualified teachers and additional instruction in religion, manual training music, etc., it has some advantages over the city schools.

FORUM DIVIDED

"Opinions differed on this question. Two of our four groups brought out good arguments for the advantages of consolidated or city schools, but admitted later in their reports that the rural school seemed to have just as high a standard of education with added advantages. Responsibility is developed early, of necessity in a classroom of eight grades, where a pupil must learn to rely on himself; the rural teacher is in a better position to understand her pupils and take a personal interest in each child. It is a recognized fact that many of our great men have had their beginning in the atmosphere of the rural school."

As to No. 2 question: "Realizing the cost involved in education to become a teacher, we feel that the salaries should be attractive, and should correspond with those of other occupations and professions. Strive for parent-teacher co-operation, and hold high the prestige of the profession." (This was a subject near the heart of everyone, and led to animated discussion from many angles and viewpoints.)

(As to vivacity of discussion, Central Smith secretary commented: "Too many trying to speak at once.")

Lily Lake Forum — Twelve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Tully; Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss leader. Albert Hill, of Prince of Wales School, was a guest. Opinion was that rural school opportunities in education are not so good as those of the urban schools. Members suggested better equipped schools to make working conditions better for teachers; classification or readjustment of present course of study; increasing teacher course to two years; salary parity with other professions.

Coldsprings Forum—Twelve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sutton. Howard Moebus, of PCVI, was guest. "Education in our school section just as good as in cities, but in larger school areas of township—no. Large school attendance forced addition of two or more rooms to existing one-room, making a grade school with better buildings and equipment; the keeping of better teachers; and teachers doing better jobs with fewer grades. For remaining one-room schools, one or two three or four-roomed schools should be built; transport pupils; job of caretaking simplified; all teachers equal as to buildings and equipment; and children initiated into social and cultural atmosphere they will meet in high school. On No. 2 question as to stimulating young people to enter the teaching profession: raise the dignity of the profession; more inspector supervision; remove small school board for a larger one, doing away with personal pettiness of small sections; equalize assessment in suburban and rural areas."

Beaver Forum (Smith 9th line) —Sixteen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alwin Northey. Approved rural schools. "Children learn from observation, the lower grades from the higher. Some country schools have multiple rooms and better than average facilities. If a board is fortunate in securing an experienced teacher or teachers, the children have the opportunities, and country children more than urban children make more use of the available opportunities. We feel the standard of education for Public School teachers should be reduced. A pupil desiring to become a teacher should be able to draw from a fund to pay the expenses of attending Normal. Salaries should be increased somewhat; parents should be careful of criticism, and good boarding homes should be available to the coming teacher near the school." (Next year we propose as a subject of discussion: "Equalized assessment for school tax.")

Ocean Fares Unchanged

CANNES, France (Reuters) — Representatives of 16 companies belonging to the Association of North Atlantic Steamship Lines held their semi-annual conference here Thursday and decided against any change in passenger fares on North Atlantic routes for the present.

Cattle Breeders Report Profit Of $28,505

Maple Cattle Breeders' Association reported a profit of $28,505 on 1952 operations at the fifth annual meeting of its Peterborough division Wednesday night at Normal School.

Total receipts were $257,721, including $232,738 service fees, $16,616 grant from the Ontario Government for 1951 work, and $8,267 for sale of semen.

Expenditures amounted to $229,216 detailed as follows: livestock keep $14,667; technicians $152,364; administration $35,945; miscellaneous $9,582; depreciation $16,658.

The comparative figures for 1951 were: income $206,018 and expenses $193,466.

Membership has grown from 83 in 1945 to 5189 last year. The increase in 1952 was 922 over the membership of 4267 in 1951.

The enterprise of the original group of Maple farmers in York county was immediately successful and that year, 1945, closed with the 83 mentioned above. Simcoe was taken into the group in 1946, Peterborough's section of the association was organized in 1948 with 106 members, and at 524 last year showed a gain of 118 members over the 406 total in 1951.

The registered membership of 5,189 in 1952 was as follows: York 876, Grey 801, Ontario county 700, Simcoe 664, Peterborough 524, Dufferin 363, Halton 361, Victoria 321, Peel 301, Vernon 148, Powassan 130.

BRED 153,000 COWS

The number of breedings in 1945 was 768, and in 952 the total was 45,405, an increase of 8,481 over the 1951 total of 36,924. The total since the association was formed was 153,021 to the end of 1952.

In addition to the 45,405 breedings last year directly by Maple's employees, the northern wholesale units bred more than 5,500 to bring the total for 1952 to more than 50,000 cows bred from Maple sires.

At the end of December the stud consisted of 15 Holsteins, 5 Jerseys, 4 Ayrshires, 2 Guernseys, 4 Herefords and 6 Shorthorns.

Net value of the Maple property and equipment was $134,964 after allowing $61,523 for accumulated depreciation.

The sum deducted last year for depreciation was $16,658 and for 1951 it was $15,957, amounting in those two years to $32,615; and of that sum and in the same two-year period the depreciation on bulls amounted to $23,973, in the bookkeeping account.

560 MEMBERS HERE

Gordon LaPlante said the Peterborough membership at the end of February was six more than for the first two months of 1951, and the total is now over 560. The 5,000 services here last year were distributed over the breeds as follows: Holsteins 2,550, Shorthorns 1,350, Jerseys 450, Herefords 450, Ayrshires 10 and Guernseys 70.

Of the Peterborough farmers who have joined the association, Mr. LaPlante said, only 20 have bought bulls, an average of four a year. Some of these twenty wished breed to one bull.

"We have had good co-operation from the members again last year," Mr. LaPlante said, "and from our experience among the farmers of Peterborough we have every reason to look for another good year in 1953."

SAYS SALE IMPORTANT

President Frank Stark of Halton county congratulated the 105 members for their attendance at the meeting, and said the increase in Peterborough membership had been steady from the beginning. He said the Maple headquarters have been happy about the sound progress shown in this county and in the good relations existing from the outset.

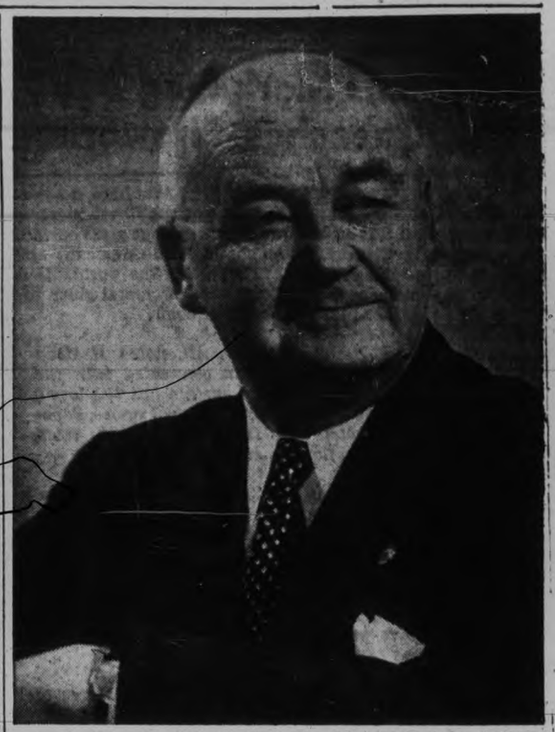
He emphasized to the meeting the success of the Maple offspring sale last year. It was the only one showing an increase in price.

"We are planning for another sale this year of 60 head. That number makes a nice sale," Mr. Stark said. "Peterborough members who consider they have some animals to consign should let us know early through your directors or inseminators. You can understand that we just can't take everything in order to get down the number of sixty. From the way the 1952 sale turned out, we have hopes that it won't be long until our Maple sale is better than the national."

Mr. Stark appealed to all members to keep their service accounts straight with head office. "This is a co-operative business. Each member has a responsibility to his neighbor and to his fellow members to keep this association going strong and sound. So, please don't let bills go past thirty days. If you get a statement which you think is wrong, for goodness sake let us know right away."

GOVT. GRANT ENDING

G. W. Keffer, secretary-manager, said the Ontario government's grant was being cancelled this year. The 1952 grant would be received this month and would be the last. The financial statement shows that for 1951 it was $16,616.



"The government has been a great help to us during the years we were getting established. It made things more comfortable to carry along. However, I feel that on our financing last year we will be able to get along on our own. I have every reason to say that our Club is looking better than ever before. We have never had to borrow money. One year we had an overdraft at the bank, but we were not asked to sign for it."

Mr. Keffer reported that two imported Jersey bulls were purchased but had not yet been delivered to the Club, and a new Guernsey was bought from MacDonald Farm, N.Y.

A. E. Snider, treasurer, discussed the financial statement, and Veterinarian Dr. D. C. MacKay spoke briefly of the forming last year of the nine associations into the Ontario Association of Artificial Breeders, and the prospect and plans for developing research efforts. One of the projects is on selective registration through the daughters of the sires of artificial units. Selected herds will be visited by an official grader, and the data will be completed in conjunction with the assistance of O.A.C.

"We will be able to get information that will be of value to our breeders because they will then be in a position, and we will, too, to know the best and the worst bulls."

Dr. MacKay said that naturally the worst would be eliminated. As otherwise reported Harry Kennedy of Cavan and Stewart Whittington were re-elected by acclamation Peterborough's representatives on the Maple board of directors.

On the Thursday (March 19) program of the Central Ontario Spring Show, Prof. Russell G. Knox, head of the animal husbandry department at OAC will be back in his native county. He is listed for a talk on "Pastures for Beef Cattle" at 1:30 p.m., and is also on the panel discussion "Land Use" beginning at 2:30 with Watson H. Porter of London as chairman.

Prof. Knox is a son of the late William Knox of Asphodel township whose farm home was on the south side of the Dummer boundary. His father, in retirement, was for some years manager of the Peterborough Exhibition during the period of Roland Denne's presidency, and will always be remembered by friends for his sunny, amiable personality. Prof. Knox's mother is living with him now in Guelph. Mrs. Herb McFarlane of Otonabee is a sister.

With the animal husbandry department at the Ontario Agricultural College since 1920, of which he has been head since 1936, Prof. Knox has a great deal of research to his credit, particularly in the field of advanced registry for swine. He headed the provincial organization that laid the foundation for that system. He also worked with Frank E. Wolff in 1938 to prepare the basis for today's widely accepted artificial insemination program.

Since 1938, Prof. Knox has been working on a line breeding program with the OAC Shorthorn herd. To date there is only one cow in the herd that is not a descendant of the one sire, Millhills Ransom. This work is being carried on to study its effects in the breeding of beef cattle. Prof. Knox is now in his 63rd year.

Estate Goes To Wife

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—Capt. Ben Pine, internationally famed fishing vessel skipper, left his entire estate to his second wife, Ray Adams Pine, it was disclosed Thursday. Pine died Feb. 24. An inventory filed in probate court estimated his estate at $25,000. A native of Newfoundland, Pine sailed the Gertrude L. Thebaud out of Gloucester against Capt. Angus Walters and his Bluenose in the international schooner races.

Trace Minerals go to work for Wm. F. Whetung!
Here's what Mr. Whetung writes:
"This year I am starting all chicks brooded on Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter exclusively. I have found this feed produces a superior chick with less feed . . . due to the palatability of the feed and the readiness with which the chicks clean up the feed trough.
Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter —with trace minerals, produces a chick superior to any I have raised in the past from the standpoint of growth, feathering and the general development of the chick."

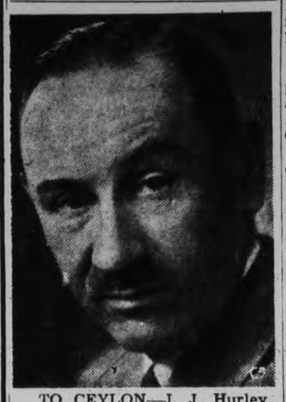
Prize Grain Goes For $800 Sales

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Fifty lots of prize-winning grain, beans, potatoes and apples displayed at the Middlesex Seed Fair and Food Show this week sold for more than $800 at the auction sale at the close of the show Thursday.

Among them were several lots which brought the top award of the show to Walter A. Vail and Son of Denfield. An annual exhibitor and frequent prize-winner during the 14-year history of the fair, Mr. Vail and his son Campbell captured the trophy for obtaining the highest points in grain, seeds and corn. Their score was 72.

Runners-up were Erwin Scott and son of Lucan, 69, and Hiram L. O'Neil, RR 5, Denfield, 56.

Top prize was $44 for a four-bushel lot of harosoy soybeans exhibited by Clifford Dale, of RR 2, Glanworth. Another four-bushel exhibit by Wallace Laidlaw, Wilton Grove, brought $40.



Free Ride: 600 Miles

MILLBRAE, Calif. (AP)—Taxi driver Edward Joss said a man climbed into his cab in Portland, Ore., and instructed curtly: "Drive me to San Mateo, Calif.—I'll pay you when we get there." But when they stopped at a gas station here Thursday night—about five miles from San Mateo—the nimble six-foot, seven-inch passenger fled. Joss told police the passenger neglected to pay his bill of $296 for the 600-mile ride.

The Yangtze River in China, longest in Asia, is navigable for 1,500 miles.

FROM ARGENTINE — Dr. Lucas Caligniana, Argentine ambassador to Canada, has arrived in Ottawa and presented his credentials to Governor - General Vincent Massey.

TO CEYLON—J. J. Hurley, 55, a native of Brantford, has been appointed high commissioner to Ceylon. A veteran of both world wars, he was acting commandant of Royal Military College, Kingston, for a time. He joined the external affairs department in 1947 and served with the Canadian military mission in Berlin until his appointment as Canadian consul at Detroit in 1948. He returned to Ottawa in 1951.

AMBASSADOR — G. R. C. Heasman, 55, of Ottawa, has been appointed ambassador to Indonesia and will assume his new duties in June. Since 1945 he has been director of the Canadian trade commissioner service in Java, Capetown, London and Chicago. He returned to Ottawa in 1941 to organize and head the Canadian export permits branch.

Two Canadians Charged In Six Robberies

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Police said Thursday six charges of robbery have been laid against two of six Canadians being held by police in nearby Detroit.

Inspector of detectives James Campbell said the two are David Crnec, 22, of Windsor and Joseph Clifford Guay of Pembroke.

They gave assumed names and said they were natives of Toronto when arrested last Monday in Detroit with two other men and two women.

Detroit police said a third member of the group, Robert McDonald, 26, who said he came from Western Canada, has admitted taking part in a series of robberies in Essex county and in Alberta. Inspector Campbell said charges may be laid against McDonald later.

OTHERS HELD

Also held by Detroit police on preliminary charges of robbery are: Harry Yarmo, 26, of Toronto, and Sheila Lee, 18, and Violet Gray, 23, both of Windsor.

However, police said confessions of the former three absolved Yarmo and the two girls of guilt in connection with the various robberies.

Inspector Campbell said Crnec and Guay have been charged with theft of $400 from the Canada Dry Bottling Company here; $800 from a safe in the Co-Operative Society office in Kingsville; $1,000 from the Metropolitan store in Leamington; twin breaks into the post office and utilities office in Harrow which netted $350 and an unsuccessful break into a Loblaw's groceteria here.

Police said other charges may be laid against the pair.

The group told police they stopped in Detroit to "have a good time" before continuing a planned trip to Mexico. They were arrested after a hotel clerk reported they were flashing unusually large amounts of Canadian money.

Bloody Purges Of 30's Gave Stalin Chance At Leadership

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister Stalin entrenched himself as the world's most powerful dictator by wiping out his opposition in the bloody purges of the 1930s.

Leon Trotsky was the first to go. Stalin defeated him for control of Soviet power after Lenin's death. Exiled to Siberia in 1928, Trotsky was driven from Russia two years later on Stalin's orders. Trotsky went to Mexico where he was murdered.

Actually, Stalin was supreme ruler in 1928 when he launched the first five-year plan of forced industrialization and collectivism—the basic ideas advocated by Trotsky. But it took him several years to consolidate this power. Lenin's old guard had to go.

Stalin needed a reason. He found it in the assassination of Sergei Kirov, a strong supporter, in Petrograd in December, 1934.

The blood bath followed. In a series of purge trials that began in 1935 and ended in 1937, most of the leaders who had been Lenin's principal lieutenants were accused of treason, of collaborating with Nazi Germany and Japan, of conspiring to bring capitalism back to Russia.

The most sensational of the trials—characterized by the West as strictly frame-ups—was that of Marshal Tuchachevsky and a host of Russia's leading generals.

They were accused of treason, of conspiracy with Hitler, and executed. The chief prosecutor was Andrei Vishinsky.

Executed later were the majority of the generals who had constituted the court that condemned Tuchachevsky and his colleagues.

The purges were accompanied by a country-wide shake-up of the party and governmental machine, involving imprisonment of thousands of army officers and the removal or exile of hundreds of thousands of government officials and party members. Siberia became a by-word of Russian oppression.

Internationally there were defections from Stalin's rule. His most important ideological defeat came in 1948 when Marshal Tito broke with the Kremlin after he had refused to subordinate Yugoslavia's interests to those of Russian communism.

To forestall similar defections in other countries, Stalin moved in the last few years to purge the top leaders of his satellites.

Gomulka in Poland, Rajk in Hungary, Slansky in Czechoslovakia and Kostov in Bulgaria were eliminated. Ana Pauker in Romania was kicked out.

4 Plead Guilty In Tax Fraud

SAULT STE. MARIE (CP)—Pleas of guilty were entered Thursday for four business men on 45 of 124 charges of alleged tax fraud involving an estimated $130,000.

Alan Masters Grigor, member of the taxation office of the Sudbury branch of the department of national revenue, testified about his investigation.

Magistrate W. O. Langdon said he would hear pleas later on the other 80 charges which face the men as well as the Soo Equipment and Supply Company, which they represented.

Defence counsel for the firm, H. S. Hamilton, entered a formal plea of guilty on behalf of the company on a charge under the Income Tax Act.

Charged are Goldie Best, Michael Davey, Sr., Wilford H. Knapp, and Clifford S. McKeown, under the War Tax Act, the Income Tax Act, and the Excess Profits Act.

County Head Of WCTU Speaks At Fairview

FAIRVIEW (ENS)— The women's Association met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Rosborough.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Stanley Boyce, with the theme hymn, "Let the Beauty of Jesus be Seen in Me." She read the 23rd Psalm, followed by the Lord's prayer.

Mrs. Wesley Bell, leader of group one, led the worship service on "The Working Christian." She opened with a poem, "A Trust for the Master."

Mrs. E. Mahood read the scripture and Mrs. Fred Brown gave the meditation.

The speaker was Mrs. W. D. Wilson, county president of the W. C. T. U., who gave a forceful address on temperance.

The roll call was answered by the year and date of weddings. The roll call for April will be on one way to make a good citizen.

Mrs. W. D. Wilson reported on the recent meeting of the parsonage committee. She announced the play, "Sister Susie Swings It," by George St. will be presented in the church, Friday evening. Various ways were suggested to raise money for installing the bathroom at the parsonage.

It was decided to make another quilt to have on hand for service work.

Mrs. Boyce reported on the meeting in Grace Church for the exectuive of the W. A. Presbytery. The annual convention will be held in St. James' Church, April 23.

Mrs. Wesley Bell was appointed missionary convener.

Mrs. Fred Brown, who celebrates with her husband their 25th wedding anniversary, was presented with a gift by Mrs. Bruce Heard. Mrs. Brown expressed her appreciation and invited all to help them celebrate, March 14.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wesley Bell Wednesday, April 8, when the speaker will be Mrs. K. I. Shadgett of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Wesley Bell moved a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess.

Rev. Morris closed the meeting with prayer. Lunch was served.

Members were entertained by Miss Irene Vivash showing colored pictures she took in Bermuda and Miss Grace Simpson showing pictures of the royal visit at Trenton and local scenes. Lunch was served by Miss Helen McFarlane and committee.

Allow Nurses Acquire RN

TORONTO (CP)—A waiver in the new history-making Nurses Registration Act is causing a stir among older nurses from near and far.

It provides the opportunity for many of them to obtain the coveted status of an RN (registered nurse) without writing examinations.

Registrar Mildred Weir of the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario said the privilege is restricted to graduates of approved schools in Ontario or to those nursing in Ontario when the first registration act went into effect in 1922.

"Special provision has been made for older nurses who trained outside Ontario, but who had nursing experience in this province at that time."

MANY APPLICATIONS

Applications, which must be made before Dec. 31, 1953, have been received from as far away as New Brunswick and British Columbia and from some parts of the United States.

"This opportunity means a great deal to senior experienced nurses helping to meet the need for more nurses. Even a few over 70 years of age have applied for the sheer satisfaction of being able to call themselves registered nurses" the registrar said.

The reason many of these nurses did not register at time of graduation, although qualified to do so, was because they married immediately or moved away from Ontario, she said.

"Dual Use" In Lingerie Field

NEW YORK — "Dual use" has crept into the lingerie field. It crops up in the slim sheath slip, which is wearable as a lingerie fashion—or quite alone. Made of dark cotton, it is opaque and needs no underpinnings if you want to add accessories and wear it "as is."

Blouse-top slips that eliminate the wearing of a blouse with new spring suits present another new slip fashion for spring.

Dual-use shortie pyjamas occur in bloomer or boxer shorts types making them suitable for beach and play wear, too. Many are offered with fingertip or knee-length coats. Some of the long pyjamas in opaque bright colors and prints can be used happily for lounge wear also.

Tiara? Coronet? Which Is Which?

LONDON, England (CP). — Coronation poser: What's the difference between a tiara, diadem, circlet, and coronet?

The answers, say fashion experts:

A tiara is a light-weight diadem, such as the jewelled halo worn by the Queen at her wedding.

A diadem is higher, with heavier workmanship, and always finishes behind the ears. The Queen received a diadem as a wedding present from the Nizam of Hyderabad.

A circlet encircles the crown of the head, without a break.

A coronet is a gold or silver circle of leaves denoting rank, such as that worn by the Queen at her father's coronation.

"Lift" Eyebrows For New Beauty

Eyebrow lines have come through many fashion phases—the no-brow look which is hardening and takes away from expression, the high Dietrich type of curve, and the soft arch. Fashion's favorite today is the high arch, almost pointed; the brows are kept naturally thick or made to appear thick, with pencil.

If you have the suggestion of an arch to your brows and want to give yourself a more provocative look, take a sharp pencil in black or brown — whichever matches your eyebrow color — and cheat just a little on the height of the arch. Too much height added will look artificial, but with experience you can learn to add just the right amount.

Fill in any blank spots with short pencil strokes. Carry out the eyebrow line if it seems too short when you look at it in profile. Give a tiny lift to the end of the eyebrow, for all lifted lines lend a youthful look.

The straight, thick eyebrow is also fashionable. A girl lucky enough to have it is smart not to try to give herself an arch. To do so, she must pluck a great deal and reshape her brow line. Although this has been done by some Hollywood studio make-up departments, it is highly impractical for general use.

With the natural look so fashionable, we may hope to see less and less of the practice of girls giving themselves work and pain to change their eyebrow lines.

Mrs. M. Heaslip Hostess To WA

BENSFORT (ENS)—The Woman's Association of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Melville Heaslip on Tuesday afternoon.

After a hymn, two minutes of silent prayer were observed for a bereaved member Mrs. F. Patton. Mrs. S. Sweeting read the scripture and Mrs. H. Larmer the lesson thoughts.

A report on the WMS presbyterial was given by Mrs. Reginald Perrin.

Mrs. Reginald Atcheson gave a reading on a scene from Kate Aiken's trip to Africa.

Mrs. Roy Whittington gave a reading on "The Month of March."

Four ladies, Mrs. L. Harris, Mrs. H. Perrin. Mrs. W. Patton and Mrs. C. Barnard presented two scenes from a little African play.

Letters of appreciation were read from Mrs. Robert Dawson, Mrs. J. Brackenridge and Mr. Fred Patton.

The groups reported that four quilts had been made in February, also two layettes for the flood relief victims.

SUNBEAMS MEET

The Sunbeams met at the home of Miss Phyllis Beebe on Monday evening. Marlene Cruse read the scripture lesson. Readings were given by Pat Moncrief, Marlene Adams and Phyllis Beebe. A new devotional book was introduced by Mrs. C. Barnard.

Miss Elizabeth McKnight of Peterborough was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dawson.

The Bensfort Young People's Union enjoyed a skating party to the Millbrook arena on Saturday night. After skating all returned to the home of Ross and Ethel Perrin where lunch was enjoyed and a social time.

First Aid Saves

action as soon as fire, a serious accident or any kind of natural disaster hit the community.

In 1951 there was increased interest in St. John Ambulance work in Peterborough when the organization was given a key role in training civil defence personnel. As a result of this new sphere of activity a Peterborough St. John Ambulance Corps with three divisions was formed in the latter part of 1952.

Within the past two years, nearly 500 potential civil defence workers have been trained by the organization. Classes in first aid and home nursing continue to be conducted in the city with a group of nearly 100 teachers and a group of IODE members now taking the courses.

Women graduates of the home nursing course have given more than 5,000 hours as voluntary nursing assistants in the city's hospitals during the past two years.

This is the first year that St. John Ambulance has been included as an agency in the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund. The organization is making an appeal for $1,650 through the fund campaign, March 6-18. The corps is planning to spend almost twice this amount to extend its services in Peterborough during 1953.

Previously the local organization was financed by small contributions from a few interested Peterborough people and funds from provincial headquarters.

At present, a provincial campaign to raise funds is being conducted by the St. John Ambulance. It is to save citizens from another separate campaign and to make possible the extension of its services in Peterborough that this organization is making an appeal through the community fund campaign.

Like Boxy Jacket With Sheath Dress

SAN FRANCISCO — Nothing has looked so well for several seasons as the slim-skirted heath dress with trim tailoring and square boxy jacket. One designer uses this idea in a Thomas cotton fabric with five percent silk added, in a black and white check with black piping. Large patent leatherish buttons used in a double-breasted effect form the only trim. Another does a beige broadcloth sheath and jacket with bright black buttons, and still another does one in a woven sheer stripe in a wrinkle-resistant cotton with four patch pockets on the sheath and cuffed sleeves on the match-box jacket.

TV For Kitchener To Be Considered

OTTAWA (CP)—An application for a television station at Kitchener, Ont., will be considered by the 11-member CBC board of governors at a meeting here March 27.

The CBC announced that the application from Central Ontario Television Limited will be considered with at least seven others which the board announced last Tuesday.

The other applications for TV stations are from Hamilton, London, Sudbury, Windsor, Quebec City, Saint John and Sydney, N. S.

These are the first applications to be filed since the government announced a few months ago that private stations will be permitted in areas not served or to be served by the publicly-owned CBC.

The CBC now has stations in Toronto and Montreal. It plans others in Ottawa, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Halifax. Other points may be earmarked later for CBC use.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

The Confederation Home and School Association meeting this week received with approval presentation of the parent education play "Fresh Variable Winds" by Queen Alexandra Association members under direction of Mrs. G. Gatfield.

Mr. J. Nicholls thanked the players and afterward invited the parents to visit the classrooms and meet the staff members there.

A short devotional period was conducted by Mrs. D. Montgomery. President Mrs. L. Monk presided for business and reports. The attendance prize was won by Mr. A. Olmstead's class.

Wardrobe Mileage From Imagination

HOLLYWOOD — Women who complain they have nothing to wear have not learned the trick of stretching their wardrobe mileage. Wardrobe mileage is a matter of using imagination and accessories. By now there cannot be a woman left who does not own a basic dress. Starting with that premise, there are any number of ways she can stretch her wardrobe. One of the newest, most attractive and most practical is the conversation-piece vest. The range is limitless as far as material is concerned. So in planning your wardrobe you can use as many changes as your imagination will carry you.

Stars on the Paramount lot are showing up with vests made of plaid gingham, table cloth checks, straw fabrics and linens. Vests have gone glamorous too, and the embroidered, the satin and the jewelled vest for evening wear double in duty. Not only do they change the appearance of your gown, but they act as a wrap as well.

Here's one more tip for vests: They can be worn with a skirt alone or over an under-blouse which shows just collar and sleeves.

Mr. H. J. Taylor will be remaining in Wellesley Hospital, Toronto for another 10 days before going to St. John's Hospital, Newtonbrook, for convalescence.

Miss Marilyn Hopping, student nurse of the General Hospital of Belleville, is spending the week in town with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hopping.

Pastry Topping Gives Veal Stew Glamorous Touch

It's not reasonable but true—people do feel more pampered and cherished when a plain old stew has a pastry topping that makes it into a pot pie. This one has a bran pastry for a pleasing twist on the same old theme.

VEAL POT PIE

1 pound veal steak or 2 cups diced cooked veal, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 clove minced garlic, 1 tablespoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1½ tablespoons flour, 2 instant chicken bouillon cubes, 2 cups hot water, 1 cup cooked diced carrots, 1 cup diced potatoes.

½ cup all-bran cereal, 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅓ cup cold water, ½ cup shortening.

Cut meat into one-inch pieces and cook in shortening until brown. Add garlic, seasonings and flour; stir until smooth and brown. Dissolve bouillon cubes in water; add to meat and simmer 10 minutes. Add vegetables. Pour into a casserole and cover with pastry. Brush with milk and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 deg. Fahr.) about 30 minutes.

PASTRY

Crush bran into fine crumbs; combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Stir in water, a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about ¼ inch in thickness.

Yield: 6 servings.

Stirling LOBA 28th Anniversary

BONARLAW (ENS)—The Stirling LOBA marked its 28th anniversary with a dinner following the monthly meeting of the lodge. Mrs. Jennie Wellman was chairman for a short program of readings and solos. Adorning the head table was a large birthday cake iced in pink and white colors which carried 28 candles.

PERSONALS

Miss Fay Wellman spent the weekend in Marmora.

Mrs. David Wellman and Charles were in Belleville on Thursday visiting Mrs. Ellen Scrimshaw.

Use Bequest Buy Plates

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The regular meeting of St. John's W.A. was held in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. G. Vice in the chair.

The president opened a discussion concerning a bequest from the estate of the late Mrs. Hammond. It was decided to purchase collection plates for the church, suitably engraved in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond.

A report on the rummage sale now being carried on by the W.A. was given. The sale will continue for another week.

Following the business, the program committee of Mrs. Fox and Mrs. T. Craighead presented an entertaining program. Mrs. R. E. Fox arranged to have the grandmothers present take an active part in the impromptu arrangement of reading and music. A prize given for the grandmother having the largest number of grand-children, was won by Mrs. C. Palliser and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford won a prize for the grandmother present having the youngest grandchild.

Mrs. R. A. Linton Heads Red Cross

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Campbellford and Seymour branch of the Canadian Red Cross held an executive meeting at the home of the president. Mrs. R. A. Linton on Tuesday afternoon. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. president, Mr. N. A. MacColl, QC; president, Mrs. R. A. Linton; 1st vice-president, Mrs. K. Cairns; secretary, Miss Stella Keir; treasurer, Mr. R. D. McDonald; wool and sewing convener, Mrs. W. Scott.

The annual Red Cross drive is now in progress and it was announced that any local people who should happen to be overlooked by canvassers, could leave their donation with Mr. R. D. McDonald at the Bank of Montreal.

The annual report was read, after which the hostess served a dainty lunch.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Salmon Tops List In Popularity

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fish gives variety to meal planning. That was the reaction of a panel of housewives when asked recently what appealed to them most about fish as a food. Salmon topped the list in popularity.

A jellied salmon salad is recommended in a booklet from the federal fisheries department.

Ingredients: One tablespoon gelatin; one-quarter cup cold water; one cup salad dressing; two cups flaked salmon; one-half teaspoon salt; one-quarter teaspoon paprika; one-half cup diced celery; two tablespoons chopped parsley; two tablespoons chopped olives or pimento.

Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes, then dissolve thoroughly over boiling water. Add salad dressing, flaked fish, celery, parsley, olives, salt and paprika. Mix well, and pour into a mould which has been dipped in cold water.

Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmould and serve on lettuce leaves. Yield: six servings.

Various other salad combinations are found in the fisheries department booklet:

DOROTHY DIX:

Rarely Is Slight Intended In Wedding Guest List

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently my husband and I were invited to the wedding of the son of my husband's niece. My husband's sister has four children who were invited, but our three daughters were not. Was this right?

A READER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since we are coming into a season of weddings, I hope the answer to this question will save some wounded feelings during the next few months. The problem of whether or not a particular person is asked to a wedding is not one so much of being "right," as of being expedient. No wedding party could include all the guests who want to be invited.

NOTHING PERSONAL IN OMISSION

A line must be drawn somewhere, and it is evidence of mature judgment if the apparently neglected one can realize that there is nothing personal about the omission. In the case described above, there may have been a closer bond between one set of cousins than between another. The relationship is sufficiently distant so that no personal umbrage should be taken. Rarely is a personal slight intended by failure to invite a particular person to a wedding, and if all my readers would bear that fact in mind, and realize that for many reasons wedding parties must be limited, many a sensitive soul will avoid feeling hurt.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 57 years old and have been friendly with a charming lady for the past two years. I visit her two or three times a week. However, she has a 17-year-old daughter who does not like me. The girl has recently become friendly with a man three times her age, and they go out together a great deal, often staying out quite late. I have told my friend this conduct is not proper, only to be informed that it's none of my business. Was my attempted interference justified?

H. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm happy to note that you are considering breaking off with the lady; on at least two counts she gives evidence of being a poor friend. Any woman with so little sense that she'll let a young daughter carry on as this one does, with no maternal remonstrance, is not to be sought as a friend. Her curt treatment of you for trying to set her right also marks the woman as a person of bad judgment, with little conception of correct behavior.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two couples trying to solve our economic pressure by sharing the same house. All went well until the son of the other couple joined our menage. He was supposed to be with us temporarily while looking for a job; but since he has been working he's continued to stay at the house, without contributing any money towards its upkeep. His parents don't think he should be expected to pay board.

G. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Either the boy or his parents should take up the burden of his keep; it most certainly shouldn't be up to you to support him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a 16-year-old high school junior. My problem is friends. My looks are average, and I'm told my personality is good. I've been elected to several offices, but I just don't seem able to keep friends. I make them easily, but they don't stick.

L. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Not that it will improve your popularity any, but I earnestly urge you to improve your spelling and handwriting. Both are disgraceful for a high school junior.

From the details in your letter, which I haven't room to publish in full, I gather that you strive so hard for popularity that you have a tendency to barge into groups and try to run them. Popularity is attained through a perfect blend of leadership and retirement. Know when it's best to let someone else have the foreground for a change. You have conquered the chief obstacle to popularity through your easy ability to make friends and attract attention. Just learn how to use the talent and follow through by maintaining the same spirit that won the friends in the first place.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: Being an amateur . . . . I have clipped and kept a file of your recipes . . . I hope you will never forsake us or I'll be lost for ideas for meal planning . . . I'd love to get a recipe for those little chocolate biscuits, chocolate-coated. They are quite expensive to buy . . . I'm sure one could economize with a home recipe. The biscuit consists of a little round cookie about 2" in diameter, with a mould of marshmallow on top and dipped in chocolate entirely . . . can you help me . . . Mrs. M. B.

ANSWER: Make a plain cut-out cookie (see below). While they are still very hot top with ½ marshmallow. The cut side of marshmallow should be on hot cookie, to make it melt somewhat. When they are cold marshmallow will be stuck firmly to cookie, then you can dip them in melted cooking chocolate. Melt chocolate over hot not boiling water, until it is just melted, but keep it warm while you are doing the dipping. Lift out dipped cookies, let drain, place on waxed paper to harden.

PLAIN CUT-OUT COOKIES

Three-quarters cup butter, 2/3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2½ cups stirred but not sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream butter well, then add sugar gradually while creaming thoroughly. Add beaten egg, the flour sifted with baking powder. Chill through. Roll a little dough at a time on lightly floured board. Cut into 2-inch rounds. Bake on buttered cookie sheet at 350 deg. Fahr. about 12 minutes.

Since you may not want to make cut-out cookies I am giving you

VANILLA WAFERS

One cup barely melted butter, ¾ cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1¾ cup stirred but not sifted flour, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix in order given (as in recipe above) and chill dough. Roll into 1-inch balls between buttered palms. Place on buttered sheet and press down with fork. Bake about 8 or 10 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. These may be put together in pairs with butter icing and since you like fancy cookies, top cookie may be dipped in melted chocolate, before putting it over the icing-coated bottom cookie.

QUESTION: I am watching your column for recipes I can use for my overweight husband . . . I get so tired cooking boiled meat, cabbage, turnip and onions. The house reeks with the smell of it all . . . he'll eat the same thing over and over without grumbling . . . I make your chocolate ice cream quite often and will be happy to see more of the same things so I can vary his sweets.—Yvonne.

ANSWER: Yvonne I have printed only a little of your charming letter. I enjoyed visiting with you by mail too. I think your husband would like

ORANGE FREEZE (no sugar)

One cup strained orange juice, 11 sucaryl tablets, 2 tablespoons strained lemon juice, ½ cup whipping cream (or whipped skim milk powder—see below), ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Mash 10 sucaryl tablets and dissolve iln 2 tablespoons of the orange juice. Combine with remaining orange and lemon juice. Pour into refrigerator ice tray and freeze until hard. Mash the remaining sucaryl tablet to a fine powder. Whip cream and fold in mashed tablet, salt and vanilla. Spread this whipped mixture over frozen fruit juices. Return to freezing compartment and freeze until whipped mixture is frozen.

WHIPPED TOPPING (use in place of whipped cream if reducing). One half cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup powdered skim milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Put water and lemon juice into bowl and add the powdered skim milk. Beat with rotary beater until stiff. Beat in sugar and vanilla. Chill and use as you would whipped cream. This makes about 2½ cups.
